There was no time for others to take this place From the broken end of the horseshoe Baree heard the caribou's heavy plunge into water When Baree joined the pack, a modified mouth trotting soaring horde, Napoleon, the young bull, was well out in the river and swimming steadily for the opposite shore.

The restless movements of the watery monsters, and the wide-eyed wondering interest held them rigid Fangs closed sharply A little in the open Baree saw Makwegum, like a big gray wolf standing near her. He went to her again, and this time she remained with motionless eyes until he was sniffing her neck And then, with a vicious snarl, she snapped at him. Her teeth sank deep in the soft flesh of his shoulder, and at the unexpectedness and pain of her attack, he let out a yelp. The next instant the big gray wolf was at him.

Again caught unexpectedly, Baree went down with the wolf's fangs at his throat. But in him was the blood of Kazan the fresh and bone and sinew of Kazan, and for the first time in his life he fought as Kazan fought on flat terrible day at the top of the Run Rock

That fight, if it had been fair, would have been a thing for Baree even in his youth and inexperience In fairness the pack should have waited. Even a few of the pack to wait—at least till one or two more Baree's life was his blood, he was a stranger, an interloper, a creature whom they noticed only in a moment when they had time. He was but with the rage and disappointment of hitters who had missed their quarry. A second wolf sprang in, striking Baree treacherously from the flank; and while he was in the snow, his jaws crushing the forelegs of his first foe, the pack was on him en masse.

Such an attack on the young man's body would have meant death in less than a minute Every fang would have found its hold Baree, by the instinct strengthened in him who was under his first two assailants and protected by their bodies, was saved from being torn to pieces in a moment. He knew that he was fighting for his life that it was the horde of beasts cold and merciless, that assailed him, that felt the burning pain of their long fangs in his flesh, he was smothered, a hundred knives seemed cutting him into ribbons, but he did not cry out in whimper or a cry—came from him now in the horror and hopelessness of it all

It would have ended in another half minute had the struggle not been

ALTON—SMITH

A pretty wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends in town and country was sole-mized on Wednesday evening, November 11th, at 8:00 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. Jos. Smith, Pleasant View, Alberta, when their only daughter, Annie Delilah, became the wife of Mr. Willmot Alton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Alton, Port Saskatchewan.

The Rev. M. L. Wright, pastor of the United church, performed the ceremony.

The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Susie Smith, a cousin of the bride.

The young couple took their place beneath an arch of evergreens and white streamers under a large white bell which had been arranged in the alcove of the bay window.

The bride was charming in a gown of powder-blue canton crepe trimmed with heavy bands of ochre lace and completing a spray of orange blossoms in her hair. She carried a beautiful bouquet of Ophelia roses. A pearl brooch, the gift of the groom, was her only ornament.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, wore a black satin gown with a corsage of red carnations.

Mrs. W. G. Alton, mother of the groom, wore a gown of knitted silk in a becoming shade.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. M. L. Wright sang "O Perfect Love." Mrs. E. B. Ray, Edmonton, Dr. J. A. Alton, Lamont, signed the register.

The rooms were decorated throughout with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served to over one hundred guests, who had come from Westaskiwin, Edmonton, Namao, Port Saskatchewan, Lamont, Vegreville, Kitscoty, Chauvin, Partridge Hill, Pleasant View, etc.

The table, covered with an embroidered Madeira linen cloth, was centred with the wedding cake, (which was a work of art and had been decorated by Mrs. Arthur Krebs) four silver candlesticks held the white streamers festooned from a great white bell in the centre.

Mrs. King Powell, Namao, Mrs. J. M. Alton, Edmonton, poured tea, and Mrs. Marshall, Edmonton, cut the ices.

Mesdames Rae, Reid, Campbell, Frey, Cabaldeon, Crews, Kennedy, and Misses Simmons, Derbyshire, Cabaldeston, Kingsley assisted in serving. Little Muriel O'Brien served the wedding cake.

The gifts were numerous and lovely consisting of cut glass, china, silver, [illegible].

MUSICAL ECKARDTS COMING

The Musical Eckards, Swiss bell ringers and variety entertainers, will appear at the Eden Palace theatre on Tuesday evening next. Since their last visit to the Port, four years ago, the Eckards have engaged some new talent and promise an entire change of program. Besides the large peal of bells, 160 in number, the company perform on saxaphones, xylophones, brass and string instruments, musical glasses and various novelties. Bernard Eckardt, comedian with the party, will entertain with comic songs, monologues, and character sketches. The Strain sisters, two clever dancers who have been on the vaudeville stage since they were wee tots, will be seen and heard in instrumental selections, songs and dancing.

The Edmonton Journal of September 19th has the following to say of the Eckards. "The extra attraction at the Capitol theatre in one of those entertainments that the whole family should see and hear."

Come and have a real good time at the novelty hockey dance in the Memorial hall on Friday, November 27. John Bowman and his Macdonald orchestra.

PURE RICH BLOOD MEANS GOOD HEALTH

Also it Means Bright Eyes, Red Lips and Rosy Cheeks

The blood of sufficient red, health-giving blood does not and morale in pale faces and bodies exist. It is much more serious. Bloodless people are the tired, languid creatures who have no enjoyment in life. They have a heart palpitation, headaches and backaches, no appetite, sometimes [illegible] and always nervous. Just a little pep—rich red blood and these troubles vanish. To get this new rich, red blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just the thing you need. That is why those pills have a world wide reputation as a blood and nerve tonic. Among those who have proved the truth of these statements is Miss Annie M. Bhonkal, Woody Isle, Man., who says: "I have rather very weak and nervous and pale, in my side and back and suffer red from frequent dark headaches. I was hardly able to do anything about the house and would awake with a start at night, with my heart pounding violently. If I walked upstairs I would be breathless and my heart would flutter rapidly. I used a patent medicine but it did not do me any permanent good. Then I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got a box. They helped, and I can only say that they did wonders for me. I am now well and strong and able to do all my work, and this is all due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have recommended the pills to others who have taken them with equally good results."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Believe Alaska Was Once Tropical Country

Prospectors Plan to Make Further Investigations Next Summer

Buried tree trunks found in the Alaska have set scientists wondering whether Alaska was once a tropical or semi-tropical country. Prospectors who recently returned from the interior brought with them samples of sand and bark of strange trees which they had found at the bottom of a shaft they had sunk in quest of gold. The men ascended the Kobuk River and traveled forty miles south. Here in numerous holes they found deep sand in layers similar to the drift of great storms, buried trunks of trees with rough bark as of fruit trees and long wide blades of grass like bamboo, sorghum or papyrus. The size of the vegetation indicates a former tropical climate. Further investigation is planned for early summer in 1926.

Smartly Simple

A triumph of chic and slenderness, in navy microloun. It is most seasonable that every wardrobe should contain at least one frock of this type for every detail illustrates the theory that the long line is the shortest route to slenderness. Two inverted plaits that fall full length on either side of the front. A straight piece of the material is folded to form a trimming band two inches wide and placed between the edge of the outside plait before it is stitched. Flat bone buttons trim the band. The tuck is plain and extends over the shoulder, fastening only the front to yoke effect. The V-shaped neck openings is very becoming, and is finished with a tailor collar. The charming pictures the simple design of No 1207, which is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 38 requires 4 yards of 36 inch, or 3¾ yards of 40-inch material. Price 20 cents.

ECZEMA OVER FACE AND BODY

Nearly Driven Crazy By Itching. Cuticura Healed.

"I was bothered for a year with eczema all over my face and body. It was in pimples and I kept it irritated by scratching for it nearly drove me crazy itching, and it kept me awake nights.

"I was treated but it did not help me, so when I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment I bought them. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and I was healed." (Signed) Allan Brooks, Courtenay, Vancouver Isld., 14-1926.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing, an ideal toilet powder.

Gives Good Advice

Sir Robert Horne Returns From Canada Urging Britons to Emigrate

"I have just come back from Canada," declared Sir Robert Horne, speaking in Scotland, "and I cannot imagine that any man here would rather have a prominence cultured, dependent upon charity, than go to the great Dominion and gain a new existence for himself by the sweat of his brow."

The foregoing sentiments were broadcasted over Great Britain by Lieut.-Lt. Blumenfeld, chairman and editor of the Daily Express, who added his personal suggestion that as Sir Robert Horne was now free of governmental office he might devote his administration and scintillating ability to canvassing a scheme under which desirable people could emigrate to Canada with good chances of success.

Manufacturing In B.C.

Growth of Manufacturing in the Province Has Been Phenomenal

British Columbia's growth as a manufacturing province is well illustrated by figures compiled by the Provincial Government. In 1898 only 415 plants were in operation, producing about $3,000,000 worth of goods per year, whereas in 1924 no fewer than 2,566 firms were in operation, with a total payroll for $107,000,000, and produced goods to the gross value of $783,000,000 the capital investment amounting to over $300,000,000.

Many Crossing Mishaps

Railway Will Soon Have to Take Steps To Protect Property

Not the least of expenses in connection with operation of vast railway systems is the damage continually done at level crossings by motorists who refuse to obey signals, or who give the meek excuse that their brakes failed to work. That the railways are approaching a stage when they will have to have protection against flank attacks from automobile drivers running through crossing gates and into the side of moving trains, is the belief of J. P. Fyfe, assistant counsel for the Central Region, Canadian National Railways.

MUSICAL ECKARDTS ATTRACT GREAT NUMBER

The Eden Palace theatre was packed to the doors for the entertainment provided by the Musical Eckardts Tuesday evening. Though only four in the company, they kept the programme alive with interest throughout the performance. They are, as their title implies, musical, and talented at that. They are also versatile, or, as the comedian said, "If versatility means 'dern good,' then they are versatility." In addition to their bell ringing act and the production of music from water glasses, they are accomplished musicians on the piano, flute, piccolo, violin, English concertina, trombone, and other instruments, and delighted the audience with selections of classics, jazz, and old-time airs.

Though few in number the company varied their programme to such an extent there was not a dull moment, and a hearty welcome will no doubt be accorded them on a return visit.

UNITED CHURCH PUTS ON DRIVE FOR BUDGET FUND

Throughout the Dominion a campaign is now under way to raise a Maintenance and Extension fund of $4,000,000 for the educational, missionary and benevolent work of the United Church of Canada. The sum aimed at combines the former annual budgets of the Presbyterian, Methodist, and Congregational churches and is to cover the period ending March 31 next. Of the total amount more than two thirds is to be used for mission, school, and hospital work in Canada and foreign lands.

Alberta's share of this fund has been placed at $450,000, and a drive to get the amount is being put on in all parts of the province by laymen canvassing teams. The campaign has been carefully organized, and much interest is being shown in it all over Canada. Each congregation of the United Church has been allotted its share, and it is believed the big objective can be reached.

E. D. CRUMP, UMONT, ACCEPTS CONSERVATIVE NOMINATION

Following the Conservative convention held here on November 11, a public meeting was held in the Rowland hall at Lamont, when Mr. Crump, the nominee, addressed the electors. A report of his address appears in the Lamont Leader, which says in part:

Mr. Crump said that he was not a politician, but a farmer, and was in favor of the Progressive platform. He was in favor of the Progressive platform. He was in favor of the Progressive platform. He

Canada As A National Unit

The conference held in Winnipeg last month of two hundred representatives of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce from every province in Canada, and called together for the avowed purpose of thoroughly discussing the economic situation and needs of Canada, and from which discussion all party and political considerations and controversies were rigidly excluded, gives promise of having inaugurated a new era in the discussion and consideration of practical questions and problems. At the concluding session one delegate characterized it as the "second Canadian confederation," and, apart from the important resolutions, all unanimously adopted, provision was made for the continuation of the work of the conference by the forming of a Dominion Board of Trade.

There was plain speaking at the conference, and no minimizing of the extent of the problems and difficulties at present confronting the Dominion, but in all respects there was a pronounced note of confidence in Canada and in the country, ability and determination of the Canadian people to work out their own and their country's salvation. Canada has progressed greatly during the first fifty years of confederation, but the conference was agreed that in the years just ahead of it will be found its great opportunity, which, if fully grasped, will lead to a future of brilliance, abounding development and prosperity.

The object of the conference was to bring together representative business men from the Maritime Provinces, Ontario and Quebec, the Prairie Provinces, and British Columbia in order that the problems or grievances and the economic outlook of each of those four main sections might be frankly presented and just as frankly discussed in the hope that as a result a better understanding might result and a spirit of give and take, of compromise, of a willingness to get together be developed. The conference was successful in a measure in these respects.

The economic situation in the Maritime Provinces received lengthy and sympathetic consideration, and it was generally agreed that action should be taken to help solve the problems at present confronting that portion of the Dominion. Maritime representatives strongly urged that it was essential that steps be taken to encourage the use of Canada's Atlantic seaports, and the diversion to those ports of much of the Canadian traffic now going to world markets through the United States. On the other hand the steadily growing importance of trade via the Pacific route and the Panama Canal to Europe was outlined. Then, between these two, the case for the development of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes waterways to enable ocean going vessels to come well into the interior of Canada and Great Lakes vessels to proceed overseas without breaking bulk, as well as the development of the Hudson Bay route, were presented. In time, no doubt, all these routes will be fully utilized, but the question now is, apart from purely political or sectional considerations, which offers the most immediate and greatest beneficial results to Canada as a whole.

In regard to another question, however, namely the coal mining industry, it was found that the interests of the Maritime Provinces and Alberta are largely identical, and one of the gratifying results of the conference was a joint meeting of men from these two widely scattered sections to draft a resolution covering this question, not from a Provincial or local point of view, but from a broad national standpoint.

The conference likewise disclosed a wonderful unanimity of opinion on the subject of immigration. Far East and Far West united with the more central Provinces in declaring that Canada's greatest need was more population in order to assist in carrying present national burdens of taxation, to solve our complex railway and transportation problems, and to develop the wealth of national resources of which Canada can boast. There was equal unanimity in declaring that recent administrations at Ottawa have been neglectful of the essential national work of immigration, and an unequivocal demand made for the inauguration and prosecution of a most aggressive immigration policy.

Tangible results may be expected from the conference, but its greatest value will doubtless be found in the promotion of that better understanding between all sections of the Dominion which was the basic idea underlying the holding of the conference. It is even not too much to say that the conference has given marked impetus to the development of that more intangible thing which Canada has lacked, and the lack of which has been causing real concern and even jeopardizing the future of the Dominion, namely, a national spirit.

The Winnipeg conference thought and acted nationally in a way that even the Dominion Government has seldom achieved. This, in itself, holds promise of much future good for Canada.

It appears that an experienced father has come to the front with an explanation of radio howling. Radio, he says, is still in its infancy.

Indian Woman Dies On Hunting Trip

Widow of Quebec Trapper Was Hundred Years Old

Mrs. Lesley Kakinas, widow of an Indian trapper, of Lake Kishisaing, Quebec, died suddenly while hunting, according to a verdict of a coroner's jury. She was supposed to be 100 years of age.

Mrs. Thomas lived in a camp near the lake and a few days after she left for her last hunting trip her canoe was found upside down and full of game. The body was found on the lake, a few yards from the canoe, and it is thought that Mrs. Thomas died of heart failure while hunting.

CHILDREN LIKE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Because They Are Tasteless and Are Easy to Take

One of the strongest points in favor of any medicine for children is that it is so agreeable that the mother does not have to force it down the little one's throat.

Baby's Own Tablets have no drug taste, may be crushed to a powder if desired, and babies like them. They are perfectly safe for they contain no opiate or narcotic, they sweeten the stomach and remove the sour curdy constipation.

Mrs. Arthur Charlebois, Portuchet, P.Q., says, "I have found Baby's Own Tablets to be a most beneficial and safe remedy for stomach disorders in children. Our little boy had been given harsh cathartics, but these tablets worked more effectively without the severe griping. I always recommend them to all mothers of little children."

Horace Going Into Dinosaur Prize

Prof. Percy Horace, who is reviewing the statistics of horse population in Canada, says that 30 to 50 per cent. of the present farm horse stock will go into the discard within five years, and the young stock is not there to take their places.

Hessian worbid conditions exist in the season and intestinal parasites worms, and these still exist as long as these morbid conditions persist. Nature will be rid of them. They spare the child suffering, use Miller's Worm Powders. They will correct the digestive irregularities by destroying the worms, conditions favorable to worms will disappear, and the child will have no more suffering from that cause.

Canada produces no ox cart. Though the occurrence of ox-bearing minerals has been noted in a number of localities, they have never yet been found in sufficient quantity to be of any economic importance.

Experimenters In Saskatchewan Are Carrying On Good Work Testing New Varieties Of Seed

Experimenters in Saskatchewan Are Carrying on Good Work

Approximately 500 rural research workers and experimenters are cooperating with the College of Agriculture, Saskatoon, in an effort to improve agricultural conditions by testing out new varieties of crops and new methods of production.

This co-operative effort, consolidated in the Saskatchewan Field Husbandry Association, has two main lines of effort—to increase the supply of the best seed available and to introduce new crops of different varieties and new methods of producing crops.

"Hundreds of experiments are tried each year by our members," says Professor Manley Champion, "but as a rule no member tries more than two experiments in a year, but a few enthusiasts are trying as many as ten. Hig had learned to keep his eyes open, his mind steady and his passions calm. It is not so much a question of what we have to do as how we shall do it. The new is always the old in principle, just as the principles of Euclid in and LaPoulaire, a second, the portrait of Thomas Jefferey Mercier, and a third, Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Geo. Wrote: "In addition to the above there are the usual exhibits of cereals, grasses, roots, fruits, etc., and a most interesting collection of different grains of the world."

"A small number are trying winter rye and oats as a temporary pasture crop spring sown, and still another group is trying flax and wheat as a combination crop.

"About 60 members in East-Central Saskatchewan are trying timothy for seed production, the seed having been furnished two years ago by the department of agriculture.

"Approximately 200 members are trying out new kinds of seeding varieties in direct comparison with old seed of the same crop which they are growing under like conditions on their own farms.

While not claiming that the association is responsible for the remarkable advances made in crop production in Saskatchewan, Professor Champion points out that the province has adopted into fresh soil as a product of registered seeds, the acreage increasing from 4,000 to approximately 24,000, while the corn acreage has grown from 18,000 to nearly 100,000 to five years.

Saskatchewan Lignite

Successfully Briquetted On Commercial Basis at Plant in Germany

Saskatchewan lignite has been successfully briquetted on a commercial basis in large German plants.

This is the substance of official reports on the briquetting tests conducted in Germany last summer with lignite from the Estuin coal fields in Southeast Saskatchewan. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of labor and mines for this province, has announced.

"It is understood the tests have been successful," added Mr. Gardiner, "but any further action regarding the disposal of the lignite plant will have to await further information which is not available. As soon as the [illegible] the results are known [illegible]

Sugar Beet Production

Big Impetus Was Given to Industry This Year

Sugar beet production in Canada in 1924 was nearly five per cent greater than that of 1923, while the [illegible] in Ontario was 20 per cent, with a corresponding increase. According to a report of the harvest of six [illegible] $1,111 acres were planted to sugar beets in 1924, which yielded 78,117 tons of beets, from which 8,577,000 pounds of sugar was refined with a loss of 1,186,000. This compared with 17,941 acres, yield of 152,000 tons, 20,423,160 pounds of sugar refined and a loss of 2,716,000, in the preceding year.

Canadian Horses For Scotland

Developing Good Market For Draft Horses of the Better Class

Canada is developing a splendid market in Scotland for draft horses of the better class, according to word received from the Canadian trade commissioner in Glasgow. Twenty horses were recently dispatched from Stornoway, Ont., to Glasgow, and another lot of seventy Percherons were recently sent forward to the same district importing firm. Further shipments are intended of Clydesdale for carter firms.

Canadian Foxes in Switzerland

Large Shipment Was Forwarded Recently From New Brunswick

What is said to be one hundred thousand dollars worth of black fox puppies left Montreal lately on the Canadian Pacific liner Melita for Antwerp. From there they travel across France to Switzerland, where they will form the nucleus of a fur breeding establishment. The foxes were purchased in New Brunswick, from which province a number of similar shipments have been made to the other side in the past year or two.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN
By James Oliver Curwood
A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH
Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.
"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the Wee Dog, in an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the half dog, attracted from the cabin of Pierrot, the trapper, by the call of the wolves, and Meh-we-tin, the young she-wolf who was on the make—and at length overtook the pack. A gray wolf addressed to Meh-we-tin, and she snarled at him. Baree fought to protect her, who—upon a horde of the beasts attacked him and he barely escaped with his life. Had it wounded and dazed because he had been cast out by his own kind he was half wolf—he fled and again wandered alone through the woods.

He did not hear, a ten minutes later the howling of the disappointed wolf-hordes on the other side of the river, and he no longer sensed the thick scent of moose or stars. Half dead he drag ged himself on until by chance he came to a thing of deadly terror into the he struggled, and then dropped exhausted.

All that night and until noon the next day Baree lay without moving. The fever burned in his blood. It flamed high and swift toward death, then it ebbed slowly, and life conquered. At noon he came forth. He was weak, and he wobbled on his legs. His head was still dragged, and he was racked with pain

A red ferocity grew in Baree's eyes as he snarled in the direction of last night's fight with the wolves. They were no longer his people They were no longer of his blood. Never again could the lust-call lure him or the voice at the pack cause the old longing. In him there was a thing new born. An undying hatred for the wolf, a hatred that was to grow in him until it became like a disease in his vitals, a thing ever present and insistent, demanding vengeance on their kind

"To Nepoose and Baree it was a wild and joyous adventure that ended for a day given to sleep."

CHAPTER XIX.

At the cabin on the Gray Loon, on the fourth night of Baree's absence, Pierrot was smoking his pipe after a great supper of caribou tender-loin he had brought in from the trail, and Nepoose was listening to his tale of the remarkable shot he had made, when a sound at the door interrupted them. Nepoose stopped it, and Baree came in. The cry of welcome that was on the girl's lips died there instantly, and Pierrot stared as if he could not quite believe that creature that had returned was the wolf-dog Three days and nights of hunger in which he could not keep because of the leg that dog god had put on him the marks of starvation. Battle-scarred and covered with dried blood that still clung tenaciously to his long hair, he was a sight that drew at last a long breath from Nepoose. A queer smile was growing in Pierrot's face as he leaned forward in his chair; and then slowly rising to his feet, and looking closer, he said to Nepoose:

"You're Saint Gris! Out he has been to the pack, Nepoose, and the pack turned on him. It was not a two-wolf fight—non! It was the pack. He is one of us, Nepoose. He is ours. And soon then, he is after!"

In Pierrot's voice there was growing excitement and amazement. He was by nature a quiet man, and he could not disbelieve what his eyes told him. What had happened was nothing short of a miracle, and at time he uttered not a word more but remained staring in silence while Nepoose rose from her astonishment and stood there listening and fond. After he had eaten enormously of cold boiled meat she began bathing his wounds in warm water, and after that she soothed them with her own grease, talking to him all the time in her soft Cree.

In a week or two the warrior scars came, and Pierrot began making his traps over the trap lines. Nepoose also entered into a thrilling hunch with him this winter. Pierrot is taken her into partnership. Every fifth trap, every fifth deadfall, and every fifth snare built was to be her own, and what they caught or killed was to bring a bit nearer to realization a wonderful dream that was growing in the Willow's soul. Pierrot had promised. If they had great luck that Winter, they would go down to gether on the last steam to Nelson House and buy the little old organ that was for sale there; and if the organ was sold, they would work all other winter, and get a new one.

This plan gave Nepoose an enthusiasm and tireless interest in the trap-line. With Pierrot it was more or less a fine bit of strategy. He would have sold his hand to give Nepoose the organ; he was determined that she should have it, whether she fifth traps and the fifth deadfalls and the fifth poison-baits caught the fur or not. The partnership meant nothing so far as that was concerned, but in another year it meant to Nepoose a business interest, the thrill of personal achievement. Pierrot impressed on her that it made a comrade and co-worker of her on the trail. That was his scheme: to keep her with him when he was away from the cabin. He knew that Bush McTaggart would come again to the Gray Loon, probably more than once during the winter. He had swift dogs, and it was a short journey. And when McTaggart came, Nepoose must not be at the cabin—alone.

Pierrot's trap-line swung into the north and west covering in all a run ter of fifty miles, with an average of two traps, one deadfall and a poison bait to each mile. It was a twisting, line blazed along streams for lynx, otter and marten, piercing the deepest forests for fisher-cat and lynx and crossing lakes and plains swept with the barren winter gales. Pierrot had expected for fox and wolf. Halfway over this line Pierrot had built a small log cabin, and the end of it another, so that a day' smash meant twenty-five miles. This was easy for Pierrot, and not hard on Nepoose after the first few days.

All through October and November they made the trips regularly, making the round every seven days, which gave one day of rest at the cabin on the Gray Loon and another day in the cabin at the end of the trail. To Pierrot the winter's work was business, the labor of his people for many generations back in the Northland. To him it was a wild and joyous adventure that never for a day grew tiresome. Even back in the cabin he found himself in himself against their enthusiasm It was infectious, and he was happier than he had been since the day he had first seen Baree. It was not that evening the princess mother died

The afternoon early in December as they were returning to the Gray Loon. Pierrot stopped suddenly a dozen paces ahead of Nepoose and stared at the snow. Then he straightened and scarcely moved a muscle as he stared. The trail came straight east of the north—and all there was for Bale. Also they were the marks of large snowshoes, and the stride indicated was that of a tall man. Before Pierrot had spoken, Nepoose had guessed what they meant.

"Meleq the Pastor from Lac Bain!" she said.

Pierrot, deep in his own somber thoughts, scarcely heard the strange-ness in that suddenly low voice of Nepoose. She was listening to the growl that was again in Baree's throat. A moment later Nepoose said some. When half a mile from the cabin, she making the passions from his shoulders and carried them her self. Ten minutes later they saw a man advancing to meet them

It was not McTaggart. Pierrot recognized him with an and his breath of relief waved his hand. It was DeBar, who trapped in the Barren Ground to the east of Bath. Two rod knew him well They had, re changed fur-tones. They were friendly, and Nepoose knew the in-grip of their hands. DeBar stared then at Nepoose.

Dubar took his time in explaining his mission, and before they reached the cabin Pierrot and Nepoose knew why he had come. He had been down at Lac Bain, was bearing on a journey in five days, and he had fetched DeBar as a special messenger to Nepoose Pierrot to come up to Lac Bain the cloak and the half-breed storekeeper in his absence. Pierrot made no comment at first. Not a word of explanation Why had Bush McTaggart sent for him? Why had he not chosen some other messenger? Pierrot's face was crackling in the short iron stove in the cabin, and Nepoose was busily engaged getting supper, and the two conversations of the fur-hunter.

"He asked me, at first, if I could pay. Then I have a wife—and a bad lung, Pierrot. It was caught by frost last winter, and I dare not leave her alone. Then he said I had faith in you. Besides, you know all the trappers on the Company's bunds at Lac Bain. They are good men, and have you not to worry about your fur-Nepoose, he will pay you double what you would catch in this time you are on the Post"

Proves Honesty Of Public

Renting Motor Cars Is New Industry in Chicago

Inherent honesty of its customers the public is one of the cardinal assets that is permitting a new national industry, which is responsible for the drive-it-yourself, to grow.

Each of the hundreds of cars operated by this company is equipped with an ignition instrument to drive with, without key or combination, with the original spare of any character of car, nothing dishonest enters, and it is revealed that practical paths have been taken to prevent damage or loss through what might be legal means while carelessness

The trade must be kept open to all comers, and aside from proving ability as a motor car driver and identifying one's self as the person to be rented, no tests of any nature are made.

Such is the finding of the system of motor car hire, fostered and developed by John Hertz, the Chicago taxicab and motor coach magnate, during the after nearly two years of the new venture.

The rental cars bear no especially made drive-it-your devices, coloring or marking, and in fact differ materially in appearance from the various makes of cars manufactured for private ownership, yet in thousands of rentals theft is very rare

Odd Hours For Work

Inventor Finds His Brain Is Clearest

Early in the Morning

Different people have different ways of working. Mr. Louis Brennan, C.B., the inventor of the Brennan torpedo and the gyroscopic monorail system of transport, wakes up regularly at about 3 a.m. He buries himself with thinking out problems, sitting in his libraries, etc., for a couple of hours, at the end of which time he no regularly sleeps again, getting up a few hours later. This long spell, once, Mr. Brennan, who is now engaged in developing the principle of the gyroscope, finds the most favorable conditions generally more favorable for effective work, in the early morning than at any other time of the day Cuts and Bruises Disappear.—When suffering from cuts, scratches, bruises, sprains, sore throat or chest and the similar ailment, use Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Its healing power is well known in every section of the country. A bottle of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil should be in every medicine chest ready for the emergencies that may always be anticipated.

Zoo Specimens For France

Buffalo, Mountain Sheep And Mountain Goats Presented by Canadian Government

The steamer Welland County, sailing from Montreal will carry two buffalo, three Rocky Mountain sheep and three Rocky Mountain goats, gifts from the Canadian Government to the National Museum of Natural History in Paris, France.

The buffalo were taken from the herd here in Buffalo National Park, Wainwright, Alta., while the consignment of sheep and goats are from the Mountain National Park, Banff, Alta. The shipment was consolidated at Winnipeg.

Microphones Are Effective

New Innovation in British Hosts of Lords May Cause Trouble

Installation of microphones and earphones in the British House of Lords, so that the hitherto inaudible debates may be heard, threatens to disrupt many friendships

It has been discovered that the slightest whisper enters the microphones and can be heard by any person who happens to have his phones over his ears.

The result of this sensitiveness of the microphone today was an endless series of interjections during the speeches customary to which it doesn't be shut up" "What rot," etc., were plainly audible

Another World's Champion

The world's champion egg embroidered one is said to live in Paris. In the Alsatian house at the Decorative Arts Exposition he has an egg embroidered with silk thread pulled through 1,631 holes. Twenty-two eggs broke, but the 23rd was mastered after 16 months' work.

Motorists Treat Colds The New "Direct" Way

No Longer Necessary to "Dose" Children With Internal Medicines to Check Colds

Children's digestion is easily upset by too much "dosing." Vicks Vapo-Rub brings instantaneous applied, direct relief to little muscles.

At the first sneeze of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vicks Vapo-Rub and see whether you just "rub it in."

Antelope In National Park

Antelope, which were threatened with extinction in Canada a few years ago, have been successfully preserved in Nemiskam National Park in Alberta. When this preserve was established in 1915, there were only 45 in the herd, the last remnants of thousands that once had roamed the prairies. There are now 255 in the herd

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE NOW FIND RELIEF

By Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood in their veins becomes sharp and up with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Then comes the pain, misery which may start the pains but the cause is located in the blood, and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. In a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic sufferers when given a fair trial. Among the thousands who have proved the great value of this medicine is Mr N. M. Fyfey, Windsor, N.S., who says:—"My trouble started with a bad cold, the result of working in a heavy rainstorm. From that it developed into rheumatism which had my crippled so that I was confined to bed for upwards of six months. The doctor who treated me did not help me, and every friend who called to see me had something different to advise. Some of these remedies I tried, but with no better results. My legs were stiff from the hips down, and every move I made caused intense pain, and I became a raving wreaker. Then a friend in Falmouth, who came to see me asked if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had taken so many medicines without benefit that I was skeptical and said no. My friend, however, had so much faith in the pills that he got me a supply and to please him I began taking them. I had not been taking them long when I began to feel a change for the better and I gladly got a further supply Soon I was able to get out of bed and walk around on crutches. After taking the pills, I used in all seventeen boxes by which time I was a well man and at work every day. Now I always keep a box of Dr Williams' Pink Pills in the house and if I feel a touch or pain I take them, and always with good results. I believe I would still be a bed ridden cripple but for these pills, and I shall always praise and recommend them."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

They asked his father for a definition of honesty. "I will explain to you, miss son," said the parent. "Suppose you was in business and went to the bank to cash a check for $40 and the cashier gave you $50. Well, miss son, if you gave five of dot extra ten to your partner, dot would be honesty."

She Could Never Do The Things Other Girls Did

Miss I. J. Rose, Scollard, Alta., writes:—"I am only twenty years old, but have suffered from heart palpitation and nerve trouble for several years.

I could never do the things other girls did, that is, to the line of sports, skating, etc., and could never depend on myself at work.

About six months ago I began taking

PROGRESSIVES OF ALBERTA MIGHT ASSIST LIBERALS

Calgary—Study upon which the farmer members from Alberta will cooperate with the Liberal Government was developed at a conference of the newly-elected U.F.A. Federal members of parliament held in Calgary. Robert Gardiner, member for Acadia, was appointed by the gathering to present the views of the Alberta members to Premier King

Discussing possibility of co-operating with Mr Meighen, the members came to the conclusion that the Conservative leader's attitude on the tariff and upon western freight rates, made co-operation with his party an impossibility. As far as the Liberal stand on the tariff was concerned, they were inclined to the opinion that little could be expected of it in the way of immediate tariff changes

There were three points upon which the U.F.A. people felt that they could not be moved, and these formed the basis of all his productions. Western freight rates, tariff and taxation.

An Historic Inn

Dishona Shrine in Boston About to be Demolished

Boston, Mass.—The historic Parker House, birthplace of the famous "Parker House Roll," and since 1855 one of Boston's most celebrated hostelries, served its last luncheon recently. When the last guest had departed, preliminary steps were taken for the demolition of the building, to make way for a modern structure of 700 rooms.

Charles Dickens spent a winter there, and recently the Dickens Fellowship in Boston held a farewell visit to the rooms which he occupied and which have been kept since as a literary shrine.

Attempted To Smuggle Opium

Large Consignment Found When Steamer Docks at New York

New York.—Poo Fiu Ming, butcher of the steamship Asama Maru, was held in $15,000 bail in Brooklyn federal court charged with attempting to smuggle into this country 221 pounds of smoking opium when the steamer docked.

The drug, which was found concealed under the sheet lead decking of the ship's ice box, was one of the largest consignments seized since the Harrison anti-narcotic law was passed, Customs officials said.

George Archer, chief steward of the ship, was detained as a material witness.

Canadian Nurses For China

Calgary.—Immediate steps will be taken to raise funds with which to send a delegation of Canadian nurses to the international nurses' convention to be held in China in 1926. Plans were formulated to this end at the convention of nurses attended by about 90 delegates from every section of the province

Unearth Old Tombs in Athens

Athens.—Thirty ancient tombs have been unearthed in Athens by floods from Mounts Lykabettos, at the foot of which it lies. Numerous gold ornaments and vases have been uncovered, as well as five mummies. Archeologists are greatly interested, but are undecided what period to refer to.

Object To Having Canoes Taken

London.—England has a difficult time determining the population in several of her colonies. Some natives believe that it is unlucky to be counted and go to great extremes to dodge the census.

"Three Little Maids"

Now Theatrical Offering By Capt Plunkett To Be Produced in the West

Toronto.—Following negotiations between Capt. Plunkett and Arthur Conan Doyle, the famous English detective story, "Three Little Maids," has been secured for production in the West. Capt. Plunkett was determined, how ever, that he would not add to his theatrical enterprises until he was personally convinced that his second novice would be an outstanding an event as his first was.

"Three Little Maids," the London and New York musical comedy success, was the choice. Its tour marks the inauguration of a new policy of the Canadian Pacific Railway. They were instituted on No. 3 Manitoba, 537 120 bushels, in Saskatchewan 1,203,224 bushels, and in Alberta 920, 784 bushels, a total of 2,511, 736 bushels A total of 1,475 cars was loaded, while 1 111 Canadian Pacific grain cars were inspected by the west.

Thousand Treaties Registered By League

Member Nations Are Observing Clause Requiring Such Registration

Geneva.—The number of treaties registered with the League of Nations reached the 1,000 mark when Sweden and Norway of the documents exchanged relative to the interpretation of their arbitration convention of 1905. Officials at the League assert all the member nations are faithfully observing the clause of the covenant which obligates them to register all treaties

To this clause United States Presidents Wilson attached the greatest importance as an instrument for furthering open diplomacy

Appeal For Large Sum

Washington.—For the first time since its foundation nearly eighty years ago the Smithsonian Institution, whose valuable contributions to science have never been financed by Congress, has made an appeal for public funds. It will carry an appeal direct to the people for $10,000,000 to enable it to carry many new projects and to continue its publication

London.—Claiming to be originated the idea of tanks in the Great War, Captain J. F Beatty appeared in the High Court here to-day in an action against the British Government for $1,000,000 compensation," which he insists is due him on account of the eminently useful idea in the British army.

Large Terminal Warehouse

Building To Be Erected On Toronto's Waterfront Will Cost $6,000,000

Toronto — Following negotiations between representatives of the Canadian National railways and the Toronto harbor commission, which have been under way several months it was announced here that arrangements were practically completed for the erection of a water and rail terminal warehouse coating in the neighborhood of $6,000,000 and covering between 12 and 15 acres of the harbor front in the Canada and European products. The new structure will be the largest terminal warehouse on the North American continent

Picturesque Trader Leaves Stock Exchange

Disposed of New York Seat For Record Price

New York.—Ill health has driven from the New York stock exchange one of the most active and picturesque floor traders, Joseph Pinch, known generally as "Jakie," who started on the street as a messenger boy.

In 1901 he paid $3,000 for his seat, and he disposed of it for $152,000, the highest price on record.

He was a "free lance" trader, and a cubby hole in a broker's branch office was his headquarters.

C.N.R. Increases Revenue

Montreal.—For the month of October, 1925, net revenues of Canadian National Railways, after payment of operating expenses, were $3,150,315, an increase of $3,166,115 over October, 1924, and of $2,371,911 over October, 1922

Vancouver elevator space is virtually filled, officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway transportation department stated with 7,300,945 bushels of grain now in the province awaiting shipment, showing a grand total of 8,087,716 on hand Saturday.

On the Canadian Pacific lines there were marketed on Nov. 18 in Manitoba, 537 120 bushels, in Saskatchewan 1,203,224 bushels, and in Alberta 920, 784 bushels, a total of 2,511, 736 bushels A total of 1,475 cars was loaded, while 1 111 Canadian Pacific grain cars were inspected by the west.

Many Drowned In Athens

Floods Following Torrential Rain Cause Havoc to Cottages

Athens.—Reports that 100 persons are believed to have perished in the floods in Athens following torrential rain of an hour and 20 minutes, are a pale patch to The Daily Express. Many houses in the low-lying northwest suburbs. The inmates were buried in the ruins, and many were swept away and drowned. Those waters from Mount Pentelikon made it impossible to get to the scene for hours.

Greek authorities have been asking for contracts in various parts of the province on a commission basis and more are expected in the various municipalities. It is hoped that sufficient contracts will have received by the end of the year to enable the provincial board to take the necessary steps to have a permanent bound on different sections of the province started at the beginning of the road opening in March, 1926.

Revolt Among Chinese Troops

Supporters of Manchurian War Lord Fighting Each Other

Public Opinion in Shanghai is exercised among the supporters of Chang Tso-Lin, who are fighting each other at Lake Tsitsihar, in the province of Heilungkiang, in the Peking Mukden Railway.

The fighting of the various political factions are conflicting

Some quarters assert that General Kuo Sung Ling, Manchurian general, has captured Mukden, the capital and imprisoned Chang while the others assert that Chang's loyal troops have broken through Chihwangtao to hinder an advance by Kuo Sung Ling against Mukden.

It is considered certain that the Mukden party has collapsed at least temporarily, thus strengthening the hand of Feng Yu-Hsiang, the Christian general

Conference To Bear Fruit

Vancouver, B.C.—The conference of boards of trade of all the larger cities of Canada, held in Winnipeg recently is likely to prove one of the most important developments in Canadian affairs, in the opinion of D. THE OVERSEAS DOMINIONS AND LOCARNO PACT

London.—The attitude of the British dominions to the Locarno pact was analyzed in a lengthy debate in the House of Lords, and the trend of it opposition was that the overseas portions of the empire should support the action of the British government. The dominions "must not regard the treaties as if they have no obligations in Europe," Viscount Grey of Fallodon declared.

The Earl of Balfour said he had no misgivings regarding the result of the Locarno pact. The British dominions, he said, were not bound by the treaty, but he was sure they would realize that the step was a great effort on the part of the Mother Country to ensure peace The dominions would see it that we have not signed special terms for ourselves and that we have done our best for the world would be behind her Such a war obviously would be a calamity not limited to the British Isles and unless safeguards were taken the dominions would be involved in it. He believed the pact would command the confidence of the dominions and that the people would be with the Mother Country, but all the dominions should immediately signify their confidence their cordial adhesion

Lord Balfour was of the opinion that the best way for the British Government to show its confidence in the contemplated pact was for the members of the cabinet to visit the dominions in connection with the Empire Exhibition at Wembley next year and have them to reside for a month.

Obituary

On Sunday, November 29, Mr. John Fisher, an old and respected resident of the Fort district, passed peacefully away at his home at Deep Creek, at the ripe old age of ninety years, two months and seventeen days.

Of late he had short periods of illness and the week previous he had one of these attacks but felt better on Saturday. On Sunday afternoon his son, and daughter gathered at the home and he conversed with them as usual. They persuaded him to call in Dr. Archer, his family doctor and friend. He chatted in his usual manner with the doctor and afterwards started to eat his supper. His son, thinking everything was well with him, were about to depart when someone looked at him and said, "Father is going." He passed without a struggle in the presence of his family.

Mr. Fisher was born in Ireland and in early life came to the western United States, sailing around Cape Horn. He travelled extensively through the western and southern States and then came to Ontario. There he met Miss Martha Barber, who was born at Toronto but was then living at Goderich, and they were married and lived happily together for fifty-six years. Soon after their marriage they moved to Parry Sound. From there they came to Alberta and settled in the Deep Creek district on his present homestead thirty-three years ago.

Besides his sorrowing help-mate he leaves to mourn his loss, one daughter, Mrs. Wallace Russell, four sons, Thomas Adolphus (Dee), William, Wesley, and Ira, one brother, and seventeen grandchildren, all living at Deep Creek.

Mr. Fisher was a man of strong character, who formed his opinions after due investigation and stood by them. His early educational advantages were limited but he had great native intelligence which he cultivated by the reading of current events of national and world-wide interest, especially of religious and political significance. He was a platform speaker of no mean ability and at the request of his pastor celebrated his ninetieth birthday by preaching on Sunday, October 4th, taking as his subject, "Paul's shipwreck."

Mr. Fisher never grew old, consequently he was beloved by the young people in whose education and entertainments he was always [illegible] He never thought the old days were better than these and ever welcomed the new if it were an improvement on the old. The remained new theology did not distress him; he welcomed the advent of women into the church, courts, and the political arena. He was a Baptist, but joined the Methodist church two years ago that he might be one of those entering the new United Church. The Official Board immediately honored him by making him a local preacher of the Methodist church, which was also afterwards a part of the United Church. In politics he was a staunch Liberal and at the last Federal election was actively returning officer for the Colche poll. Twice only he voted against his party, once for the present Farmer Government and once for Sir John A. MacDonald after the punishment of Louis Riel. But he stood for Canada first, first, first. He admired Mr. Meighen and particularly the stand he took on the Church Union Bill. He said "I wish I could be in his constituency at the election. I would poll my second Conservative vote, provided the Hon. George Graham was not his opponent."

His funeral services were held in his former home, where Rev. A. R. Lamont, Deep Creek, read the Burial Service. From there the large cortege of seventy-five cars went to Beaver Hills Church where his pastor, Rev. W. Lindsay Wright, preached from Rev. 14, 1-3. Mrs. Joseph Dow, whose singing of "Saved by Grace" he greatly admired, sang it at a solo at both services.

THE COST OF PRODUCING WHEAT IN 1925

(Experimental Farms Note)

The cost of producing wheat throughout the three prairie provinces in 1925 has been approximately 95 cents per bushel. This calculation has been based on the estimated average yield of 17 bushels per acre and upon what are regarded to be the prevailing rates of wages, interest, taxes, machinery, seed, twine, and hail insurance. Where the yields have been larger than 17 bushels per acre or where costs, for any reason, have been above the average, then the cost of producing wheat would be below 95 cents per bushel. In fact, each individual farmer would have a different cost depending upon how favorable the season had been in his particular locality and upon the efficiency of his farming.

The yield per acre is predominately the most important factor affecting the cost per bushel of producing wheat. A few instances will be sufficient to show this. On somewhat low land, when the yield is 20 bushels per acre the cost per bushel would be $1.25 while, when the yield was 40 bushels per acre, the cost would be only 80 cents per bushel. On ploughed stubble land, when the yield is 15 bushels per acre, the cost would be $1.20 per bushel while, when the yield is 30 bushels per acre, the cost would be only 80 cents per bushel. The percentage of land which should be in summerfallow should vary depending upon the comparative yields secured over a period of years on summerfallow and on ploughed stubble land. Increased yields may be obtained by employing better varieties of grain and improved methods of cultivation as recommended by Experimental Farms.

The season exerts an extremely potent influence upon the yield and hence upon the cost per bushel of producing wheat. Yields may vary from almost nothing in some localities, in some years, to over 60 bushels per acre in other years. It is obvious, therefore, that the cost of producing wheat will likewise vary from an extremely high cost per bushel, which entails a heavy loss, to a very low cost which would bring a good profit. Farming is not a one year business, especially wheat farming. Even a three year period is quite insufficient to learn definately whether the cost of producing wheat is low enough to leave a profit on the market price. A ten year period would be required to overcome this enormous variation from year to year in yield and in cost of production.

THE RECORD IS WELCOMED

In renewing their subscriptions to The Record two of our readers make very complimentary remarks concerning its g.f.j. It is a pleasure to receive letters of this nature, assuring us as it does that though our arduous and continued efforts bring little lure to the surface, they are of any rate appreciated. A little encouragement is a wonderful tonic.

Following are excerpts from letters received:

Not Thrilled By City Life

Eskimos Apparently Not Impressed By Sights in Montreal

After seeing all the sights of a modern city the four young Eskimos, who were also joined the Jean Revillon, an Arctic fur-trading schooner, when she was brought to Liverpool, N.S., for overhauling, was apparently not one bit thrilled.

The only modern thing man likes to which they have become partial, is tobacco, for they smoke continually.

The Eskimos went from Montreal to Ungava, Ontario, where they will stay for the winter. It will be impossible to send the boat north before the spring, as the waterways are being kept at Payne until an opportunity occurs in the spring to take them overland to their home at Baker Lake.

Alberta Good Roads

Ambitious Road Building Programme Will Be Completed in 1927

By 1927 the Alberta Government hopes to complete its $2,500,000 road building programme, according to Hon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works, announced. By that time the province will have carried a $1,500,000 grant from the Federal Government. Subgrades are being constructed on 2,500 miles of highway. Six hundred miles have been surfaced already and about 250 miles gravelled. Ultimately all the main highways in Alberta, leading east, west, north and south, will be gravelled.

Ontario's Honey Crop

Ontario's crop of honey this year is of exceptionally high quality, and already 1,200,000 pounds of new honey have been moved through the co-operative association. Sweden Had Unusual Summer

Average Temperature Was High With An Abundant Rainfall

The official daily weather records, which in Sweden go back two hundred years, reveal for the past season a number of astonishing facts. On several occasions this summer Sweden has been warmer than Egypt, and the average temperature for July was higher in Stockholm than in Paris. The rainfall was also three times more abundant than usual and yet the number of hours with sunshine came within 7 per cent. of the record, held by 1914. The Swedish crop has been remarkably abundant this year and the weather conditions for the harvest favorable.

With a grand total of 2,643 eggs, the pen of White Leghorns owned by Mrs. H. Mufford, Langley, has won the fifth egg-laying contest at the Dominion experimental farm, Agassiz, B.C. The pen has not only created a Canadian record but probably a world record under official test, according to W. H. Hicks, superintendent of the station. The hens of the winning pen of ten birds have an average of 268 eggs each.

International Livestock Exposition

Good Representation From Canada at Big Show in Chicago

The farmers of Canada are very largely represented in competition with the best that the United States can produce at the International Live-stock Exposition at Chicago. Last year Canadian exhibitors swept the boards in the hay and grain show and also won some of the most coveted blue ribbons for horse, cattle and sheep. The most outstanding victory won by Canada last year was when J. G. Mitchell, of Hubbels, Saskatchewan, won the world's wheat prize, making the third time he had scored this honor and the thirteenth time that Canada had won it in the fourteen years the competition has been held. Mitchell's prize basket of Marquis wheat was the best in over 500 displays from all parts of the United States and Canada. He is competing this year and has hopes of winning again.

H R H the Prince of Wales is entering his famous Shorthorn bull, "King of the Castle," which was a champion-ship winner at this year's Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. This bull, which is being sent from the Prince's ranch near High River, Alberta, won a fourth at Chicago last year. It has won championships in the most important livestock shows in Western Canada and has been awarded a gold medal by the British Shorthorn Breeders' Association.

At last year's International Show, Canadian grains and seeds captured 1272 prizes including the world's championship for wheat, and the highest awards for alfalfa seed flax, Slat corn and field peas, 25 out of the 30 premiums for hard spring wheat and 24 but of 30 in oats.

As in other years one of the attractions at the show will be the Canadian Government exhibit showing the great variety of products of the farms and orchards in all parts of Canada and indicating the opportunities the Dominion offers to settlers on its fertile lands, 240,000,000 acres of which still await settlement. The International Show will be held from November 29th to December 5th inclusive.

New Pulp Mill

Construction Work Started For Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company

Work is now under way on the 150-ton pulp and paper mill being erected by the Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, according to Col. H. C. L. PREMIER BROWNLEE ILL

Premier Brownlee is at present confined to his residence at Edmonton with a severe cold and slight congestion of the lungs. His condition while serious, is not alarming. Hon. Geo. Hoadley is acting premier.

MUNICIPALITIES DOING WELL

According to reports presented to the Alberta association of municipal districts, by the president, the rural municipalities of Alberta are in a favorable condition. Against an assessed value of $479,000,000, there is debenture indebtedness of only $60,000, one-third of which is in one district. All payments on the above are being met promptly when due. Forty per cent of the districts had no money borrowed last year for any purpose, and of those which borrowed, all but 29 paid their loans in full at the end of the year.

AMERICAN EDITORS BOOST FORT DISTRICT

Following is an extract from one of the articles written by the Indiana Farmer's Guide in connection with the visit of the American Agricultural editors to Fort Saskatchewan:

"At Edmonton we were to be taken on a tour of the city and the surrounding country, but the outlook was unfavorable, our hosts were afraid to risk driving over the muddy roads, so we remained at the hotel all forenoon where a very nice exhibit of fruits, vegetables and flowers had been arranged for our benefit. The floral dahlia show, which included some unusually beautiful blooms, was also on progress, so we had plenty to occupy our time until noon, when our special train was shunted off the main line and run out to Fort Saskatchewan, where the citizens entertained us at luncheon in the Great War Veterans' Association hall. We dined in many places on this trip, in splendid hotels, on railroad trains, under tents and out in the open on the Prince's ranch, but this luncheon, prepared by the good ladies of Fort Saskatchewan, outclassed them all, and the spirit of friendliness and goodwill that accompanied the entertainment made it an occasion long to be remembered. It is a good farming district around Fort Saskatchewan, the soil being fertile and the rainfall sufficient to insure growth and quality of crops. We were told that 1924 was the driest year in the history of the country, and yet last year wheat made yields as high as 55 bus bels per acre, oats 100 bushels and barley 65 bushels. We saw some modern and up-to-date farm homes and I would judge from what I saw through the rain and the mist that this, as well as the territory more adjacent to Edmonton, is one of the most favorable agricultural sections of Canada."

NEW ABOUT MENTALITY

By Dr. C. M. Hincks.

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, and issued through the co-operation of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross.

All bad mental traits are by no means due to bad heredity.

When parents say "Tommy inherits his father's bad temper," they should modify the remark by saying that "Perhaps Tommy imitates his father's exhibition of bad temper."

Too often parents believe that inheritance has given their children bad characteristics. The mother is nervous, the father is given to tempestuous fits of anger—and they think the children inherit these qualities. Mental traits, so experts say, are certainly developed and often controlled by environment. For example, many people are afraid of lightning, but a noted authority says he has never seen babies show fear at a sudden flash of light. The loud crash of thunder frightens them, but not the brilliant light alone. Fear can be taught, so can courage.

Since environment plays such a big part in the acquisition of good mental habits, it can be readily understood that the right time to avoid bad mental habits of adults is to prevent their development in early years.

MUNICIPALITIES DOING WELL

According to reports presented to the Alberta association of municipal districts, by the president, the rural municipalities of Alberta are in a favorable condition. Against an assessed value of $479,000,000, there is debenture indebtedness of only $60,000, one-third of which is in one district. All payments on the above are being met promptly when due. Forty per cent of the districts had no money borrowed last year for any purpose, and of those which borrowed, all but 29 paid their loans in full at the end of the year.

OPEN SEASON FOR BEAVER

The Alberta government has declared an open season for beaver extending from December 1st, 1925, until the 30th day of April, 1926, affecting only in that part of the province of Alberta lying to the north of Township 69.

SUGAR BEETS PAY WELL

At least one farmer in the irrigated districts is glad he went into sugar beet raising. This is Wm. Vaigardson, near Taber, who secured $254 return from three and one-half acres of land. The sugar factory at Raymond is having a splendid run, and the new sugar is in keen demand in the province.

A Call To Public Service

One of the outstanding addresses before the recent conference of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce at Winnipeg, to which reference has been made in this column last week, was delivered by Premier Beatty of C.P.R. As was natural Mr. Beatty dealt largely with the subject of transportation, and in doing so traced the history of both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National from their inception. He discussed the transportation problem from its broad national aspect and in a manner worthy of the position he occupies, frankly outlining past mistakes and indicating lines of action which will make for future growth and success.

Mr. transportation history is yet to be written in respect to Canada, said Mr. Beatty, but he added, "with all due modesty I beg to say that the Canadians of today have just as much virility, courage and ent-rprise as the Canadians of thirty and forty years ago." Pointing out that Canada occupies a great expanse of territory with a few number of people per mile of railway than any other country, and consequently with less density and diversity of traffic, and quoting generally speaking the lowest transportation rates in the world, the railways nevertheless had to be equipped to carry the traffic and provide the services which the people demanded and the interests of the dominion made necessary. Despite the most rigid economy being practised the fact was that no change in import must be possible, without greater traffic and that means greater production and more people.

Mr. Beatty then came to the crux of his address. He emphasized, particularly, the need of all parts of Canada for a better population, and he stated that he submitted that a need existed for a change in colonizing Canada and that it was imperative both east and west. Continuing, Mr. Beatty said:

"My suggestion in respect to this most discussed question of immigration is that we should take it out of the field of statistics and placed it in the field of human relations. The visitor coming to us from overseas in search of information is literally swamped with statistics presented in the form of bulletins, circular, pamphlet, newspaper articles and what not, dealing with Canadian activities. We are apt to forget that people coming to any short are human beings, members of families, often whole families who hope to see themselves from old homes homes in some cases centuries old, to come and live in Canada, to be neighbors if we are willing to be neighborly and to become good citizens if we only hold out the welcoming hand."

"Hoge here tonight," continued Mr. Beatty, "must be taken to secure the placing of the immigrants in advance of their arrival so that the little capital they bring with them may not be squandered easy, but may be devoted in the proper purpose and original intention. Now to that preliminary examination of opportunities the boards of trade throughout Canada can play a highly important part, and indeed in the prairie provinces they already are playing an important part. Already thirty local colonization boards have been organized through the medium of local boards of trade and the spring of the past year have been of marked assistance in securing positions, providing information as to available farms, receiving and welcoming the new comers and generally co-operating in the successful settlement of approximately three thousand immigrants. Now if that example were followed throughout the dominion from coast to coast, the impetus given to the seaboard of all methods of immigration would be enormous, for the result would be the assimilation of a large additional population with the least danger of congestion and any one particular point."

In other words, Mr. Beatty clearly favors the creation of machinery somewhat along the lines of the original Soldier Settlement Board, and now being carried out by the Land Settlement Branch of the Department of Immigration and Colonization with respect to those families coming to Canada under the British Empire Settlement Scheme. Such a system should be created to deal with all immigrants and not merely selected groups.

Mr. Beatty further contemplates that in the near future out of such a plan, local bodies such as boards of trade and the many public service clubs should take an active part. It is not enough that an immigrant arrives and then be allowed to shift for himself. An intelligent and active interest in his welfare and success is all important, and this friendly and helpful assistance must come from the whole community. What Mr. Beatty has to say on this phase of the immigration problem is deserving of repetition and should be heeded by all public bodies and citizens generally. He said:

"Most important of all the results of such foundation wide co-operation would be widening of the personal interest in this vital matter of immigration. During such campaigns as that of the Patriotic Fund, the men and women who served on committees found that the education gained by their service was of incalculable value, giving them a new vision of life and of their responsibility towards their fellow citizens. The education of public service is, to my mind, the finest education in the world. We talk a lot about national unity, but believe we can understand what national unity means we must surely obtain ourselves as to the racial elements that form our nation, and such education can only be achieved by personal contact with our fellow citizens who have these citizens are native born or naturalized Canadians. There can be no national unity except on the ultimate basis of community spirit."

Order Your Farm Help Now

TO BE OF SERVICE to Western Canadian farmers and help to meet their needs in securing competent farm help, the CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY Co. will continue its Farm Help Service during 1926, and will locate in this Service, as last year, the supply of women domestics and girls.

Through experience in the past few years, the Company is now in touch with a number of farm laborers in Great Britain, Switzerland, Belgium, France, Holland, Switzerland, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, Germany and Roumania and can promptly fill applications for farm help.

In order to have the help reach Canada in time for Spring operations, farmers requiring help must put their applications in early, to enable us to secure the help needed.

Should applications forms and full information regarding the Service may be obtained from any C.P.R. agent or from any of the officials listed below:

Not Needed in League

Better For United States to Stay Out Says Dr. Garnett

Dr Maxwell Garnett, secretary of the League of Nations Union in Great Britain, addressing the members of the Canadian Club at Ottawa at their weekly luncheon, on "Some Side-lights on League Activities," said that, so far as he is able to judge, it is not at all necessary for the United States to join the league now that Germany is in it. Dr. Garnett expressed the idea that it would be a very serious blow to the League of Nations for the United States to go in, in advance of public opinion, and she was not to go unwise.

Dr. Garnett, in his address, surveyed some of the activities of the league. The result of all these activities has been to diminish very the league's best friends, he said. Dr Garnett maintained also the present action of the league with regard to the present conflict of the Greeks and Bulgarians as a result of which, days after the cessation of the bogus met in special session, the last Greek soldier left Bulgarian territory and the last Bulgarian soldier settled. Everything has come to the league as a consequence, but the backing of public opinion is still necessary.

Simplicity Of Line

The new high collar comes in town and tops the newest frocks. This is the type of frock that smart women favor as a necessity—severely simple in effect, yet flaring smartly with the aid of inverted plaits at the side seams. It is fashioned of a wonderfully soft tweed, with its severe simplicity relieved by the flannel. Two plain triangular bands—one running from the right shoulder to a point below the waistline, and one from the back on the left side to above the waistline—are held in place with flat bone buttons. The long fitted sleeves also have a buttoned band. A narrow belt is fitted at the low waistline. No 1208 is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years (or 34, 36 and 38 inches bust). Size 18 years (or 36 bust) requires 3½ yards of 54 inch, or 2¾ yards of 60-inch material. Price 20 cents.

Our National Geography Is The Largest Single Factor Affecting Canadian Development

Unfortunately, to most readers the term "geography" has but an academic meaning. As a matter of cold reality, however, our national geography is the largest single factor affecting Canadian development. It is about as little academic as a mortgage. It is a bigger and more important bust—ness than the public dobt. It is a permanent, fundamental factor, underlying our national development at every turn. To study and make known the physical property which the Canadian people own and have to develop is the general object of the national resources intelligence service of the department of the interior.

Great credit is due the geological survey branch of the department of mines for the way it has persisted in studying the physical geography of the dominion. The accompanying map is a product of that work. It shows Canada in the light of its basic physical divisions—the only light in which one can intelligently study our economic geography or make any sound appraisal of the physical value and commercial possibilities of our national property.

The geography of Canada is the bedrock foundation of the whole fabric of the Dominion as a national property—as our means of national support and growth. And the intelligent development of the country requires above everything else a clear, broad grasp of its geography, of its physical material layout.

Canadian development has been, and will continue to be, greatly advanced by the national geological survey's constructive public notion. Railway building, immigration, industrial research, industrial surveys, the collection of economic data—these and countless other lines of public activity owe more than the world of writing to the light in the waist line—as held in place with flat bone buttons. The long fitted sleeves also have a buttoned band. A narrow belt is fitted at the low waistline. No 1203 is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years (or 34, 36 and 38 inches bust). Size 18 years (or 36 bust) requires 3½ yards of 54 inch, or 2¾ yards of 60-inch material. Price 20 cents.

The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are obtainable for the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments available for the latest authority can economy will find her tastes fulfilled in our patterns. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

This is, of course, one necessary phase of geographic work. But it does not touch the supremely important work of portraying the economic geography of the country—the fundamental physical features which control the productive capacity of the property.

The basic idea which the study of economic geography has followed in Canada has succeeded in giving almost everyone a fair conception of the dominion. Probably nine educated Canadians out of ten could sketch a fairly good rough map showing the great divisions of the country by provinces and territories. Few Canadians, however, would ever recognize a map showing the great physiographic regions which not only shape the whole course and character of the dominion's economic development, but actually create our transportation, tariff and most of our other major political questions.

Wheat Exports

More Than Doubled in First Three Months of Present Crop Year

Exports of Canadian wheat more than doubled in the first three months of the present season, as compared with last year. The total exports for the three months in question, which include flour exports, amounted to 73,107,000 bushels, as compared with 32,740,000 bushels for the corresponding period of last year, while the total exports of wheat from August 1st to date were 75,000,000 bushels. The largest percentage rise was in the shipments of wheat to the United Kingdom, and in that country, which increased more than five times.

VICKS VAPORUB

saw Fat, as nothing was playing against the Willow now.

It was not a long interval in which their eyes met in that terrible silence —terrible to the girl. Words were unnecessary. At last she understood —understood what her peril had been that day at the edge of the chasm and in the forest, when passingly she had played with the menace that was confronting her now.

A heaving that was like a sob broke from her lips.

"Milton" she tried to say. But it was only a gasp in effort. Still seemed choking.

Plainly she heard the click of the iron bolt as it locked the door. Mr Taggart's voice rose in a shout.

Only a single step McTaggart remained on the floor. Bend he crouched like a cat in the dark. He had not moved. He had not made a sound but that one warning snarl until he took the step. Then he said them, like a flash he was up and in front of Neppeco every hair of his body on end, and at the first sight of the gravel McTaggart lunged back against the barred door. A word from Neppeco in that moment, and it would have been all over. But a instant was lost—an instant before her cry came in that moment man's hand and brain worked as one, and he knew the secrets of his industry at the minimum of trouble and expense to themselves.

The British government has loaned over 150,000 invitations to buyers to attend the fair, and it is safe to say that many Canadians will be among the visitors. In fact it is no exaggeration to say that no buyer can afford to miss the fair. Britain needs goods are known the world over for quality, and at the present time they are more attractive than ever, because, while retaining the qualities which have made them famous, they are now able to compete in any market. Moreover, the British manufacturer at the present time is particularly anxious for export trade and is ready to meet all requirements.

Another interesting fact, said Mr Wiseman, is that it is expected that there will be quite a number of Canadian manufacturers exhibiting their products side by side with the manufacturers of the United Kingdom. Any article, the product of the empire, may be shown and local firms are not being slow to take advantage of the opportunity.

Mr. Wiseman hopes that a large number of visitors from Western Canada will be able to attend. He will be glad to meet any friends who may come communicating with him at 702 Royal Bank Building, Winnipeg.

Big British Trade Exhibition

British Industries Fair Offers Opportunities to Canadian Manufacturers

A. M. Wiseman, British commercial representative in Winnipeg, announces that the British Industries Fair will be held next year in London and Birmingham from February 16th to 26th February, 1926.

This fair, said Mr. Wiseman, must not be confused with the British Empire Exhibition, which is now closed. The British Industries Fair, which is the largest annual trade fair in the world, was organized in 1915, and has been held every year since that date. It is purely a trade fair, and, during the past seven years, many buyers are accustomed to it.

Each year groups of trades are shown in each city so that there is no overlapping. The London groups festivals which important lines as silverware, cutlery, chinaware, stationery, leather goods, toys, clothing, drugs, food stuffs, etc., while in Birmingham the principal exhibits are of machinery, metal goods of all kinds, sanitary appliances and paints.

It is the principal object of the fair is to sell goods, the advertising is done everything they can, for this is the responsibility of the exhibitors to make it attractive to buyers. There are no large crowds of sightseers to obstruct business, and the reputation of the exhibits makes it possible for buyers to view all the latest developments in industry at the minimum of trouble and expense to themselves.

Printer's Sick Stomach and Headaches Almost Cost Job

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACHS

Indigestion Disappears When the Blood Is Enriched

The urgent need of all who suffer from indigestion is to enrich the blood. Pain and distress after eating is due to the stomach nerves that it is too weak to perform the work of digesting the food taken. In this condition some people foolishly try purgatives, but these only further aggravate the trouble.

New strength is given weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills enrich and purify the blood. This is the natural process of giving strength and tone in the stomach, and it accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follow the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills. The appetite revives, food can be taken without discomfort and the burden and pains of indigestion are dispelled. The following statement from Mr. Donald L. Latter, Lakeville, N.S., proves the value of these pills in cases of this kind. He says:—"A couple of years ago I had a bad attack of indigestion. I had little or no appetite, and what I did eat did not agree with me and caused me much pain. As a result of this trouble my general health broke down, and I finally had to give up my work. I had taken doctor's medicine but it did not give me any relief. Then a friend advised me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I got six boxes. Before I had completed the third box I found that they were helping me and by the time I had taken the six boxes every symptom of indigestion had disappeared, my general health had improved and I have since been in the very best of health. I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a wonderful medicine for all who are run-down."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"DAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, Is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Daree, the wolf-dog, had left the cabin of Pierrot, the trapper, to join the wolf pack. But the wolves would not have him he was only half-wolf, and back to the cabin he went, to be the guardian and pet of Neppeco, the trapper's daughter, a beautiful girl. One day Pierrot received word from McTaggart, the factor, asking him to go to Lac Bain and help in the fur-trading store for a few days, while McTaggart was away. It was a strange request and one Pierrot could not wonder.

"And Neppeco" said Pierrot. "Mebbe expects me to bring her?"

From the stone the Willow heard and heard in Neppeco, and her heart leaped free again at Pierrot's answer.

He said nothing about that. But surely it will be a great change for the maiden."

Pierrot nodded.

"Possible," he agreed.

When Lac Bain was about to leave the next morning, Pierrot said:

"Tell Milton that I will leave for Lac Bain the day after to-morrow."

After Lac Bain had gone, he said to Neppeco:

"And you shall remain here, ma cherie. I will not take you to Lac Bain. I have had a dream that Milton will not go on a journey. And that he has lied, and that he will be back when I arrive at the post. And yet, it is almost happen that your care to go."

Neppeco straightened suddenly, like a reed that has been caught by the wind.

"Non!" she cried, so fiercely that Pierrot laughed, and rubbed his hands.

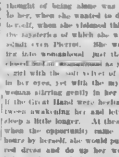
So it happened that on the second day after the fur hunter's visit Pierrot left Lac Bain, with Neppeco in the door waving him good-by until he was out of sight.

On the morning of this same day Dash McTaggart rose from his bed while it was still dark. The time had come. He had hesitated at murder—at the killing of Pierrot; and in his hesitation he had found a better way. There could be no escape for Neppeco.

He ate his breakfast before dawn, and was on the trail before it was yet light. Purposely he struck due east, so that in coming up from the south and west Pierrot would not strike his dodge. For he had made up in his mind now that Pierrot must never know and must never have a suspicion, even though it cost him no many more miles to travel that he would not reach the Gray Loon until the second day. It was better to be a day late, after all, as it was possible that something might have delayed Pierrot. So he made no effort to travel fast.

There was a vast amount of brutal satisfaction to McTaggart in anticipating what he meant to happen, and he revelled in it to the full. There was no chance for disappointment. He was positive that Neppeco would not be in newspaper's cabin to let him. She would be at the cabin on the Gray Loon, alone.

This alone was to Neppeco but she danced with no thought of danger. There were times, now, when the thought of being alone was pleasant to her, when she wanted to be alone with herself, when she pictured things into the mysteries of which she would not admit to Pierrot. She was growing into womanhood just the sweet, closed bud of womanhood as yet still in her eyes, yet with the mystery of the woman stirring gently in her soul, as if the Great Hand were breathing between sleeping life and letting it keep a little longer. At these times, when the opportunity came to steal home by herself, she would put on her red dress and do up her wonderful hair as she saw it in the pictures of the magazines. Pierrot had sent up twice a year from Nelson House.



"Was staring as if stunned for a space of what he saw."

On the second day of Pierrot's absence Neppeco dressed herself like this, but when she had let her hair cascade in a shining glory about her, and about her forehead bound a circlet of red ribbon. She was not yet done. Today she had marvellous designs. On the wall close to her mirror she had incised a large page from a woman's magazine, and on this page was a lovely vision of curls. Fifteen hundred miles north of the sunny California studio the picture had been taken, Neppeco, with pouted red lips and puckered forehead, was fighting to master the mystery of the girl's curls!

She was looking into her mirror, her face flushed and her eyes aglow in the excitement of her struggle to fashion one of the coveted ringlets from a strand that fell away below her ligs, when the door opened behind her, and Dash McTaggart walked in.

CHAPTER XX.

The Willow's back was toward the door when the Factor from Lac Bain entered the cabin, and for a few seconds she did not turn. Her first thought was of Pierrot—for some reason he had returned. But even as this thought came to her, she heard in Baree's throat a snarl that brought her suddenly to her feet, facing the door.

McTaggart had not entered unprepared. He had left his pack, his gun, and his heavy coat outside. He was standing with back against the door—and at Neppeco—in her wonderful dress and flowing hair—he was staring as if stunned for a space at what he saw. Fat, as nothing was playing against the Willow now.

It was not a long interval in which their eyes met in that terrible silence —terrible to the girl. Words were unnecessary. At last she understood —understood what her peril had been that day at the edge of the chasm and in the forest, when passingly she had played with the menace that was confronting her now.

A heaving that was like a sob broke from her lips.

"Milton" she tried to say. But it was only a gasp in effort. Still seemed choking.

Plainly she heard the click of the iron bolt as it locked the door. Mr Taggart's voice rose in a shout.

Only a single step McTaggart remained on the floor. Bend he crouched like a cat in the dark. He had not moved. He had not made a sound but that one warning snarl until he took the step. Then he said them, like a flash he was up and in front of Neppeco every hair of his body on end, and at the first sight of the gravel McTaggart lunged back against the barred door. A word from Neppeco in that moment, and it would have been all over. But a instant was lost—an instant before her cry came in that moment man's hand and brain worked as one, and he knew the secrets of his industry at the minimum of trouble and expense to themselves.

The British government has loaned over 150,000 invitations to buyers to attend the fair, and it is safe to say that many Canadians will be among the visitors. In fact it is no exaggeration to say that no buyer can afford to miss the fair. Britain needs goods are known the world over for quality, and at the present time they are more attractive than ever, because, While retaining the qualities which have made them famous, they are now able to compete in any market. Moreover, the British manufacturer at the present time is particularly anxious for export trade and is ready to meet all requirements.

Another interesting fact, said Mr Wiseman, is that it is expected that there will be quite a number of Canadian manufacturers exhibiting their products side by side with the manufacturers of the United Kingdom. Any article, the product of the empire, may be shown and local firms are not being slow to take advantage of the opportunity.

Mr. Wiseman hopes that a large number of visitors from Western Canada will be able to attend. He will be glad to meet any friends who may come communicating with him at 702 Royal Bank Building, Winnipeg.

Lloyd George Is Now Anxious For Complete Unity Of Liberal Party

London.—If I am an obstacle to Liberal unity I am prepared to resign," is the reported Delhi pronouncement made by David Lloyd George at a private gathering of Liberals here, when Lord Grimond and Asquith was entertained with a view to a further healing of the differences between the two wings of the Liberal party.

Reports of the gathering agree that as a result of the conference a meeting of the Liberal Council will be held in November. It is understood that Lloyd George will be invited to attend this meeting. It is also understood that Mr. Lloyd George has agreed to refrain from attacking Mr. Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George have worked together. Mr. Asquith has been invited to attend a meeting of the Liberal Council in a few days. He failed to attend the last meeting, but it is understood he will put in an appearance at the next meeting.

Business Conditions Improving In West

Outlook For Future is Bright Says C.P.R. Official

Montreal.—Signs point to further improving of the business crop in the prairie provinces, conditions in the west have shown a steady improvement during the past year, according to C. E. McPherson, assistant passenger traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway western lines, stationed in Winnipeg, later viewed at head office of the system here.

Mr McPherson was distinctly optimistic as to the present position in the west and as to the outlook for the future.

"The crop has now been practically gathered, threshing is finished and the grain has been stored in the elevators, all that remains is the transportation of wheat and that is going forward with elegance, as may be seen by recently issued statistics. This means that a great volume of money is steadily coming in to farmers which gives them full opportunity to clear off debts, leaving enough over to enable them considerably to extend the par chance. The effect on the retail trade condition is obvious in the already much improved movement of westbound merchandise."

Mineral Dispute Causes Anxiety

Question Will Be Considered Before Long.—Rumors

London.—Rumors of the possibility of war between Great Britain and Turkey over the Mosul boundary failed to cast a shadow on the general rejoicing over the signing of the Locarno Treaty, but the ugly problem will be forgotten and can be discussed informally in the lobbies of parliament and elsewhere.

Nothing developed, however, to give more solid form to the rumor.

The delegates of the nations have gone to Geneva to discuss the Mosul dispute still be one of the main topics before the council of the League of Nations.

Hope is expressed here that the difficulty will be straightened out in Geneva.

Constantinople.— Foreign Minister Tewfik Rushdi Bey, accompanied by a delegation of Turks, left for Geneva to attend the meeting of the council of the League of Nations at which among other things the report on the Mosul question will be considered.

Jews Subscribe $2,000,000

Chicago.—Chicago Jews have subscribed $2,000,000, it was announced, to one fund being raised in this country for welfare work in behalf of the race here and abroad. The subscriptions which covered half of Chicago's quota, included one from Joulius Rosenwald, who already had announced a $1,000,000 donation to the fund.

Good Season On Great Lakes

Record On Record

Chicago.—The greatest season in the history of shipping on the Great Lakes has just closed, with an approximate total tonnage of 90,000,000 carried, according to reports received here by the Lake Carriers' Association. The season just ended is notable in that it was the first year of operation under the new Welland Canal, entrance to the Great Lake system of vessels having a draft of 25 feet. Several vessels have been built to take advantage of the new canal dimensions, and Mr. Lloyd George's lost policy would be carried in a few days. He failed to make a statement after the meeting, but it is understood the party would last until the without him, for he would be unable to remain with a disrupted party.

Announces Remedy For High Blood Pressure

Possibilities Disclosed in Research At University of Toronto

Toronto.—Results of an intensive work in Toronto University's laboratory, has strengthened confidence in extract of liver as a remedy for high blood pressure or for hardening of the arteries. This was announced by Dr. W. J. Macdonald, St. Catherine's, Ont., in charge of the research. The extension was a dinner tendered him by members of the Academy of Medicine.

Experiments have confirmed the first findings, sadively, he said, and both continued treatment of human and animals and a preliminary chemical analysis of the potent extracts, indicate that the discovery is more than the old and now. It is old in the cure and accomplished foundation on which it is based, and that the possibilities which it presents for a weapon, more powerful than any known before, with which to combat the insidious ailment of high blood pressure, and the attendant complaint of hardening of the arteries.

Severe Storms In Rome

Intense Cold and Heavy Snow Causes Much Suffering

Rome.—Continuance of the continental storm which has been causing considerable damage as well as great suffering among the poor, with heavy snow in the mountains, is causing floods and intense cold and heavy snow along the Appenines and Trentine Alps. Many towns, notably the Valtarno, are out of their banks. Houses are being swept away, and the inhabitants in Naples are fleeing. The freeze are heavy reported up houses undermined by the waters.

Hardened Criminals Need Lash

Toronto Brig-General W. St. Pierre Hughes, superintendent of penitentiaries, in an address here stated that while dungeons, dark cells and flogging in penitentiaries were things of the past, he favored the judicial use of the lash for hardened criminals. Most of them, he said, would rather face a five-year term than one application of the lash

Italy Has Most Earthquakes

Rome.—More than 100,000 earthquake shocks have been recorded all over the world during the last 50 years, according to statistics published here. Most of the shocks were only short tremors. Italy experienced the largest number of shocks, about 25,000, while Japan had only thirty-1.

Stranded In Orient

Philadelphia Girls' Baseball Tour Came to Abrupt End

Victoria, Stranded in the Orient without funds, the baseball tour came to an abrupt end and the players are being returned to their homes in the United States by the Philadelphia Ball Club.

Provision for the return journey has been made by a wealthy Philadelphian.

Two months ago to play a series of games in Japan. The first appearance was met with a record crowd, more than 30,000 persons paying to watch the ball players in action.

IRISH BOUNDARY QUESTION STILL TO BE SETTLED

London.—The attempts to reconstruct the Irish boundary commission, which has been in abeyance since the Irish Free State and Ulster are declared in some quarters to be trying to agree on "John Bull's purse."

Money payments both to North and South Ireland apparently have to be made the idea being to acceptance in Ireland for the time being of the status quo regarding the boundary," says the Westminster Gazette.

The Daily Mail says: The British Government has definitely decided to put its hands into the pockets of British taxpayers to find the price of peace. It is anxious to avoid even the murder in Ireland, and apparently is prepared to pay almost any price for that purpose."

Saskatchewan Wins in Clydesdales

Chicago.—Western Canada came into its own at the International Grain and Hay Exposition, when Saskatchewan entries swept the field clear of prizes for Clydesdale horses, including all classes of an entry from that province as grand champion stallion of the show. This, the premier equine event of the show, was won by "Lord Meadow Footprint," Clydesdale stallion, owned by University of Saskatchewan.

Yeggmen Easily Scared

New York.—The appeals of a dying rat which pervaded a hotel for its ground out beneath the heel of a yeggman are thought to have scared safecrackers who abandoned $25,000 worth of diamonds after they had opened a safe in a jewelry store.

United Livestock Growers To Co-Operate With Alberta Livestock Pool

Tourists Flock To The Pacific Coast

Winter Pilgrimage to Vancouver Promises to Be Heavy This Season

Vancouver, B.C.—Tourists from the prairie provinces are beginning their winter pilgrimage into Vancouver, the rainless region reports. Most hotels have already passed the capacity mark for the season, and reports are that advances of many hotels generally, including whole families, and the proverbial long fur coats dot the city landscape.

It is predicted that prairie tourist traffic will be heavy this season, and many additional attractions await the visitor. A particularly fine concert programme including performances by world-famous artists, and a full quota of the best road shows, are scheduled for the winter. The completion of a new bridge across Burrard Inlet, which opens up to direct automobile traffic the whole wonderland of North Vancouver, will also be one of the most important improvements of recent years. Tourists in the city, while the three remaining directors are nominated by United Grain Growers Limited.

The plan of organization adopted looks to the organization in each western province of a federation of shipping associations which will take stock in and elect a proportion of the directors of United Livestock Growers Ltd. It is hoped the shipping associations are ready to assume that responsibility. United Grain Growers will continue its financial assistance to the livestock organization.

The U.G.G. directors on the new board are: C. Rice-Jones of Wetaskiwin, F. J. Collyer of Welwyn, Sask., and John Reid of Cowdale, Sask. The representatives of the United Co-operative Livestock Producers Limited, are: H. N. Stearns of Innisfail, Alta., A. McMillan of Tees, and A. H. Chappell of Swalwell, Alta. Rice-Jones has been elected President and Manager, and Mr. Claypool, Vice President.

The new organization does not necessarily mean any change in the business under which United Livestock Growers conduct their livestock business, nor in the handling of the Cattle Pool. It is expected that as a result of the organization of co-operative shipping of livestock in Alberta, and an increased stimulus for the formation of co-operative shipping associations

During the past year United Livestock Growers handled a total of 7,641 cars of livestock at the Calgary, Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Edmonton, and a co-operative package dividend of $22,000 was distributed among shippers for Cattle Pool

DOING THE SHOPPING

If human nature were not what it is, the Christmas season might not be one of rush and worry over what to buy, and sales forces in stores would not be rushed to exhaustion in the two or three weeks before the event. If people did their shopping when it could be done under the least congested conditions, it might extend over months instead of weeks, and it would be not less seasonable.

However, none but the exceptional person thinks of doing shopping until it cannot be put off longer. Then it becomes an ordeal and is as strenuous that it tends to rob the season of the "cheer and good will" that attach to it sentimentally. The "good will" might actually pervade the shoppers were they not overworked trying to find what they want and struggling to get it. Yet it would not be Christmas for a lot of people were it otherwise. They have become so accustomed to waiting until then making a hurry-up job of it that they would not feel right were it done betimes.

Human nature is a peculiar thing despite the fact that all of us have it. It wouldn't be human nature if it wasn't odd. If we did everything in a reasonable and sane way we would not be human beings. We would be super-human and that is too much to expect. It is the prerogative of human beings to do as they please and of course most of us please to delay as long as we can in the doing of what we cannot avoid. There may be those who are forehanded in Christmas shopping but they are rare and so different from the mass that they are odd, too.

By the way, we must do our shopping pretty soon.

ADVERTISING CUTS PRICES

Persons who have not given the subject of advertising serious thought may be inclined to believe that standard products could be sold cheaper if the manufacturers did not spend so much money in advertising them. The contrary is the truth.

Every concern which seeks a general market for its goods finds it necessary to set aside a certain sum each year for advertising, and this is charged as a part of the operating expenses, the same as rent, feul or insurance. The aim of the advertising manager is to buy the largest possible circulation among persons who would be interested in his product.

Every manufacturer has certain fixed charges which must be paid out of the receipts from the business, and the larger the volume of business that can be created the less per article is charged for the payment of overhead costs. This volume of business is obtained only by creating a demand for the goods, and it is most quickly and cheaply done by direct appeal through the newspapers.

The same principle which obtains in the case of the general advertiser could be applied in the business of the smallest merchant. The quicker the turnover which a dealer is able to make the sooner his profit is obtained and the cash is put in his till for new purchases. Advertising of the practical kind will help to make quicker sales and more frequent profits. The result is that the retailer, with the aid of the general advertiser, is able to maintain standard prices and quality in the widely advertised articles.

Here and There

The total fish catch on both coasts in Canada for the nine months ending September, 1925, was worth $19,-797,000, as compared with $17,418,-456 for the same of 1924, an increase of $1,883,520.

A gold watch has been awarded to the Canadian Pacific Railway by the Company's exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition this year On one side of the medal is a portrait of the Hon. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, while on the other is a scene on the exhibition grounds.

E. W. Beatty, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, stated recently that more liners of the "M" type would be built to replace older liners, such as the Mariech, Marburn and Montrose. The new ships will be similar in all respects to the R.S. Montclare and Montrose. The Marloch, Marburn and Montreal will be sold.

A fish caught in Shuswap Lake, British Columbia, after a forty-minute fight turned out to be a monster rainbow speckled trout, weighing 17¾ pounds, with a length of 36¼ inches and a girth of 24¼ inches. It was mounted and exhibited in the window of the Dominion Express Company, Montreal, before being shipped to the owner in England.

Live stock exchanges are to be formed in Montreal and Toronto on a sharp decrease in the number of cattle. In the period 1920-1924, there was a decrease of 211,000 head of cattle in the province of Quebec. Because of the low prices for live stock, the Quebec farmer has refused to face the long period of feeding and tending, and kills the calves

A seven passenger twin-engine flying boat, which it is said will revolutionize the aerial fire-fighting methods employed by the Government protective patrols, is being tested at the Dominion Government Airdrome at South Marsh, near Ottawa. If satisfactory it will be flown to Manitoba where it will take up fire preventive duties in one of the most important forest areas.

The 1925 total of dividends paid and declared by gold and silver mining companies in Northern Ontario is $10,608,174, representing a gain of $2,013,171 over the dividend record of 1924 and constitutes the greatest record for Canadian precious metal mining industries. From 1904 to 1925, since silver was discovered in Cobalt in 1904 and gold found in Porcupine and Kirkland Lake in 1909 and 1910, records show total dividends of $150,774,157 from these fields. The aggregate profits are now averaging $1,500,000 a month.

Bettering the world record of 3,-447,624 bushels of all grains marketed on C.P.R. western lines Thursday, November 19, A. Hatten, general superintendent transportation of the system, has reported that 3,580,000 bushels were marketed on Friday, November 20. From August 1 to November 20 inclusive, a total of 445 bushels of all grains have been marketed at stations adjacent to Canadian Pacific Railway lines as compared to 109,651,136 bushels for the same period last year, an increase of about 35 per cent.

Sponsor of what is confidently expected to be the most brilliant winter season in Quebec, the Winter Sports Club has been launched under the patronage of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, Hon. N. Perodeau; Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec; Mayor J. Samson of Quebec, and Mayor Demers of Levis. The major events of the season are the International College Ski competition on December 30; the International Snow Shoe Convention, February 6-7; and the Quebec Dog Derby, the date for which has not yet been fixed.

The mighty hunters who went forth to hunt last Wednesday as reported in The Record, returned Tuesday laden with spoils of the chase. The party consisted of Bob and Pete Karran, Harris Byers and Hilt Cook. Though actually hunting for only four of their six days holiday their bag was two deer, two coyotes, three wolves and an eagle.

Spilt Milk Costs Uncle Sam $77,399,685.00 Annually

To raise a herd of fifty cows for one year is well worth trying, the more particularly as the herd practically pays for itself.

According to a schedule showing the division of dairy products, published by the United States Department of Agriculture, the annual cost of wasted milk in our nation would make a happy pay day for the army and navy and still leave an appropriation sufficient to build enough combat planes to mutiny even the militant Mitchell.

The amount of milk spilt, soured, poured and otherwise wasted annually, is 3,333,333,000 pounds. This at $2.32 per hundred would appropriate a sum equal to the stupendous amount of $77,399,443.

However, a cheerful note rings through this tale of economic loss to a nation. The same report shows a 1924 increase of 100 pounds of milk per cow over 1923 production. Deducting this from the figure previously given, leaves a loss through waste of only $13,667,315, a mere bagatelle, compared with our National debt of more than twenty billions of dollars.

The increased yield per cow is due to heightened efficiency on the farm, and future years promises even greater increases.

Dairymen have discovered the futility of feeding non-paying members of their milk kines. They have learned that lovers lurk in infantary milk production. They have discovered the advantages that lie in erecting the lanterns that hide in unclean stables, unequipped with brushed flanks and udders of milk cows and unvarnished utensils. As time goes on, the unavoidable waste of milk will be more than offset by intelligent feeding, complete sanitation and more efficient herd management.

FRASER—SILLARS

First Presbyterian manse was the scene of a quiet wedding on Tuesday, December 1, when Miss Mary Sillars, daughter of Mr and Mrs Peter Sillars of Gibbons, was united in marriage to Mr. Milne George Fraser. The Rev. Dr. McQueen performed the ceremony. Miss Catherine Sillars and Mr. Burns Fraser, sister and brother of the bride and bridegroom respectively, were the attendants.

The bride wore a navy blue ensemble suit and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a white gold wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a string of pearls, and to the best man a fountain pen and pencil.

The young couple are taking a trip, by way of Chicago, to Mr. Fraser's old home in Pembroke, Ontario.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 13

PAUL IN MELITA AND SOME

Golden Text: I am not ashamed of the gospel: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. Romans 1.16

Lesson. Acts 28 1-31.

Devotional Reading: Romans 12 1-8

The Text Explained and Illumined

The Arrival At Rome, verse 16.—Upon reaching Rome, Paul was allowed to live by himself, though placed under the guard of a soldier, to whom he was probably chained. Soldiers relieved one another in this duty, and thus Paul became known throughout the Pretorian Guard, Phil. 1 12, 13. Paul never described himself as a prisoner of Rome, but always as the prisoner of Jesus Christ.

The most galling chains about our wrists are not there without the will of our Father, the Lord Se heaven and earth; and His will is not only to be taken patiently as something we are to be resigned to, but to be acquiesced in gladly. The feet of Paishers would not have handed us the cup had it not been the best cup for us, nor forged the shackle had it not meant our widest and largest usefulness. (Dr Henry Stones Coffin).

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

FORT I.O.O.F. AND REBEKAHS STAGE EXCELLENT DANCE

A most excellent dance was held in the Memorial hall last Friday. It was arranged jointly by the I.O.O.F. Lodge No. 14 and Princess Rebekah Lodge No. 82, and whatever success have preceded it or will follow it, this one will stand out as one of the high lights in the way of entertainment during this season.

The hall was well decorated, the emblems of the two lodges being strongly emphasized in artistic arrangement and in numbers. There was a splendid attendance and everyone seemed imbued with that "Excelsior" feeling. The Al Forrest orchestra obliged with most inspiring music and in this, their first visit to the Fort, were discovered to be a group of good-natured and able musicians. Lunch was served at midnight in the buffet room.

SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING FORT SASK. CO-OPERATIVE LIVESTOCK SHIPPERS' ASSN.

The seventh annual meeting of the Fort Saskatchewan Co-operative Livestock Shippers Association, Limited, was held in the Town hall on Tuesday, December 8.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Wallis in his usual able manner. A greater number of members attended this meeting than has been the case since the first annual meeting.

After the auditor's, treasurer's and secretary-manager's reports had been adopted the question of electing the associate's came up. By an unanimous vote the meeting instructed the incoming board to proceed at once to have the association incorporated. Some necessary amendments to the by-laws of the association were also made.

The Board elected were: G. A. Cranston, R. Hennig, and John Oxley, all for two years, and H. B. Peters, John Miles, I. W. Minor and M. L. Stinson for one year. At a subsequent meeting of the Board H. B. Peters was elected chairman; G. A. Cranston, manager, and R. Hennig, secretary-treasurer.

The manager's report showed that in point of weight of livestock shipped, the past year was the best yet for the association, the shipments totalling a little over 1,340,000 pounds for $6.00, and $81,497 in cash on hand.

The meeting passed a vote of thanks to the Council of Fort Saskatchewan for the loan of the Town hall. A vote of thank was also given to Mr. Rice-Jones, as vice-president of the U.G.G. Limited, Mr. Chappell, president of the Livestock Pool, and Mr. [illegible], secretary of the Dairy Pool, who attended and gave valuable help during some of the discussions. The thanks of the association and the Board is also due the retiring chairman, Mr. J. T. Wallis, for the untiring attention he gave to the work of the association.

THE FIDGETY CHILD

By Dr. C. M. Hincks.

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, and issued through the co-operation of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross.

A child's nervousness depends largely on outside influence. Parental example of poise and calm in the face of irritating circumstances is the finest antidote for a nervous child.

Faulty feeding in infancy and early childhood may weaken the nervous system. All authorities approve of system. All authorities approve of good simple food, including milk, meat, vegetables and fruit, and avoiding tea, coffee, alcohol and rich pastry.

Children should not be brought up too tenderly. They should be subjected to a hardening process. The child that is finicky about his diet or is brought up so that he is shielded from bad weather and becomes sensitive to slight changes of heat and cold is liable to nervous ills.

One reason why women are much more prone to nervous ailments than men is that as girls they have less chance for wholesome games and exercises. Out of door life, swimming, walking, rowing, play of all kinds and systematic gymnastics will do much to mitigate a nervous tendency.

THEY ALL COME BACK

Secondas Bertolozzi, a prisoner who escaped from the provincial gaol late Thursday night, was re-captured early Friday near Clover Bar by the Alberta Provincial Police and returned to his temporary home. For his exploit he was rewarded in the afternoon by Magistrate Adamson with a further sentence of six months.

Claude Hughes, the deaf mute who escaped and was re-captured at Vegreville, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment the same afternoon.

Peace On Earth; Goodwill Toward Men

This is the season when the old Christmas song of the angels, 'Peace on earth good will toward men," will be sung throughout the world, when from press and pulpit the singers of peace and good will among all men and nations will be proclaimed. When exhortations will be voiced urging all people by precept and the force of example to do what lies in their power to promote those essential qualities at home and abroad.

Perhaps never before in the world's history did there exist a more earnest and widespread desire for internal peace and goodwill, and the greatest and most outstanding evidences of this is to be found in the signing of the Locarno treaties, and in the growing influence of the League of Nations.

There is also in evidence in many countries, and especially so in Canada, a larger and growing spirit of tolerance. More and more there is developing a willingness among people to let bygones be bygones, to accord to others that same liberty of thought in matters of language, religion, politics, and racial customs which one demands for oneself. Canadians generally are not now concerning themselves with petty bosses as to whether their neighbors of foreign birth continue to make use of their mother tongue, or worship God in some manner different from their own. There is, in Canada, a growing acceptance of a man for his own character and qualities quite apart from his racial origin, the language he speaks, or the altar at which he worships. The general recognition and acceptance of such views is conducive to the development of peace and good-will.

Unfortunately, there is one section of the world where, as yet, this spirit does not hold sway, where, on the contrary, all the old racial, lingual and religious animosities are flaming, and still threaten the peace of the world.

The reference is to that group of small independent nations in Southeastern Europe known as the Balkan States. For the past three-quarters of a century or more this conglomerate mixture of races and religions has disturbed the peace of Europe, and hardly a year passes without the threat of a new conflagration. While the great nations of the world are anxiously striving for peace, these little states remain hot beds of suspicion and intrigue, seemingly ever anxious to fly at each other. Their populations have become so mixed that in each country there are racial and religious minorities always stirring up trouble and giving excuse for the enforcement of oppressive policies and acts of ruthlessness against them.

It was not a pretty nor encouraging picture of the situation in the Balkans which was drawn by Hugh Edwards, M.P. in the British House of Commons, in an address delivered before the Women's Canadian Club of Montreal, on the occasion of the meeting of the Inter-Parliamentary Union at Ottawa. Contrasting the spirit and policy of the British Empire in its treatment of minorities, Mr Edwards said:

"The fierce and vehement discussion which took place in the Inter Parliamentary Union meeting at Ottawa has made it very evident that these little Balkan States have not yet laid to heart the devastating memories of the late war. The Balkan Peninsula is still a seething cauldron of fierce, racial antagonisms, and unless some magic change is soon wrought in the temper of these little states it will not be long before the pot boils over again and drenches Europe once more with blood. We all rejoiced in the signing of that treaty with Germany at Locarno. It makes war impossible in the west of Europe. I am uneasy for the East, when I find these Balkan states showing such bitterness and such fierce racial antagonisms."

Similar feelings retarded Canada's progress in the past. On more than one occasion great national questions were decided, not on their merits, but as the result of the most unworthy and sinister racial and religious propaganda. A better day has dawned in this Dominion, and the people will no longer countenance appeals of this nature. But Canada's interests require the removal of all such danger spots throughout the world. Our people may not be able directly to do anything very effective in the Balkans, but Canadians can by staunch support of the League of Nations, and by a friendly and hopeful attitude towards each of these Balkan peoples as have come to live in Canada, help materially to develop a right spirit and thus assist to overcome those old antagonisms. These newcomers in Canada will pass on the word to their friends and relatives in their former Balkan homes that there is a better way, while the League of Nations offers the only hope through which official and organized action can be taken among the Balkan peoples themselves.

Disarmament Is Only Solution

Locarno Pact Merely Marks Beginning Of European Peace

What is to come after Locarno.' This is the question the British people and public are asking. Ramsay MacDonald and Lloyd George, both former premiers, Viscount Cecil and Austen Chamberlain, the foreign secretary, have repeatedly stated that the Locarno pact, which was signed last January marks the beginning of European peace. It settles the difference between France and Germany but the other European states and the British Dominions will have to be fitted into the general scheme. Disarmament is regarded as the only solution but how this can be effected with safety and justice to all is a burning question.

Viscount Cecil indicated recently in the House of Lords that Britain was seriously considering a new disarmament conference and will shortly bring out disarmament plans of its own, but the difficulty of the situation is pointed out in the press, because of Britain's insular position and the real or fancied dangers she stands from the air and submarine forms. Though Germany and France are at peace their air and undersea forces still

Another Innovation For Turkey

Modern Motor Horse Has Been Introduced in Constantinople

The west-ernization of Turkey has touched even its funeral rites. The motor horse has been introduced in Constantinople. This innovation is the work of Emin Bey, the revolutionary Prefect of Constantinople, who has decided that the old custom, which prescribed that the nearest male relatives of the dead should carry the coffin on their shoulders to the grave, involves unnecessary hardship. He himself purchased the new hearses. The first (accidental) style funeral with a motor hearse was held in Constantinople recently for Mikdad Bey, a young officer of the Turkish fleet, killed in an automobile accident.

Another Boom in Passion Play Village

Rising Attracted By Celebration of Unveiling of Crucifixion Group

Oberammergau, the Passion Players' village, left destitute by the World War, again is attaining a measure of prosperity. American orders for carving have kept the people busy for a year, due principally to the visit of Anton Lang and other Passion Players to the United States.

The village's wealth was considerably enhanced also by the recent fiftieth anniversary celebration of the unveiling of the Crucifixion group presented by the late King Ludwig II. of Bavaria. The celebration attracted almost as many visitors daily as does the Passion Play.

Utility Top Coat

There's a swing and a swank to the coat pictured here, quite in tune with the crispness of the air. To every smart and carefully dressed woman the model pictured here will have an especial appeal. The upper part of the coat follows the lines of the top, save to a point just below the hips, where it develops into a restrained flare through an inverted plait at the side seams and centre back. Chats this season must have fur trimming, and brown fur makes a warm setting to snuggle into on the cool days. Fox was also used for the collar. The coat is double-breasted, and the belt at the back, as well as the pretty pockets, may be omitted. No 1205 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 3 yards of 56 inch, or 3¼ yards of 54-inch material. The lining requires the same amount of material as the coat. Price 20 cents.

The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are attractive and up to the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments dependable for taste, simplicity and economy will find her tastes fulfilled in our pattern. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Canada's War Obligations

Large Payment Must Be Met in Next Twenty Years

The Financial Post of Toronto has been studying Canada's financial condition and calls for the formulation of some definite plan to take care of the war debt. Between 1914 and 1919 Victory War loans issued to a total of approximately $1,000,000,000 will become due and payable. It is estimated also that this debt can be wiped out by a young country like Canada with in the period stated. Yet it is seven years since the armistice was signed and nothing has been done to make plans to take care of this situation.—Advertisement.

A Novel Film Studio

Movies Dealing With Public Health Produced In England

A film studio which possesses novel features is situated in the back garden of an old house in Bermondsey, London, England

Here are produced, under the guidance of Dr. Jex Blackmore, medical officer of health for Bermondsey, propaganda pictures dealing in matters of public health and sanitation. Subjects of the films include child welfare and the prevention of contamination of food by flies.

Dr. Comma, who is in charge of the propaganda work of the department, acts as producer, cameraman, and writer of the "sub-titles," while all the actors are clerks, doctors, and nurses on the staff of the department.

On a large open platform at the bottom of the garden the various scenes are "shot," and whenever film leg is in progress a large crowd of Bermondsey children may be seen gathered outside the wall, hoping for jobs as super-fluities or "supers."

This "film advice" is given in a straightforward way, and is not wrapped up in scarfes with imaginary plots or scripts. Dr. Comma says that he finds people pay more attention to the ad vice given if it is put across in a serious way, but that if it is necessary to make baby's bath time into a humorous episode if one is not very careful.

The first film of the work not done by the health department staff is the development and finishing off of the films. These are done by a skilled operator, and is better left in the hands of experts.

HEALTH BROKE DOWN

Could Not Get Sleep For Hours After Going to Bed

"It is not natural for me to sit down to a meal by myself," said the old proprietary medicine as I had always enjoyed a meal in the company of others. Then writes Mr. Arthur Sequin, Strathcona, Sask., who further says:—"But there was no one I could invite to my store here in Strathcona and placed an ad. offering a few Bone of Life to those known proprietary medicines. Among was also used for the ailment. The Pink Pills. As there were three of my customers who were obtaining good results from taking the pills, and as I was in need of a medicine, I decided to try them myself.

"I had been suffering from catarrh for years, and for hours each night completely broken down my health. I was constantly all day with a terrible indigestion, and could not sleep well at night. After I had taken a few boxes I started the pills, not with any great confidence, but in the end I had finished the second box I started a much improvement. At the fourth box I felt entirely recovered, and continued them for some further time. My cough has left me altogether, the indigestion disappeared and I now fall asleep as soon as my head is on the pillow. In my store now I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any who are feeling run-down or without energy, as I think they are a splendid tonic medicine."

If others who may feel sluggish will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial they will be convinced as was Mr. Sequin. They are sold by all pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Danger in Short Skirts

Influenza and Rheumatism Follows a Train of Fashion Says London Physician

London is having an epidemic of "short skirt influenza," a chill often followed by rheumatic pains in the knee and hip joints, the sufferers being women who wear the fashionable short skirts in spite of the lamentations of the London winter.

Physicians say this year's styles expose women to illness more than ever, since the skirts are short and flowing, not affording even the warmth of the short tight skirt of a year ago. The wearing of warm knickers with the modish shirts is being advised by doctors.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 20

PAUL'S SUMMARY OF HIS LIFE

Golden Text: I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith. 2 Timothy 4:7.

Lesson: 2 Timothy 2:16, 11; 4:6-18.

Devotional Reading: Revelation 21:1 to 7.

The Text Explained and Illumined

Timothy Is Reminded Of Paul's Sufferings and Deliverances, 2:16, 11—Timothy had followed in the footsteps Paul writes; he had witnessed his persecutions, had realized his purpose, faith, long suffering, love and patience. He had known about the manifold persecutions which Paul had had to endure, at Antioch, Iconium, Lystra and elsewhere, and the great fact that out of them all God had delivered him. And then Paul warns Timothy that persecution is the common lot of all faithful followers of Christ Jesus.

"Foes in plenty we shall meet,
Hearts courageous scorn defeat,
By our cross with eagle feet
Up and on.
Ever onward to the fight,
Ever upward to the Light,
Ever true to God and Right
Up and on!"—John Cheetham.

World's Largest Motor Ship

Sweden Has Most Modern Example of Motive Engineering

A new visitor has made its bow to New York harbor.

The newcomer is the Gripsholm, the largest motor ship in the world and the largest to fly the flag of Sweden. Flying the banner of the Swedish-American line, she left Gothenburg November 21 on her maiden voyage.

The Gripsholm is of 23,500 tons displacement and 17.6 feet long, driven by two giant Diesel engines. She is one of the most unusual vessels afloat, and in the most modern example of marine architecture barring neither oil nor coal but using electricity throughout the ship—for power, heat and cooking. Her two funnels are purely ornamental and purely for use as elevator shafts.

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Recruiting Reserve Air Force

Enlistment on Voluntary Basis in Only An Experiment

Voluntary recruiting of the special reserve and auxiliary air force squadrons which are to form an important part of the programme of home defence against air attack now recommended at the beginning of November, following a speaking campaign by Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for air, in the Kingdom's industrial region.

This enlistment of the maximum amount of skilled knowledge of aviation in the country on a voluntary basis is only an experiment, Sir Samuel acknowledges, but it is an experiment that must be tried fully, if merely for the sake of economy, for the Royal Air Force is bound to be expensive both in equipment and maintenance, depending for its striking power on an entire absence of mechanical breakdowns at the air.

The problem before the air ministry is to sift from the mass of volunteers the right type of officers and men, with not only the will but also the practical experience through his profession or trade to build up an efficient air unit of defence with the minimum amount of manual training. No other country has yet endeavored to tackle its air defence problem along the same lines.

GOOD PROGRESS IS REPORTED BY THE RED CROSS

Toronto.—Reports presented at the meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society here revealed a steady expansion of the organization's activities throughout the Dominion, particularly in regard to the home nursing classes, outpost hospitals and first aid work.

In reviewing the work of home nursing, Col. Sclanish stated that 496 classes had been started since last year when the standard problem was inaugurated. These classes represented 5,768 women who had completed the course of instruction and about 2,000 more who had been enrolled. The new classes organized in each provincial division from January 1 to December 31 were: Ontario, 92; New Brunswick, 47; Alberta, 41; Nova Scotia, 24; Saskatchewan, 22; British Columbia, 2, and Prince Edward Island, 1.

The report of the outpost committee showed 21 outposts, with three in Alberta; 10 in Saskatchewan, 4 in Manitoba; 12 in Ontario; and one in Nova Scotia. These have 166 beds and 20 nurses.

Mrs W Pinnington presenting the report on the posts and stated that 6,260 patients had been cared for in the Red Cross nurseries at St. John, Halifax and Quebec.

Vickers Announce Reduction in Capital

Decreased Earnings in Cause Says Big Armament Firm

London: The biggest recent reduction of any British company since the war is announced by Vickers, Limited, which will drastically write down its capital by many millions sterling, as the result of greatly decreased earnings in recent year.

The firm of Vickers, Limited, ranks among the world's largest manufacturers of all classes of armaments.

The firm gemitrucia ships, building many types of aircraft, produces steel and manufactures practically every kind of ordnance. It manufactures ordnance itself at Keel, Sheffield and Barrow, aircraft works at Weybridge, and steel works at Sheffield, Leeds and other cities.

Blue Sky Legislation

Appeal Is Made From Prairie Provinces For Better Protection

Winnipeg.—Appeals from the prairie provinces for adequate "blue sky" legislation, with particular reference to the sale of stock in bogus mining companies, have been pouring in from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, during the past few months, according to the office of Lieutenant-Governor Duncan Marvin, under-secretary of state, that more careful scrutiny will be given to applications for incorporation of companies.

In a letter to Hon. R. W. Craig, attorney-general of Saskatchewan, Mr. Marvin indicated that available information is being secured and that the question will be ultimately reserved to the government.

Front Door in Australia

Winnipeg.—J. J. Bates, writing of his Australian tour, says: "After spending a whole day driving through orange, groves within 100 miles of Brisbane, I went into that city and paid as much for oranges as I would have paid in Canada. A lady member of the party, checking up prices on the markets, found small fruits and vegetables higher than in England."

Have Reached Accord On Arms Conference

Division Between England and France Has Been Adjusted

Geneva.—England and France reached an accord concerning their stand at the problems of mutual assistance in war time in connection with the preparation for the international disarmament conference.

After a conference of the League of Nations Council, M. Paul Boncour of France announced that Premier Mackenzie King of Canada had been appointed to draft a formula reconciling the opposite views of the British and French.

He explained the study of mutual assistance would be more flexible than originally proposed by the French, thus intimating that a compromise had been reached.

IT MAKES ALL THINGS NEW

While it seems impossible to say anything new on the subject of Christmas celebration, the miracle of the season is that the custom of nearly 2,000 years seems practically all things new. The aged become young again through their rejoicing in the delights of the grandchildren with new things that once made their own eyes open wide in wonder—memories of their own childhood also come back to them.

It is not simply a just that page also likes to play—even though he may say it is just to let them do with the toys he buys for the youngsters. Thus, while the holiday is particularly a festival for the children, emphasizing the story of the Babe in the Manger, it also has for the elders its pleasures and the wider significance of that world-inspiring event in Bethlehem.

Here and There

British Columbia's whaling industry produces about 400 tons of whale bone meal and 800 tons of meat and blood for fertilizing purposes annually. This is exported mostly to the United States.

According to G. F. Tamsett, superintendent of the Saskatchewan Branch of the Employment Service of Canada, about 43,000 harvest hands were brought into Saskatchewan and distributed over the province to harvest and thresh the 1925 crop.

J. Singleton, of Regina, ordered two carriage and passenger cars a day apart in Liverpool on October 9th. Thirty days later they were delivered to him after a voyage and journey totalling 4,500 miles, the shipment going at the rate of 150 miles a day. This constitutes a record for speed.

Constituting a record for Canada and probably for the world, 2,447,484 bushels of all grains were marketed on the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Western Canada on November 18. The nearest approach to this figure was the 2,026,000 bushels marketed on October 16, 1918, in the year of one of the greatest crops the Dominion has ever harvested.

Reports received at Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters this week show that four more accidents occurred in cases where motorists drove their cars into trains already in the process of crossing levels. This brings the total of accidents of this kind up to thirty for the year. In all four cases the automobiles were damaged while the motorists escaped with minor injuries.

"MAKE IMMIGRATION HUMAN" SAYS C. P. R. PRESIDENT; SIR THOMAS WHITE PAYS HIM HIGH TRIBUTE

R. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President of the C.P.R.

Sir Thomas White, Former Federal Finance Minister.

Addressing the Associated Boards of Trade banquet at Winnipeg recently, R. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that one of the most significant facts of the moder ern world existed in immigration from all parts of Canada to Americ the country's problems from economic and national point of view, free from the bewildering influence of political partisanship. "Thus," Mr. Beatty said, "leads me to the inevitable conclusion that the question of Confederation on the principles of national unity which guided the fathers in establishing it cannot be served by political manipulation, but only by that mental attitude which comes from understanding and is the result of honest endeavour."

In order to achieve national prosperity, Mr. Beatty advocated an extensive immigration policy to supply the man power necessary for the "largest undeveloped country in the world." "If I had any suggestion to make in respect to this question," continued the president, "I would suggest that we take it out of the field of statistics and place it in the field of human relations. We are apt to forget that the people who come to our shores are not so many hundreds or thousands of British or Continentals with or without settlers' effects. They are human beings, members of families who have torn themselves up from old homes, homes in some cases, extra old, to come and live in Canada, to be neighbours, if we are willing to be neighbourly, and to become good citizens if we only hold out a welcoming hand.

"We realize how great the wrench must be when we learn that some bring with them a handful of earth so that when the time comes for them to die in Canada it may be scattered over their coffins. I wonder how many Canadians, who have made the trek to the United States, have ever thought to carry with them a handful of Canadian soil. No immigration scheme for Canada can ever achieve success unless due allowance is made for such human factors."

On the same occasion Sir Thomas White, former Federal Minister of Finance, paid a high tribute to Mr. Beatty. Sir Thomas said that he had always looked upon Mr Beatty as a representative Canadian who typified the qualities which are to be found in true Canadians. Mr. Beatty had carved his own niche in Canadian affairs and had made his own way in the world as in the manner of Canadians. As president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Beatty occupied one of the highest positions in the Dominion and was absolutely unequaled by his enormous success, and Sir Thomas liked to think that in this the former was also a characteristic Canadian.

Referring to the improvement of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the former Finance Minister pointed out that the history of the Dominion and the Company were intertwined and could not be dissociated. The Canadian Pacific Railway had stood as the type of exemplary Canadian enterprise and courage in the face of apparently insurmountable obstacles. Sir Thomas also commented favorably on the good work the Canadian Pacific Railway had done during the Great War, and later on in going abroad with work, at the request of the Government, in order to give employment to soldiers who were returning after the war.

WINTER DRIVING HINTS FOR FORD CAR OWNERS

Prepare the car now against the coming of cold weather and be protected against any sudden drops in temperature, is the text of the warning broadcast by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., to Ford car drivers throughout the country. To eliminate as far as possible the annoyances of winter driving, the service department of the company has outlined a set of simple precautions against freezing

They are in brief:

Add anti-freeze solution to radiator.

Be discreet in use of choke.

Conserve battery current.

Drivers are cautioned against putting solutions for radiators of un known [illegible]. The safest to use is denatured or [illegible] Evaporation of the [illegible] up to meet the added demand

LIVE COMMENT ON SITUATION AT THE CAPITAL

Ottawa, The political atmosphere will not clear until parliament assembles on December 1st or such other subsequent date more that as the election formalities may prescribe. The premier and Mr. Graham, the two federal ministers who will seek re-election, will not be on until parliament meets and the probable shrinkage in the Liberal strength. While Mr. King's supporters were practically unanimous in condemning the course of the government during parliament, the decision of the premier not to seek personal re-election meanwhile has not met with quite the same endorsement. Some regard the action as it should be the act of the start, as he would be, but this would necessitate following a course which, in 1921, the prime minister criticized Mr Meighen for pursuing. If Mr King wished to avail himself of the Quebec vacancy the objection would be surmounted but apparently in his dealings not to do so that province.

The precampaign is that parliament will wish to end the sessions with as little delay as possible. When the house meets the government's position will be promptly challenged. A day or so of debate, participated in by a few leaders, should suffice as a preliminary to the next votes. Afterwards, an adjournment will be made when over the autumn. Parliament will not hang around for Christmas and New Years, but come back in January and go ahead with its business. With the question of supremacy settled the ensuing programme will move very light and confined to essentials. The situation will permit of little else. The desire for another general election is not pronounced, and supporters of the government may cause it to be desired for, but at the present time prevailing feel that a renewed appeal to the country within a very short time is inevitable.

Nation-Wide Smuggling

Believe Merchandise is Being Smuggled Into Canada to Large Quantities

Montreal.—Montreal and Toronto retail merchants believe there is in existence a nation-wide ring of merchandise smugglers, who, ignoring the Canadian tariff gate, are responsible for the unfortunately increasing supply of foreign-made goods with which they say Canadian merchants have to compete with in the domestic market.

This is one of the most vital matters that ever confronted the business men of Canada," said M. Lapensee, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association. "It is a challenge to the whole fabric of legitimate commerce and to the efficacy of our tariff protective systems."

Henry Seminoss For Death

Nelson, B.C.—Eight years in the penitentiary and 20 lashes was the sentence given John Ward, confessed Toronto bank robber, by Judge J. A. Forin in county court here. Ward and a companion held up the imperial bank branch at Creston on October 21 and secured $6,500. Ward was captured late in the day and $2,700 of the amount money was found on him. Ward's companion escaped.

Alberta Redistribution Problem

Edmonton, Alta.—Alberta redistribution problems are again being grappled with by the legislative committee, of which J. N. Johnson, M.L.A., for Coronation, is chairman. Members of the committee are going into the question with a view to deciding on some scheme for the readjustment of the provincial seats.

Proposes To Reduce Army

France Will Make Statement After Locarno Treaty is Signed

Paris.—Soon as the Locarno treaties are signed . . . London the French look rather hopefully to make a statement of reduction of armament which will have France as disarmed as is certainly is. It probably will be announced between the signing on December 1, and the meeting of the League of Nations disarmament commission at Geneva, December 8.

The French committee of national defence under President Paul Boncour, the Socialist, already has discussed a reduction of the army and many wish the shifts of these, and if the present radical government remains its power it will empty the barracks in France and leave a standing army only big enough to handle the colonies, those being largely native troops.

The French wish to set an example to Geneva and give the League of Nations the credit. Hints of possible disarmament underwrites at Washington always have been received coldly in France and the speed with which the French are proceeding to smother their disarmament is an oblique answer to President Coolidge's suggestions.

Taking Great Airman Home For Burial

Body of German Ace Removed From France to Berlin

Berlin.—Baron Manfred von Richthofen is dead.

From his rest in France beneath the earth which he conquered with deeds of chivalry one of the greatest fighters any age brought him back to Berlin for a military funeral before burying him here.

Capt. Baron von Richthofen was killed in battle fighting two British planes, while three miles away more than twenty of his comrades were burying about an equal number of British airmen. The German ace was buried by his British foes with all the impressive ceremonies near the little town of Sailly in Gin, in Northern France.

His British officers acted as his pall bearers. As the coffin was lowered into the ground a great number of British planes hovered overhead, the drone of their engines forming the accompaniment to the words of the British chaplain who spoke the Church of England service.

Britain's Heavy Task

Carrying the White Man's Burden in the Near East

Montreal.—Speaking on the development of the Near East under British rule, or through mandatories from the League of Nations, Sir John Power, Bart., member of the House of Commons, for Wimbledon, Surrey, before the Canadian Club, emphasized the fact that Britain was in general, under the circumstances, "carrying the wit of God." He outlined the tremendous improvements in government and in methods of life under British jurisdiction, and indicated that the British people regarded the task in the Near East as part of the burden of civilization and as a portion of the "white man's burden." Rosalie Stairfield the empire's effort.

Soviets Remove Restrictions

Communists May Now Inherit Fortunes Without Limit

Moscow.—The Soviet Government made a distinct departure from doctrines of pure Communism by sanctioning the law which sets at the head for inheritances in Russia at $5,000. Henceforth Russians may inherit for money without limit.

In spite of the government's severe opposition to private trade, many Russians in recent years have accumulated fortunes but have withheld them from investment in internal enterprises, the government thereby losing the benefit of active capital. It is to remove this condition that the new measure was introduced.

Second Largest Wheat Yield

Ottawa.—Canada's total yield of wheat, now provisionally estimated in a crop report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics at 422,277,000 bushels, is the second largest on record for the Dominion. The previous highest total was 474,189,000 bushels in 1923.

Good Attendance at Ninth Annual Convention in Regina

The Ninth Annual Convention of the Saskatchewan Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association was held at Regina, on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 5 and 6, and was an unqualified success. A large representation of members attended from every corner of the province, and the business sessions proved most helpful. The delegates received an official welcome from Mayor Mason, who handed over the keys of the city. The Saskatchewan Co-operative Wheat Producers gave a luncheon at noon on Thursday, and in the evening the editors were the guests of the Leader Publishing Co. at a dinner. Later the delegates attended a theatre party as the guests of Famous Type Foundry Co. On Friday at noon the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. gave a luncheon, and in the evening the Weekly Newspaper Association gave a banquet, having among their guests Premier Dunning, Hon. S. J. Latta, Mayor Mason and other prominent citizens of the city and province.

At the closing session on Friday, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Hon. S. J. Latta, Prairie News, Govan, honorary president; H. Cassidy, Signal, Watrous, president; W. G. Redmond, News, Maple Creek, vice-president; A. J. Donaldson, Empire Journal, secretary-treasurer. James McDonald, Courier, Unity, was elected honorary vice-president. The following directors were elected: C. K. McIntosh, News, North Battleford; S. J. Dornan, Prospector, Alameda; Y. S. McCraney, Review, Weyburn; T. E. Scriver, News, Wolseley; C. M. ARE YOU A BOOSTER OR A KNOCKER?

We have in this hamlet of ours an old adage, from which lessons forth, ones every week, the local newspaper. This paper with its limited editorial staff and its limited number of subscribers, still never fails to appear in the mail boxes of the people of this town and the surrounding district. It is only a small town paper, but so much, I believe it compares favorably with those of other small towns. A small number of local subscribers feel that they are not receiving a paper that comes up to their expectations, but where does the trouble lie? Ask yourself, Mr. Subscriber, do you ever boost your home-town paper? When you are away on a vacation, do you brag your home town to-you, or are you contented to receive the news of your district from your friends rather than through your paper? You cannot expect a business to prosper unless it is backed by customers, can you? Neither can you expect a paper to succeed without the co-operation of its subscribers. Boost your paper, tell people about it, let the world know that your town has a weekly paper and then watch results.

Some subscribers criticize the news columns, saying that there is little news in them. This is true enough, and the writer admits it, but why is this? Here is the answer to it. You cannot expect the editor of a paper to be running up and down the streets of the town, trying to pick up scoops news for the local columns, can you? If the people of the town would send the latest news to the office and in this way show a real interest in their paper, then there would be more space devoted to local news and then the people in the rural districts would also get to know what is going on in town. What about our rural district news, where are they? Are our various district correspondents lying down on the job? Perhaps some will say that there is nothing of importance going on in their district. There is, however, something going on in every district every week of the year, and even though it may seem only of minor importance to the correspondents, it may be of general interest to the subscriber in the next district, so why not send it in to your paper for publication. What may seem to be of little interest to you, may be of the greatest interest to some other subscriber. You must also take into consideration that this paper has subscribers in other parts of this country and I venture to say in the U.S.A. To these subscribers, who have perhaps spent their boyhood days in this town or vicinity, the news, seeming of least importance to you may have the greatest meaning, and will bring back to them fondest memories, and will also serve as a closer tie between them and their former friends.

Thus, Mr. Subscriber, ask yourself, what are you doing to make your home-town paper, The Record, a better and more interesting paper? Are you going to boost it and help to make it a success or are you going to stand back and let the other fellow do it, and then when it makes its weekly appearance, are you going to knock it? Here's for a hearty co-operation of town and community and for a paper that will represent the true life of this town and surrounding districts.

Doubling the Arguments for Saving

ALL that can be said in favor of opening a savings account in the Standard Bank may be repeated with greater emphasis as regards a joint savings account. Joint accounts are primarily for convenience of depositors, but where two people are bound together by common interests, the moral as well as the practical value of working together, planning their financial betterment with the aid of a joint bank account is clearly evident. FRANK WALKER CHOSEN AS CANDIDATE FOR VICTORIA

Frank Walker will represent Liberals in the provincial elections for the constituency of Victoria. He was the unanimous choice of a crowded convention at Thomas' hall, Bruderheim, Monday night.

In spite of slippery roads large numbers of supporters attended from outside districts. Mayor Blatchford, S. G. Tobin, M.P., and Senator Lessard arrived from Edmonton, and with Benjamin Harrold of Lamont, were the principal speakers.

Mr Walker made an effort to withdraw his name from the convention, but in view of unanimous objection to this course, ultimately allowed his name to stand and was selected Liberal standard bearer without opposition.

All speakers referred to Mr. Walker's record in the district and his well known interest in the riding. The convention proved to be one of the most enthusiastic ever held here, and the utmost optimism prevailed with regard to the provincial elections in this riding.

The only other candidate nominated in this riding up to the present is D. Crump, Conservative, of Lamont.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CLOVER BAR, NO. 517

The council of the Municipal District of Clover Bar, No. 517, held their last regular meeting of the year on Saturday, December 12.

The auditor's and rim report for the ten months ending 31st December, was received and adopted.

It was suggested that it would be advisable for the municipality to impose and collect all school taxes. In discussing this matter it was suggested that the secretary write all school boards in order to ascertain the feeling of the residents regarding the suggested change before going to the expense of placing a by-law before the taxpayers.

Mr. W. F. Wilkinson, Clover Bar, was appointed returning officer for the forthcoming municipal elections. Messrs. J. B. Webb and A. Unterschutz were selected as D.R.O.'s, and place of poll, subject to the consent of the school trustees, will be held in Good Hope school house and Castle school house. The Memorial hall, Fort Saskatchewan, was selected as the place for the holding of the ratepayers' annual meeting and nomination.

The Assessment Equalization Board submitted a tentative average per acre valuation of the district. After comparing the valuation of the district with those of adjoining districts, the council were of the opinion that the valuation placed on this district was fair.

The secretary was instructed to make application to the Department of Public Works for five new bridges, the same to be constructed during the summer 1926.

Authority was granted to each councillor to spend certain monies during the winter months for cutting brush.

With the passing of paysheets and accounts totalling three thousand dollars the meeting adjourned.

The Secretary again requests that the cards recently sent out to all resident taxpayers in Divisions 4 and 5 asking for the necessary information to compile the Supplementary Voters' List be returned by the 31st of this month. If you want your wife, son, daughter, etc. to be able to vote at the forthcoming election without swearing in their vote, RETURN THE CARD. Now it is up to you!

CONQUERING HOT TEMPER

By Dr. C. M. Hincks.

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, and issued through the co-operation of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross.

Children ought to have the opportunity of learning to control an outbreak of temper. Do not shield and protect them from friction. They will meet it later in life and opposition is a sort of "tonic" to teach them to master themselves.

They should learn before they are a year old that crying and fits of temper will not get them what they want. Teach them that control and not temper will win their desires.

Whenever possible, an attack of temper should be cut short at the beginning. Petting or indulgence rarely pays. Extreme corporal punishment on the other hand is often a mistake. To ignore the attack or to put the child to bed, is sometimes the best remedy.

In older children the bad habit may be broken by pointing out that anyone who loses his temper makes a fool of himself; loses his dignity and is ridiculous and sometimes a contemptible object to his fellows. Nobody likes to make a donkey of himself. "He who conquers himself is greater than he who conquers a city" can be used to encourage a child to acquire self-mastery.

G.W.V.A. TURKEY WHIST DRIVE POPULAR EVENT

There was quite a large attendance of sports at the G.W.V.A. whist drive last Thursday, all game enough to play the game to assure the game to brighten their Christmas-tide. All could not be winners, but those who were unfortunate have the satisfaction of being allowed to play with players of turkey winning ability, and that in itself is worth something. The whist was enjoyed by all except a few who were consistently dealt hands which resembled pickled pigs feet. All was harmonious, there were no organic or other disturbance and no free fights, though several sudden and violent deaths were reported to have taken place shortly afterwards.

The birds who won birds, and believe me the birds were birds, were: Mrs. Bawden, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Tuby, Mrs. von Iffland, Misses Holman, West, H. Wilson, Kerrin, Tarday, Dr. deBeaupre, Messrs. O'Brien and Oxley.

Trade in Silver Fazes

Farmers Importing a Large Quantity For Breeding Purposes

Nine thousand and nine hundred and ninety-nine silver foxes, representing over half a million dollars' worth, passed through Montreal recently. Many of the animals were consigned to France where they are expected to be used for breeding purposes.

To handle this huge amount of fur and pelts, over 150 trains were necessary and were put in special steel cars for the trip and load, containing 138 foxes, were consigned to Boulogne, France, and were from Manitoba.

The Old Year and the New

Canadians can look back over 1925 with a considerable degree of satisfaction, and forward to the new year with hope and confidence.

The old year witnessed a general but steady improvement in conditions throughout the Dominion, an improvement which became more pronounced following the Western harvest. There has been an all-round betterment in business, with a marked lessening in unemployment, while prices for the primary products of the country have remained firm, thus assuring a fair return to the producers for their labor.

The export trade of the Dominion has mounted higher and higher, being lag money into the country and sending the Canadian dollar to a premium in the world's money markets. The increased buying power of the people has been reflected in a speeding up of industry at home and in increased purchases from abroad.

Our great railway systems, which formed a serious drag in business in the earlier months of the year as a result of the smaller crop of 1924, more than made up their losses in the latter half of the year and at the close of 1925 are able to present better balance sheets than a year ago.

The need for economy stressed during the difficult period through which Canada in common with most countries has been passing, resulted in greater care in administration by municipal bodies, as well as by all large commercial concerns, and today the whole financial fabric is stronger and more sound for some years. The feeling is now, that although there must be no orgy of spending and no extravagance, the way is open to important developments which were quite inadvisable during the years which have elapsed since the close of the war.

Canada was fortunate, too, that throughout 1925 the country was free from any great calamities or epidemics. Industrial peace prevailed except in the coal mining districts, and betwen the year drew to a close the fishermen in the Nova Scotia ares was ended, and it is confidently expected that a permanent and satisfactory settlement of long standing disputes there will be reached.

Canada's prosperity depends not only on the extent and value of its own people, but, as a great exporting country, upon the peace, progress and prosperity of the whole world. The old year witnessed substantial progress made in the direction of removing old feelings of bitterness and suspicion in Europe, and the reaching of guarantees among the Great Powers calculated to maintain peace in the future.

As the year now closes a series of conferences are assembled at the annual meetings of the Banks, by the heads of our great transportation systems, and by the manufacturing and wholesale and retail world. All are agreed that the peak of the era of depression has been passed, and that the outlook in the new year is bright with promise

With the outbreak of the Great War in 1914 immigration to Canada came abruptly to a stop. While the war raged the movement was toward Europe, and with the ending of the grim struggle came a period of readjustment when Canada's biggest task was to re-absorb its hundreds of thousands of soldiers back into civilian life and find suitable and remunerative employment for them—a gigantic task in view of the industrial chaos and unrest existing throughout the world, and the loss of buying power on the part of all nations. With the coming year, however, it is confidently expected that once again the tide of immigration will flow strongly toward the Dominion. Both the Government and railway and steamship companies are getting ready to take full advantage of this movement.

Canada's great national asset is men, people. A large population is an essential requirement to the development of our national resources, the settlement of our vacant lands, the provision of adequate traffic for our railways, and the paying off of our national debt. The probabilities are that 1926 will witness the beginning of the fulfilment of our national desire for years past, and large advance contiguously of incoming new and permanent settlers. They will come to work and establish homes for themselves and their children, and their coming will mean work and prosperity for the whole country here.

Canadians can bid the old year farewell knowing it served them well, but they can look forward with even greater satisfaction to 1926 as holding promise of still greater achievement and better things.

No Bi-Linguism in Turkey

Natives to be Fined For Speaking Any Language But Turkish

If a Bill Just Introduced in the Turkish assembly is adopted, any Turk speaking any language but Turkish will be fined from two to 20 dollars for each offence. The bill makes it compulsory to speak only Turkish, but applies only to Turkish citizens.

The object is to prevent Turks of Greek, Armenian or Judio-Spanish origin from constituting themselves into communities apart from the national life and culture.

Getting Under the Thames

Huge Tunnel is Being Bored Under Bed of River

Unknown to many Londoners who pass over the bridges of the Thames on their way to work each morning, a huge tunnel is being bored under the bed of the river. In a few weeks the final drifting will have been done, and a short way from south to north established.

When that the tunnel will have to be lined, however, and this will not be finished until next year. No fewer than 37 000 tons of coal iron will be used in the lining process. Boring operations have been carried on from both sides of the river, and the greatest care and accuracy is required to "link up" properly. The object of the excavation is to link the Kennington and Greenwood railway in that at Charing Cross.

Another Famous Painting Found

Ruben's "St. Theresa" Has Been Discovered After 200 Years

A painting of St. Theresa said to be a pupil of Ruben's has been discovered by Sir Ludwig Burchard art critic and an expert on the paintings of Ruben's. The work was executed in Antwerp, he says, shortly after Ruben's return from Rome, where its identification of St. Theresa, is what called "the Spanish mystic," was celebrated in 1616.

Sir Ludwig said of the seventeenth century, this painting was in the Schwarzenberg collection in Vienna For more than 200 years the picture was supposed to be lost, but a short time ago Dr. Burchard discovered it in a private collection which he has not named in giving an account of the discovery.

To Change Name

Citizens of North Battleford By Vote Decide to Change Name of City

At the municipal elections, citizens of North Battleford decided to change the name of the city from North Battleford to Battleford. The main reason advanced in favor of the change was that the name is being directed to North Battleford and should have gone to the Battleford that was. Another reason in favor of the change was that it would be necessary to change the name shared as it appeared to be too closely allied to Battleford. The main reason advanced against the change was that the name of the city would be changed, thereby causing confusion in the minds of many people. The vote was very close, the majority in favor of the change being only 17. The total vote polled was 1,247.

The One Royal Road To Prosperity For The Farmer Is That Of Mixed Farming

Although Canadian farmers failed to win premier honors in the wheat section of the International Grain and Livestock Exhibition at Chicago, they made a creditable showing in all the grain classes, and in many of the numerous other divisions carried off first prize. Pertinently noteworthy was the clean sweep made by Saskatchewan entries in the Clydesdale section of the show. To Montana went the honor this year of producing the best wheat in the world, while Canada gained a little bit of indirect glory when it was made known that the prize-winning wheat was grown from seed originating in Saskatchewan. Canada's record in winning the world's wheat championship thirteen out of the fifteen years in which the inter national competition has been held is indeed an enviable one, and the prominence with which farmers from both Eastern and Western Canada have figured in the prize lists for farm products indicates the richness of Canadian agricultural resources.

One of the greatest drawbacks to the agricultural development of the western provinces has hitherto been the tendency of the farmers to place their sole hope on making a livelihood from wheat As all westerners know this has been just a plain gamble, with the odds against the farmer, and many men have failed to make things go and have given up in disgust. Prof. Shaw, of the University of Saskatchewan, recently told a Moose Jaw audience how foolish it was for a farmer to expect to make a year's living out of six months' work, when the approximate amount of work done in a year by the average wheat farmer. Prof. Shaw put the case in a light that royal road to comparative prosperity for the farmer lay in mixed farming. A few hens, cows and pigs may be looked upon by the average farmer as a nuisance. He hates to be tied down to his farm year in and year out. But when the crop is a failure, it would be very comforting if he had a few more eggs in the basket that would help tide him over the lean years.—Moose Jaw Times.

Up-to-Date Logging Camp

Ford Has Purchased His Lumber Jacks With Everything Modern

"Lumber jacks" of the future will be applied by old fashioned lumber jacks to the loggers employed in Henry Ford's camp at Ishpeam, Mich. Mr. Ford has furnished the men with recreation camps, reading rooms, bathrooms, sanitary mess halls, clean bedding, steam heat, electric lights, modern roads, cement sidewalks, motion pictures, hot and cold water and other modern conveniences. Business men, former lumber jacks, laughed loudly at their excess—ure as they watched them work. They remembered when the only conveniences they had was the tall mess, perhaps a bit of cheap liquor and their friends and enemies.

English Workers Leaving Farms

Over Three Thousand Less Employed This During 1926

The agricultural returns of this year show that the number of workers employed on the agricultural holdings of England and Wales on June 4th was 803,367. This is 3,176 less than the number returned in 1924, but 38,000 more than in 1922. The number of men returned as employed on June 4th, 1925, was rather larger than at the corresponding date in 1924, but there was a reduction in the number of boys and youths.

Homestead Entries

Figures For Ten Months Show Decrease Under Previous Year

From January 1 to October 31, 3,144 homestead and 437 soldier grants were taken up in Western Canada, representing approximately 573,000 acres, according to official returns During the corresponding period of 1924 2,153 homesteads and 488 soldier grants were taken up, aggregating 647,120 acres, or 9,180 acres more than for the first ten months of the current year.

This year to the end of October 1,740; Alberta, 1,239; and British Columbia 139, the greater part of the entries during this period being made in Saskatchewan, Alta., and Prince Albert, Sask

During the month of October last 322 free grant homesteads were recorded, 66 in Manitoba, 150 in Saskatchewan, 111 in Alberta, and 12 in British Columbia. This is a decrease of 164 over the same record for October last year During the same month 81 soldier grants were taken up —30 more than a year ago. Homesteads and soldier grants took 97 149 acres compared with 143,384 acres for October last year.

In October of this year 233 homesteads and 43 soldier grants were cancelled by the Minister of the Interior, result, probably, officials say, of the re-opening for entry by actual residence of certain areas withdrawn from homesteading two years ago

The Value Of Iodine In Foods

Sea Food is High in This Element That is Necessary for Good Health

Iodine is the illusive mineral that has escaped from the soil of the Great Lakes region and the far west until supply is so depleted that simple goitre is the result. If people had stayed at home along the seashore, they would probably have had a plentiful supply of iodine from sea air and an abundance of fresh sea food, this disease-fighting gland would be comparatively rare.

Here are sea foods in the order of their importance as sources of iodine: Seaweed, shellfish, cod liver oil, clams, oysters, shrimps, rock, bloodfish, white perch, spanish mackerel, spot tasting, bluefish, haddock. Natural cod liver oil is a sea food rich in iodine and other important minerals which refined cod liver oil lacks. Iodized salt is a good substitute for it.—From The Dallmeister for December.

Manitoba Dairy Courses

Five Announced By Agricultural College For Spring Terms

Five short courses in dairying are announced by the Manitoba Agricultural College for the spring term.

The main series of lectures and practical periods is that under the Dairy School course, which lasts from Jan. 4 to March 19. A long field will be covered in lectures on the following subjects: Creamery butter making, testing dairy products, ice cream making, cream separators, cheese making, judging dairy products, bacteriology, refrigeration, forage crops, agglaeving, chemistry, dairy cattle and arithmetic. In all these the work will be directly related to dairy work and the operation of creameries.

Spurgeon's Ready Answer

The assertion of a professor that the smoking of tobacco will be a thing of the past by the year 2025 recalls a story of the late C. H. Spurgeon, a great smoker, who was being gently admonished by one of the fervent members of his flock. "You'll find no mention of tobacco in the Bible," said the aged dame triumphantly. "There, madam, you are somewhat in the wrong," said the famous preacher; "for if you will turn to Psalm 84, verse 6, you will find a clear mention of passing through the Valley of Baca."

Must Use Drastic Means

Foot and Mouth Disease Can Be Eliminated Only By Slaughter

The governmental orders issued upon the policy that there was, even though they be exercised with reasonable, shall not be attempted in the battle which the officers of the Ministry of agriculture are waging against the present outbreak of foot and mouth disease. Officers here are a few hundred and recipes to be found in the obscure village of Holland, Belgium, France and Germany, where out breaks have been treated by injection and cattle in that and other countries and connections. A continuation of the struggle, already the most costly in the history of the country, and although the cost of establishment may appear to be considerable, it can be no greater than the loss which would follow a failure to establish a permanent quarantine against the disease.

Slaughter of infected animals, carcasses and sheep and pigs totally, unfit for dairy or butcher's block We should not, however, take the refuse material in large quantities and the balance, which has good feeding value, is supplied into standard reclaimed screenings and cut stalphage. Venture Has Been Successful

First Tubercular-Free Area in Canada Was in Manitoba

Manitoba has the distinction of having the first tubercular-free area in Canada. This was the district comprising Grand View, and was composed of some fourteen townships.

So successful has this venture been that the adjacent municipality of Gilbert, comprising ten townships, has been cleaned up. The provincial department of agriculture, co-operated with the Dominion Health of animals branch in carrying out the work. Ten veterinary inspectors had the work in hand.

In all some 6,414 head of cattle were tested. Three hundred and ninety one reactors were shipped out of the district, representing 6.1 per cent. reactors. In this territory one hundred and forty-one herds were found to be infected, and the compensation paid to owners of reactors amounted to $19,000

He expressed not object to any sound scheme for the proper settlement of British families on the land. Mr. Mackie, however, said it would be impossible, with the Labor parties now in

The present scheme of emigration was on a small scale, and was only fifty fifty basis, continued the Labor leader, who wanted to know why the Government could not do more to settle the people at home.

"We should produce a great nation-building scheme," declared Mr. MacDonald, "bring back our land into civilization and cultivation and bring at least half our cent. of our people on to the soil."

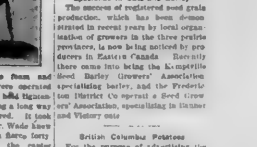
British Agricultural Students Take Course at Elsinore College

Danish farm methods may now be studied by British agricultural students at the International Peoples' College at Elsinore, Denmark. The college was started in 1921 with 24 students. Last year the number had risen to 60, the students coming from Britain, Germany and Scandinavian countries The curriculum includes lectures on: The relationship between the folk schools and Danish agriculture; principles of co-operation; and Danish agriculture. Study circles are arranged, and other matters dealt with are the Scandinavian labor movement and literature.

The Fish Story That Came True



A gentleman of Leeds, England, and his wife were guests of Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Steamboat Lake, Ontario, last September, his cars still singing with the lucky results of the trip. On the homeward journey he related the night before by Arnold Ridgeway at the inn at which he was stopping. As usual, the domineering spirit of the group, in this case dominated himself possessed of greater privileges by virtue of his bringing monster fish, and gray haired, had told the "tallest" yarn about a fish just about "that long weighing as much as a young elephant. You never saw such a fish."

After sizing at the thick end of his rod for the best part of the afternoon without getting more than a nibble, Mr. W. A Wedd, of Leeds, rather sadly began to arrive at the conclusion that he never would see "such a fish." He had barely started to lament this disheartening probability when the rod was nearly jerked out of his hand, and the water began to foam and swirl in the wakes of the flashing tail of a monster sturgeon. His hefty fighting ability, weighing 11¾ pounds, and 24¼ inches long from end to end. Considered a record for size in that district, the fish has a girth of 24½ inches and was exhibited in the windows of the Dominion Express Company at Sheppard before it was carried to Mr. Wedd in the Old Country.

In landing the fish Mr. Wedd also landed the prize offered by the Steamboat Lake Club for the biggest trophy taken during the season's rendering of fish.

Elevator Screenings For Feed

May Be Ordered Subject to Inspection Certificate

Stock feeders who contemplate purchasing screenings cleaned from the Western Canada grain crop and other cereals for sale by elevator companies at the head of the Great Lakes should take into consideration the several qualities or grades of such screenings that are available, and that may be purchased subject to inspection certificate if so ordered. Elevator screenings, as the total dockage removed is termed according to Mr. Geo H Clark, Dominion feed commissioner, contains on an average 50 per cent. or more of chaff and fine seeds of weeds. Include refuse material in large quantities and the balance, which has good feeding value, is supplied into standard reclaimed screenings and cut stalphage. The former consists chiefly of broken wheat and wild buckwheat in varying proportions with smaller quantities of barley, flax and other coarse grains present. One cwt/ton is composed chiefly of oats with a percentage of domestic oats wheat, barley, etc invariably present. Test analyses from the 1924 crop have been yielding between 35 and 40 lbs per bushel

The natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior at Ottawa says:

The first exploration into this part then of Northern Canada was made by Samuel Hearne, of the Hudson's Bay Company in 1770-71, when he made a trip as far as the Arctic coast at the mouth of the Coppermine River. Little or nothing of scientific importance was made into the area by Franklin, Back, Simpson and Rae, all of whom left their record in the names given to important geographical features of Western Canada This portion of Canada has been more recently visited by t. H Blanchet, F.R.G.S., of the topographical survey, department of the interior, who has made an intimate examination of the northern area, particularly its physical features, its flora and fauna as also its fisheries, and in reporting on his work Mr Blanchet says

"The unfavorable impression which the name generally applied to the treeless country of the north, the Barren Lands, contains, should be corrected by a more truly descriptive name, one which will unite the different districts under some common characteristic and also direct attention to the important as they are found Perhaps we cannot better do than follow the analogy of the plains of Western Canada. These are also locally known as such, for no other reason than that they are treeless. Perhaps we cannot do better than follow the name of the plains of Western Canada These are given location and character by the name, the "Western Plains" and the open part of the north might similarly be described as the "Northern Plains."

"From the observations made on the trip, the information gathered from the natives, and that contained in numerous and reports, it is neither safe nor just to call it a great fuel area. The country nor to consider it as valueless. It should be considered of potential value for present-day consumption, but as one of the great reserve areas of the future. It supports only the present domestic needs of the Eskimo and a strongly migratory fauna. Its vegetation is restricted and its climate severe, but these conditions have been met and overcome in other parts of the world where resources of sufficient value have been found to make it paid in some places may be compensated for by the resulting exposure of its rock formations with their mineral. In other places, especially where they are numerous, and it is one of the few great areas where fur and wild life have been little disturbed. Its range have demonstrated their possibilities in supporting abundant life Viscount Bryce recalled "Barren Lands" in August, with their plains and undulating hills stretching on all sides to the horizon enlivened by the red ore of the vegetation and animated by the roving bands of caribou, it seems incredible that the country is destined to remain an unproductive waste."

Symbolism Of Twelfth Day

Merits End of Christmas Revels According to British Custom

Twelfth Day, according to British custom marks the end of the Christmas revels. Then the holly and mistletoe should be removed from the walls. Twelfth Day has been observed as a special festival ever since the days of Alfred the Great, "in whose reign a law was made with relation to holidays, by virtue of which the twelve days after the Nativity of our Saviour were made festivals." It was during the reigns of Elizabeth and James I. that the observance of this day reached its zenith in the matter of popularity, when both Oxford and Cambridge Universities, the Royal Court and the Lawyers' Inns vied with each other in friendly rivalry as to which could get the finest display. Many of the masques of Ben Jonson were written for the amusement of the court on that night.

Curse nag entered by the presence of light heart, but no one need be troubled with them long when an simple a remedy as Hostetter's Corn Remover is available.

Contributes Her Share

From a young and sparsely settled country Canada contributes a fair share to the wealth of the world. She produces 88 per cent. of its asbestos, 35 per cent of its nickel, 32 per cent. of its pulpwood, 20 per cent. of its lumber, 20 per cent. of its furs, 20 per cent. of its cobalt, 15 per cent. of its potatoes, 11½ per cent. of its wheat, 11 per cent. of its barley.—Vancouver Province.

Old Christmas Traditions

Considered Unlucky in England To Leave Work Unfinished

In olden times, and indeed today in many parts of the old Country, it was and is considered unlucky to leave a job unfinished at Christmas. No matter the kind of work, a horse-shoe must be made to have it done before the festivities commenced. No piece of work was begun near the end of the year that could not be finished in time.

It was a tradition closely adhered to by Bevois blacksmiths that none of their craft would work on Christmas Day. To this rule there was one exception. If anything went wrong with the sleigh the apron was downed and the defect attended to. The welfare of a whole district might have depended on this job being done to time. In some districts, notably Portlandshire, the servant was absolutely free from his master during the whole of Christmas Day, and were absent the country visiting his friends and acquaintances.

A WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

No Wonder Health Gives Out and She Becomes Weak and Despondent

It is literally true concerning woman in the home that her work is never done. She starts with housework when she rises in the morning and is kept busy up to the time she retires at night. The work must be done whether she is feeling well or not. It is no wonder that she often breaks down under the strain. She becomes nervous at slight exertion, feels exhausted if she walks up stairs, headaches and dizzy spells become frequent, and life seems a burden. Much of this trouble is due to the fact that her blood has become thin and watery, and to regain her good health she must take a tonic that will enrich her tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The great value of this tonic medicine is shown by the statement of Mrs. Mary Nolan, Lindsay, Sask., who says:—"I had been using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was a physical wreck. It was with great difficulty that I could do light housework. I suffered from headaches, my heart would beat violently at the least exertion, and I always felt tired and depressed. I did not sleep well at night, and I had no appetite—my limbs would swell as in dropsy. It was at this stage that a neighbor advised me to take Dr. William's Pink Pills. I had used the pills for some weeks before I began to feel their benefit, and then encouraged I continued taking them for several months, when I was again as strong and well as ever I had been. I have no hesitation in saying that these pills are a remarkable blood builder and strength restorer and I shall ever be grateful for what they did for me."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Radio For Country Schools"

Australia has hit upon the idea of radio to keep isolated country schools abreast with current thought. In fact, all the schools there are reported to be deriving considerable benefit from a series of educational programmes broadcast for the special benefit of school children. Almost every school-able subject is taken up.

In some parts of China, pigs are marketed alive, the squealing animals being suspended in a bag or basket on large poles carried by two men.

The First Carol

Christmas Celebration in Old England Not Complete Without Singing Of Carols

A Christmas celebration in Old England would not be complete without the singing of Christmas carols. For hundreds of years these have been sung in church and hall and manor house. Today, throughout the Christian world, the good old custom is growing in popular favor. The first of all the carols known to have been written in England, "Lordings listen to our Lay," was discovered on the blank leaf of one of the manuscripts in the British Museum, written in the Anglo-Norman language, and believed to date back to the thirteenth century.

Peculiar Christmas Custom

Blessing Apple Trees Still Done In Somerset and Devonshire

With the growth of civilization many old customs have ceased to be observed, especially in cities and towns. A peculiar custom of blessing the apple trees at Christmas is still maintained in Somers and Devonshire, England. In every good country one tree is chosen to represent the orchard, and it is sprinkled with cider, or a bowl of the liquor is dashed against it, or else dipped in cider are hung on its branches.

The usual incantation runs "God bless thee tree in the manner. May it flourish and bring forth abundantly, enough to fill a hat, to fill a basket, to fill a cart, to fill a wagon."

CHRISTMAS CHEER

Pudding steaming, candles gleaming,
Branches weighted down!
Christmas on the farms and ranches!
Christmas in the town!
Christmas in the cities!
Christmas right indeed!
Christmas on the sea!
May your Christmas Day be merry,
Wherever-ye may be!
—Mary Caroline Davies.

Plaits Take Pride of Place on Smart Frock

The one-piece dress simulates the two-piece frock and itself has the appearance of a coat and skirt and dazzling indeed is the lavishness with which the plaits are used. While the plaits are a single piece of material, they are so arranged as to give the appearance of a coat and skirt. The model is developed in brown satin with white collar and cuffs of the same material, but almost any suitable fabric may be used. The pattern is cut in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust measure. It requires 3¼ yards of 40-inch material for the medium size.

The designs illustrated in our New Fashion Book are authentic. They are the home dressmaker's own, smart and stylish, and yet so simple that they are dependable for home adaptation and economy will find her desire in these 32 page patterns. Price of the book 10 cents (in coin).

Christmas in Mexico

Quaint Celebrations Mark Holiday and Everybody Is Happy

Mexico is the world to Christmas so quaintly celebrated as in Mexico. Anybody visiting this fascinating country during the holiday season will find the shops gaily decorated with curious jars representing fantastic animals, flowers, monks, cheese, inside the figure is a jar sometimes large, sometimes small. There are processions in the street, bands are waved, songs sung the whole place is radiant with happiness. The houses are always scrubbed. In the principal room what is known as the pesata —one of the jars referred to—is suspended from the roof. In the jar is a collection of sweetmeats and presents. Then comes a blindfolded, egan round, and then with a stick are invited to hit the pesata. Of course, this is rarely accomplished. At last, when one more fortunate than the others gives the figure a whack, the jar breaks, and down on the floor tumbles a medley of sweetmeats and presents. Then comes a free scramble for the good things that is about the floor.

Many Names, One Person

St. Nicholas, as the patron saint of Christmas seems to have been adopted by America, Father Christmas is indigenous to Britain, Santa Claus to Germany, and Kriss Kringle to Holland, but they are seen to be variants of the first named.

WILL STIMULATE NEW MOVEMENT OF IMMIGRATION

Ottawa.—The whole subject of immigration was under settlement at a conference here between Premier King, Hon. Charles Stewart, Hon. Vincent Massey, Hon. Hector Mackie and a number of departmental officials. The announced reduction in fares extended to British immigrants is now in operation, it is believed to stimulate a movement of immigrants to Canada and the absorptive capacity of the country for a total of plus of 200,000. The country which will come in for the greatest benefit from the new rates is Great Britain, where it is expected the movement of immigrants will be greatly increased. It is anticipated that the immigration movement will be such as to assure one quarter to one-third of the total immigration for the year, which would mean a total of one quarter to one-half a million.

Apart from the reduction, there is a practical agreement in the matter as to what kind of immigrants are desired. The Dominion Government has always declared that it desires only such immigrants as will be absorbed in agricultural occupations, and the new agreement is to the same effect. It is understood that the British Government has also given assurances that the immigration authorities there will be more careful in the selection of immigrants for Canada, and that only those who are likely to become successful farmers will be encouraged to leave the country. Under the new agreement it is expected that the movement of immigrants will be largely from the agricultural districts of Great Britain. It is also understood that the Canadian Government will be represented by a commissioner in London, who will be in charge of the immigration work in the British Isles, and who will have associated with him a staff of assistants, whose duties will be to travel throughout the country and lecture on the opportunities in Canada for settlement.

Shipping Grain West Under Permit System

No Tough Or Damp Grain Will Be Accepted

Winnipeg.—Grain shipped under the E. B. Eastwood supervision of transportation, the Canadian Pacific Railway, under date of Dec. 17, announced the resumption on account of the permit system in operation since the opening of the grain year. Under the permit system in force since November 1, the understanding that grain loaded in separate cars must bear the endorsement on inspection slip that it is shipped on this permit.

All private elevators will be given the privilege of loading on the understanding that they will be held responsible for prompt unloading of all cars consigned to them," and, if not properly unloaded, "car refusal to be assessed."

It is further understood that, in so far as possible, no tough or damp grain covered by permits is to be shipped from Calgary elevators."

Eucharistic Congress

Toronto.—It is expected that 2,500 people from Ontario will attend the Eucharistic congress to be held in Chicago on June 24 next, according to C. W. Talbs, of Chicago, who was here in connection with arrangements for the congress.

Fewer Jobs in Britain

London.—A decline of 4,375 in the number of unemployed in Britain within the last week was shown by figures published here. The total is 1,116,000, is $3,137 less than at this time last year.

More than 1,000 submarine cables are used to carry the world's international messages.

Soviet Needs Credit To Stock Markets

Peasants Holding Grain May Force Russian Settlement With Western Powers

London.—Lurking in the last issues are rumors regarding an understanding and demand by Russia with the western powers have been becoming more and more insistent. While the authorities remain absolutely tacit, there is no doubt the British, particularly are engaged by the prospect of the trade they might open up.

At last it seems that the Soviet Government has been forced to the realization that the peasants will not part with their grain except for goods. Russian merchandise to flow into the country in sufficient quantity to assure one quarter to one-third of the total immigration for the year, which would mean a total of one quarter to one-half a million.

Apart from the reduction, there is a practical agreement in the matter as to what kind of immigrants are desired. The Dominion Government has always declared that it desires only such immigrants as will be absorbed in agricultural occupations, and the new agreement is to the same effect. It is understood that the British Government has also given assurances that the immigration authorities there will be more careful in the selection of immigrants for Canada, and that only those who are likely to become successful farmers will be encouraged to leave the country. TURKS INDIGNANT OVER DECISION OF THE LEAGUE

Geneva.—The council of the League of Nations, having "regretfully noted the failure of its attempts at mediation" in the dispute over the Mosul region of Irak between Britain and Turkey, has decided that the rich oil region shall go to Irak.

Great Britain already has the mandate over Irak and therefore the disputed territory will remain in her hand. It is asserted that the Brit ish cabinet has sent assurances to the league council that Britain will accept a prolongation of the Irak mandate to 25 years. Turkey, it is reported will receive a narrow strip of the territory lying to the north of Irak.

The Turks are indignant over the decision of the council.

Fourth Rashdi Bey, head of the Turkish delegation here, charges Great Britain with having brought influence to bear on the council in her favor by stating that the Turks had massacred men and women and sold children into slavery. This charge was contained in a report from A Chaldean Catholic priest, and the British delegation raised it over to the council.

Colonization Agent Claims Fifty Who Left Had Crop Failure

Mexico City.—[illegible] Salas Lopez, Mexico City colonization agent head of the colonization department, has made a statement to the effect that Dallas, Texas, dispatches telling of the return of Mennonites from Mexico to Canada were incorrect.

At the present time [illegible] Lopez, there are 1,500 Canadian Mennonite colonists in Mexico, prosperous and contented. Not one Canadian Mennonite colonist has returned to Canada.

"About 50 Russian Mennonites who came to Mexico directly from Russia, but not Mexico or Canada recently to join relatives who went directly from Russia to Canada. These left and dry year crop failure, whereas all the other Mennonite colonists had a good year.

"Fifty dissatisfied colonists contracted with T. Eaton company to represent failure of the Mennonite colonization."

Defer Proposed Merger

Farmers' Union and Saskatchewan Grain Growers Will Discuss Question Later

Saskatoon.—The proposed merger between the Farmers' Union of Canada and the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, is still a matter of conjecture. The question was thoroughly thrashed out from every angle at a two-day session of the Farmers' Union which concluded here today, but no progress was made. The directors were divided on the point which was the important consideration at the meeting. The sessions were held behind closed doors, but it is intimated that the merchants of Canada were exceedingly warm. Being unable to reach any decision among themselves, the directors decided to leave the issue for the consideration of the annual convention of the Farmers' Union, in Saskatoon, January 23. The grain growers are also holding their annual convention at the same time.

THE OLD-TIME CHRISTMAS

Old-timers caught in the holiday rush and gazing at the wonderfully colouring panoramas of his shop windows often fall into a reminiscent mood and re-live the Christmases of the long ago. Who does not fondly recall the magic of Christmas in his childhood?

Most of the presents were homemade. Perhaps grandma furnished mittens knitted by oil lamp after you had been tucked in bed—thick warm mittens with a long cord that extended up through coat sleeves and around the neck to prevent loss. Aunt Sophronia gave you a basket of Christmas cookies, shaped like animals and stars and covered with delicious colored frosting.

Uncle Tom gave you a watch, and his generosity applied you even if it was the old timepiece that he had discarded. Can you imagine the reaction you would get if you tried giving a 1925 boy a second-hand timepiece.

Most of the presents were useful, in the old days, including a rather overcoat and a new pair of shoes. As for the "boughten" presents, they were limited to "The Eric Train Boy," by Algar, Henty's "With Clive in India," a New Testament, a sled, a pair of skates and that most wonderful of all old-time toys, a tin monkey that climbed a string.

At that, Christmas of long ago represented proportionately as big an outlay as ever, comparing earnings in the two periods.

But the gift itself was secondary to the spirit of the giver. Somehow every grown-up can't help believing the Christmas dinners of those days were superior. The Christmas Eve entertainment at the church was an enjoyable as the modern movie. And the ride in a cutter over the deep snow beat the autos of 1925.

Christmas is always changing and (to adults) never for the better.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

by
EDSON R. WAITE, Secretary,
Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT you should be ever loyal to your home town and spend your money there.

THAT your merchants sell goods just as cheap as you can buy them elsewhere.

THAT the profit they make they spend in the town that supports you both.

THAT you will find your local merchants right because they believe it is right to be right.

THAT you will find them free-minded men who have the welfare of the home town at heart.

THAT you will receive money-saving information if you read local ads.

THAT you can find goods or service advertised that will meet your personal requirements.

THAT your local merchants combine quality and service in a way that will give you perfect satisfaction.

THAT advertising is a part of the up-to-date service your progressive merchants give you. You should appreciate this service and take advantages of the opportunities offered you.

THAT when you buy from a peddler or a catalogue you help build some other city and tear down your own.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATIONS AT FORT SASK. SCHOOL

There were great doings at the Fort school this afternoon. The Literary Society—grades 7 and up—had a programme in the assembly hall consisting as follows:

O Canada.
Piano Trio—Rogers, Vilette and Morrin Wright.
Address—Mary Hevan.
Reading—Mr. Markin.
Cornet Solo—Mr. Poole.
Recitation—Viola Burley.
Piano Solo—Madge Evans.
School Paper Competition—Won by Vic. Hutton, who suggested "The Literary News" as the name for the school newspaper. Vilette Wright was appointed editor.
Christmas Tree—Distribution of presents.
God Save The King.

Other grades held their sprawtime celebrations in their own rooms and the children had a most enjoyable time giving and receiving presents. The teachers, we believe, were showered like brides and are now in a position to loan a handkerchief to friends in need.

Good Hope

Last Friday evening a number of Good Hope people gathered at Mrs. Harry Ashton's for the purpose of shewering Miss Aldous Sarjeant, a popular bride-to-be. The evening's amusement began by playing games. Then the guests tuned up their instruments and dancing commenced. Francis Ashton and Edna Robinson presented Miss Sarjeant. Miss Aldous gave a short address of thanks after the gifts were opened. Mr. Lloyd Sarjeant and everyone an behalf of the future bridegroom who was absent, Lunch was then served.

The Good Hope Ladies' Aid will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Thompson on Thursday, January 7. It is requested that the attendance be better.

The boys of the district have begun flooding the sloughs with Harry Up, boys, we are anxious to try it out!

POLICE COURT NEWS

Before Magistrate Adamson on Saturday, John Kopinski, a resident of Eastgate, was committed for trial on a charge of unlawfully firing a gun at John Latincic of Railway Centre. According to the evidence the accused had come upon Latincic when he was cutting wood in the bush and after he had told him to stop working had gone to the house and then fired several shots in his direction. The explanation given by the accused was that he was not firing at the complainant but at rabbits.

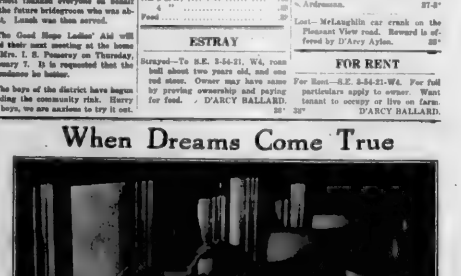
When Dreams Come True



Bumper crops and good prices have given western farmers the means of buying many of boyhood days. Britishers who took up farm lands in the Canadian West are taking advantage of the good season to call back their children from their long hidden sights and haunts. Every east-going train carries scores of happy men and women bound for the Old Country.

More and there among the surging passengers getting ready to change from train to boat are the eager, expectant faces of family reorganizers. They are going back after years of toil and hardship finally rewarded with substantial success. Every one of these men carry a picture of London in their hearts. Every minute seems a day on the long journey across the Atlantic. But once they will see once more the gay night life on the Strand, ride with the crowds, rub elbows with their countrymen, join first night audiences at theatres, hear the city in shrieking taxis, appease the gnawing soul-hunger with one more walk around Piccadilly and a stroll through Leicester Square.

Christmas and New Year in London! What visions those called home of England had conjured up in the long, lean years before they invested from the soil their means of return. And now, to be there again. Of course, it is only for a while. But they are able to return to their prospective places in the business of affairs in their adopted country and work with increased enthusiasm, to make their lands yield the maximum. They are richer citizens for their will and prosperous link to the British Empire.

Of all the agencies that have contributed to Great Britain is the best advertisement that the Dominion of Canada could possibly have. Every one of these is a booster, proving conclusively that men with the determination to work can and do win out in that country. Every westerner is directly or indirectly, a disciple of the creed that "Happiness Must Be Earned."

Travellers who intended to reach the Old Country for Christmas came on the Imperial special from the West in time to board the Canadian Pacific liners "Metagama" and "Melita" at Saint John, N.B. About two hundred and fifty passengers crossed in time to get the S.S. "Melita" on December 10, while three hundred and fifty Canadians arrived in Saint John for the S.S. "Metagama," sailing on December 11.

In these groups were passengers entrained for various parts of the British Isles, one distinctive family group being Mrs. George Patterson, of Vancouver, with her four smiling Canadian-born children. Soupod aboard the first Canadian Pacific holiday special as the train passed through Winnipeg. Mrs. Patterson said she was paying a visit to her native heath in Scotland at Reed Meeting, Carlisle, Lanarkshire, for the first time since she came to Canada, twelve years ago.

The youngest member of the party, a little girl in a checked gown, wanted to know what it was all about. She confided in mother afterwards that she thought "Santy Claus" was going to be extra busy this year. That happened a flag seemed as a souvenir picture size.

SYNOPSIS

McTaggart, the factor, hired Pierrot, the trapper, away from his cabin and, in his absence, had there himself, shot Baree, the wolf-dog, then murdered Neposeu, the trapper's daughter, in his arms. The girl was fighting desperately to free herself when Pierrot returned. Instantly the two men squared off and a terrible life and death struggle followed. Pierrot got the latchaxe on the floor and was choking him when McTaggart, twice, pulling the trigger of his revolver as he fell, killed the girl's father.

CHAPTER XXI —Continued

What she saw in the Factor's face dragged her out of the numbness of her grief back to the abyss of her own peril. He was standing over her. In his face there was no pity, nothing of horror at what he had done—only an insane exultation as he looked—not at Pierrot's dead body, but at her. He put out a hand, and it rested on her head. She felt his thick fingers crumpling her hair, and his eyes blazed like embers of fire behind watery slime. She struggled to rise, but with his hands in her hair he held her down.

"Great God!" she breathed.

She uttered no other words, no plea for mercy, no other strength. A day of hopeless ash. In that moment neither of them heard or saw Baree. Twice in crossing the cabin his blind quarters had tagged to the floor. Now he was close to McTaggart. His wanted to give a single lunge to the man brute's back and snap his thick neck as he would have broken a caribou bone. But he had strength. He was still partially paralyzed from his fore-shoulder back. But his jaws were like iron, and they closed savagely on McTaggart's leg.

With a yell of pain the Factor released his hold on the Wilbur, and she staggered to her feet. For a precious half minute she was free, and as the Factor kicked and struck to loose Baree's hold, she ran to the cabin door and out into the day. The cold air struck her face; it filled her lungs with new strength; and without thought of where hope might be she ran through the snow into the forest.

McTaggart appeared at the door just in time to see her disappear. His leg was torn where Baree had fastened his fangs, but he felt no pain as he ran in pursuit of the girl. She could not go far. An exultant cry, inhuman as the cry of a beast, came in a great breath from his pulpy mouth as he saw that she was staggering weakly as she fled. He was halfway to the edge of the forest when Baree dragged himself over the threshold. His jaws were bleeding where McTaggart had tried him again and again before his fangs gave way. Halfway between his cave was a neared spot, as if a red-hot poker had been laid there for an instant. This was where McTaggart's bullet had gone. A quarter of an inch deeper, and it would have meant death. As it was, it had been like the blow of a heavy club, paralyzing his senses and sending him limp and unconscious against the wall. He couldn't move his head nor his body, failing, and slowly he followed in the tracks of the man and the girl.

As she ran, Neposeu's mixed beaded moccasins were not concealing. She turned into the narrow trail, knowing that McTaggart had followed her once before, but just before reaching the cabin she made a sharp turn to the left, and then another to the right. She could see McTaggart. He was not running fast, but was coming steadily, as if enjoying the thrill of her helplessness, as he had enjoyed it on other days that day. Two hundred yards beyond the spot where Neposeu had fallen she had pushed the Factor just beyond the shallow cut of which he had dragged himself to safety—at the beginning of Bute Feather's trail. An appalling thing was shaping itself in her mind as she ran to it—a thing that with each gasping breath she drew became more and more a great and glorious hope. At last she reached the trail and looked back. And she looked, there whispered up out of her soul and trembled on her lips the name of her mother's people.

Our Fathers—come!

Come from out of the valley.
Guide us—for to-day we die.
And the faint whisper of death!

She raised her arms. Against the white wilderness beyond the chasm she stood tall and slim. Fifty yards behind her the Factor from Lac Bain stopped suddenly in his tracks. "Ah," he mumbled. "Is she not wonderful!" And behind McTaggart, coming faster and faster, was Baree.

"She turned and faced McTaggart."

Again the Wilbur leveled down. She was on the edge, for she had no fear in this hour. Many times she had clung to Pierrot's hand as she looked over. Down there no one could fall! and Bve. Fifty feet below her the water which never froze was smashing itself into fresh rocks. It was deep and black and terrible, for between the narrow rock walls the sun did not reach it. The roar of it filled the Wilbur's ears.

She turned and faced McTaggart.

Even then he did not guess, but came toward her again, his arms stretched out ahead of him. Fifty yards! It was not much, and short swing swiftly.

Once more the Wilbur's lips moved. After all, it is the mother soul that gives us faith to meet eternity—and it was to the spirit of her mother that the Wilbur called in the hour of death. With the call on her lips she plunged into the abyss, her wind-whipped hair clinging to her in a glistening shroud.

4,000 Feet Peak Shifts Six Feet in Last Ten Years

A startling case of a moving mountain has been reported by a device engineer named Zurbuchen. The phenomenon is in the Murabbia Valley in the Canton of Tessin where some four hundred cubic metres of rock have sunk seven feet. Great cracks have been sent to examine it have appeared in the rides and experts fear that tremendous landslides may occur at any moment.

Mr. Hoover Says Province Has Great Mineral Wealth

Hon. W. R. Hoover, minister of mines for Manitoba, who has been in Ottawa for the past week, left for Winnipeg last night. Mr. Hoover said that he had had a very successful trip to the capital, and that he had been able to secure the co-operation of the federal department of mines in the development of the mineral wealth of Manitoba. He said that he had found the department very willing to assist in the development of the province's mineral resources.

Mr. Hoover said that he had had a conference with Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines, and Dr. Haanel, director of the mines branch, and that they had promised to send a geologist to Manitoba to make a survey of the province's mineral resources. Mr. Hoover said that he had also had a conference with Dr. Cole, director of the geological survey, and that he had promised to send a geologist to Manitoba to make a survey of the province's mineral resources. Mr. Hoover said that he had also had a conference with Dr. Cole, director of the geological survey, and that he had promised to send a geologist to Manitoba to make a survey of the province's mineral resources.

CHAPTER XXII.

A Newspaper and the Factor from Lac Bain stood at the edge of the chasm. Below, the cold water boiled in a frothy foam on white rock and dark-hued and barren shoulders jutted out in jagged desolation. Hundreds of feet above, clinging to ledges and cracks, and scarring in gleaming suspension at the boiling water and black rocks—far down. There was nothing there.

There was nothing there—no sign of her, no last flash of her pale face and streaming hair in the white foam. And she had done that to save herself from him!

The soul of the man beast turned sick within him, so sick that he staggered back, his vision blinded and his legs tottering under him. He had killed Pierrot, and it had been a triumph; all his life he had played the part of the brute with a stoicism and cruelty that had known no shock—nothing like this that overwhelmed him now, numbing him to the marrow of his bones until he stood like one paralyzed. He did not see Baree. He did not hear the dog's whining cries at the edge of the chasm. For a few moments the world turned black for him; and then, dragging himself out of his stupor, he ran frantically along the edge of the gorge, looking down wherever his eyes could reach the water, striving for a glimpse of her. At last it grew too deep. There was no hope. She was gone—and she had faced that to escape him!

He mumbled that fact over and over again, stupidly, thickly, as though his brain could grasp nothing beyond it. She was dead. And Pierrot was dead also, in a few minutes, had accomplished it all.

He turned back toward the cabin—not by the trail over which he had pursued Neposeu, but straight through the thick bush. Great flakes of snow had begun to fall. He looked at the dark banks of dark cloud which had been rolling up from the south and east. The sun went out. Soon there would be a storm—a heavy one perhaps. Big flakes falling on his naked hands and face set his mind to work. It was lucky for him, this storm.

World Has Enough Inventions

Until Intelligence Catches Up With What It Has Says Edison

Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, has concluded the world can get along without more inventions until general intelligence catches up with those it now has, according to an interview published in a popular science monthly.

The motion picture and phonograph, he esteems above all the others of his own inventions, he said. He did not discuss future products from his labor story at Orange, N.J., other than to say he is working on a storage battery and an improvement to the phonograph.

He sleeps more and eats less now than ever before, he said. His idea of a hearty meal is a tablespoonful of cooked oats, a sardine and a glass and half of milk.

Would Cover Everything

would cover everything—the fresh trails over the grave he would dig for Pierrot.

It does not take much a man as the Factor long to recover from a moral catastrophe. He the Factor, home in sight of the cabin, his mind was again at work on practical things on the necessities of the hunting. The appetizing thing, after all, was not that both Pierrot and Neposeu were dead but that his dream was shattered. It was not that Neposeu was dead, but that he had lost her. This was his vital disappointment. The other thing, the criminal, was easy to cover.

NERVILINE

A Home Necessity

Speaking of valuable home remedies that every mother should always keep on hand, Nurse Carrington says: "I haven't met any preparation more dependable than "Nerviline." It is the ideal Liniment; every drop rubs in—it is absorbed quickly, eases and relieves pain and soreness in short time. For chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, sore throat and toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the Misses Ills that ache in every head, nothing is more efficient than Nerviline."

For nearly fifty years Nerviline has been a home-hold article in thousands of Canada's homes. Get a 25c. bottle to-day.

Baby's Own Tablets Are Effective and Easy to Give

You do not have to coax and threaten to get the little ones to take Baby's Own Tablets. The ones with which they are given, as compared with liquid medicine, will appeal to every mother. None is spilled or wasted; you know just how big a dose has reached the little stomach. As a remedy for the ills of childhood arising from derangements of the stomach and bowels they are most satisfactory.

Mrs. Rose Voyer, Williamette, Conn., says: "I used Baby's Own Tablets in my family, and found them to be the best medicine for children. I have also given them to my children for simple fever and the restlessness accompanying teething and they always gave relief. I can recommend Baby's Own Tablets to all mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chinese Use Roses in Food

Greatest Consumers in Nanking Are Bakers and Tea Dealers

Rivers are mixed in Nanking not only to scent tea leaves or drinks, as people in other parts of the world do, but also in the preparation of various kinds of food especially candy and light refreshments. Nanking has more than two years literally in scenting cakes and other kind of pastry. During the flowering season in June thousands of large quantities of these flowers and kept them in a preserved state to be used during the next season. Sometimes these petals are preserved for long periods in two ways; they are either dried in the sun and kept in a covered jar, generally of glass, or preserved in sugar syrup. Nanking brewers use rose petals in preparing a kind of rose-scented liquor. Even peddlers and food vendors boast that their wares are rose scented. The greatest consumers of roses in Nanking are the bakers and tea dealers, the latter using them to scent tea leaves.

For Frost Bites and Chilblains.—Chilblains come from undue exposure to cloth and cold and frost bite from the icy winds of winter. In the treatment of either an excellent preparation is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, as it counteracts the inflammation and relieves the pain. The action of the oil is prompt and its application is extremely simple.

With his shirt torn to shreds by the wind, a young boy was found hanging to the wing of an aeroplane piloted by the head of the California National Guard Air Force who made a trip from Los Vegas, New Mexico to Los Angeles.

For Burns and Scalds.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will take the fire out of a burn or scald. It should be at hand in every kitchen so that it may be available at any time. There is no preparation required. Just apply the oil to the burn or scald, and the pain will abate and in a short time cease altogether.

FORT BEATS CHIPMAN IN OPENING HOCKEY GAME

A fairly good attendance of spectators witnessed the opening game of the hockey season in the Fort on Tuesday evening, when the Chipman team crossed sticks with the local boys. Considering it was the first game the play was fast and the pace was maintained throughout. The contest, which resulted finally in a win for the Fort by 5 goals to 1. Several penalties were handed out by referee Laurie Diamond and beyond slight injuries sustained by both goalies, no untoward incidents occurred. Noonan was official who the star player of the game and was responsible for two of the Fort's goals, Roy Stuchey, Pete Karras and Gordon Walker securing the others. L. Bettins scored the goal for Chipman.

Pleasant View

A miscellaneous shower was held in the Community hall on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Katie Therne. The numerous gifts arranged in a clothes basket were carried in by Francis Kelly and Hilda Frey. After opening the parcels Miss Therne made a suitable reply, which was responded to by Mr. Glen Horton. A musical programme followed consisting of step dances by Winnie Southgate, vocal duets by Misses Iaod, songs by Mr. Wm. Iaod and mando-lin selections by Mr. J. Miles. After lunch the company enjoyed themselves dancing until the small hours of the morning. Upwards of one hundred people were present.

Miss Isabel Bullock is visiting with Miss Katie Therne.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Wallace of Lloydminster, Sask., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Robison.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lowe visited in the district over the week end.

THE UGLY DUCKLING

By Dr. C. M. Hincks.

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene and issued through the co-operation of the Alberta Section of the Canadian Red Cross.

The child who is "always in the way"—whose remarks are laughed at, whose questions are ignored and whose appearance is ridiculed, is robbed of self confidence and even of self respect. He depreciates himself. He thinks so little of himself and his ability that he is conquered by the difficulties of a task before he undertakes it.

Such a child should have a chance to some success and some encouragement. Nothing discourages so much as an impossible task. It destroys all initiative. The "inferior child" should be made to work at tasks within his powers and receive praise and encouragement.

The cripple and the ugly duckling have a hard lot until they discover that while handicapped they are not really inferior to others. By making a game of conquest of the work in spite of disability, by showing the rewards showered on the one who wins in spite of handicap—Steinmetz for example—the child will learn that he can run from a bad start and still win glory and happiness.

ROUGHAGES IMPORTANT FOR THE BROOD SOW

(Experimental Farms Note)

Roughages in some form or other are necessary in the ration of brood sows. Among other uses these necessarily assist in the proper digestion of the more concentrate parts of the ration. In the report of the Dominion Animal Husbandman for the year ending March 31, 1924, the results are recorded of a test in which alfalfa hay is compared with alfalfa meal. Two lots of pregnant breed sows received a ration of mixed meal and roots. In addition, one lot of five sows was fed alfalfa meal at the rate of one pound of the alfalfa meal to five pounds of the mixed meal ration, while another lot of three sows was given uncut alfalfa hay in racks. In all 192 pounds of meal was fed and 196 pounds of alfalfa hay. The physical condition of both lots of sows was equally good. The average number of pigs farrowed by the alfalfa meal fed sows was 11.3 per litter, these weighing 23.56 pounds. The sows which had hay averaged 13 pigs per litter, these weighing 22.2

Canada's Growing Time

Having entered upon a new year of activity, Canadians may with profit to themselves, and as a source of inspiration and encouragement, take a brief backward glance over the first quarter of the century—the century which Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared with eloquence and conviction would be Canada's century just as the Nineteenth Century belonged to the United States.

Within the scope of such a brief article as appears wisely in this column it is possible to touch only the high water marks of past achievement, but these serve to give confidence for the future. Despite the blue ruin talk which some people seem to delight in, and of which quite a little is heard from politicians around election times, the fact remains that Canada has made solid and gratifying progress during the first quarter of the century, notwithstanding the setbacks resulting from the war.

Too much attention is given to the flow of population from the Dominion to the United States, while too little is devoted to the steady increase in our own population. Canadians might just as well make up their minds to the fact that a large, well-contained country like the United States will always prove a powerful magnet to the people of Canada immediately adjoining it, speaking the same language, and with so many things in common. Such attraction is both natural and inevitable.

But how many Canadians take time to consider that the population of the Dominion nearly doubled in the first quarter of this century, from 5,371,315 in 1901 to nine millions now? And now that the most disastrous effect of the war—the set-back to immigration—has been overcome, and the tide of immigration has turned, and with more business like methods at immigration headquarters in Canada, the tide of incoming settlers to Canada will speedily become, with prospects for the 1926 brighter than ever.

What are these larger number of Canadian citizens doing? In 1901 204 acres of occupied lands in Canada was [illegible] acres, and of improved lands 29,560,612 acres, as in 1911 the acreage of occupied lands had increased to 136,987,903 acres, and of improved lands to 70,709,549 acres, having more than doubled in both cases within twenty years.

In 1900 the capital employed in Canadian industries amounted to $446,743,235, or a favorable trade balance of a little over $100,000,000, representing a total foreign trade of $354,000,000. In 1924 imports had grown to $482,366,487 and exports to $1,000,553,291, or a favorable trade balance of $162,000,000 in a total foreign trade of nearly two billions of dollars. The figures for 1925 will reveal an even more satisfactory showing.

Canadians should absorb these figures, and many more of a like character might be quoted, and, instead of decrying their country and thinking of it as slow and unprogressive and the reverse of prosperous, should boast for Canada on all occasions and give intelligent answers to its critics and detractors.

The new year of 1926 was ushered in with business more active and flourishing throughout the Dominion than for many years past, with many of the largest industries working overtime to fill orders, with less unemployment than usually prevails in mid-winter, and with an optimistic note being sounded by all the large financial concerns.

The first quarter of the Twentieth Century, notwithstanding the war, witnessed great progress in Canada and the beginning of the fulfilment of the prophecy that it would prove to be Canada's century. The progress then made, and the exceedingly favorable conditions under which the Dominion has entered upon the second quarter of the century, give confidence that when the half century mark has been reached, the development and progress of Canada will be found to have been indeed remarkable and not surpassed by any other country in the world.

If Canadians are true to themselves, they can realize for their country in the next few years the greatest expectations ever contemplated for the Dominion by its most ardent patriots. "This is Canada's Century" should be the slogan of all—a meaningful beckoning all citizens, and inspiring them to put forth their highest and greatest endeavors.

Wants General Disarmament

Germany Announces Intention to Place Demand Before League of Nations

Now that the disarmament of the Reich is officially recognized by the organization of Cologne, France should proceed to its own disarmament. It is comprehensible that France should keep 700,000 men under arms, if Germany could dispose of an equal number of effectives, but the German army no longer exists. In the League of Nations, Germany will demand with persistence general disarmament. As long as the abnormal situation exists of a disarmed Germany facing other powers who are engaged in a armament war, Germany will not even be able to adopt a foreign policy, for it will have a policy without an army is like giving a concert without instruments. This was a most important point of view of "Old Fritz" (Frederick the Great)—Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

Motor Highways Needed

To Take Care Of Rapidly Increasing Motor Traffic

The time is not far distant when it will be necessary to build a national highway in order to take care of the increasing number of vehicles. Indeed, the situation in a 320-foot highway be planned is not looking too far into the future England is planning a 3,000-mile highway which is to have no cross roads and which will pass through no towns. It will be double, with a roadway for slow traffic and no for fast travel, with no speed limit. It would seem that if England can consider the building of such a road that country can be. Expressed in highways wide enough to take care of the traffic The United States has more than 51 per cent of the motor vehicles in the world. It should have the finest highways and the best system of road control of any country on earth —Washington Post.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 3

THE SON OF GOD BECOMES MAN

Golden Text: And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, glory as of the only begotten from the Father), full of grace and truth John 1.14.

Lesson: John 1.1-18.

Devotional Reading: Philippians 2.5-11.

Explanations and Comments

The Relation of the Word of God and to the World, verses 1-5—In the beginning, before the creation of the world, before time began, was the Word. Compare Genesis 1.1, and Martin Buber's observation that "The world was from the beginning, but the Word was in the beginning." Logos: Word, I. seen in our terms discourse, wisdom, chronology, etc. Here the familiar and Hellenistic term is both Jewish and Gentile thought It is meant the Eternal God in relation to man, the self-communicating God John uses the term to declare that Jesus Christ as expressing and revealing God to the world

What is not a word, you observe, in the Word Every prophet was a word of God Every great or good man have the world began, who has added anything to the general fund of him, or of truth, has been a word of God Likewise Buddha was a word Esther was Goethe was Socrates was Christ was the Word in the full and complete thought of that term. Christ is for all, expressing the eternal God to each and every individual, and finally, that of him it may be said that He was with God and the Word was God" (by J. W. Hunter).

Manitoba Building Stone

Says Should Be Taken to Make The Product Known Nationally

Stone for all other building purposes in the vicinity of Stonewall, Rockwood district, was the unanimous opinion of Manitoba building stone dealers, architects and engineers assembled at the Dominion government committee room and they urged that steps should be taken to make this product known nationally.

During the past year a number of large buildings in Western Canada have been erected of Manitoba stone, and in the connection Mr. G. H. Ormsbury, in charge of the department of mines, pointed out that the Canadian Pacific Railway, drawn attention to the greater use of Canadian stone in preference to foreign importations during the past few years.

"We have been prone to overlook our own raw materials," said Mr. Ormsbury, "but the results attained in the use of Manitoba stone in the recent construction of large apartment, office, public and commercial buildings, both from an architectural and constructive viewpoint, have forcibly brought home to Canadian architects and builders that in Canada we have a variety of building stone, and in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the Dominion for many years to come. This is evidenced by the fact that in the construction of the above-mentioned buildings, as well as the Parliament Buildings at Regina and Winnipeg, the law courts at Winnipeg and other structures in Winnipeg, Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie, and Edmonton, Manitoba limestone has been utilized with most satisfactory results."

The quarries from which this stone is being shipped are situated about thirty miles northeast of Winnipeg near the stations of Garson and Tyndall on the Pacific Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. At the chief centre, near Garson, three large quarries are in operation, and a number of smaller ones or undeveloped prospects occur in the immediate vicinity thereof. This is one of the most important sources of building stone in the western provinces. To the trade the stone is known as Garson or Tyndall stone and at once distant points it is sometimes called Winnipeg stone. It is a soft limestone with a distinctive mottling in darker colors. Two types are recognized—a buff variety and a blue variety. Both are admirably suited for large blocks and are capable of being dressed, carved with ease, and can be used for external and internal work.

The ship was lying in harbor, and a visitor went on board. The first person he saw was the cook, an Irishman, and going up to him he said, "Excuse me, are you the mate?" "No," answered the man, "but O'm the man as bells the mate."

"Trans-Canada" Wave Length

Not To Be Used For Ordinary Short Distance Communication

Information has been received that the department of marine and fisheries has set aside a wave length of 52.5 metres, to be known as the "Trans Canada" wave exclusively for long distance relay work, at the request of Canadian amateur radio enthusiasts. This wave length, which is not to be used for ordinary experimental and short distance communication, is to be reserved one for communication with other parts of the empire. It will be exclusively used for the long distance work until March 31, 1927. At the same time the department announces that wave lengths of 198 and 119 metres have been allotted to other services, and will not be available to amateurs in the coming fiscal year

Canada Pleases For Britain

Shipment of Rates Recently Forwarded Arrived in Good Condition

Following upon the Government's venture of shipping fresh cut peonies from Canada to England, a shipment of fresh cut roses was received at Montreal by Sir George McLaren Brown, Vice-President general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway in London. The roses arrived in perfect condition. One of the largest growers of roses in London, the firm of Lobb and Sons per, of Uxbridge, sent a special representative to inspect them. He was astonished at their beauty and freshness after the long sea voyage and said that they compared very favorably with English blooms.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," A Visit With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

McTAGGART, the factor had gone to the cabin of Pierrot, the trapper, at Peace River Crossing. Philip Steele, and, on Pierrot's unexpected return, had shot him down, as he endeavored the struggling girl Baree, the dog, whom also he had shot and who was at Brat Steele's side. Pierrot, despite his wounds, and hatred to the trapper in the factor's employ, was cared for by McTaggart, ran from the house to a grave and planned into a fit, but Brat, who, to what looked like certain death.

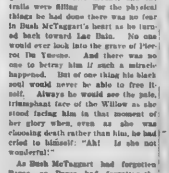
It was not sentiment that made him dig Pierrot's grave close to the princess mother's under the tall spruce. He was not sentimental. He merely did the grave at all, but caution. He buried Pierrot deeply. Then he poured Pierrot's blood on the snow where it would be most effective and touched a match to it. He stood in the edge of the forest until the cabin was a mass of flames. The snow was falling thickly. The freshly made grave was a white mound, and the trails were filling.

Things he had done there was no fear in Dash McTaggart's heart as he turned his head toward Lac Bain. No one would ever look into the grave of Pierrot Du Traverse. And there was no one to betray him if such a miscarriage happened. But of one thing his black soul would never be able to free itself. Always he would see the pale, triumphant face of the Willow as she stood facing him in that moment of her glory when, even as she was choosing death rather than him, he had cried to himself: "Ah! Is she not wonderful!"

As Dash McTaggart had forgotten Baree, so Baree had forgotten the Factor from Lac Bain. When McTaggart had run along the edge of the cabin, Baree had crouched himself in the foot-beaten plot of snow where Nepeese had last stood, his body stiffened and his forefeet braced as he looked down. He had seen her take the leap. Many times that summer he had followed her in her dashing flights into the deep, quiet water of the pool. But this was a tremendous distance. She had never dived into a place like that. He could see the black heads of the rocks, appearing and disappearing in the whirling foam like. The heads of monsters at play. At the roar of the water filled him with dread; his eyes caught the swift rush of crumbled ice between the rock walls. And she had gone down there!

He had a great desire to follow her. In that moment he would have gone down with her. She was surely down there, even though he could not see her Probably she was playing among the rocks and holding herself in a way while frosh and wondering why he didn't come. But he hesitated—heard the sharp bark of the dog, and, as always, his forefeet giving way a little in the snow. With an effort he forced himself to look back and when he caught the fresh scent of McTaggart's moccasins in the snow, and the white changed slowly into a long scent. He looked over again. Still he could not see her. He turned—the short, sharp signal with which he always called Baree to his heels.

Then he looked down the pool once more, and again he barked, and stronger there was nothing but the roar of the water and the crash of ice. Then for a few moments he stood back, silent and fascinating, his body shivering with the strange dread that was possessing him.



"He stood in the edge of the forest until the cabin was a mass of flames."

The snow was falling now, and McTaggart had returned to the cabin. He stopped in the open door, Baree gone and also. The trail was made by the man was burned up in his desire to join the Willow, and he continued his task. Baree was not the master of a mile beyond where the Factor had last looked into it, he came to the narrow of rumbled ice between the rock walls. And she had gone down there!

Princess Mary Launches Warship

Officiates at Christening of Rodney in Birkenhead Yards

Princess Mary (Viscountess Lascelles) officiated at the launching and christening of the warship Rodney in the shipyards of Cammel Laird and Co., at Birkenhead.

The Rodney, when commissioned in 1927, will be the largest battleship in the world. Under the Washington treaty, its displacement is limited to 35,000 tons. The vessel probably will mount nine 16-inch guns on three triple turrets. It is estimated the contract will bring £7,000,000 ($33,950,000) to the shipyards.

The Princess performed the christening ceremony with a bottle of empire wine which was suspended from the lofty bow of the vessel by a red, white and blue ribbon. She pulled the lever which released the bottle and it broke against the stem. Then she declared the battleship launched. Breathing amidst the warship's clamor and the Rodney still slowly moved, it was inaudible, easy

GOOD NEWS FOR RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Now Known That This Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The most a rheumatic sufferer can do is to relieve the backache or the aching joint, rubbing, soothing, but it is a little relief. Seldom or never does it cure, and one does not feel any better for it. The rheumatic poison is carried in the blood. To get rid of it you must treat it through the blood. Any doctor will tell you that. Here is a case in point, showing that will go right to the root of the trouble in the blood, according to directions will give prompt relief. Rheumatic sufferers have found relief in the Oil and have sent testimonials

A Little Helps For This Week

Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life. Prov. iv., 23.

O Heart, be true!
True to thyself and to thy God
Through all around thee doth may change;
Though oft the road that thou hast trod,
To thee that hear no guiding word,
Seems hard and strange.
Whatever else the whole wide world may do—
Be true, my heart, be true!
The best thing we can do is usually the best—indeed, the only thing, that men may receive the truth—is to be true to ourselves. The all doing of good is the being good; for be that is good, not only does good things, but all that he does is good.

Dispute Claim of Columbus

Norwegians to Attempt Passage to America in Old Viking Boat

To prove that it was possible for Leif Ericson to have discovered America 500 years before Columbus, Captain Fulgero intends to make an attempt next year to reach this country in a vessel, the exact duplicate of the boats used by the old Vikings.

His boat will be 40 feet long and 12 feet wide and will follow a route by Dover, Plmisterre, Madeira and then across the Atlantic in the hope of reaching Philadelphia.

The Norwegians still dispute Columbus' claims and insist Ericson was the discoverer of America.

EDISON R WAITE, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT well advertised products have a reputation of being of superior quality. They are easy on the eyes, easy to sell and easy to use.

THAT the stores that carry well known lines in stock and persistently advertise that fact, find sales greater and more easily made, because their goods give better satisfaction.

THAT the persistent advertising of quality not only wins new business, but results in steady sales and its effects are lasting.

THAT people everywhere are on the watch for things that will add to their comfort.

THAT stores that are known as friendly stores get the business.

THAT friendly stores advertise all the while so the people may know they have what they want.

THAT friendly stores are making profits because customers find it a pleasure to shop with them.

THAT at friendly stores, service and quality is coupled with courtesy.

THAT CONTINUOUS ADVERTISING IS AN ASSURANCE THAT THE STORE ADVERTISING IS OFFERING QUALITY AT ATTRACTIVE PRICES.

BOUGHRAGES IMPORTANT FACTOR FOR THE BROOD SOW

pounds. The latter group of sows farrowed 89.9 per cent of good pigs or 10 per cent more than the sows which had meal. These results would, therefore, give hay somewhat the advantages over the meal for brood sows.

During the previous two years a test was conducted in which beet pulp was compared with pulped mangels for brood sows. In these two tests the beet pulp ration was not only the more expensive but the sows on this gave smaller pigs and fewer pigs per litter. The ten sows fed mangels and meal averaged 12.3 pigs per litter or 2.4 pigs more than the ten sows on beet pulp and meal, while the litters weighed 22.4 pounds at birth or seven pounds more than those from the sows fed beet pulp. Mangels would, therefore, appear to be the more suitable roughage for pregnant brood sows.

In tests of this nature the factor of heredity, of course, enters, but aside from this the results are significant.

Partridge Hill

Partridge Hill U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. held their annual meeting December 5. Officers of U.F.A. re-elected as follows:

President—A. Lunan.
Vice-president—J. Larsen.
Sec.-Treasurer—C. H. Flintoft.

Retiring officers in U.F.W.A.—President Mrs. Rye, Vice-president Mrs. Larsen, Sec.-Treasurer Mrs. C. H. Flintoft.

Newly elected officers—President, Mrs. Jos Ochaldgton; Vice-president, Mrs. N. Latimer; Sec.-Treasurer, Mrs. Mrs. Gilliam. Directors: Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Geo. Ochaldeston, Mrs. Wilmot Alton.

Both locals have enjoyed a successful year's work and look forward with confidence to a good year in 1926.

Mr. Van Slyke, Red Deer, director on Live Stock and Poultry Pool was present and addressed the meeting.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation to Mrs. Stanley Whitson (who we regret to say is soon leaving the district) and who was the first secretary-treasurer of the local, of an address of appreciation and a gift of table linen.

Mr. Porter and the school children with a few able assistants put on a fine Christmas concert December 22. The program was pleasantly varied. The arrival of Santa with gifts for everyone, and the serving of candies, put this concert on the red letter list.

Officers and members of the Sabbath School held the annual treat for the scholars Tuesday evening, December 29. Prizes were awarded for attendance and memorizing, etc. The little folks had a happy time with games, etc., followed by lots of goodies to eat.

Mr. Morley Lawrence, Hairy Hill, spent the holidays with his parents here.

We beg leave to draw your attention to an event of importance to all lovers of the drama which will take place shortly in Partridge Hill. Keep your eyes and ears open for this treat —"An Old-fashioned Mother."

Think of the money we save every winter on fly swatters!

Good Hope

The next U.F.A. meeting will be held in the school house on Monday, January 11, beginning at 8 p.m.

The skating rink is finished and the skaters have had some very enjoyable evenings.

Mrs. J. Brenton has been on the sick list since Christmas. We are glad to report that she is improving now.

Mr. D. J. Cranston left for his home in the East last Sunday morning.

The Good Hope young people had a surprise party at Wm. Burnett's last Wednesday evening for the purpose of showering Miss Adeline Burnett, a popular bride of the district. The evening was spent in playing games and music. They received many useful and beautiful gifts. Mr. Golden thanked everyone. Mr. and Mrs. Golden are leaving the district. We wish them every success in their wedded life.

Colonization and Immigration

The continued development, progress and prosperity of Canada is depend ent upon a continuing increase in population, and having now entered upon the second quarter of "Canada's Century" it is of prime importance to them selves and their country that all Canadians take a keen and active interest in promoting this, the Dominion's first and greatest asset.

It has, however, become increasingly evident during the last few years that the problem of colonization through the medium of immigration is not one of immigration itself as colonization. If the Federal Government and Parliament saw fit to take down all the bars to immigration there is hardly any question but that very large numbers of people from European countries would come to Canada. But it is quite as certain that the indiscriminate unrestricted influx of people would be in the best interests of the Dominion, or of those incoming people themselves.

Neither Government nor Parliament, nor Canadians in general, favor the opinion that such an unrestricted influx of people would be desirable. This opinion will prevail, and wisely so, that there must be selection of immigrants, although it is now recognized that there can be no other method to some relaxation of the restrictions imposed during those years immediately following the war

While, therefore, immigration regulations will undoubtedly be modified, and efforts put forth to secure a larger number of people in this and succeeding years, the main effort of the Dominion Government, transportation companies, and all bodies primarily interested in the settlement of our vacant areas, will be in the direction of successful and therefore permanent settlement, in a word, the promotion of colonization rather than the mere encouragement of the immigration of people to Canada.

That experience establishes the wisdom and necessity of such a policy carrying it into effect, however, cannot be left solely to Government. It will call for the active interest and participation of the whole people of Canada and may well constitute one of the greatest tasks all organizations such as Boards of Trade Canadian Clubs, the various service clubs, farmers' organizations, churches, Community Clubs, and all kindred organizations.

Successful colonization means not only placing the settlers in districts where their labors will be crowned with success, where their surroundings and neighbors will be congenial, where they will not lack the essentials necessary to the making of happy, prosperous, contented homes

To cite one example. Late in 1924 the Swiss Settlement Society was granted in Canada under a Dominion Charter with headquarters in Montreal, with the object of encouraging Swiss settlement in Canada. This Society, by its first year, has been markedly successful in securing the support, financial and otherwise, of prominent people throughout Canada, in Switzerland and the United States. It is engaged in getting in touch with all Swiss now resident in Canada, and in securing information of their acreages, etc., the kinds of jobs which contracted the and how they were overcome, the problems and difficulties still to be encountered. The Society aims to help these, but at the same time to make known to prospective immigrants from Switzerland the actual experiences and successes of their countrymen in Canada, and in so that each new immigrants to Canada, in desirable communities on arrival here and in both may be in all possible ways to succeed. That is, there is an organized Society to which all Swiss in Canada can turn for helpful advice and assistance.

Reference may be made to another development which is bound to have a permanently beneficial colonization effect. In its peace-time work the Canadian Red Cross Society aims at the improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering. In its efforts in these directions it has taken particular notice of the need of nursing care for expectant mothers and children, and sick and accident cases among the new settlers in remote and pioneer districts where there are few if any nurses, and far distant from the settlers' homes, and where as yet the population is too small to warrant the establishment of hospitals. In such districts the Red Cross is establishing Nursing Outposts with fully qualified nurses in charge. Over thirty such Outposts have now been established by the Red Cross in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northern Ontario. Others are being opened as rapidly as the funds of the Red Cross will permit, and only recently an English nursing association donated funds for the equipment of two additional Outposts in Saskatchewan in districts into which British settlers are now going.

These are real moves calculated to promote permanent and successful colonization. Such societies as the two cited, and others that might be mentioned having the same object in view, are deserving of the cordial sympathy and hearty support of the people of Canada. They are helping to make Canada, and to bring about the realization of the prophecy that the "Twentieth Century belongs to Canada."

Successful colonization means not only retaining the settlers who do come, but it means larger immigration because an ever increasing number of people will come to participate in the success of those others. Thus will Canada grow and prosper as it ought to do and as Nature by her varied and bountiful gifts intended it should.

Secret Of the Air

Dutch Passenger Monoplane Vanished Completely, Leaving No Trace

A group of "air express" pilots in London, some about to begin and others having just completed flights at the Croydon aerodrome, formed a circle and discussed the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the Dutch passenger monoplane, which left Amsterdam on a flight to London, but never arrived.

They agreed that the sheer mystery of the disappearance, which leaves a gloom over the London air station not long ago.

A Dutch passenger monoplane as vanished one afternoon to make its scheduled flight to Amsterdam. An experienced pilot was in charge, and the weather was not unfavorable. There were no circumstances to cause concern.

Yet the Dutch liner disappeared as completely as if it had been wiped out of the sky. It simply went up into the clouds and was heard of no more.

Amsterdam. It never landed at

Where could they possibly have gone? Is it possible that while on the open ocean and flying the course ahead and the compass and instruments of the plane suddenly went wrong, and the airman had no chance of broadcasting an "S.O.S."

Whatever the answer, that no trace of the machine was ever found has worried many of the bodies interested

THE CHEERFUL WOMAN

Is One Who Has the Rich, Red Blood of Good Health.

The fact that one woman is brighter, more cheerful and happier than another is a matter of common knowledge, and is due entirely or otherwise to the condition of the blood. The way to remedy this depressed state is to build up the blood, and for this purpose there is no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A case in point is that of Mrs. Judith Abra, Trout Creek, Parry Sound, Ont., who says:—"About two years ago I was a very sick woman. I used to be weeping away and getting thinner all the time. I grew so weak that I took to my bed and the doctor came to see me. He said I was in a very bad state of health and had better go to the hospital, but the treatment there did not help me much. I was discouraged. Then I tried a number of books with the same result. I was so weak that my mother came to see me, and as she is a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, she started me on this medicine. I can only say that they did wonders for me. I began to get new health and strength after I had taken a few boxes, and by the time I had finished the treatment I was again well and able to do all my housework, and I have not had a sick day since. I cannot recommend your pills too highly and urge those who are looking for health and happiness to give them a trial."

You can get the pills from your druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New Design For Aeroplane

Machine With Central Engine Room Being Built As Experiment

An aeroplane has been designed, the chief feature of which is a central engine room. As it is an experimental type, only two 450 h.p. Napier Lion engines have been fitted, but assuming the same lines of design, the experts declare that there is no reason why half-a-dozen or more engines should not be fitted into a machine able to take them. They are in the factory of the type of the liner which will, when flying has become more fully developed, be plying regularly between London and New York. This experimental craft, which is known as the Bodmin Napier, has been under design and construction for between two and three years.

FIVE MEN BELIEVE ON JESUS

Lesson for the Day—John 1:35-51. Golden Text—Behold, the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world.—John 1:29.

Lesson John 1:19-51.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 53:4-12.

Explanations and Comments

The Winning of Andrew and John, verses 35-39.—On the morrow of his consecration with the deputation of priests and Levites from Jerusalem who came to ask if he were the expected Christ (verses 19-23), John the Baptist, the herald of Jesus Christ, pointed out Jesus to his disciples as the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world (verses 29-34). Again, on the morrow after that, two of the Baptist's disciples, Andrew and probably John, were standing with him when he saw Jesus in the distance and said to them, "Behold, the Lamb of God!" The word Lamb is used for Christ more than seventy times in the Book of Revelation and indicates sacrifice. The Baptist's words suggested to the disciples that they follow the greater Master

When Jesus turned and saw the two following him he said to them, "What seek ye?" "He opened their mouth hearing he blessed to fit it," observes an ancient writer

Alberta Corn Growers

Acreage Devoted to This Crop is Rapidly Increasing

Recent successes of Medicine Hat corn growers at the provincial exhibition held in Lethbridge, amply prove the suitability of this district for corn growing. The acreage devoted to this crop in Alberta has made great strides in recent years. In 1910 only 900 acres in Alberta were planted to corn. In the following year the acreage increased to 1,200; in 1917 to 14,000; in 1923 to 53,900; and last year to 66,000.

Strange Phenomenon Near Seattle

Flames 100 Feet High Shoot From Cold Salty Water

Flames which shoot high in the air from a pool of cold, salty water, in Green River Gorge, 12 miles south east of Seattle, are attracting much attention.

Visitors in the pool, which is about six feet in diameter, sometimes sinks almost out of sight. Then it rises upward with the gas bubbling through it. If a lighted match is thrown in while it is turbulent, fire leaps.

At times the eruptions are particularly violent, throwing out rocks and sending flames 100 feet high. At other intervals for over a year it has been at all. These variations have not been explained.

A mile distances from the geyser, flames play for two weeks at a time over water which bubbles up between rocks in a stream. Although the water in the geyser pool is salt, and contains many minerals, it is within ten feet of a perfectly fresh brook. Sulphur and fresh water springs are found nearby.

This phenomenon is near the bank of Green River, on which Tacoma gets its water supply. Although rumors of "water that burns" had been spread by Indians and hunters, the place was inaccessible until a road was built in last year.

Dry Land Vegetable Gardening

Dominion Experimental Farm At Lethbridge Uses Farming Methods

At Lethbridge, Alta., Dominion experimental farmers have undertaken are planted each year on summerfallow land and the garden is sheltered by single rows of cottonwood trees planted 33 feet apart. These trees are of the same species as turned under when ploughed in the spring for summerfallow, the application of manure, therefore, is made the year previous to the planting of the seeds. This piece of ground is a long, bed garden on semi-earthflow, says the superintendent, Mr. W. H. Fairfield, M.S., in his last report, which will be the consideration of the dry land farmer. It is especially advantageous if the windbreaks are so arranged as to act as snow traps. The vegetables, even such small growing sorts as lettuce and radishes, are planted in rows three feet apart to allow the horse cultivator every chance to operate between the rows. Such a practice outdoes the hand hoer very materially, points out Mr. Fairfield, and also ensures the plants greater space in which their roots may forage for moisture.

Experimenting With Flowers

Botanist Finds Whisky Has Some Effect As On People

Alcohol has much the same effect on flowers that it has on human beings, members of the botany faculty at the University of California have learned.

Six California poppy buds were used in an experiment. They were placed in jars containing liquids varying from sarsaparilla, water to whisky. The only flower to bloom was the one in the water. The others became tipsy and leaned over the edges of their glasses to nod to those in a street. Varying in the degree of unconsciousness with the amount of liquor. Later potatoes were introduced and their effects marked.

Photographs of this work were taken by Alfred H. Pillsbury, using a time exposure machine, a camera on the stills. A microscopic lens and a synchronizing motor was included in the equipment.

Eradicating Bovine Tuberculosis From Canada

Complete Control Of This Scourge Is Making Good Progress

In spite of the tremendous cost involved, owing to the wide distribution of the disease, the eradication health of animals branch is making good progress in the control of bovine tuberculosis. The minister of agriculture in his report for 1925 pot a out that more than new 1,675 fully accredited herds of cattle have been established in Canada and 2 are undergoing the process of accreditation. This accredited herd plan is a practicable, workable and popular one—and with it is possible to eradicate tuberculosis in herds and to maintain them free from disease provided the owners take an active interest in cleaning up his herd and protecting it. The branch is now conducting a "re-visited area" plan, covering large districts with many herds, and it is already proving successful. It is possible to test large number of cattle more expeditiously and more cheaply by this method than by any other.

There is now an area in the Fraser district in Manitoba with about 16,000 cattle practically free from tuberculosis. Another area, comprising the counties of Dundas and Stormont in eastern Ontario, is in the course of clearance. One district with 2,000 cattle in Quebec was dealt with during the year, and another area with 3,000 cattle tested.

Valuable Lot Bought For Penny

Dr. Wilson Gets Piece of $14,000,000 Hotel in Detroit, Mich.

The site of Detroit's $14,000,000 Book-Cadillac Hotel once sold for exactly one cent. The purchaser was Mary Watson Hudson, a citizen of Detroit who obtained the plot of ground in accordance with an act of Congress.

It happened like this. In 1806 the town of Detroit was practically destroyed by fire. Many records were wiped out of honor and home. To aid the sufferers, Congress made an act empowered by which they could for a very small cash consideration, obtain government land. Mary Watson Hudson bought this particular tract, and for one cent. For years after the lot was purchased by a speculator for $150.

Canada Has Just Entered Upon A New Year With The Brightest Of Prospects

Marketing Poultry Co-operatively

Shipping Live Poultry From the Coast To Distant Markets

Experience leaves no room for doubt that co-operative marketing, based on really sound principles and honesty, is the very best method. It is pointed out in a bulletin on co-operation and marketing poultry products, issued by the Dominion Livestock branch, that the co-operative method presents great opportunities in the marketing of live poultry. The greatest success has been achieved by those who have assembled ordinarily small lots of poultry, taken off the run, and shipped them in specially constructed cars, provided by the railway companies, to distant and selected markets when the best markets were glutted. This has resulted in satisfactory returns being secured in spite of poor home markets. Last year some fifty cars of live poultry were shipped co-operatively in the various provinces and, in addition, about twenty cars were shipped locally in the prairie provinces. In the case of one car shipped from the Canadian west to New York, a report was made of the gain of 1,000 lbs. during transit. This wholesale shipping resulted in a great majority of the cars and stock being cleaned up, and was an influence in making a much freer poultry market in the fall.

The bulletin, which may be obtained free from the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, described in detail how to organize and conduct these co-operative associations for the marketing of poultry.

Divers Locate Treasure Ship

Near the mouth of the channel of the Light Brigade, divers have located a treasure ship here long before the mouth of the Black Sea. It is the hulk of the Black Prince, which went down with $15,000 in gold and silver intended for payment of allied armies in the Crimean War, says a dispatch from Moscow.

Ocean to Ocean in a Ford

Commemorating the twenty-first anniversary of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, J. Pitchenger, accompanied by a member of the company's publicity department, travelled from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to Vancouver, British Columbia, in a standard Ford touring car, covering 4,794 miles, of which 955 was done on C.P.R. steel between Montreal and Superior Junction and reached Vancouver towards the end of October.

The trip was made entirely on Canadian territory and motion pictures, which were taken along the route, were presented to the Dominion Government for educational purposes. Except where it was necessary to change to flanged wheels for railway travel, the car made the journey on its own wheels, Mr. Pitchenger reporting only three punctures throughout the trip.

The Canadian Pacific Railway cooperated to make the trip a success. The first change to flanged wheels occurred at Quebec Bridge where the automobile took to the tracks. The second change took place north of the Great Bear. Then there was a shift to the rails of the Algoma Central and the party proceeded for 136 miles of steel to the Canadian Pacific crossing at Algoma Central. The car then switched on to the other line and followed along the north shore of Lake Superior as far as Schreiber. Mr. J. J. Scully, general manager, western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, met the party here, who proceeded along the rails to Rogers. At Agassiz, J. J. Horn, C.P.R. divisional superintendent, made arrangements for the use of the rails again rendering a collision with transCanadian trains to a minimum. Before reaching Vancouver the car made several other changes to tracks where there were no roads or where the roads were impassable for automobiles.

Canada's Precious Metals

Explorations By Prospectors Uncovering New Undeveloped Wealth

In the production of the precious metals Canada has already taken a foremost place among the countries of the earth, and the output of gold and silver particularly has been large and is still growing rapidly, says the natural resources Intelligence service of the department of the interior. But, a glance at a map of Canada and a little study of the areas where mineral development is taking place will show that but comparatively little of the known mineral area has been touched. In Northern Ontario and in portions of British Columbia a large production is being secured, while promising development is taking place in other provinces. The surface has only been scratched, however, and exploration by prospectors and prospects is uncovering much new undeveloped wealth. There is an opportunity in Canada awaiting the mining engineer and capitalists who would develop new mineral areas.

Advocates Beekeeping

Government Urges the Promotion of Beekeeping in Canada

"Canada has just finished harvesting a billion-dollar crop from her fields, and returns from her stockyards and docks will easily total another half-billion dollars," states a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture.

The bulletin employing these figures in urging the promotion of beekeeping in Canada and maintains that large quantities of nectar are annually going to waste in Canada. One beekeeper near Lethbridge, Alberta, produced more honey this year than was produced by the entire province in 1920. In Manitoba the honey crop has trebled in three years and in Saskatchewan the reported crop of 1924 was over 3 times as large as that of 1919, the bulletin states.

Saskatchewan Corn Growers

Convention For 1926 To Be Held At Estevan

At a meeting of the executive of the Saskatchewan Corn Growers' Association, it was decided to hold the 1926 convention on November 17 and 18, in the town hall, Estevan. Negotiations will take place with H. P. Tuttle secretary of the Provincial Registered Seed Growers' Association for the supplying of northern grown corn seed of varieties suitable to prospective growers for next year.

The Prairie Nurseries, Limited, of Estevan, have donated a cup, valued at $200, which will be presented to the grower giving the best showing of Yellow Flint corn, at the exhibition. The cup is a permanent one but a small replica of it will be presented to the winner each year.

It is expected that the corn show of 1926 will be unusually successful.

Britain Does Not Want Mosul But Is Under Obligations To Protect New Kingdom

Foreign critics and Nationalist Arabs who are fond of decrying Great Britain as a land-grabber must have been puzzled by the dispatches which have been coming from Geneva in reference to Mosul, says the Edmonton Bulletin.

At the close of the Great War, the Kingdom of Irak was carved out of territory formerly subject to Turkish rule. As British blood and British money had been spent in freeing the country, Great Britain was rewarded for its efforts by being given a mandate to play the role of guide, counselor and friend and, incidentally, protector to the new kingdom.

The Turks demand Mosul, one of the choicest villages in Mesopotamia, with a population of 200,000, one-third of whom are Christians, the remainder Kurds. Belonging appealed the dispute, on behalf of Irak, to the League of Nations. The league declared that Mosul belonged to Irak, that it was the business of Great Britain to protect the rights of its ward; and that to make a job of this Britain should extend its mandate for twenty-five years.

The reply of the British representative was that, while Britain would fight the Turks if necessary to protect Irak, it did not want a twenty five year mandate and would not take it self to accept one. There the matter stands; with a fairly imminent prospect that Britain will have to fight the Turks to protect the people of a country that it doesn't want and for which it is not even willing to accept a twenty-five-year custodianship.

So far from wanting to grab Mosul, or any other part of Mesopotamia, Britain wants to get out of the whole region—if it could find a way to do so without going back on its obligations to the United States, the League of Nations and Kords alike to be butchered, looted and mistuled by the Turks.

Eradicating Bovine Tuberculosis From Canada

Complete Control of This Scourge Is Making Good Progress.

In spite of the tremendous cost involved, owing to the wide distribution of the disease, the dominion health of animals branch is making good progress in the control of bovine tuberculosis. The minister of agriculture in his report for 1925 points out that during the year 1,675 fully accredited tuberculosis free herds in Canada and 2,166 undergoing the process of accreditation. This accredited herd plan is a practicable, workable and popular one and with it in operation in certain areas tuberculosis in herds and in man, can be stamped out. The minister also points out that the owner takes an active interest in cleaning up his herd and protecting it. The branch is now conducting a "re-inforced area" plan, covering large districts with many herds, and it is already proving successful. It is also able to test large numbers of cattle more expeditiously and cheaply by this method than by any other.

There is now an area in the Simcoe district in Ontario of over 16,000 cattle practically free from tuberculosis. Another area, including the counties of Dundas, Stormont, Glengarry and Beauharnois in the province of Quebec, was dealt with under the "re-stricted area" plan last year and 53,413 cattle tested.

Valuable Lot Bought For Penny

In New Site of $14,000,000 Hotel in Detroit, Mich.

The site of Detroit's $14,000,000 Book-Cadillac Hotel was sold for exactly one cent. The purchaser was Mary Watson Hudson, a citizen of Detroit, who obtained the plot of ground in accordance with an act of Congress.

It happened like this: In 1805 the town of Detroit was practically destroyed by fire. The buildings were wiped out of house and home. To aid the sufferers, Congress made an arrangement by which they could buy a very small cash consideration, obtain government land. Mary Watson Hudson bought the particular tract, which now costs $14,000 per square foot, for one cent, and for payment of allied armies in the Crimean War, says a dispatch from Missouri.

Canada Has Just Entered Upon A New Year With The Brightest Of Prospects

Marketing Poultry Co-operatively

Shipping Live Poultry From the Coast To Distant Markets

Experience leaves no room for doubt that co-operative marketing, based on sound principles and loyalty, is the very best method. It is pointed out in a bulletin on co-operation and marketing poultry products, issued by the Dominion Livestock branch, that the co-operative method presents great opportunities in the marketing of live poultry. The greatest success has been achieved by those who have assembled ordinarily small poultry, taken off the run, and shipped them in specially constructed cars, provided by the railway companies, to distant central markets when the home markets were glutted. This has resulted in satisfactory returns being secured in spite of poor home markets. Last year some fifty cars of live poultry were shipped co-operatively in the various provinces and, in addition, about twenty cars were shipped locally in the prairie provinces. In the latter case one shipped from the Canadian west to New York, a report was made of the gain of 1,000 lbs. during transit. This wholesale shipping requires in a great majority of cases that stock being cleaned up, and was an influence in making a much finer poultry market in the fall.

The bulletin, which may be obtained free from the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, described in detail how to organize and conduct these co-operative associations for the marketing of poultry.

Divers Locate Treasure Ship

Near the scene of the charge of the Light Brigade, divers have located a treasure ship forty feet below the surface of the Black Sea. It is the hulk of the Black Prince, which went down with $15,000 in gold and silver coin and for payment of allied armies in the Crimean War, says a dispatch from Moscow.

Ocean to Ocean in a Ford

Commemorating the twenty-first anniversary of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, J. Flickenger, accompanied by a number of the company's publicity department, travelled from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to Vancouver, British Columbia, in a standard Ford touring car, covering 4,794 miles, of which 853 was done on C.P.R. steel rails. The car started on the journey on June 8 and reached Vancouver towards the end of October.

The trip was made entirely on Canadian territory and motion pictures, which were taken along the route, were presented to the Dominion Government for educational purposes. Except where it was necessary to change to flanged wheels for railway travel, the car made the journey on its own wheels. Mr. Flickenger reporting only three punctures throughout the trip.

The Canadian Pacific Railway cooperated to make the trip a success. The first change to flanged wheels occurred at Quebec Bridge where the automobile took to the tracks. The second change took place north of the Sault. Then there was a shift to the rails of the Algoma Central and the party proceeded for 185 miles of travel to the Canadian Pacific crossing at Algoma Central. The car then switched to the other line and followed along the north shore of Lake Superior as far as Schreiber. Mr. J. J. Bently, general manager, western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, met the party here, who proceeded along the rails to Winnipeg. At Ignace, J. J. Horn, C.P.R. divisional superintendent, made arrangements for the use of the rails again reducing a collision with transcontinental trains to a minimum. Before reaching Vancouver the car made several other changes to tracks where there were no roads or where the roads were impassable for automobiles.

The natural resources Intelligence service of the department of the interior at Ottawa reports as follows:

Canada has entered upon a new year which may be to her one of the greatest in advancement in her history that record. With the brightest of prospects, with records of development unsurpassed, she stands to reap a harvest of progress beyond any yet experienced.

Canada is now being rediscovered. The world is awakening to the fact that in our natural resources we have unconverted wealth beyond the dreams of a Midas. Every reports of production for 1925 there material gains is practically all lines of development. While in some of the more important the increases shown have been phenomenal

In agriculture, without the abnormal conditions created by the war, Canada has reaped crops that have established a record second only to 1915. Her agricultural products are also bringing good prices, so that the farmer will have a reasonable profit above the cost of production.

In mining, the output is increasing, settled labor conditions exist in all districts, good markets are at hand for the output, and capital is earning a return sufficient to influence the investment of additional funds for further development.

Canada's forests are now the mainstay of the continent, not only in lumber but in pulpwood. Both are used and the west are being called upon for building material by the United States owing to other sources of supply, as shingles and dimension timber finding a ready market.

More and more is the newsprint industry of the world being centred in Canada, and particularly in this the year 1926 the position of Canada becomes one, where Canada has wrested from the United States the premier position in newsprint production. The vast water powers of Canada for this industry is influencing many of the large organizations across the line to remove their activities to Canada, with the resultant increase in employment for labor.

Canadian fisheries were very successful during the year just past and the sea fisheries of both east and west Canada netted a good profit with good markets for their output.

Canada is [illegible] visited by many thousands of tourists. They come from all parts of the world and the year 1925 [illegible] and [illegible] will be forgotten. [illegible] everyone they received a welcome and the stories of their experience appearing in their local press and [illegible] evidence. Without question this has been a still greater increase of overseas visitors. As a general rule tourists free spenders, and they are a [illegible] territory. Canada can look to [illegible] by earning the goodwill of the world and in the coming year in production, in enterprise, in energy, and in welcome to our national guests, the tourists, let us still further establish the fact that Canada and Canadians will take second place to no country or no people

Convention For 1926 To Be Held At Estevan

At a meeting of the executive of the Saskatchewan Corn Growers' Association, it was decided to hold the 1926 convention on Nov. ember 17 and 18, in the town hall, Estevan. Negotiations will take place with M. P. Tullis, secretary of the Provincial Registered Seed Growers' Association for the supplying of northern grown corn seed of varieties suited to prospective growers for next year.

The Prairie Nurseries, Limited, of Estevan, have donated a cup, valued at $200, which will be presented to the grower giving the best showing of Yellow Flint corn, at the exhibition. The cup is a permanent one, but a small replica of it will be presented to the winner each year

It is expected that the corn show of 1926 will be unusually successful.

In one family of 13 children, they all have names beginning with "L." The names are Lenore, Lydia, Lois, Laura, Lee, Lionel, Lillian, Luther, Louis, Lucille, Lester and Lawrence.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the Wonder Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Two young Montagnais, Lucky Bill and Pierrot, are trapping partners. Bill, the Indian, learns that Pierrot has been making love to his sweetheart, Nepessee. Pierrot, a half-breed, is a coward, and when Bill challenges him to fight, Pierrot refuses. Bill, disgusted, leaves him. Pierrot, seeking revenge, poisons Bill's traps. Bill, finding many of his traps empty, suspects Pierrot. Pierrot, fearful of Bill's return, leaves his cabin and traps alone. Bill, returning, finds Pierrot's cabin deserted and, suspecting foul play, starts after him. Pierrot, seeing Bill coming, starts to run away from him. Bill, seeing Pierrot's dog team, starts after him. Pierrot, seeing Bill coming, starts to run away from him. Bill, seeing Pierrot's dog team, starts after him.

CHAPTER XXIII

No man, not even Lucky Bill himself, knew the story of death as Lucky Bill knew it. Nor could any man, not even Lucky Bill himself, have told it more graphically than he told it to himself. Two days and two nights he had been on the trail of Pierrot, and he knew that Pierrot was doomed. He knew that Pierrot was doomed. He knew that Pierrot was doomed. He

MOSQUITOS IN JANUARY

When we think of the money that has been spent by people fleeing to places made famous by advertisements of bathing beauties and real estate in order to escape the rigors of a Canadian winter, our heart is filled with regret. What they have missed! What better and more exhilarating atmosphere can they have experienced than we stay-at-homers? We have certainly had the better time so far. If it was their wish to find out what it was like to be bitten by a mosquito, and this is what we really started out to say, they could have remained at home and had the pleasure Barney Corcoran caught one buzzing round his house on New Years Day. It is also reported a robin came to the farm of W. Casey last Sunday and is still around there

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

BY

EDSON R. WAITE, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT some people should use their thinking caps more often.

THAT if they did they could save more money.

THAT a whole lot of them are always thinking that they will 'start saving' tomorrow, but that tomorrow never comes. Start Saving Today!

THAT a small account will open a big one in a bank.

THAT a savings account has ever been the best friend of the person in moderate circumstances

THAT when they are in need, it will take them ever until they get on their feet again.

THAT in case of an emergency, are you prepared? If not, get prepared and start a savings account today.

THAT a savings account will give you peace to mind and a great feeling of security.

PEOPLE WHO TAKE TIME TO THINK ARE USUALLY LEVEL-HEADED AND DEPENDABLE AND SELECT THE RIGHT COURSE. THINK IT OVER AND BEGIN TO SAVE!

ALBERTA MAN WINS PRIZE

The special prize of $50.00 offered by the Canadian National Railways for the Canadian scoring the highest in timothy seed at the International show at Chicago, has been won by A. Longhead, of Bowden, a well known Alberta registered seed grower.

AUTO LICENSE REVENUE

Revenue from auto licenses in Alberta during the year just closed has totalled $955,000.00. The number of autos for which licenses had been issued up to November included 82,830 passenger autos, livening 478, motor trucks 2,036, motorcycles 381.

SUGAR FACTORY PRODUCTION

The output of the new Raymond sugar factory following the first season's run will be about 20,000 bags of sugar, from about 45,000 tons of beets. The run was not as heavy as first expected, but was quite satisfactory. The pulp and other by-products of the plant are to be used in stock feeding experiments.

NEW BOND ISSUE

The province of Alberta will have a new bond issue of $1,250,000.00 towards the middle or end of January, it has been announced. The past year has been one of the best for the sale of savings certificates since the sale of these began several years ago. At the end of November the total deposits for the year had passed the two million dollar mark.

Here and There

Recent advices from London, England, are to the effect that during the first nine months of 1925, 58,617 British emigrants proceeded to Canada. This compares with 17,706 who went to Australia, 7,743 who went to New Zealand and 14,566 who went to the United States.

New financing by Canadian provinces, municipalities and corporations during the month of November show an increase of eight millions over the previous month, the November bond sales being $19,314,320. This compares with sales of $11,215,900 in October and with $38,812,875 in November, 1924.

E. D. Cotterell, Transportation Superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has issued a statement making effective the recognition of the acceptance of grain for the port of Vancouver under the permit system as handled previously. No tough or damp grain can be shipped on this permit.

The real estate boom in Florida has been affecting the lumber market at Saint John, New Brunswick, advantageously for the past few months. A large number of shipments have gone forward to Miami and further consignments will go forward with the steadily increasing demands.

According to a report from Vancouver, asbestos of quality as fine as that of the famous deposits from which Quebec supplies the world, has been found near Lytton, British Columbia. The Development Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway is carefully examining the mineral with a view to investigating the commercial usefulness of the product.

Sir John Martin Harvey, famous English actor, arrived at Saint John, N.B., on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclaire, on December 26. He was met by Bert Lang, manager of His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, and advance agent for Sir John. Sir John has arranged Mr. Harvey's tour through Canada, from Halifax to Vancouver.

Advices from the Montreal office of the Dominion Express Company are to the effect that one of the largest and most valuable consignments of pedigree black fames ever sent out of Canada, and priced at over $100,000, had arrived in Switzerland in perfect condition. The 64 fames will form the nucleus of a farbreeding ranch in Klosters, Switzerland.

Grandmothers are flappers in the Canadian West. Mrs. Edith Jones, of Leeds, Yorkshire, who sailed home to England on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare on December 16 told how she learnt to ride horses and do farm work at Plate, Saskatchewan. She had a great time and will endeavor to bring Grandpa, her husband and her grandson back to Canada with her in the spring.

"I think she works for a printing company."

"Sort of bold-faced type, eh?"

FIVE THOUSAND NEW MEMBERS FOR POOL

A total of 5,186 new members have been added to the wheat pool of the province between December, 1924, and December 1925, making a total of 804,-000 acres in the pool.

ROAD PROGRAM TO BE COMPLETED IN 1927

By 1927 the Alberta government hopes to complete its present main highway program calling for expenditure of $3,500,000.00 by which a total grant of $1,500,000.00 will have been earned from the Federal highway fund.

RURAL CREDITS COMMITTEE MEETING

The advisory committee on rural credits recently appointed by the provincial government to go into the whole question, has been holding several sessions, and has been able to cover considerable ground already. Dr. Tory, of the Alberta University, who reported to the Dominion government on the question, is a member of the committee, and attended the sessions held last week. In the study of the various forms of rural credits in operation elsewhere, it has been found that in some cases the schemes are of purely government operation, under the direction of a government board or some such organization. This refers particularly to the systems in existence in Australia, New Zealand, and in some of the provinces of Canada. It is found, however, that in the latest schemes of any size operating in the United States, there has been embodied many co-operative features, and that Denmark has a scheme that is entirely co-operative from top to bottom. In giving consideration to the broad basis upon which rural credit should be provided, as between nationalization and socialization through co-operation, the committee recognizes the truth of the principle that nationalization should be applied only in matters where the demand and the benefits to be derived are universal, and that on the other hand, where these are confined to one class, a scheme of co-operation is the soundest and most secure. Proceeding from this attitude, the members of the committee believe that any scheme of rural credit which is evolved should embody every possible feature of co-operation, and that the federal and provincial governments should be involved only to the degree necessary to ensure the successful operation of the scheme. The committee further recognizes what is equally vital to the success of any such scheme, namely, that the time is fully ripe in Alberta for the inauguration of the principle of co-operation in the handling of credits and money, that the spirit of co-operation is strong among the people, and that they have very rapidly through perhaps unconsciously, advanced to the stages where the organization of co-operative credits has been naturally and logically become the next step to the development in the province.

At the second fair sale conducted under the auspices of the grain branch of the provincial department of agriculture, pelts to the value of about $2,000.00 in forty lots were disposed of, mostly to local buyers.

NEW STATION AT JASPER NATIONAL PARK

In architectural keeping with its surroundings, a handsome new station has been built by the Canadian National Railways at Jasper, Alta., the headquarters of Jasper National Park, to replace the Grand Trunk one destroyed by fire about one year ago. The new building, which is of natural boulders and stucco construction, provides ample room for the heavy tourist traffic which has developed to Canada's largest national park. In addition to comfortable waiting rooms, the building includes restaurant, baggage and express quarters, as well as accommodation for a Canada customs officer, who is stationed there for the convenience of American and overseas visitors during the summer months.

A Tribute To Chamberlain

Locarno Treaty the Biggest Stone Yet Laid in the Temple of Peace

Says the Manchester Guardian

This country has long ranked itself on the little rungs of the ladder in foreign affairs. The Geneva Protocol, a succession of debates on arbitration and disarmament, conferences in which we played a part, but never made a single first-class contribution, were what made us think that the ill will was gone. Then Austen Chamberlain's honour, and with it unrivalled sounds, distinguished in a select few walks of life, was cast in each of this character. It was a public assurance as it was well deserved. Even in a country where foreign affairs between governments is not rare. It is not a common thing for one of his party to be thanked in the House of Commons by the Opposition for a piece of foreign work creditable to himself and his country. For his share in the Locarno Treaty and the Geneva Protocol he has won almost universal admiration. Lord Oxford and Asquith, the Lloyd George Treaty has no personal interest, but it is the biggest stone yet laid in the Temple of Peace since the foundation of the League of Nations. And Mr. Chamberlain who fashioned it, Mr. Chamberlain brought just the temper, judgment and character that was needed to win the confidence of his colleagues, as he has generously acknowledged, but they were certainly not less fortunate in him."

Messages For Far North

Mounties in Arctic Circle Received New Year's Greetings Over Radio

The Mounties in Baffin Land and Ellesmere Land, above the Arctic Circle, had a New Year's Eve reception.

The colorful dress uniform of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were not necessary, for the reception was merely the receiving of radio messages from families and friends broadcast by prearrangement by Western Canada stations, from Pittsburg, WHZ at Springfield; KYW at Chicago, and KFKX at Hastings.

The broadcast took place Thursday night, December 31, immediately after the relaying of the Arlington time signals

In the old days, the Canadian police posts usually did not hear from civilization until the middle of the next summer, when the supply ships came to them with mail and provisions.

Now, all the posts have their radio sets and listen to the Canadian and United States radio stations all through the long winter.

The messages were sent by the Canadian air police to the police headquarters in Ottawa and forwarded for transmission.

Canadian Granite For War Graves

Fifteen-Ton Granite Slabs To Be Shipped to Battlefields of France and Belgium

Embellished with fifteen-ton granite slabs from Stanstead, Que., seven of the eight miniature parks that have been designed to cover shell-scarred areas in France and Belgium, will be completed this coming summer according to Brig-General H. T. Hunter, of Toronto, B.C., chief engineer of Canadian battlefield memorials in these two European countries.

"We thought for the sake of sentiment," says Brig.-General Hughes, "that a little bit of Canada would be a good thing to introduce into the memorials to Canadian soldiers who fought over there. Six of these blocks of granite will be shipped in January. On the stone will be traced inscriptions stating why we have selected the place in which the slab is laid as a suitable area for a Canadian war graves site. The wording will be in French and English."

The general will return to France and Belgium next month.

Turkey and Russia Cannot Join League

Prevented by Terms of Neutrality Contained in Treaty

One point made in the discussion of the recently signed Russo-Turkish guarantee pact is that it apparently prevents both countries from joining the League of Nations, inasmuch as under the terms of neutrality which the treaty establishes neither country could allow passage through its territory of troops acting on behalf of the League of Nations, against which the league has had a rupture

Silver Black Foxes

Thirty-five cases, containing 103 black foxes, the largest shipment yet arriving in Western Canada, were unloaded lately in Saskatoon from Port Elgin and Fredericton, New Brunswick. They will be used for breeding purposes at the new Prairie Silver Black Fox Farm there.

Growth Of Poultry Industry

Two Thousand Turkeys Shipped East From Manitoba For Holiday Trade

One of the most interesting developments of mixed farming in Manitoba during the past five years, has been the unusually rapid growth of the poultry industry. Whereas a few years ago it was customary for this province to import poultry products to supply its own needs, Manitoba is now exporting and, during the early part of December, 2,000 turkeys shipped to Ontario alone two thousand turkeys to meet the Christmas demands of that market.

"She's a saint, she is. A regular Mother in Israel!" Whom? Aunt Debby, of course. Mother is "An Old-fashioned Mother," Partridge Hill, January 20.

At a recently held meeting of the Radio central club the following officers were elected:

Honorary president—Mrs. Pocock.
President—Mrs. Light.
Vice-president—Mrs. von Ilfland.
Secretary—Mrs. Henry.
Executive committee—Mrs. Graham, Miss Atkinson, Miss West.

It was decided to have two afternoon draws each week, Wednesday's and Friday's, at 2.30 p.m. Saturday nights at 7.30 o'clock.

The Women's Institute will hold their first meeting this year in the Memorial hall on Thursday, January 14th, at 4 o'clock. Mr. Douglas Harper is the speaker for the afternoon, his subject being: "Business procedure every woman should know."

The following questions which are under discussion by the various Women's Institutes will be dealt with:

"Should you suddenly be left with the entire charge of home with all its business responsibilities are you as familiar with existing conditions as you might be?"

"Is there anything that could be done now to lessen your difficulties should you be placed in such an unfortunate condition?"

It is hoped all members and friends will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the lecture.

"That's a very nice coat you're wearin," said a man to one of his friends. "You must be making a lot of money these days."

"As a matter of fact," answered the other, "she got that coat by accident."

"By accident?"

"Yes. The other night the hall was dark when I arrived home. I saw a figure standing near the hat-stand. I went up and whispered: 'Mary, give me a kiss!'"

"But I thought your wife's name was Kate."

"So it is. That's how she got the coat."

NO MIND OF HIS OWN

By Dr. C. M. Hincks.

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, and issued through the co-operation of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross.

Indecision is a habit that weakens personal initiative with friends and seriously endangers success in work. The "last trigger" person who thinks too quickly and often unwisely is at a disadvantage; so is his opposite—the one who cannot think for himself.

Invariably, the defect of a wavering mind goes back to family training in childhood. The mother and father have probably not permitted the youngster to make a movement without direction or permission. Over anxious parents make their children helpless dependents. They treat their children's efforts lightly, as if they were of no worth. They refuse to let them go back to finish their own abilities. Placing responsibilities on them and compelling them to surmount difficulties, to solve their own problems, will develop self reliance and initiative, necessary qualities if later life is to be worth while.

Parents cannot always be at hand to show obstacles out of their children's paths; they should rather teach them to expect and to face difficulties.

F. A. WALKER GIVING ADVICE TO COAST GRAIN TRADE

Frank Walker, of Fort Saskatchewan, former member of the Alberta legislature and veteran grain grower of the Fort Saskatchewan district, is spending a few weeks at Vancouver looking into the grain situation there and incidentally telling the coast residents to get busy.

"There is a nigger in the woodpile in this business of getting wheat shipped through the Port of Vancouver, and it's about time we Vancouver and everyone else interested in the western grain producer brought him to the light of day. I'm over here not for the purpose of delivering myself, with some effect, and would not say that I intend to have a few things to say," he declared in a newspaper interview at the coast.

Farmers Losing

Mr. Walker declares that farmers of Alberta are losing heavily on every bushel of grain that is marketed through Vancouver at Vancouver prices.

"But for some reason or other we have been unable to get Vancouver prices until recently. It was not until the new Bulletin started-up that we got them and found out that it would pay to ship via Vancouver," he said, adding that indications were not lacking that the dearth of space was part of a studied campaign still being waged.

Vancouver, despite all reports to the contrary, is getting a smaller percentage of the crop of 1925 than it did of the crop of 1923, Mr. Walker declares, and he points to figures.

Figures Suggestive

An analysis of these figures, Mr. Walker points out, shows that in 1923-24, Vancouver handled 42 per cent of the wheat handled through [illegible] Eastern ports [illegible]

"And in 1925-26 you people in Vancouver had only one elevator, old No. 1, and this year you have five elevators with enormously increased facilities, both for shipping and storage. Here we have had the biggest crop in the history of Canada and the rates and everything else make it advantageous for farmers in a larger section to ship through Vancouver.

"Are you getting the wheat? I'm here to say that you are not and you're not going to get it until you find that nigger in the woodpile that I was talking about." Mr. Walker said

"It's an amazing state of affairs and the eastern grain trade is going to keep right on laughing at you if you don't get both wires and busy," Mr. Walker concluded. — Edmonton Bulletin.

Trade and War

The League of Nations is about to conduct an exhaustive inquiry into the subject of industry and commerce as they affect war. It is about time such an international probe be undertaken because there is a growing belief among the masses of people in all countries that many of the wars of the past have been deliberately incited by industrial interests or by groups not on congenial, but for blood minimal interests, but be- of selfish trade rivalries and hostilities.

It is to be earnestly hoped that the proposed inquiry will include a study of the effect which protective tariff have not only on trade itself, but upon patriotic aspirations and feelings of the people of one country towards another. That is to say, the effect of the notion of one nation in imposing a high tariff wall against the products of another upon the maintenance of friendly feelings between the two countries. We venture the opinion that if all international trade was free and unrestricted by any man-made artificial barriers, there would be fewer prejudices, suspicions, and jealousies, leading to ill-feeling and in some cases war between nations.

No two national groups in the world are closer together in thought, sentiment and blood than the United States of America and the British Commonwealth of Nations. They have lived in peace with each other for over one hundred years, and where United States and British territory join not a fort exists nor a gun is mounted. Yet over and mean friction arises and in nearly every instance some petty industrial or commercial question is at issue.

For example, at the present time a great howdy-do is being raised in the United States because of the high price of raw rubber, of which about three-quarters of the world's supply is raised within the British Empire. On the other hand, the United States consumes about the same quantity. During the war, prices of crude rubber ranged about fifty cents a pound. Following the war the price dropped to around seventeen cents, which was below profitable production. To remedy this condition a special type of export tax was devised to reduce production. It was so arranged as to discourage production during periods of high prices, the idea being to create a fair and normal situation. The measure went into effect in 1922 and had year the effects began to be felt, rubber rising in price to around $1.00 a pound.

The big United States automobile manufacturers and other large users of rubber are bitterly complaining and charge the British with an unfair hold up policy. Some very severe things are being said against the British authorities and much anti-British feeling is being engendered. The United States Government and Congress are taking official cognizance of the situation. Not only so, but dire threats are being made as to United States action should Canada, in its own national interests, find it necessary to impose an export duty on pulpwood and pulp. All kinds of retaliatory measures are threatened.

The United States constitution prohibits the imposition of export taxes. But the United States has for years maintained the highest protective tariff on imports known to the world, a tariff which amounts in many cases to an actual prohibition of imports. Canada and Great Britain are the chief sufferers from these protective tariffs. They operate to close the United States markets—our natural market—to Canada's cattle and wheat. But while Canadians do not like it, nor consider it very friendly, they are not complaining, but are going about their own business of developing other markets.

During the war, Great Britain borrowed billions of dollars from the United States, but it expended every dollar in the purchase of goods in that country, paying without protest the very high prices demanded in the States. Time the United States became inordinately prosperous and wealthy while Britain was impoverished. And Britain was obliged to do this, not for herself alone but to sustain France and her allies. But Britain did not complain.

The absurdity and inconsistency of the United States position is seen, however, in that, while denouncing the British action in regard to crude rubber, proposals are now before the United States Government and Congress to adopt exactly the same principle in order to raise United States agricultural cost of the doldrums. About 15 per cent. of United States farm products are sold abroad. That is the surplus of production over domestic consumption. To sell the entire crop, prices have to go down to the foreign level, and this level is frequently below the cost of production. Hence the farmers have suffered.

As long as foreign prices remain below United States cost of production, the only way farming there can be made profitable is to sell no products abroad. This means curtailed production for the time being. Just what the British brought about in the case of crude rubber. Unless some similar action is taken to curtail farm production in the United States in the requirements of the home market, the only other way to curtail production is for farming to continue unprofitable. It is proposed, therefore, that the United States should fix prices, but if the Government should do this, without the safeguards of the British plan, and thus make farming profitable, there would be increased, rather than decreased, production, and the problem of the surplus would become worse and worse.

Will Link Empire With Air Service

Former Air Secretary Predicts This Will Come Early

That nations within the British empire would be closely linked by air transportation systems within the near future was the opinion expressed by Lord Thomson, who was secretary of state for air in the British Labor government, in an interview at Toronto. Lord Thomson is a firm believer in aviation particularly

"I feel sure the time is coming when Canada will be linked by air with the Motherland," he said.

Canada should be an advantageous country for the development of commercial aviation, Lord Thomson thought. With such a vast territory he believed that a commercial system here would be a paying proposition. He plans expressed the opinion that Canada could do much in encouragement of a link in the imperial chain.

Lord Thomson is proceeding to England after completing a lecture tour in the United States

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood. It is the thin, pale, watery blood of the same time most dangerous troubles from which growing girls suffer. Nature demands the vitality of fresh, rich blood, and unless she receives it she is overwork and overstudy. It is during these years that the vitality of Nature's approach and because of its tendency to rapid growth the growing girl should occasionally take a tonic to ward off this insidious trouble. It is at such times that medicinal action in rebuilding the blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made a world-wide reputation.

Miss Claire Guilfoyle, Barker Creek, Alta., amply proves the value of this wonderful medicine. She says: "During my school days I suffered a great deal from pale and watery blood. I was constantly weak and tired; my appetite was poor, and my complexion pale. I was also troubled with headaches. To make matters worse I was attacked with La- grippe, especially in the spring, and the doctor said I was anaemic. I was under the care of a mother, learning of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I took me take them and after using them for some time I can say the result was simply wonderful, as they completely restored my health, and gave me a healthy complexion. I always recommend these pills to weak, pale girls suffering as I did."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The more you stir up a plate of soup the cooler it becomes, and you'll find it's the same way with some friends.

High Price Of Rubber

High British Rubber Prices Now Becoming Problem—Restriction

While the British press is maintaining United States criticism of sky-high rubber prices, brought about by the Stevenson plan regulating the export of British plantations, and dispatches from Washington correspondents printed in the London papers, an attempt is being to show that it is merely a trade war inspired by the automobile manufacturers, it is evident British authorities is taking cognizance of the feeling, which is not confined to the United States, but is spreading throughout continental Europe.

British automobile owners are beginning to register protests against higher tire prices, and with the rapidly increasing British automobile industry the problem is becoming domestic.

JESUS AND NICODEMUS

Golden Text: God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him, should not perish, but have eternal life.—John 3:16.

Lesson: John 3:1-17, 14-21, 31-36.

Devotional Reading: John 3:31-36.

Explanations and Comments

Nicodemus Comes to Jesus.—Verses 1, 2. Nicodemus was a Jew with a Greek name. He was a Pharisee, a member of that sect which as a whole opposed Jesus. He was a ruler, probably a member of the Sanhedrin, council of seventy men who formed the Jewish Court of Justice. He appears later as a defender of Jesus (Jn. 7:45-52). After the crucifixion he brought myrrh and aloes for the embalming of Christ's body. It was at night that Nicodemus made his famous visit to Jesus. He was ashamed to be seen visiting Jesus openly. He had a high reputation by being seen visiting the new teacher. He came later that scene even of the Sanhedrin believed in Jesus, but did not dare let it be known lest they be put out of the Synagogue, Jn. 12:42.)

"Rabbi," said Nicodemus, "we know that thou art a teacher come from God; for no one can do these signs that thou doest, except God be with him." Nicodemus was convinced that Jesus was a divinely-commissioned teacher. That Jesus' teaching was divinely authenticated by his miracles, and he came to hear what Jesus had to teach.

Sun Spots May Not Affect Weather

Experts at the Toronto meteorological office doubt very much if the spots on the sun have any effect on the weather. W. E. Jackson, local astronomical expert, said he was looking at the sun and saw two magnificent groups of sun spots. "You could drop the earth into the corner of either one of them," he declared. There were 54 spots in one group alone. He said that it had not been definitely decided what influence, if any, the sun spots had on weather changes.

English Language Spoken By 170,000,000 People And Is Now Becoming Universal

Straws show which way the wind blows, and a recent incident in Vienna is one of many signs indicating that the English tongue is destined to assume eventually the status of a universal language. It appears that last year the teaching of English by radio was started in Vienna, with some success. Possibly as an outcome of this a decree has been issued by the Austrian ministry of education recommending English as a compulsory modern language in the higher school grades, existing in large measure French and Italian.

The English vocabulary is an enormous one. It contains some half million words, and is one of the most heterogeneous of languages ever related. The odds-parents there are to be found the verbal connections of many modern, curiously intermingled dandelion, Hebrew, Russian, Greek, Hindustani, Chinese, Latin, German, Celtic, Slavic, Danish, French, Spanish, Italian. It is said that on the evidence of words alone it would be impossible to classify English with any other of the established families of human speech; yet in the few remains of grammar in English there is irrefragable evidence that it is a branch of the Aryan family.

The causes of the heterogeneity of the language are to be found in the history of the race—in the early invasions of Britain, its extensive commerce, and its growth as a world power, while the vocabulary is enriched by tongue arises largely from the geographical scattering of the dominions of the British Empire, one result of which is that the English tongue is already known in almost every corner of the globe. Another result is approximately 170,000,000 leaving all Europe long behind.

Viewed in this perspective, the action of Vienna appears to be far-sighted, well thought out and wholly in line with the march of events and the probable needs of the future.—Christian Science Monitor.

Saskatchewan Clydesdale

This Western Province is Famed for Leadership in Celebrated Breed of Horses

Saskatchewan is today almost as much the undisputed Clydesdale country on this side of the Atlantic as Scotland is across the ocean. Through a fortunate combination of circumstances the University of Saskatchewan came into possession of some of the finest Clydesdale breeding stock in the entire world at the same time that individual breeders throughout the province were building up fine stock. The exhibits of this province at Toronto and Chicago were not accidental. Regina and Percheron breeders in Saskatchewan have done very well indeed in the national and international shows, but there are no many more Clydes in Saskatchewan than of either of the other outstanding specimens of the great Scottish breed that the leadership attained by the province should be maintained.—Saskatchewan Farmer.

Grading Of Dairy Produce

An Act Regulating Produce Intended For Export to Come into Force

An act to regulate the grading of dairy produce will come into effect on Feb 1, 1926.

The act as originally passed empowers the government to enact regulations:

(a) For the grading of dairy products intended for export;

(b) For the establishment or designation of grading stores;

(c) For the licensing of graders and their duties.

(d) For the operation of any manufacturers of packages of dairy products intended to be graded;

(e) For the establishment of standards, definitions and grades for dairy products;

(f) For the imposition of fees for the grading of dairy produce. At the last session of parliament an amendment to the act was passed known as (g) for refusing to grade dairy products and for withholding graded certificates.

The government considers may prescribe the commercial kinds of dairy products to which the act shall apply and the parts of Canada within which it shall be enforced. Regulations may be presented for an appeal to the Dominion Department of Agriculture from decisions of a dairy produce grader. No violations of regulations to be under the act, a fine of not more than $200 or not less than $50, or imprisonment for not more than three months, may be imposed.

The specific regulations to be made by the government-in-council will, in all probability, be announced as soon as the act referred to above comes into effect

Predicts Larger Wheat Crop

Production Can Be Doubled in Next Ten Years

The time is not far distant, says the Canadian Milling and Grain Journal, when the United States will cease to be a serious factor in foreign markets for wheat and flour. In Canada, on the contrary, for the past decade the production of wheat has doubled. During the next ten years, with improved varieties of seed, cultivation of the northern cultivation Ranks, advancement of the ripening period, backed by increased export facilities in the west, there is no conceivable reason why we should not harvest a crop of 500,000,000 bushels.

Fox Farming In Norway

Becoming a Most Important Industry in Northern Europe

Silver fox farming has become a most important industry in some parts of Norway, according to Johannes Berge, journalist, of Bergen, Norway, who is visiting Canada to record his impressions of the Dominion. At the present time there are between 150 and 160 silver fox farms in the Sondmore district of Norway, which is particularly suitable, being climatically and topographically very similar to Prince Edward Island. Last autumn about 120 silver foxes, estimated to be worth 1,000,000 kroner, were shipped from the island to Norway.

Canada's Paper Industry

Wide Market to Enjoyed for Canadian Book and Writing Paper

While Canadian newspapers has been invading the world's paper markets, the higher grades of Canadian paper have been more slowly securing a foothold. Canadian book and writing papers are now being exported to Mexico, New Zealand, Australia, Japan and other countries in ever-increasing quantities. Sailing agencies are being established, and inquiries made in these outside markets, which bid fair to develop into a very considerable export trade.

Wheat and Flour Exports

Bureau of Statistics Shows That Considerable Improvement in Exports Shows

Considerable improvement in Canada's wheat and flour exports is noted for the month of November last, according to a report of the bureau of statistics. During that period, exports of wheat amounted to 24,878,837 bushels, worth $46,867,753, against 20,982,261 bushels last year, having a value of $41,159,324. November flour exports were 1,310,241 barrels at $7,686,196, as against 906,326 barrels at $6,099,750 a year ago

Population of Greater Vancouver

Greater Vancouver can now claim the position of third greatest metropolis in Canada, according to W K Payne, secretary of the Vancouver board of trade. Greater Vancouver now has a population of 230,000 displacing Greater Winnipeg with a population of 218,000, Mr. Payne said

There are more than 100,000 persons employed in the peat industry of the world.

"War is hell; let's make it so," was the famous dictum of a soldier personally humane; and he was no good at his word. "Leave them nothing but their eyes to weep with." For humanity or huskies, according as you read it, are three times over under modern conditions are not amongst the first causes to go. Air warfare and the new poison gases do not begin with a desire to spare them; nor are they required for weeping. The cruelty of modern conflict means a little past tense and hostile an unnatural existence. Long after, and unaware, come the tears, if they come at all, with that "memory of what has been ans' never-more may be," which has been known to bring grieving to the harvest of hearts.

If you want to abolish the outmoded you must abolish war altogether. The greater includes the less. The cause of war on this country is the most pathetic of human delusions. If you are to have it at all you must have it at the worst, and cannot have it otherwise. The submarine, though it happens to be particularly insane and cruel, is only a natural symptom of the evil nature of the thing and far from being the most virulent. As the Americans, the Canadians, the agents, the brains of the colonials may become more terrible in perversion, what we said armed combat, if it rose at all by ill-fated accident, is a more ridiculous, unsparing, still civilization purchases from a misuse of the powers that might have made possible life, to a new grandeur and happiness and beauty.

The war breaks out you cannot limit its instruments nor mitigate it in any respect by hand or sea or air action as well ask the contagion thereof to be mild or the lightning to be gentle; or the colliery explosion not to be sudden and outside silver; or the blind tetters of a mine to condemn not to tame habitations from the path of the frightful explosion.

Unless we abolish war itself, by no means on earth can we lessen its inherent horrors; or mitigate its horror. Often a dreadful necessity in the sequence of a system of international justice, its object was always large murder, and is now the murder of civilians in the mines, men, women and children together. Its means necessarily include every device for such indiscriminate slaughter, mutilation, torture and destruction. More than ever it is devil led by nature, and none of its weapons is more devilish than another. Heavy artillery and machine guns are fatally not merciful. The men on the ground with your house shattered, or drilled through your vitals with machine gun fire, may be a little worse than being sunk in a liner at sea. War is as bad now as once when cannibalism was the end of it, or when hands and feet were cut off and eyes put out and babies spitted. We can do no more good by trying to stop the brutalities. We must bend our minds and souls without deviation to how it down by the root and extirpate the last thorn. Here I speak from the darkness below.—J. L. Garvin, in The Observer, London

Wheat Crop Estimate

Canada's wheat crop for 1925 is estimated at 399,000,000 bushels, according to the Canadian Pacific Railway's annual review of crop conditions. This is 100,000,000 bushels more than the 1924 crop, and 50,000,000 bushels more than the 1923 crop.

Baree, the wolf-dog, searching frantically for his mistress, Neopeese, finds her dead in the cabin and her father dead in the trap.

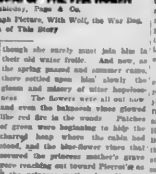
Again, in the heart of a fierce February storm, he pursued a half carcass so closely that it plunged over a cliff and broke its neck. He lived well, and in size and strength he was growing swiftly into a giant of his kind. In another six months he would be as large as Kazan, and his jaws were almost as powerful, even now.

The winter passed and spring came, and still Baree continued to hunt the old trails, even going now and then over the old trapline as far as the first of the two cabins. The traps were rusted and sprung now; the thawing snow disclosed bones and feathers between their jaws; under the deadfalls were remnants of fur, and out on the ice of the lakes were picked skeletons of foxes and wolves that had taken poison baits. The deep snow went. The swollen streams sang in the forests and canyons. The grass turned green, and the first flowers came.

Surely this was the time for Neepeese to come home! He watched for her every morning. He went still more frequently to their swimming pool in the forest, and he hung closely to the broken ends and the dangerous pit. Twice he sprang into the pool and whined as he swam about, as though she surely must join him in their old water frolic. And now, as the spring passed and summer came, there settled upon him slowly the gloom and loneliness and hopelessness of the forsaken. The flowers were all out now, and even the balsamroot vines glowed like red fire in the woods. Patches of green were beginning to hide the charred heap where the cabin had stood, and the blue-flower vines that covered the Indiawoman's grave were reaching out toward Pierson's as if the princess mother herself were the spirit of them.



"Again, in the heart of a fierce February storm he pursued a half carcass so closely that it plunged over a cliff and broke its neck."

All these things were happening, and the birds had mated and nested, and still Neepeese did not come! And at last something broke inside Baree, his last hope, perhaps, his last dream; and one day he bade good-bye to the Gray Loon.

CHAPTER XXIV.

It was early in August when Baree left the Gray Loon. He had no objective in view. But there was still left upon his mind, like the delicate impression of light and shadow on a negative, the memories of his earlier days. Things and happenings that he had almost forgotten recurred to him now, as he trail led him farther and farther away from the Gray Loon; and his earlier experiences became real again, pictures thrown out afresh in his mind by the breaking of the last ties that held him to the home of the Wilderness. Involuntarily he followed the trail of these impressions—of these past happenings, and slowly they helped to build up new interests for him. A year in his life was a long time—a decade of man's experience. It was more than a year ago that he had left Kazan and Gray Wolf and the old windfall, and put now there came back to him instinctive memories of those days of his earliest puppyhood, of the stream into which he had fallen, and of his fierce battle with Pappyshanse. It was his later experiences that roused the older memories. He came to the lifted canyon up which Neepeese and Pierson had chased him. That seemed but yesterday.

And now, for the first time in many weeks, a bit of the old-time eagerness got speed into Baree's feet. Memories that had been hazy and indistinct through forgetfulness were becoming realities again, and he could have pointed to the Gray Loon and Neepeese basin there by now, with some thing of the feeling of a wanderer going home, he returned to the old burnt-up cabin.

It was that most glorious hour of a summer's day—sunset—when he reached it. He stopped a hundred yards away, with pond still hidden from his sight, and sniffed the air, and listened. The pond was there beyond the rank growth of willow, but I'ukok, and Beaver-tooth, and all the others? Would he find them? He strained his ears to catch a familiar sound, and after a moment or two it came a hollow splash in the water. He went quietly through the alders and stood a little at last close to the edge where he had first made the acquaintance of Pukok. The surface of the pond was undisturbed, though two or three heads popped up; he saw the torpedo-like wake of an old beaver towing a stick from the opposite shore—but instead of Pukok and Beaver-tooth, and it was as he had left it almost a year ago. And always he was expecting—something for the thing that had gone out of his life.

Little Helps For This Week

O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out—Rom xi. 33.

Slept then, I know not how or where,
He kept I was, what'er I bore;
When of all else we must despair,
Then Thou and I His hand no longer know.
He lends us forth into a pleasant place.

—Paul Gerhardt.

We never know through what divine mysteries of compensation the great Father of sorrows relieves the pain resulting out His sublime plans; but those three words, "God is love," ought to suffice, to every grieving heart, the solution of all things.

Believes All Life Originated in Asia

R. C. Andrews Says People Reached to American Indians

Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who is returning with the American Museum of Natural History third expedition into the depths of Mongolia and the Gobi Desert, declared: "We received confirmation on our second expedition for the first time of our theory that all life originated and thrived on the Asiatic plateau, now the Gobi Desert. We found traces of human beings who were there 5,000 years ago. These people migrated to other parts of the world, but the cradle of life is there. I believe these people were related to the American Indians. I am convinced that a land bridge once connected Asia and North America, and that a great sea extended, in paleozoic times, through the entire central Australasian, from the Caspian Sea to the Pacific Ocean."

She—You need to say that you were intoxicated with my beauty.

He—Well, I'm a reformed drunkard.

All through the month of August Baree made the beaver pond his head quarters. At times his excursions kept him away for two or three days at a time. These journeys were always into the north, sometimes a little to the east and sometimes a little west but never again into the south. And at last, early in September he left the beaver pond for good.

For many days his wanderings carried him in no particular direction. He followed the hunting trails of rabbits and mink, and the straggling windfall ridges of partridge, and the "feed beds." This was a time when variety in eating was one of the happiest of seeds to him. Wild currants and raspberries were ripening and there was food of other kinds also. Like the little beasts of the mountain he ate bluet and the tender soft balsam and spruce pitch which he licked with his tongue; now and then he found delicacies for him in the low water he occasionally caught a fish; now and then he hazarded a combat battle with a porcupine and if he was successful he feasted on the tenderest and most luscious of all the flesh that made up his menu. Twice in September he killed young moose. The big "berns" that he ate satisfied him to no longer hunger for the taste—in the midst of plenty he forgot the days in which he had gone hungry. In October he wandered so far to the east of the Gobbie River, and then northward to Wollaston Lake. While was a good hundred miles north of the Gray Loon. The first week in October he turned, south again, following the Clearwater for a distance and then, striking westward almost a week, he called the Little Black Bear With No Tail. More than once during this journey Baree came into touch with a man, but, with the exception of the Cree hunter at the upper end of Wollaston Lake, no man had been for Three times he followed the Gobbie-he-lay crouched in the bush while canoes passed; half a dozen times, in the stillness of night, he crossed about cabins and tepees in which there was life, and once he came so near to the Hudson's Bay Company post at Wollaston that he could hear the barking of dogs and the shouting of their masters. And always he was expecting—something for the thing that had gone out of his life.

HOCKEY

The Fort hockey team went to Bredenbury Thursday, January 7, and won their fourth game. The ice was soft and the going hard and considering the boys only had six players they played splendid. The game was evenly fought from start to finish but everybody came out whole. Weibe handled the ball and the boys say it looked like his first attempt. The score was 6-0, and the scoring was done by Egeran 1; von Ilfand 1, Walter 2.

Line-up: goal, R. Karren; defense, F. Karren, G. Stuckey; forwards, R. Pocock, von Ilfand, Walker.

The fastest game of the season was played on the home ice on Tuesday, January 17, the local boys coming out on the short end of a 6-4 score against the Edmonton Northern Hockey team. From the time referee L. Diamond dropped the disc between the bleachers it was a hectic battle until the play ended. Both teams were in good condition, Edmonton showing superiority in combination and team play. Roy Stuckey opened the scoring for the Fort in the first period, Pete Karren and Walker completing the scoring in the second and third frames, the latter named getting two. The boys intend making up for their loss when the Edmonton club returns here for a second game.

Here and There

William Valgardson, a farmer at Tabor, Alberta, is glad he went into sugar beet raising. He secured a $564 return from three and one-half acres of land.

Winter sport activities at old Quebec are in full swing. This is considered the most brilliant season of entertainment for years past. Hundreds of sport enthusiasts and tourists from the New England states, Canada, and other parts of the continent are turning up in force at the Ancient Capital.

Miss Isabel Cormier, only nineteen years of age, is the world's woman champion ski jumper. She turned a world record at Revelstoke, B.C. at the age of sixteen in 1923. This winter, taking part in the winter sports at Quebec, Miss Cormier made a jump of 32 feet in the International-Intercollegiate Ski meet.

A report from Smiths Falls, Ontario, is to the effect that a train was stopped in order to avoid a collision with an automobile making for the tracks over a crossing. The car was entirely destroyed when the automobile struck one of the cars. The occupants of the automobile escaped uninjured.

Tourists on the Canadian Pacific line of steamships Scotland visited the famous King Solomon quarries, beneath the walls of Jerusalem, on Christmas day. Many of them, according to a cable received by C.P.R. head offices, bought gavels, made from the stone of the quarries, with olive wood handles.

According to information at the headquarters of the Canadian Pacific Railway, holiday passenger traffic this year from points west was the busiest since the end of the past few weeks and represented a fifty percent increase over the amount handled over Canadian Pacific Railway lines last year. Special arrangements made to take care of the Christmas and New Year rush worked efficiently.

Canadian Pacific Railway earnings for the month of November were $19,294,184.37, an increase of $1,182,238.12 over the same period for 1924. Net profits for November show an increase of $710,186.80 over the month of November of 1924. Net profits for the eleven months ending November were $35,327,963.53, an increase of $7,826,943.32 over the corresponding period for 1924.

According to Johannes Borge, journalist, of Bergen, Norway, who is visiting the Dominion to record his impressions of Canada, silver for farming has become a very important industry in parts of Norway. There are now about 150 silver fox farms in the Sondmere district of Norway. Last autumn, about 120 silver foxes, estimated to be worth 1,000,000 kroner, were shipped from the island of Norway.

Traffic on the Great Lakes this season compares well with that of last year so far as Canadian Pacific earnings are concerned. M. McD. Duff, manager of the Great Lakes Steamship Services explained recently that while grain tonnage fell below that of the 1924 season, passenger traffic and package freight business was considerably better, making the total well up to the average.

A party of Mennonites, bound for western Canada, mostly ex Manitoba, arrived in Montreal recently with the report that those of their sect who had gone to Rosario, Mexico, were far from satisfied and intended going north. It is understood that 1,000 Mennonites have emigrated to Canada within the last two months and that another 2,000 more would be coming in the spring. Hans Seidler, in charge of the party, said not one of them thought of going to Mexico.

Weddings

BORTON—THORNE

The marriage of Miss Katherine Thorne and Gladstone Ure Borton of Fort Saskatchewan was quietly solemnized at Rundle United parsonage on Monday, January 4. The Rev. A. B. Aldridge tied the nuptial knot. The bride wore a gown of blue crepe de chine beautifully beaded and a hand embroidered scarf to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Lillian Izad was the bridesmaid, and Chester A. Thorne, the bride's brother, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a tempting wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. Campbell, residing at 11926 - 85 St., after which greetings were conveyed to the bride in a toast drunk with great enthusiasm, and replied to by the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Borton after their honeymoon will make their home on their farm at Sunnyside, north and west of Fort Saskatchewan.

GOLDEN—BURNETT

A very pretty wedding of much interest took place at Wm. Burnett's of Good Hope on Wednesday, January 4, when Miss Adaline Burnett became the bride of Mr. Leroy Golden, of Moncton. Rev. M. L. Wright performed the ceremony. The bride entered the room on the arm of her father to the strains of the march of Bonheur. Her gown was white satin de chene and Indian lace, and bridesmaid was Miss Helen Pomeroy, who wore a gown of peach canton crepe. The groom was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Lloyd Burnett. The gift to the bride was a string of pearls; to bridesmaid, a ring. The gift from the bride to the groom was a silk neck tie, and the groomsman received a pair of arm bands. During the signing of the register Norrie Wright played "Echo of the Chase." A dainty buffet lunch was served. Mr. Wright acted as master.

The happy couple left for Edmonton where they will spend a short honeymoon.

BLACK—BLACK

At the United church manse on New Year's Day, 1926, Mr. Frederick Black and Mrs. Elizabeth Black, both of Fort Saskatchewan district, were united in marriage by the Rev. C. E. A. Pocock. The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. G. A. McEachern, and as Mr. and Mrs. Black are well known they enjoy the good wishes of many friends.

There has been no curling done for a week in consequence of the mild weather. Local curlers are chafing at the inaction but the weather appears to more than please those who are not interested in the game but who otherwise are of normal intellect.

Eighty-seven black foxes, valued at about $100,000, shipped in 44 crates, arrived at Montreal last week from Buffalo. Twenty-five of the animals were prize-winners at the Black Fox Exhibition which concluded last week, and were on consignment to the Seventeen Mountain Fox Ranch at Onawa, Maine.

The Far East has heard about Canadian apples. The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia carried 8,000 boxes of apples when clearing out of Vancouver last week. General trade conditions between Canada and the Far East are quite healthy, and what was also on board the vessel 800 tons of Canadian flour, 100 automobiles and 100 tons of Alberta coal.

With each succeeding year Great Britain is relying more upon British colonies for agricultural supplies. In the seven months of 1925 ending July, Canada supplied Great Britain with 4,274,066 pounds of butter, compared with 154,324 pounds for the same period of 1924, and 60,458,544 pounds of cheese, compared to 20,153,504 pounds for the same period of last year.

Two bears, six coyotes and fifteen chipmunks were shipped to England on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare last week from the Toronto Zoo to the London Zoo. In exchange, Dr. Chester of those gardens has been asked to supply Toronto with Cavopsis, Bosa, Magellan and bareheaded geese; shell ducks; a female Comb Duck; two Rheas (ostriches); four Jays; two young leopards; and a Barbary Sheep. A stiff order.

Six champion juvenile swine breeders, winners in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have been awarded medals and trophies by the Canadian Pacific Railway and are now the guests of the latter at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto. The young people, who competed in clubs on Canadian Pacific lines in the West over Vera Fabian and Oscar Cudlagson, Alberta; Lorne Joynt and Fred Argue, Rosetown, Saskatchewan; Manda Lawrence and Grace Rowe Lenton, Manitoba.

Why He Succeeded

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated in 1872, was the course which Dr. R. V. Pierce took.

In his youngest days he practiced medicine over a large district. It was then the new oil fields near Titusville, Pa. Finally he determined to put up some of the prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families.

He thus early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, herbs and barks and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During the last sixty years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus, an alterative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 50c for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Did you ever think of advertising as multiplying yourself as many times as you have created a thought by this means in other persons? You can speak to comparatively few individuals, but you can talk to hundreds of people through the medium of advertising. The advertising letter has been talking to numbers of people all through the year. He doesn't know how far the building or repair work ideas have spread nor does he know all the people in whose minds they have lodged. Some may be living twenty miles from his office or store and, perhaps, so strongly has he impressed them with his service ideas, they will write him or drive in to investigate what he has to offer

FRANK WALKER CONTINUES TO TELL THEM TO PREPARE

F. A. Walker is a missionary of the gospel of good times. Preaching and exhorting the coast business people to reach out and grasp the opportunities which will benefit them. Prairie farmers anxious to co-operate with them. Wants preparations made at coast for the reception of huge influx of grain.

The following is clipped from the Victoria Daily Times:

A masterly exposition of the problems involved in development of the Western grain movement was today given the Chamber of Commerce by F. A. Walker of Edmonton, former member of the Alberta Legislature. The luncheon was attended by Premier Hon. John Oliver, Vice-president J. A. Allan of the Pacific Grain Terminals Limited, George Mauer W. Macmaster, several aldermen and the city assessor, Lieutenant-Colonel Andrew Pearkes, M.P., and a number of other guests.

Mr Walker spoke of the grain trade from the viewpoint of the farmer, pointing out that forty years ago less than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat were produced west of the Great Lakes; production now being four hundred times as large. The great rail systems and terminal elevators at the Great Lakes with $65,000,000 invested, are the outcome of the grain production of the prairies.

Mr. Walker outlined briefly the legislative changes enacted to aid the farmers secure lower marketing and transportation charges. He touched upon the Crow's rates, and declared that the prairie provinces are a unit in upholding this agreement as the only means of compelling the railways to grant low rates.

Economies Only

The western grain route was described by Mr. Walker pointing out that the passage took no risks from a purely economic point of view. He declared that in 1925, Vancouver terminal elevator handled 58,000,000 bushels. This was not attained this year, and the present marketing season will show another decrease. The pointer reported this condition, in view of the great increase in Pacific terminal elevator facilities. The reason for this decrease, Mr. Walker considered, was to be found in the interlocking of

TOO MUCH MIND OF HIS OWN

By Dr. C. M. Hincks.

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, and issued through the co-operation of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross.

The posting, sulky, obstinate child who harbours grudges and bears malice is seriously handicapped. Those qualities should be studied and corrected, for if they are allowed to grow they develop hatred and suspicion—always leading to unhappiness.

Sometimes the simplest way to manage an obstinate child is to face him with his own problem. A woman, remarkable for her intelligence and poise, told me that when six years of age she overheard her parents seriously discuss her future. She had indulged in a fit of obstinacy that day and nothing could shake her out of her sulky silence. They were worried for they foresaw a long life of disaster if she retained the undesirable habit.

She listened, saw the point, and, she, herself, began to control the unfortunate tendency. The unusual part of the incident is that she was very, very young. We too often minimize the intelligence of children, failing to see they listen to reasonable arguments, even when a few years old. Certainly, it is wise to compel the older child to face for himself squarely and honestly the problem of ob-

The supper was well patronized and the ladies maintained their established reputation of providing abundance of delicious "eats," and the long tables filled with people enjoying what was provided, while spending an hour in social intercourse, made a pleasing scene. At the close of the meal the congregation assembled in the auditorium and proceeded with the business meeting. The minister, Rev. C. E. A. Pocock, conducted devotional exercises and constituted the meeting, and was then appointed chairman. Mr. J. E. Adamson was elected secretary and recorded the business of the meeting. The various organizations of the congregation had their reports splendidly prepared and presented them in fine form when called for, making it possible to carry on the

U. S. Farmers In Trouble

Political issues in all countries usually arise from some-body's trouble. The manufacturer imitches and competes a policy of protection because he finds himself in trouble as the result of foreign competition; the farmer demands free tariffs, with a strong professions for all the freedom in trade, because he is in trouble as a result of having to sell a product cheaply in an open world market, but obliged to buy at high prices in a protected and restricted home market. Other issues are the outcome of racial, religious or class troubles.

At the present time, as noted in a recent article, the rubber users of the world, and particularly of the United States, are making an issue of the regulations governing the production of crude rubber in the British possessions, and seeking, because the prevailing high prices are said to be choking them trouble. But the rubber issue is being into insignificance in the United States Congress in the face of the campaign being waged by the farmers across the line and which threatens to drag the tariff, and possibly other issues, into the limelight.

United States farmers are in serious trouble. They have for many years been producing larger crops than are required for home consumption, and while the size of the surplus is diminishing with the growth of U.S. population, the farmer is no men in reality dependent upon foreign buyers to sell their surplus in foreign markets, and at prices fixed by the competition of foreign markets. The result is that the farmer is now demanding free commercial privileges, and, as the foreign price is frequently below the cost of U.S. production, the farmer is in trouble, and especially so as the high prices the tariff maintained by the United States compel him to pay high prices for all that he has to buy.

Western Canadian farmers must well realize the situation. They have been confronted with exactly the same problem. They have advocated, and still advocate, lower tariffs, so as to bring down the cost of everything they have also learned to appreciate the fact that there is a point below which production costs cannot be brought in this country if a decent standard of living is to be maintained. They therefore, in recent years, have given their attention more and more to finding a solution in transportation and marketing problems with a view to obtaining a higher return from their surplus crops and to be forced to accept any price that might be offered in the open world market as a result of the dumping of enormous quantities of grain on the market in one hurried rush.

Farmers in Canada to-day have become created and successfully developed huge co-operative undertakings by the farmers themselves, such as the United Grain Growers, the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevators, the Alberta Pool, and various other co-operative and co-operative marketing associations of various kinds. The position now is that Canada's farmers, as a class, have been vastly improved as a result of their own co-operative enterprises, many aided by legislation, in part from the outside, but, where necessary, with the encouragement and assistance in the form of guarantees or loans.

The United States farmers has not shown the same self-reliance and initiative and to-day they are demanding that the United States Government shall establish a policy of "price fixing" of his surplus products and shall export the low to get rid of the farm surplus. They argue that prices are low because all the farm production is sold in the surplus is sold at European prices. It may be a hardship to put up to manufacturers and consumers in the domestic market, and take a loss, if necessary, on the surplus sold abroad. To this the U.S. Government answer. If the farmers push on their product, they will produce more; the surplus will grow larger until the loss on the surplus will eat up the domestic profit.

Then there is the proposal that the tariff be reduced by arbitrary amounts by law of Congress when and as prices in proportion as it may be safe. To this proposal the U.S. Government and industry in general object vigorously. They do not want the price level cut down.

The other alternative urged in some quarters is to go about direct restriction of farm production—to get rid of the problem of surplus by cutting rid of the surplus. In other words, and as previously noted in this column, to adopt the same policy in regard to U.S. farm products as has been adopted in certain British possessions in regard to crude rubber production.

It is, however, interesting to Western Canadian farmers to note that Robert Bingham, chairman of the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative Associations, has emphatically declared that only by co-operative marketing, and not in tariff juggling or federal handling of crop surpluses, lies the solution of the farmers' problems. In making this declaration Mr. Bingham contrasted the courage and vision of Canadian farmers in organizing their own co-operative enterprises and solving their own problems out of their own strength and courage, with the attitude of U.S. farmers "who have before their own pitched remedy lacking it aside and running to Washington to ask the Great Father to guide their little feet in the path of prosperity." He urged them to emulate the example of Canadian farmers, give co-operation a trial on a large scale, not to be peanut-minded and unbusinesslike, and to be willing for them what they could do themselves, but to remain independent, responsible American farmers.

The unique course lying over the most rugged scenery in North America will cover 178 miles.

THE DUTY OF A WOMAN

Is to Tell Her Ailing Sisters How New Health Can be Obtained

"The duty of one woman to another is to be helpful. And the worst suffering is worse than no advice at all."

That, says Mrs. Florence Gilder, 311 Royal Apts., Norrich Street, Ilian Hotel, Ont., is why I feel it my duty to give women a little information concerning "Milburn's" Pink Pills for Pale People. In the first place I may say that I am a graduate nurse and have had a number of years experience in hospital and other cases of women.

"I met with ill health for the last three years I have not been feeling as I should and have not been able to take care of my physician.

"I would not improve, until I took a change of treatment. I was very much worse than I was tired out easily, pal-pitation of the heart, and getting up-stairs I had a rapid heart action and short breath. If I attempted to do any work I became hot and clammy. Then I would get a dead feeling in my eyes, and I had sharp pains in my head. I did not sleep well at night and would turn around in bed. I had a terrible dizzie and poor. I tried a number of doctors' medicines, but found they were no good results. I began to feel dis-couraged when I heard of what they would say, "My, you look terrible." I felt that I was losing my spirits. My husband came home one evening and told me he usually did, how I was feel-ing and if I was not better to try Milburn's Pink Pills. He had heard me say a few of my friends had taken them and they were helped by them. I then decided to get a box of Milburn's Pink Pills. I did not sleep well at night and would turn around in bed. I had a terrible dizzie and poor. I tried a number of doctors' medicines, but found they were no good results. I began to feel dis-couraged when I heard of what they would say, "My, you look terrible." I felt that I was losing my spirits. My husband came home one evening and told me he usually did, how I was feel-ing and if I was not better to try Milburn's Pink Pills. He had heard me say a few of my friends had taken them and they were helped by them. I then decided to get a box of Milburn's Pink Pills. After using them I felt like a different person. I could sleep well at night. People I met would say, "Why, you look quite well." What have you been taking?" My reply would be "I had been taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and their action was really wonderful." They certainly have helped me. I now sleep well and eat well. The terrible sharp pain has left me. I do my own work and feel well. My husband has returned, and the bills have given me a healthy look. I am delighted that my husband brought me the first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am glad to tell others what these pills did for me, and you have full permission to use my name as a reference. I hope that my experience may help some of them."

If you still need your name and address to "Pink Pills," Brockville, Ont., a little book, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed you post paid. This book tells about the causes many useful health hints. You can get these pills from any druggist or any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS AND THE SAMARITAN WOMAN

Golden Text: Whit. Ivy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation. Isaiah 12:3.

Lesson: John 4:1-42.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55:1-11.

Explanations and Comments

The Meeting of Jesus and the Woman of Samaria, verses 5-9. Jesus could not receive from God's Son Jesus was on His way to His own country of Galilee from the south through Samaria. On nearing the city, being wearied, He sat down to rest on the curb of Jacob's well. While His disciples went on to the village to buy food. A woman of Samaria came to draw water. She was a very frequent type of person, who had drifted into a hopeless and unheeded way of living. She was like a waterlogged ship, not a total wreck, but incapable of movement, and needing both to be towed and to be steered into harbor." Jesus asked her for a drink. In surprise, she exclaimed, "How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, who am a Samaritan woman?" for Jews have no dealings with Samaritans, for religious explains. At this time Christ it was permissible to trade with Samaritans (verse 8), or the disciples ignored the law against it, but no Jew would ask a favor of a Samaritan. See Light from Oriental Life.

The Brahman may give water to the Parish and still retain his Brahmin pride and prejudice, he has transcended it only when he asks water from a Parish. Racial pride and religious prejudice may be ignored when we minister to the needy or the heroic; they are transcended only when we ask the alien or the heretic to minister to us (verses 9-15).

Garnet Wheat Has Created Keen Interest With Farmers Throughout Western Canada

The satisfactory results of tests to which Garnet wheat has been subjected has aroused keen interest throughout Western Canada. Garnet Ottawa 653, is the latest variety of wheat developed at the central experimental farm at Ottawa.

According to reports, prairie farmers, anxious to try out the new wheat, are flooding the government experimental stations serving their respective districts with applications for test seed. Although preliminary milling and baking tests have been made, more thorough tests will be conducted before the seed is released for general distribution. A limited quantity of seed has been sent to a number of the experimental stations, which, however, has failedto meet the demand.

Giving details of the development of Garnet wheat, G. E. De Long, B.S.A., assistant cerealist in charge of the Dominion experimental farm, Lacombe, Alta., states that the new wheat has been grown at the Alberta station since 1918. During that period, he says, it required an average of 113 days to mature, while the average for Marquis is now 123 days. In further comparing these two varieties, Marquis gave an average yield of 44 bushels to the acre, Garnet 45 bushels 17 pounds an acre, for Garnet Ottawa 653.

Continuing, Mr. De Long says: "Garnet Ottawa is somewhat similar to Baby Ottawa 653, in length and strength of straw. Garnet straw also shows a tendency to develop the ruby coloration, distinctive of Ruby. The shape of its head gives the standing appearance of being a very heavy yielder.

"Garnet appears to be about mid way between Ruby and Marquis in tendency to shatter if allowed to become too mature before harvesting.

"The experimental station at Lacombe has never had Garnet Ottawa 653 subjected to frost. Therefore, no definite information is available concerning the frost resistance of this variety. It is expected that it will be somewhat more resistant to frost than Marquis, but not as resistant as Ruby. The reason no definite information is available concerning the frost resistance of this variety as compared with the others."

In the opinion of Mr. De Long, Garnet Ottawa has a place in Alberta and Saskatchewan and other districts where Marquis is subject to injury from early fall frosts. Where Marquis matures, the harvest one week in districts where Marquis is not menaced by rust or early frost would justify growing Garnet in preference to Marquis, has not been demonstrated.

"Those farming in such districts should begin to find that Marquis is accepted as the standard milling wheat throughout Canada and the United States," Mr. De Long states. "They should also remember that Garnet is a new variety and has yet to prove its worth under varying conditions to the same extent Marquis has.

"There is little doubt Garnet Ottawa 653 will replace Baby Ottawa 653. The latter's wheats mature in approximately the same time, but Garnet will out-yield Ruby by several bushels per acre, and does not shatter to the same extent."

Rural Credits Act Has Cost Manitoba $250,000, Says Bracken

Since enactment of the provincial Rural Credits Act, Manitoba has suffered a loss of more than $250,000, according to a report submitted to Premier J. Bracken.

The report, which was prepared by John Wyllie, superintendent of rural credits in the province, indicates that the outstanding principal and interest owing the province by the 74 rural credit societies was reduced during the eight months fiscal year by about $500,000.

The balance outstanding was shown at $1,336,853, with an additional interest unpaid at $178,874.

May Admit Some Cattle From Britain

Department of Agriculture Considering Modification of Embargo

The department of agriculture is considering slight modifications to the embargo against breeding cattle from Scotland.

The embargo has been in effect for two years against all cattle from British lands, because of the prevalence of foot and mouth disease, which, at the present time, is affecting cattle in three-fourths of England, according to officials here.

Scotland and England are regarded as one unit so far as agricultural regulations are concerned. Although cattle in Britain cannot be moved from an infected area to a free area, the demand of agriculture has taken all precautions by refusing to admit any cattle from Britain. Some changes are being contemplated at the present time, but no definite steps have been taken to allow any cattle from the Old Country.

Many Inquiring About Canada

Quebec of Intending Settlers From Daily on Yesterday Grows

The success of the reduction of emigration rates to Canada is already assuming large proportions daily in Trafalgar Square, at the Canada Building, composed of men anxious to emigrate to the Dominion, and their inquiries have surpassed all expectations.

Three young farmers walked the whole distance from Scotland to London to apply for immediate sailings, while the number of women applying for permission to sail under the new rates has been almost legion.

Applicants are of all classes: Teachers, clerksmen, clerks and typists, nurses, and all are recognizing that domestic work will be their first step in the new régime in Canada.

The Hon. Vincent Massey has given the fullest publicity to the Alberta scheme under which 30,000 acres of land in the Peace River district are to be born in to be not solds for emigrants. Most of these are expected to be French Canadians.

Mennonites Buy Land In Saskatchewan

Will Start Under Nearly Same Conditions As Mennonites

Fifty-five families, totalling 8,500 acres of land North of Speers, Sask., in the Battleford district, have been purchased by Mennonite settlers from the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The purchase marks a new departure in the efforts of the Mennonites, who have been seeking a permanent home since the close of the war, to establish here.

The immediate number of large farms, under cultivation, have already been purchased by the Mennonites, and have been operated during the last two crop seasons with great success.

The Mennonites, numbering many families, will enter upon their farming interests in Canada under practically the same conditions as those attendant upon the early years of the first homesteaders. The purchasers will move onto the land on or before June 1, 1926.

Woollen Mill For Manitoba

Stated That British and American Capital Is Behind Project

Assurance that a woollen mill owned by United States and English interests will be erected in Winnipeg, was given at a meeting of the trade industries committee, Manitoba industrial development board, when announcement was made that a tentative site had been selected. Sheds, cups, coal linings, robes and practically all woollen articles will be manufactured.

Whaling Industry in B.C.

Some 15,000 barrels of oil were put up by the Consolidated Whaling Company, of Victoria, as a result of operations of four whalers from May to October last year. The oil will be used for the manufacture of toilet soaps, tanning, tempering steel, fruit tree other sprays, while blood and bone meal are also used for the culture of flowers and fruits.

Saskatchewan Butter Production

Total Value of Dairy Products For Province in 1925 Was $10,940,000

Creamery butter production in Saskatchewan during 1925 showed an increase of more than 2,200,000 pounds as compared with the production in 1924, while dairy products showed an increased value of more than $1,500,000 as a comparison with 1924.

Reports received at the dairy branch of the provincial department of agriculture show the total value of dairy products in the province during 1925 was $10,940,000.

During the year 13,850,000 pounds of creamery butter were manufactured in Saskatchewan compared with 13,648,-962 in 1924, an increase of 2,256,962 pounds. The total 1925 output is more than double the production of 1921.

"The increased production in skim-milk and principally in an increased interest in dairying, coupled with the use of better cows and improved feeding methods are concerned. Although the province is not a member of the United States P. C. Eldod, provincial dairy commissioner.

Cheese making also, while still a very small branch of the dairy industry, has taken a decided step forward during the year, and has become an important factor. During 1925 the output of cheese was 732,127 pounds as compared with 185,000 pounds during 1924, and the value of cheese also has increased by $17,156.

"Favorable conditions for the commercial production of cheese during the summer season caused a net increase of approximately 68,000 gallons in the quantity of cream sold over that of 1924.

"One feature during the past season has been the increase in butter exported from Saskatchewan to the Maritime provinces and Great Britain. More than 10,500,000 pounds of creamery butter has been graded for export from Saskatchewan to Canada during the year, according to the dairy regulations. This represents a quantity more than double that graded under similar conditions a year ago. The British market, where it enjoyed a strong demand throughout the season, is dependable quality in each grade.

Feed For Livestock

By-Products of Raymond Sugar Factory to be Put to Use

By-products of the Raymond beet sugar factory at Raymond, Alberta, will make that district the great feeding ground of Canada. It is claimed. These by-products include pulp and molasses which with alfalfa and grain will form the ideal feed combination for cattle, it is stated. Negotiations are now in progress between the sugar company and a big packing concern for the experimental feeding of a large bunch of steers near the factory. The total tonnage of beets sliced at the Raymond factory this fall was about 45,000 tons, which will be increased materially next year. There will be about 2,000 tons of pulp and a large quantity of pulp available this winter for stockmen.

Soldier Settlers Doing Well

Prosperous Conditions in Farming Communities in Alberta

A commendable indication of the prosperous conditions of many of the farmers in Alberta is given by the fact, stated by the fact that at the land settlement board at Calgary, payments from soldier settlers have been made at the rate of from four thousand to five thousand dollars a day. This is regarded as quite encouraging, and when that the men are generally doing well. One man came in and paid up his indebtedness in full, turning in to the board the sum of $2,600.

Beaver Had a Crop Failure

Herman Johnson, an old-timer of Alberta, has farmed for more than twenty years in the Chinchaga district, according to the Spruce he has kept, has averaged a wheat crop of twenty-eight bushels to the acre during that entire period. He has also been successful in raising oats, though he has suffered similar to other farmers from natural causes.

Interest to Western Canadian Farms

There is further evidence of a revamping of interest in Western Canadian farm lands on the part of United States citizens. The Edmonton board of trade has received four hundred inquiries in response to its advertising at Central and Northern Alberta.

Western Wheat Straw May Soon Be Used For The Manufacture Of Paper

That the straw annually burned on the western prairies in the course of millions of tons will soon become of the utmost value as the raw product from which paper is manufactured seems now almost an accomplished fact.

For several months experiments have been conducted both on behalf of private individuals and also on behalf of provincial governments to ascertain the practicability of making paper from straw. It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that almost every kind of paper can be manufactured from straw, and negotiations are under way both in the provinces of Alberta and in Manitoba looking to the establishment of mills.

More than one process has been evolved, said to be satisfactory, and experiments dealing with straw actually rushed on the prairie have been successfully carried out. The process, which has been the subject of investigation by the Alberta government, is known as the Sachs-Wiig process

It is a recent bulletin issued by the Alberta Government it is stated investigations were made into all known experimental processes for the manufacture of paper from straw, and finally about two years ago the government made arrangements for the laboratory tests of the Sachs-Wiig process in the pulp and paper division of the forest products laboratories, Montreal, under the direction of Mr. E. Parke Cameron, superintendent of the division, and John Inche-Wiig, who was co-inventor with his father in the process.

The government has studied carefully the results of these tests, and the bulletin commissioner has given considerable time in the laboratory getting information at first hand.

Carl Inche-Wiig, senior, was connected with the first mill erected and operated in Norway, built by his father. He owned the second ground wood mill constructed in Norway and was long identified as an expert with the Canadian International pulp and paper mills of the United States and Canada. In that field engaged in an expert capacity to increase the efficiency of the grinding of logs into pulp, and power mill to increase, both by his father. He owned the second ground wood mill constructed in Norway and was long identified as an expert with the Canadian International pulp and paper mills of the United States and Canada. In that field engaged in an expert capacity to increase the efficiency of the grinding of logs into pulp, and power mill to increase, both by his father.

In 1900 Mr. Sachs-Wiig recommended his experiments with straw pulp in his laboratory in the United States. He recommended experiments until he had found that by his process he could very materially increase the cellulose yield from wheat and other straw.

"Muller's" analysis of straw gives the cellulose as 45 per cent.; "Heyer" gives the cellulose content of wheat straw as 51 per cent., while a German analyst gives the cellulose in straw as 43.11 per cent., but Mr. Sachs-Wig obtained a high as 70 per cent. of unbleached fibre from wheat straw, but found that the commercial yields were the following results:

Wheat straw, 60 to 65 per cent. commercial cellulose.

Corn stalks, 60 to 65 per cent. commercial cellulose.

Flax straw, 55 to 58 per cent. commercial cellulose.

Under the Sachs-Wiig process does not involve any radical departure from standard sulphite practice, which gives it the advantage of being able to utilize present-day standard wood pulp equipment in the manufacture of straw pulp. At the same time it requires very little less power than is necessary in the preparation of wood pulp for the reason that the sorting, shipping and grinding processes are eliminated.

Every variety of paper is capable of manufacture from straw pulp, and experiments have already demonstrated that the quality is fully equal to that produced from wood pulp. In addition to newsprint special attention was paid to the manufacture of wrapping paper, sheathing paper, ham and bottle wrappers and carton boards, for all of which there is a ready market in Western Canada. There was developed also under the process an insulating board having a distinct advantage over anything at present on the market in that it is surfaced and can be used as a wall board; it is also both water and fire proofed. This material has met with the enthusiastic approval of architects and builders who have had the opportunity of using it.

Sweet Clover Benefits Land

Crop Every Five Years Followed By Summer-fallow is Best Plan

The sweet clover benefits the land in at least three ways. First, it adds root fibre to the soil as the root system is quite large and decays rapidly after the land is plowed. Next, it renders the soil more permeable to moisture, the decaying roots are of a spongy nature and, as they extend down at least two feet, there is a tendency to permit the soil to absorb water more rapidly than it would otherwise do. I think that this feature of soil improvement through sweet clover is one of very great importance in this part since. Finally the sweet clover works in very close association with nodule bacteria. It provides these nodules or little bunches on its roots for the purpose of keeping the nitrogen gathering bacteria.

In order to get most benefit from sweet clover a system of crop rotation should be planned so that the sweet clover crop can be plowed in five or six years so that sweet clover seldom follows the sweet clover. The summer-fallow or fallow crop is very important as it permits time for the roots to decay and for the ground to soak up moisture and also gives one a chance to kill out many weeds which may survive. These stray plants of sweet clover are somewhat undesirable when growing in a crop of grain.

Some farmers have attempted to use sweet clover as a hay or pasture crop, but I think it is better to plan to summer-fallow a year after the sweet clover crop. In this way the sweet clover can be used as a commercial commodity to be plow the following year, the trick of time be more or less two years. If the plowing is delayed the sweet clover grows very much as it did the year it was a mass of material plowed into the land. This causes the soil to dry out very much. The decay of the sweet clover itself and the result is a poor crop next year.—Professor Manley Champlin.

Canada's Mineral Production

One of the Greatest Factors in Canada's Industrial Life

Great progress was made in Canada's mineral industry during 1925 when a higher record value of production was reached than in any previous year, according to preliminary statistics of the Canadian bureau of statistics the total value of Canada's mineral output in 1925 is estimated at $276,000,000 an increase of $16,857,000 above the total of $260,-143,000 for 1924, and more than the previous record of $257,749,457 attained in 1920 when metal prices were approximately 25 per cent. higher than in the year just closed. Among the metals, the value of which increased in the production of gold, lead and zinc were most outstanding; improvement in the production of copper, nickel, copper and cobalt, silver show ed little change; there was an increase in the value of metals as reported from stocks at the mines.

Mining, now third in rank among Canada's primary industries, contributed materially to the wealth and prosperity of the Dominion. Large tonnages of freight move from and to mine from many primary industries depend upon the mining industry for their prosperity. Canada's progress and production of mineral wealth has been notable particularly in recent years and the developments in established lands, the discovery of new mineral areas and finally the engaging of all previous records stamp the mineral industry as one of the great est factors in Canada's industrial and commercial life.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," is a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, in an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

For months, Baree, the wolf-dog, carried on a ceaseless search for Neepee, the Indian girl who had been his best friend since all the old trails, and by the familiar pool he remembered, for he well knew that something had gone out of his life. He did not know that Neepeee, in escaping the unwelcome attentions of McTaggart, the brutal factor, had sent herself to the bottom of a deep abyss.

At the threshold of the cabins he sniffed, outside of the logos he circled close, gathering the wind; the cannon he watched with eyes in which there was a hopeful gleam. Once he thought the wind brought him the scent of Neepeee, and all at once his legs grew weak under his body, and he knew a need to stop hunting. If it was only for a moment or two. She came out of the logos an Indian girl with her hands full of willow work and Baree slunk away uneeen.

It was almost December when Baree returned to Wan Lan, and found Dave's footprints in freshly fallen snow, and a little later caught a flash of him in bush.

"Man liker, I tell you his foot are as big as my hand, and he is as black as a crow. A big with the sun on it!" he exclaimed to the company's store at Le Bain. "A fire! Non! He'll half as far as a bear! A wolf out! And black as the devil, M'sieu."

McTaggart was one of those who heard. He was petting his signal love in bed in a letter he had written to the Company when Louie's words came to him. His hand stopped an instant, then a drop of ink spattered on the letter. Through him there ran a curious shiver as he looked over at the darkened. Just then Marie came in. McTaggart had brought his touch from her trifle. Her big, dark eyes had a shrill look in them, and some of her wild beauty had gone since a year ago.

"She not like—that!" Louie was saying, with a snap of his fingers. He was Metis, and stopped

"Thank, you say." McTaggart said curiously, without lifting his eyes from his writing. "Did he not bury some—bone?"

Louie shrugged his shoulders.

"He was gone like the wind, M'sieu. But he was a wolf."

With scarcely a sound that the others could hear Marie had whipped out into the Factor's ear, and folding his letter, McTaggart rose quickly and left the room. He was gone an hour. Louie and the others were puzzled. It was not often that Marie came into the store, if he not often that she came now but at all. She remained hidden in the Factor's big house, and each time that he saw her Louie thought that her face was a little thinner than the last, and her eyes bigger and less grief looking. In his own heart there was a great yearning. Many a night he passed the little window behind which he knew that she was sleeping; often he waited to catch a glimpse of her pale face, and he lived in the one happiness of knowing that Marie understood, and loving her eyes always came for an instant a different light when their glances met. No one else knew. Between Marie and himself—and patiently Louie waited and watched. "Someday," he kept say ing to himself—"someday" and that was all. The one word carried a world of meaning and of hope. When that day came he would ask Marie straight in the face whether she loved Churchill, and they would be married. It was a dream that made the long days and the longer nights of winter bearable. Now they were both slaves to the enveloping Power But someday . . .

The trap line of Pierre Eustach ran thirty miles straight west of Lac Bain. It was not as long a line as Pierre's had been, but it was like a chain or very running through the heart of a rich fur country. It had belonged to Pierre Eustach's father, and his grandfather, and his great-grandfather, and beyond that it reached, Pierre averred, back to the very pulse of the great blood in France The bond it

American Road Adopts Radio

Following the Lead of the Canadian National in Broadcasting

Following the lead of the Canadian National Railways which was the first transportation company in the world to adopt radio as a means of strength ening its relations with the public and of bringing its employees into closer contact with its officers and executives, the Illinois Central system, one of the most important lines in the United States, operating from Chicago to Louisiana and serving considerable territory, has now added radio to its equipment, taking over WMH at Chicago, operated by the Coyne Electrical School from the Baldwin Piano Building, and broadcasting on a wave length of 360 metres.

McTaggart's past came back only as far as the great grandfather and of it, the older evidence of ownership being that of Churchill. It was the first great country between Reindeer Lake and the Barren Lands. It was in December that Baree saw the first great Again he was travelling southward in a slow and wandering fashion, quarter of a mile from the cabin. Kazan, or Great Storm had come earlier than usual this winter, and for a week after it, scarcely a hour of sun was moving. Baree, unlike the other creatures, did not bury himself in the snow and wait for the skies to clear and the sun to come. He had learned what the snap of a trap meant; he had felt the cruel gash of steel jaws; he knew that when the shrewd-est fox what a deadfall would do when the trigger was sprung by Nepeee herself had taught him that he was never to touch a rabbit. So he chased his tooth gently for a rabbit feast, and ate it as much as cleverly as McTaggart himself could have done. He visited five traps he found, and in each one he left the carcass of farmers' acquaintances and, if the policy met with their approval, he flew the Dominion Company through the council.

President A. J. M Poole of the United Farmers of Manitoba, declared that there was great need for action toward standardization of land values. Mr Nicholson said he would prepare a resolution which will be placed before the convention

Case Important To Automobile Dealers

Supreme Court Must Settle Disputed Point in Contract Suit

Victoria Lodge to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada the decision of the magistrate in Canadian automobile dealers was granted by the British Columbia appeal court here The point at issue is whether a purchaser of an automobile or any other article purchased on a similar condition can treat or sale as one the vending, for any profit he makes on a resale where a car has been surrendered through failure to fulfil the terms of the contract

E. C. Mayers said the application in the case of Hamilton & Man vs. C. Motors of Vancouver The judge in the lower court held that a par chaser who had failed in his own contract surrendered the article purchased, was entitled to sue the vendor for any balance over the contract price secured by a resale. The defendant carried the case to the appeal court and by a majority of one the appeal court upheld decision of the court below.

A STANDARD FOR LAND VALUES IS PLAN SUGGESTED

Brandon The United Farmers of Manitoba will be asked to request the Canadian council of agriculture to for mulate and present to the Dominion Government a policy on the standardization of land values in the Dominion

Following the presentation of a report on the work of the council by President Nicholson Hon. Mr. Justice J. B. Ward, secretary of the council submitted the report. If the council had any policy on standardization of land values

Mr Nicholson drew the attention of the convention to the inflation of mortgages expected to result from the open and low schedule of transportation rates from points in the British Isles to the Canadian seaboard. He warned that if any great numbers of bankrupts did arrive land prices would be likely to rise far above the prevailing scale.

Mr. Ward explained that the council had consulted all agricultural bodies before the matter became in connection form. He agreed that the matter was one requiring careful consideration and that a resolution be placed before the remaining organizations bodies. This would delay the effect of placing the subject before the Dominion Government, but in the opinion of the council the policy met with their approval. So far the Dominion Government through the council

Saskatchewan's Sound Economic Position

Premier Dunning in Budget Speech Says Financial Conditions Improved

Regina, March 24.—Premier Dunning, Saskatchewan Minister, would receive nearly $100,000 more from the sale of natural resources than produced in 1924 in 1924 Premier Dunning in announcing a budget speech in the legislature, stating that gross revenue would be $15,000,000 and expenditure $14,900,000, leaving a small surplus for the year. At the same time he urged the necessity of economy, as there was no immediate prospect of any large increase in revenue. He said that the province was in a sound financial position, but the commissioners were hampered by the lack of money. Mr. Dunning said that the government was considering the question of a provincial income tax.

Referring to the Alberta and Great Waterways railway, Premier Dunning said that the province had been asked to guarantee $3,000,000 of bonds, but this was refused. The government is of the opinion that there may be elections pending the completion of that railway, and that the province should not be placed in the position of guaranteeing bonds of a railway which it does not own or control. Chairman of Royal Commission Says Report Proposals to Operators

London (By Canadian Press Cable)—The royal commission which is making a survey of the coal mining industry, adjourned the final stage of its task when it heard the proposals of the operators, as explained by Evan H. Williams, on behalf of the national board for the coal mining industry.

These proposals were summarized by Sir Herbert Samuel, chairman of the commission, as follows:

The men to work an additional hour per day without remuneration; wages to be reduced in certain districts; the owners to effect a reduction of 10 per cent. on cost other than wages, and the present subsidy to be continued for the temporary dismissal of 10,000 men.

Wants Million New Settlers

Homeseekers Greatest Need of BC Says Premier Oliver

Vancouver, Wash., March 24.—Canada needs a million new people, declared Premier John Oliver of British Columbia in his early public address since his return from the Imperial Conference in London. Premier Oliver was the guest of honor at a luncheon of the Vancouver Progress association. The premier declared that there was no immediate unemployment problem in British Columbia, but that there was need for a million new settlers.

Industries are increased six fold in British Columbia during the last ten years, according to the premier, and in the next five or ten years where lumber supply produced as great an increase as it has in the past. Premier Oliver declared that the only way to get the people needed was to bring them in from the outside.

It would be difficult to convince the Canadian people that British Columbia back when people were paying into the coffers of the province a million a month in taxes that moneys there were harm than good.

British Families Coming

Over Six Hundred Families Are Waiting to Sail to Canada in the Spring

London.—Over eight hundred British families are waiting to sail for Canada in the spring, it has been announced by the Canadian Pacific railway. Many of these are suitable settlers, under the scheme to establish 2,500 families in the Province of Manitoba, on the recommendation of the immigration department at the office of the secretary of state for the dominions.

The Canadian authorities in London confidently anticipate that the number British families will be ready to leave for Canada by the middle of June next.

Those 800 or more families, it is stated, will account for nearly half the number of families which the Canadian Government has available for settlement.

Addresses were given by Hon. Charles McRae, Ontario minister of mines, stated that word had been received that the 7,500 tons of Alberta coal now waiting the lake shore of the Ontario from summer shipment by the C.N.R., would be moved at once. It is expected it will all be at the respective destinations in Ontario by the first week in March The mines department had received no further communication as to sending Alberta coal in excess of the quantity about to be shipped.

Start Campaign For Fair Trading Policy

Retail Merchants Ask Guarantee of Reasonable Profit On Each Article Nationally Advertised

Toronto A campaign to establish a fair trading policy between the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer which will guarantee to the latter a reasonable profit on each article nationally advertised standard goods was launched here under the auspices of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada.

The campaign is being conducted by the association throughout the country. The campaign will be directed to four lines of trade: grocery, auto tires and accessories, implement dealers, and hardware.

The proposal also has been made by hardware dealers of Saskatchewan, who take action along the same lines as them.

No Shortage Of Rubber

Substantial Increase In Production Estimated For This Year

London Referring to the near approach of the annual meeting of the rubber plantation by leading London rubber firms, the Daily Mail says it is believe some of the critics of the world's consumption for 1925 at 500, 000 tons and estimate the production for 1926 at 600,000 tons. On this basis, according to the Daily Mail, there is no shortage at present, but even increase in consumption this year before production can be increased. The rubber growers' association says that new plantations contain indications that although there will be a substantial increase in production this year, the world will be compelled to depend largely on existing plantations for its supply.

CURLING

The curlers have come into their own again, the weather having become reasonable and of a kind necessary for the pursuance of the popular game. The rained "spiel, which has been in progress for some time, came to an end Monday, the final being between the rinks of H. Thems and

J. Robertson. The latter was out by a 9-4 score and all credit is due Robertson and his doughty warrior assistants, though it must be said in fairness of Thems defeat he was caught on an off night; he was right off his usual game. The victorious rink was: Dorothy Graham, Cora Pitcaithly, Alex Walker, J. Robertson, skip. Runners-up were Mrs. Magor, C. A. Gagne, Mrs. Henry, H. Thems, skip.

A shuffle of rinks was made Monday night and a draw made for a men's event which will maintain interest for some time to come. New rinks chosen are:

railways, grain brokers, terminal elevator concerns and financial and banking houses, all of which are actively working to perpetuate shipments through Buffalo and New York.

Canada First

"The time has come for us to work for Canada and Canadian routes," he said, declaring that dilution of Canadian high grade wheat with poor American grades takes place at American shipping points and the lower grade is sent to English markets with the Canadian certificate attached.

"When Canadian No. 2 Northern goes to England from any Canadian point, with the Canadian certificate, it is sought eagerly as the best obtainable," he said.

"Can you reasonably expect men who have millions invested in equipment at the head of the lakes to get out of their way to send you business?" Mr. Walker asked. He pointed out that Eastern interests have this year paid higher prices than ever before, the spread between street and farm prices, normally 5 or 6 cents per bushel, had been sacrificed by eastern buyers in a campaign to get the wheat, Alberta having been the basic ground of the Eastern concessions.

Mr. Walker said the Alberta farmers were anxious to see development of Pacific Coast grain facilities, "as a means of preventing return of domination of grain marketing by Winnipeg operators."

Examination of conditions at Victoria had convinced the speaker that erection of a terminal elevator here would be a useless business for all concerned, he said. However, conservative figures warrant estimates of seventy cars daily, or 2,150,000 bushels monthly, being moved from Victoria, or conservatively 10,000,000 bushels yearly, a freight of 300,000 tons. In Vancouver, in one month, one elevator had handled 9,000,000 bushels, the speaker showed, to support claims of meritous forguing.

The Canadian National railway is today absorbing $13 per car from Fort Mana to Vancouver, and the increase in rates to Prince Rupert one per cent per bushel involved. Mr. Walker thought the Canadian National Railway would be glad of the opportunity to attract western grain routings which would follow terminal facilities at Victoria in succeeding months.

Mr. Walker described the Peace River country and Northern Alberta as prospective source of a flood of wheat. The development of Garnet wheat, and the northern thrusting of the wheat belt would bring the annual wheat production from the present point of 400,000,000 bushels to 800,000,000 bushels.

"Get Ready"

"Get ready, build your elevators, get all things in order to enable you to pay half a cent more than the Eastern fellows, great things are ahead for the Pacific Coast grain movement," he said.

Mr. Walker intimated that the Eastern grain interests would not dare give the organized prairie farmers the deal handed the Pacific grain movement this year.

Cash Market

The need of a Pacific cash grain market was stressed, farmers being able to get hourly prices and with selling of grain facilities by the East. Mr. Walker strongly urged abolition of the permit system, believing this regulation to be another handicap to coast shipments. Many farmers, skilfully devised by Eastern grain interests seeking to prevent diversion of business.

Premier Oliver

Hon. John Oliver was called upon by President Schwegerts to move the vote of thanks to Mr. Walker. He expressed surprise that prairie wheat shipments have this year fallen, understanding a betterment had been experienced. Nevertheless, he agreed influences had prevented as large shipments as had been anticipated in view of the great prairie harvest.

Wider application of the Crow's Nest agreement, to cover grain from territory served by 17,000 miles of railway, instead of 3,000 miles as now, was urged by Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, in a speech following that of Premier Oliver.

Hon. Marshall declared that the Crow's Nest agreement was a contract between the people of Canada and the railways, and that the people of Canada were entitled to the benefits of the agreement. He urged that the agreement be extended to cover the whole of the railway mileage in the province.

Here and There

Seven Americans, touring the world on the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain," entertained at the New Year from the top of the Great Pyramid in Egypt. Four young ladies and three men left their party camped on the sands of the Sahara and climbed the pyramid. "For a little excitement."

Two new steamship lines have made Halifax a port of call this year, and during the first six months of the year the increase in ship tonnage was over one million tons. For the ten months of 1935 the increase in ship tonnage, compared with the same period last year was over 1,000,000.

Canada's exports to Soviet Russia have averaged three hundred fold during the last twelve months. This is figures available show that in the twelve months ending December 31, Canada exported goods valued at $14,809,000 to Russia as compared to $48,000 for the preceding twelve months.

Four international sporting events are to be held at Quebec in February. There will be the snow-shoe races, in which 3,000 will take part, including 1,000 men racing from the State of Maine; a hockey match between the Sons of Ireland and the Dartmouth College team; the Labrart Curling Bonspiel; and the International Dog Sled Derby.

George Rollin, yard agent at Place Viger Station, Montreal, retired under pension arrangements on January 1, 1936, after forty-six years of service with the C.P.R. He entered the employ of the company as messenger at Hochelaga, now called Ploeg Viger Station, on April 15, 1879. J. A. B. Rollin has been appointed to fill Mr. Rollin's position.

Four students from British Universities, comprising the British Imperial Debating Team, are now in Canada meeting a number of Canadian university and college debating teams in a weekly battle on the merits of "The Geneva Protocol and The League of Nations"; "The Degeneracy of Western Civilization," and "The Singapore Base."

From 40,000 to 60,000 British emigrants will come to Canada under the new cheap passage arrangements made by the Canadian and British Government and transportation companies. Hundreds of inquiries have already been received from these nations to benefit by the new plan as assisting them are many from domestic servants.

Twenty prairie chickens were interviewed in Montreal recently and cast infinite cares on the East. They flopped about, in great excitement at meal time. The interviewer asked, "Take you a long time to pick up as good eats out West at this time of year, eh?" A chorus of shrill voices answered disdainfully, "Twi-tut-tut-tut." They were shipped out of the country by Hiram Walker Express, for contempt of the East.

From August 1 to December 31, 1935 inclusive, a total of $21,970,-294 thousand of grain were marketed along Canadian Pacific Lines alone. Of this amount there were 104,191,-336 bushels of wheat and 27,778,265 bushels of other grains, allowances for the same period were 136,469 cars of grain containing 132,974,260 bushels as compared to 85,893 cars, for the same period of 1934, containing 121,813,651 bushels.

HOCKEY

The Edmonton General Electric hockey team will play the locals on the home ice on Friday evening, January 22, at 7:30 sharp.

A junior hockey league has been formed in the district, four teams making up the league Lamont, Chipman, Bruderheim and Fort Saskatchewan. The Fort have defeated Bruderheim Tuesday night in their first encounter in the league, the score being 7-2. The Fort line-up was good 1. Pocock; defense Val Berg, R. Buchanan; forwards Bud Allard, Rogers Wright, Irwin Hutton. Subs: Swinfland, M. Pocock, Earl Lane

The Rink Rats were defeated by a 4-2 score by the Chipman juniors at Chipman last Saturday. From what we hear we judge the Chipman rats grow to a larger size than the local variety, but the little fellows were not by any means overwhelmed.

THAT home newspapers are the "flags of progress" for a city. They are always working for the public good, yet seldom getting the credit they deserve.

THAT when movements are started which mean a better, busier city, it's the newspapers that take a lead in Shining them to the road of success.

THAT newspapers are business institutions the same as any other business in the city. Many times the latter were given by a number of the members on logical subjects, deserving support, but those whom the last meeting some months before.

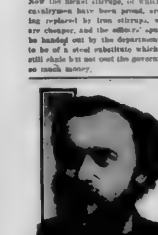
Economy in British Army

War Office Demands Use of Iron Stirrups For Cavalry

British cavalry officers have been trembling in their boots because of an economy drive through the war department.

Spurs have been toned down a bit in their shine and polish, but their jingle has not been interfered with.

Spats in the army came under the ban some weeks ago as unnecessary. Now the nickel stirrups, of which the cavalrymen have been proud, are being replaced by iron stirrups, which are cheaper, and the officers' spurs to be handed out by the department are to be of a steel substitute which will still shine but not cost the government so much money.



1870 Samuel

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in the Pennsylvania coalfields diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. After the Civil War, he began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pa., and often rode horse-back thru the woods to attend and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, and found really recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N.Y. where he launched his scientific invention, and, in his own words, "they were sold by every druggist in the land." Today, the name of the man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold. If your druggist does not sell the "Discovery," in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to Dr. Pierce's Branch Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Burmese Ex-Queen Was Sinister Figure

Said To Be Influence Behind Mandalay Massacre in 1878

A romantic and sinister figure was present at the Burmese durbar, at her bungalow at Rangoon, the ex-Queen Supayalat, widow of King Thebaw, dead from heart failure at the age of 6.

Upon the death of King Mindon Min the succession to the throne should have passed to Prince Nyaungyan Min, but Supayalat, who was Queen Consort, by intrigue placed Thebaw upon the throne. Then followed the massacre of Mandalay, when nearly all the King's sons, their wives and children and others were murdered. Supayalat was alleged to have been behind all Thebaw's actions then and in the chaotic reign which followed.

Avoided Expense Of Going To Hospital

That's Why Madame L. Genest Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills

Alberta Lady Relieved of Anaemia, Gastritis of the Stomach and Neuralgia.

Charron, Alta. (Special). "I have suffered for twenty years with bad kidneys. Have been treated from time to time for anaemia, gastritis of the stomach and neuralgia and no doctor succeeded in relieving me. I got relief at the most critical period of my life by very little. A good friend of mine told me about Dodd's Kidney Pills. In eight days I was on my feet again, avoiding the expense of going to hospital. I can recommend your medicine pills to all sufferers as I suffer like I did."

This statement was sent to us by Mme L. Genest, a well-known resident of this place.

Dodd's Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Dodd's Kidney Pills can be obtained everywhere or The Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Must Trade Mark Goods

Turkey Takes Steps To Safeguard Foreign Trade

After three months, all goods produced in Turkey must bear registered trade marks. This order is the out growth of a resolution said has been detrimental to the country's trade. It appears that Greek and Armenian refugees living in Greece and Bulgaria have been sending to foreign markets silks, figs and raisins of an inferior quality, but marked "Turkish"

Saskatchewan Hog Pool

Will Send Delegation to Europe to Study Danish Industry

Officers for the proposed Saskatchewan Hog Pool have been appointed in Saskatoon. Meetings are being held at various points throughout the province and volunteer organizers are now in the field. A fund is being supported by the Farmers' Union to send a delegation to Great Britain, Ireland and Denmark to study the bacon industry there.

Perhaps, suggests Ignatius Dim, the reason the seventh day was made for rest was because seven days of solid labor would have made one weak.

Lots of people spend the best half of their lives trying to forget what they learned the first half.

Colds Are Not Necessary Evils

Observance of One Fundamental Rule of Health Protects Against Them

Whether one catches cold easily is largely a question of physical condition. If the general vitality is low, resistance to disease is weak and at such a time a cold is easy to contract and difficult to check.

Cool ation is frequently the cause of such a state of health, with its attendant listlessness, biliousness, headaching and a general lack of vitality. Poisons from the waste matter that remains behind after improper, irregular bowel elimination are picked up by the blood and carried to every part of the body. They weaken your resistance to disease.

Thousands of people have suffered from self poisoning in this way have found that Nujol, the internal lubricant makes bowel elimination sure and easy.

Nujol softens the [illegible] and permits thorough and regular elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. Nujol can be taken for any length of time with no ill effects.

If you take cold easily, ask your druggist for Nujol to-day and remember, look for the name—Nujol—in red on every package.

The value of a bon depends upon the law of supply and demand.

Mrs. James Graham's rink was invited to Edmonton to play Mrs. R. G. Porter of the Thistle Rink in a friendly game of curling today (Wednesday). The score was 7—6 in favor of the Edmonton rink. The Fort rink was as follows: Miss Meta Graham, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. E. E. Orr, Mrs. James Graham, skip. Edmonton ladies were: Mrs. Wolf, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Borton, skip. Lovely refreshments were served. The ten tables were provided over by Mrs. Blatchford. The Fort ladies report a wonderful time.

ANNUAL MEETING UNITED CHURCH CONGREGATION

business very expeditiously. The reports all sounded an encouraging note and revealed a healthy state of affairs. Work among the young people is being stressed and the reports from the C.G.I.T. and Tuxis groups called forth hearty applause. The Tuxis boys stand first in the province in the contest they entered last Spring. The office-bearers having only served six months were all re-elected for a year. Messrs. A. E. O'Brien, C. B. Lee, and A. M. Sutherland were elected to serve on the board of Stewards for three years. The congregation also endorsed the budget system for raising the necessary funds, and with loyal co-operation of all interested they should reach their objective and make some provision for further expansion. A hearty hopeful spirit characterized all the proceedings and there was helpful discussion of plans and prospects for the work.

The Fairview congregation held their annual meeting last week, and when all the reports were considered there was evidence of healthy growth in all departments. The revenue of the congregation had been increased considerably during the year and they had "gone over the top" splendidly in their contributions to the Maintenance and Extension Fund.

The church is to be painted when the weather will permit in the Spring, the money to do it being in the hands of the treasurer, and the congregation is now well away to a new start with the same office-bearers in charge.

She has something to crow about now!

A most interesting and instructive address on "Business procedure every woman should know," was given by Mr. D. Harper at the Women's Institute last Thursday afternoon. The subject was covered in a very clear and concise manner, and all felt they had learned not a few things of value. There was a good attendance from both town and country and to encourage friends from the country to attend the Institute meetings the time was changed from four to three o'clock. All afternoon meetings will commence at three o'clock for the balance of the year.

TOYMAKER OF NUREMBURG HAS SPLENDID RECEPTION

Under the auspices of the Fort Saskatchewan School Literary society Messrs. Davis and Dalkin presented "The Toymaker of Nuremburg," an Edward Terry comedy, to a Fort audience last Thursday. A very large audience was delighted with the presentation, the cast being, with the exception of Mr. E. C. Davis, composed entirely of Victoria (Edmonton) High school pupils. The young people have responded nobly to the coaching given them, and, as well as being letter perfect in the memorizing of their lines, their expressions, both vocal and facial, were wonderfully good. Mr. Davis had a character part wholly suited to him and filled it exceptionally well.

The proceeds of the entertainment are to be donated to supplying the Fort school with athletic equipment, and, through the kindness of the Victoria High school theatrical amateurs, a nice sum can now be used for that purpose.

Highest Winter Temperature

During December 1925, Alberta recorded what is stated to be the highest temperature in Canada during that month, when in the city of Calgary a temperature of 63 was recorded. The entire month was one of the mildest Decembers ever experienced, other points in Alberta being close behind Calgary with high temperatures, Medicine Hat recording 60 and Edmonton 56.

DANCERS INSPIRED BY MACDONALD ORCHESTRA

There was not a record breaking crowd at the Girls' A.A.A. [illegible] in the Memorial hall last Friday, and in consequence the club did not make expenses on this occasion. The girls are not grieving, however, they had a small sum in hand and the financial loss is not calamitous. Those who did not attend suffered the greater loss, inasmuch as [illegible] pleasant affairs do not take place every day and to dance to the strains of the Macdonald orchestra is a [illegible] treat indeed.

The supper interval was popular, as usual, the catering for which was done by Speer's bakery.

HOCKEY

In a return game played against Edmonton General Electric last Friday the Fort secured satisfaction for their previous loss against this team by winning 5—3. It was a fast game in which Stuckey, Karran and Walker did the scoring for the locals. The Fort team appeared for the first time in [illegible] sweaters, and looked right [illegible]. They also wore numbers on their backs, the numbers being kindly loaned the club by Oscar Lamoureux. Val Berg was referee and the linesman was goal, Karran, defense, F. Karran, center; Stuckey, forwards, R. Stuckey, Rozette, Walker; subs., von Hiland, Pethick.

The "Vics" were defeated at Lamont on Tuesday by a score of 3—0. The Fort team got in two goals but they were not allowed as they were shot from [illegible] that not being allowed on the Lamont rink.

The Lamont team excels in combination play.

The Fort boys expect to do better when the return game is played here on February 9th.

There was a large attendance at the card party and concert given by the ladies of the Catholic church on Tuesday evening. The card party was held first and upon its conclusion refreshments were served, following which a concert was held. Reports assert it was a most successful gathering, the eugenet being particularly good. Some of the items were highly amusing.

ALBERTA'S OIL PRODUCTION

A tentative statement on Alberta's production of petroleum for 1925 shows that the 1925 production in this province alone was greater than the production for all Canada for the year 1924. The bringing in of the world's richest oil well in the Turner Valley field south of Calgary, known as Royalite No. 4, was responsible for boosting the value of Alberta's production. This well has been producing on an average of over 400 barrels a day of almost pure gasoline.

ATTENDANCE SLIM AT G.W.V. SMOKER MONDAY NIGHT

The attendance at the smoker given by the veterans Monday evening was meagre. All paid up associate members of the club for 1926 were invited and paucity of their numbers can only be accounted for in two ways, as far as we can see: either there are not many who wanna smoke the binding of pain-up members or the majority are faithfully keeping their New Year resolutions. To say those who were present enjoyed themselves is to put it mildly; they had a splendorous time. Songs were sung and choruses bawled in the popular manner, and what the company lacked in numbers they made up for in noise. Taken all in all, it was an elegant party, and the absentees do not know what they missed.

Professionalism Is Killing Sports

It has been realized for some time that professionalism is the enemy of sport, but there is now an awakening to the fact that it is likewise killing the sports themselves. Real sport is to be found in games participated in by the masses of the people for the downright fun of the thing and for the recreation thereby enjoyed. But in the modern mad race for money, even the pastimes of people has been commercialized, and today, instead of people enjoying an game in the open air, and deriving pleasure therefrom and gaining physical strength and better health, they pay fancy prices to sit in the grand stand and cheer themselves hoarse over the exploits of a few high salaried experts.

The old days, when the runner not ball teams vied with one another and the town common was the scene of a spirited game of lacrosse or football, have gone into the discard. The youth of the present do not appear to play games for the game's sake, and for their own recreation and betterment, but are content to watch from the sidelines and bleachers.

In sport the present generation has degenerated and hatred back to the decadent days of Rome when the arenas were packed with a multitude, watching the performance of a few gladiators. It was a sign of the beginning of the end for Rome of old. The Duke of Wellington has been credited with the statement that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton. Today, however, the newspapers tell of the fifty or one hundred thousand spectators watching two teams of professional players.

Boxing and the noble arts of self defence have developed into prize fighting, the game being games of money ranging into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Professionalism killed lacrosse, the Canadian national game and one of the finest of all field games. A quarter of a century ago every town and village in Eastern Canada had its lacrosse club, and thousands of boys and young men participated in the healthy game activities. Then the idea of commercializing the game was conceived, and its blighting effect is seen in the practical disappearance of the game.

Canada's winter game, hockey, is going the same way. Professionalism flourishes for a while, kills the amateur game, and in killing off amateur sport likewise kills the goose that lays the golden egg, becomes without active amateur sports the development of players comes to an end and the supply of clean, professional ranks fails off.

It has been thought that professional baseball would go through well organized and so deeply entrenched in the United States that it could withstand almost anything. But a recent survey of baseball made for the National Amateur Athletic Federation has established a good deal, that even baseball is "slipping." Major League matches have approached amateur methods offering co-operation for surviving sport because they favour a families of players.

It is seen, therefore, that the defeat of professionalism not only kills the sporting instincts of the people, but also in the main spoils the "money" for a game of paid entertainers instead of active participants in the game themselves, but it is demoralizing to the games as such. So long as a city or town maintains a professional baseball or hockey team, the amateur games suffer, but if both the professional teams are out of the way, amateur teams gain in popularity, the game itself flourishes, and the stamina, physique and health of the youth improves. The truth of this statement has been demonstrated over and over again in Western Canada.

Professionalism has a further demoralizing effect. The player is out to win, that and that alone. His salary depends upon it, and any trick or expedient that will get past the referee or umpire is resorted to whether it be "gamesmanship" or not. They are not playing for the "game's sake," but for the box office receipts and a prospective sale to some other club at a higher salary.

A crowd of spectators goes wild and experiences a spasm of joy over a win by the "home" team although the members of that team may have been collected from the four corners of the continent, and have no interest in or regard for the "home" town—except the salary they are getting out of it. And the same "home" crowd will groan and hiss if the visiting team scores a victory by superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to betting and gambling far surpassing any standard on amateur games.

Elimination of professionalism and a general revival of interest and participation in amateur sports of all kinds is a must to be desired development in Canada and one calculated to build up a more virile, robust, self-reliant young Canadianism.

HOW ALL MOTHERS CAN KEEP HEALTH

Cares of Home and Children Often Cause a Breakdown

The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health, her infant, her children's future cannot be safe, while harried by worry, broken rest and nervous headache and nervousness. Too many women have grown up to accept these troubles as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many had carried on her health troubles into the realm of simple relief at hand. It is rich, red blood that lives a woman well, when she is ill the blood is thin and watery, and she must take a route to health if to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich, red blood for the sake of it. There is one sure way to get this rich blood so necessary to health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Hedley Burke, Lower Lakeside, N.S., tells what these pills did for her. She says: "I first used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills five years ago. After my baby was born I did not regain my usual health. I felt weak, miserable and nervous. I got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking five boxes I felt like a new woman. Ever since that time when I feel tired and overworked Pink Pills treatment and always with great benefit. I have proved them to be a splendid medicine for any woman and I have no hesitation in recommending them to others."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicines or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mount Longhead

High Mountain Peak to Commemorate Name of Late Senator

Mount Longhead is to be a new name on the map of the Rocky Mountain country, commemorating the name of the late Senator Longhead. The Geographic Board of Canada has advised the local representative that it had decided so to name a hitherto nameless peak in the Banff district. The mountain is 9,500 feet high, and is about 5½ miles from the Canadian Pacific Railway and has a height of 8,950 feet.

Soviet's Figures About Wheat Crop Mythical

Brought About Slump in Wheat Markets of World

The London food council has opened an inquiry into the recent drastic slump in the price of wheat which have been lowered by almost 50 in the cost of flour and bread in Great Britain, after they had steadily declined for two months.

This sharp reaction, which has hit severely both importers and the public, is undoubtedly due in large measure to the issue of false figures of an abundant Russian wheat yield by the Soviet government, which set on helped to bring about a slump in the wheat markets of the world, and to depress the price of field crops and bakers have been left with very scant stocks of wheat and flour.

Definite proof is not available that the Soviet's figures were mythical, and the Communist Government is now showing to save its face from the discredit into which it has been brought by inducing subscribers to the finance commissar, for having imposed a badly founded budget, and by denying that the provincial grain export committees were responsible for the price-ruinous suggestions in their officials reports and will be brought before the courts.

Endorse Hudson's Bay Road

Toronto Business Men Now Recognize Claim of Western Canada

Word is received from C. C. Cook, secretary of the South Saskatchewan branch, Onto the Bay Association, that Colonel F. J. James, president, had interviewed prominent financiers in Toronto on the completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway. In his letter to Mr. Cook, Mr. James states that the eastern attitude has changed and now entirely sympathetic towards western claims for completion. Mr. James declared that when in possession of full information regarding the Bay line, Toronto business men could see no objection whatever towards its completion. Major K. Gifts That Bring Pleasure

Make them to wear or to give next Xmas. Let our stores be the bright badge of your happiness in our home. Look your patriotic best in our Miss Canada suit—in a good watch—and for your home wife all you require is a card of material, some lace, ribbon and ready made colored binding. The pattern for View A is perforated for embroidery dots, and there is a clever arrangement of pockets. The panels of lace is required to finish the collar and 3 yards of ribbon will make the cravat and 3 rosettes. The scarf in View B was made from the same pattern and odd bits of chintz used to make the bib and pockets. Colored binding makes a neat finish for the edge and ties. Unbleached cotton fashions the apron in View C and with a wider width colored binding for the edges. It is larger than the two aprons previously described while it makes it of a more practical nature. The bib was omitted in View D and a yoke substituted. No. 1274 is in one size only. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book illustrating the newest and most practical styles will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Prison Population

Government Report States Number of Inmates of Prisons Are Decreasing

The average daily population of Canada's penitentiaries is decreasing, judging from the report of the superintendent of criminal jails for the last fiscal year. In that year there were 2,217 unwilling guests of the federal government as compared with 2,373 in the previous year there were 2,373 and in the year before that 2,562.

The cost per capita is also much lower last year than in 1926, but higher than in 1924 The figures are 1925, $1.48; 1924, $1.39; and in 1922, $1.52.

The general cost of administration of the several federal penitentiaries, administered under the superintendent of penitentiaries for the said year, was $1,098,192 for the last fiscal year. From this is deducted $184,338, revenue earned by the work of the prisoners.

ON THE AIR

What is Doing in the World of Radio

Weighing less than 100 pounds, a small radio device by which one can maintain direction of 1,000 planes in battle has been perfected secretly in the United States

The light set is considered the biggest factor in radio broadcasting today. Practically every broadcast station is sending out test programmes to determine the desires of the radio public.

Setting a record for broadcasting, in two way wireless conversation, L. H. Peters, 2OM Albert Street, Regina radio artist, talked to A. S. Chang, of Honolulu, Hawaii from 9.55 to 10.12. o'clock one evening recently.

A course on broadcasting to the world, at a cost to public, within the Arctic Circle, recently centered around radio sets in police barracks or trading post huts in heavy snowfall from the pantomime general of Canada and Hudson's Bay Company officials, and a musical programme from broadcasting station KFKX at Hastings, Neb. The programme began at 3 o'clock and lasted after midnight. Results of the radio test will not be known until the Arctic stations open up next summer

Is radio developing a mysterious and uncanny radio voice in habitual reception?

It is well known that the deprivation of one of the senses serves to sharpen and make more acute those left. Blindness, deafness, dumbness believe that the exceptional, who is mentally blind is free from the sense and limited. Or whether the unbelievable perception gained through the ear alone.

KFI boasts that it has on thousands of letters which graphically and almost accurately describe persons who take part regularly on the programmes. Fan mail is frequently sent on by persons who have never seen the performers

Pastor Gave Away Millions

Every Dollar of Earnings Was Spent On Poor

Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, of the Baptist Temple, Penn Yorks, was a follower of Jesus in going about doing good During his lifetime he earned $11,000,000 by his own efforts and gave away every dollar of it in behalf of the poor, the needy, the ostcast By his liberality he won the title of the philanthropic millionaire. Eleven million dollars was given away by this means, for the cause of scholarship and education. Rockefeller, Carnegie, Straus, Flek and a half dozen others have given millions for charity and education, but none are so much in personality as this man. He gave millions and died with an estate of practically nothing An estate of $4,000 was left to a son and daughter. He also left an imperishable name—Kingston British Whig.

Exhibition at Federal Capital May Get Dominion Government Grant

As the result of an interview with Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture in the Dominion Government, Ottawa will likely receive a grant from the Dominion Government towards extension to the exhibition buildings at Lansdown Park, Mayor Quharrie stated. The fact that the world's poultry congress is coming to Ottawa in 1937, makes it necessary said the mayor, to erect new buildings to meet the requirements of this big congress.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 31.

JESUS FEEDS FIVE THOUSAND

Golden Text: Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life, he that cometh to Me shall not hunger, and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst. John 6.35.

Lesson: John 6:1-71.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 34:2-10

Explanations and Comments

Jesus and the Multitude.—verses 1-4 "After these things"—a vague note of time; see The Historical Background. Jesus crossed over to the eastern side of the Sea of Galilee, or Sea of Tiberias as it was also called, from the city of Tiberias which Herod Antipas had built on the lake in honor of the Emperor Tiberius. He relished the biblical and tat down, hoping to have a quiet time of communion there with His disciples.

Many young people have been attracted, not without justice, of having a "moving picture mind"—all He had to do to them a series of snapshots with no chance for a time exposure. They cannot think straight on any subject; they see a bundle of transient impressions and confused ideas."

Says Dr. W. H. P. Faunce. "Boiled down to the soul what space is to a growing tree—without it the tree or the soul is stunted and dwarfed."

A great multitude of people, attracted to Jesus by His power over disease, followed on foot around the northern end of the lake. They were Galileans on their way to the Passover at Jerusalem, the second one in Jesus' public ministry.

Says Parley Would Be Mostly Political

London Paper Comments on Proposed Imperial Conference

The Evening Standard says that if the proposed Imperial conference is held in October next it will be principally political.

The political United States, however, is in no immediate danger. The Standard adds, but the economic organization (the Imperial economic committee) is practically non-existent.

Continuing, The Standard says:

"The formulation of definite plans for the development of empire markets and the organization of imperial trade cannot be done in six months but could be done by October, 1928."

Livestock in Good Condition

Western Cattle Running Outside and Farmers Saving Feed

The department of agriculture and colonization of the Canadian National Railways reports that livestock in the west are in better condition, at this period, than for many years past. Almost entire absence of snow is enabling farmers to keep their cattle and horses running outside, with a consequent saving of feed. The reserve supply of feed is also having the effect of increasing the number of cattle being carried through the winter.

DECIDE AGAINST THE PURCHASE OF ELEVATORS

Calgary.—H. E. Spurbold, Okotoks, Alta., was re-elected vice-president of the United Farmers of Alberta. Three were re-elected.

The delegates voted against acquisition of elevator facilities by the United Farmers of Alberta at the present time. The question was taken before the convention in the form of a resolution asking the association to demand from the Wheat pool board take immediate action toward acquiring elevator facilities. Coupled in interest with the vote of the convention was a lengthy statement on the matter read by the president of the United Farmers of Alberta. It would be ripe for consideration by the Alberta branch when the Wheat Pool is firmly established.

He declared that it appeared as him as though there was a movement on foot to wrench the pool through an attempt to force it into acquisition of elevator facilities at the present time. "You are going to drive the pools out of business if you drive them into premature elevator development," he said.

The vote against the presidential followed his statement.

No Liberal-Labor Alliance

Lloyd George Denies Rumour in Speech in Wales

London.—Rumors that he intended to launch a movement for a Liberal Labour force were denied by Mr. Lloyd George in a speech at Carnarvon, Wales. He said that it would be unwise for Liberals to negotiate an alliance with any party, but it should concentrate its energies to reaching the goal of securing a large Liberal representation in the next parliament.

When that was achieved it would be time to consider questions as to what who were prepared to support its programme, whether it involved a coalition government or not

Trade Prospects Very Bright

Canadian Trade Increase in Past Nine Months is $299,000,000

Ottawa.—Canada's trading for the nine months ending December, of the fiscal year, was $1,726,000,000, or $295,000,000 more than in the corresponding nine months of the previous fiscal year Export trade again show and the general increase Domestic exports totalled $1,020,000,000, an increase of approximately $207,000,000. Imports were $685,000,000, an increase of $92,000,000. Excess of exports over imports was $335,000, practically the same as in the previous nine months' period.

Scottish Thrift

Citizens of Glasgow Show Saving Habit by Huge Bank Accounts

London.—Glasgow's continued thrift is again exhibited in the ninetieth report submitted at the annual meeting of the savings bank which is the largest and most flourishing of its kind in the country. The deposits account now amount to over £2,000,000 sterling. Despite trade depression, there has been an increase in deposits for the year of nearly half a million. There were nearly 46,000 new accounts opened during the year.

Ash Duty On Imported Eggs

Milner, B.C.—Milner and Langley Prairie district poultrymen are asking for a duty of 10 cents a dozen on all eggs imported into Canada. It is pointed out that under the recent Australian treaty eggs came into Canada free, while there is a tax of 18 cents a dozen on Canadian eggs entering Australia

Asks Reduction Of Troops In Rhineland

Small Prospect of Favorable Reply to Germany's Request

Paris.—The question of the reduction of the number of troops in the Rhineland occupation will be discussed by Premier Briand with Sir Austen Chamberlain at Geneva, it was learned here. Chamberlain will reach Geneva through Paris, many-word bound from Rapallo Italy.

There is little prospect or a favorable reply to Germany's request for a decrease in the number of occupation troops, it was said in official circles.

There are now about 60,000 French troops in the occupied territory including garrison of engineers, guards and line communications. It is stated while British and Belgians have about 6,000 each. The French object to any more men than their allies because they have far greater ground to cover. The German demand will be referred to the council of ambassadors for consideration at its next meeting, the date for which has not been fixed.

Charge Control Of Britain's Food Prices

New Zealand Products Being Held Up Pending Orders

London.—The Manchester Guardian gives prominence to a article in that paper in which it is alleged that while the government food control is busy with the Australian wheat agreement the council gives no time to dealing with the machinations of the interests represented by certain organizations recently formed in New Zealand and Australia to control the prices of supplies of meat, butter and cheese. Which have already been sent to this country.

Quantities of the primary products of New Zealand have been held up by pending orders from the Dominion with regard to the prices to be charged. The Canadian Government is holding up its part of a scheme whereby the agents here of the New Zealand Meat Export control board are keeping food off the market until such time as the price rise to a point ruling their liking," the article says. "And in the meantime the shipments are being kept down to the requisite quantities."

Profits On Liquor

Alberta Government Makes Net Profit of $1,517,185 on Operations

Edmonton, Alta.—Net profits of $1,517,185.57 were made by the Alberta Government on its operations under the Liquor Act in 1925, according to a statement issued by Premier Brownlee.

The full amount realized through the business of the liquor control board was $1,666,870, covering the full calendar year.

The 1925 figures are slightly in advance of the proportionate figures for 1924 when the board operated for only eight months

Will Buy More British Goods

This Year Must Be Used For Canada Since War

London.—Canada this year will be able to buy more British goods than she has since the war," stated C. W. Johnston, Canadian National Railways manager at Montreal.

Speaking of Canada's prosperity, Mr. Johnston said that perhaps the best proof of Canada's economic revival is found in the changed attitude to immigration. "The three pounds to Canada' scheme came at the psychological moment, as all classes are beginning to realize the necessity of new settlers," Mr. Johnston stated.

Must Not Break Sabbath

Quebec.—Miller and factories will no longer operate on Sunday in this province unless special leave is given by the attorney general, according to instructions issued by Premier Taschereau to Louis Goyon, deputy minister of labor, to advise the owners or managers of firms affected that Sunday must be observed.

Turns Slow No Mercy

Constantinople.—Seven Turks were hanged in the public square of Angora for having participated in recent reactionary movement. Twenty-one Turks have been executed during the past two weeks.

COMMITTEES MAY BE APPOINTED SOON AT OTTAWA

Ottawa.—Committees of the House of Commons, usually appointed only after the budget speech, may be appointed this week, it was learned. Under the rules of the House the committees must be appointed within 10 days from the opening of the session, and as the budget speech will be delivered on Thursday, the committees will have to consider one or two phases of the report of the chief electoral officer, expected that day, with the election in North Huron, Ont.

Steady Recovery In Industrial Employment

Dominion Bureau of Statistics Issues Report for 1926 in Detail

Ottawa.—Steady recovery in industrial employment marked the year 1926 according to a report just issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

The working forces of the approximately 5,500 firms reporting averaged 761,131 varying between 680,538 on January 1, 1926, and 809,972 on October 1 last. The index number of employment for each date was at the same point for the year standing at 96.5. In 1924 the peak of employment was reached on July 1, when the index was 96.9.

From early in January, 1926, on the beginning of July last there was, it is said, a period of uninterrupted expansion, during which approximately 146,000 workers were added to the staffs of the firms reporting.

Arbitration Treaty Has Outlawed War

Pact Between Sweden and Denmark Has Been Signed

Stockholm.—War between Sweden and Denmark is definitely outlawed by an unlimited arbitration treaty between the two nations signed here The pact provides for arbitration of all questions including even those of an "honor and "vital interest". A treaty of similar treaty was concluded recently between Sweden and Norway and negotiations are now under way which are stood to be in progress with Finland.

"Happiness Is in Poetry," Says Poet

"Lofty thought and great ideals, engaged in the University of Manitoba, instilled in poetry of genius, serve as an introduction to another, more glorious, life," said Dr. Bliss Carman, considered the foremost Canadian poet, in an interview recently. "Fine poetry and excellent literature bring you where happiness is to be found."

The distinguished poet has just completed a tour of Western Canada, travelling exclusively on Canadian Pacific Railway lines, where he was scheduled to deliver a series of addresses and lectures on the Relation of Poesy to Life. His first lecture was in Winnipeg on January 12. Later he spoke at Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver, completing his trip on January 22

A strikingly picturesque figure, even in a plain, loose-fitting grey suit, Dr. Carman, creates a lasting impression of genius and kindliness upon those with whom he comes in contact. Before making the western tour he delivered a series of lectures in Eastern Canada, at McGill University, the University of Toronto and Queen's University.

Canadian Producers Elect Officers

Grading of Eggs, Butter and Cheese Discussed at Convention

Ottawa.—A. W. Buzzell, Ottawa, was elected president of the Canadian Produce Association at the closing session of the convention here. Other officers are: First vice-president, C. M. Henderson, Montreal, second vice president, C. F. Rhodes Edmonton

A. P. McLean, Regina, was elected to the board of directors.

The convention recommended abolition of the present terminology in the grading of eggs, urging that the terms extras, seconds and mediums replace the old names of extras, firsts and seconds.

George H. Barr, Toronto, in an address, declared that grading of cheese and butter had done more than any other thing in bringing those industries

Grading of cream would come into effect early this season.

Reduced Rate Westward

Premier Oliver Says B.C. Entitled to a Reduction of 2 or 3 Cents Per Hundred

Victoria British Columbia is entitled to a reduction of two or three cents per hundred pounds on grain moving west from Edmonton and Calgary to the coast, under the judgment sustained by the railway board yesterday, Premier Oliver said.

A rate of 23 cents a hundred is charged on grain moving from Edmonton and Calgary to the coast now, the premier explained. This movement, he said, should be given a rate of 19 cents almost, to put it on the same basis as the eastward movement

Royal Family Issue From Semi-Retirement

Time of Half Mourning For Dowager Queen is Over

London.—The court has just shaken off from full mourning to half mourning for Dowager Queen Alexandra This prefaits the Royal family to issue from their semi-retirement and resume public functions The Prince of Wales opened an extensive engagement list with a dinner given by the South African Luncheon Club. There will be the first public function he has attended since his recent tour of South Africa and South Australia

Irak Senate Approves Treaty

Bagdad, Irak.—The Anglo-Irak treaty extending the British mandate over this country to a maximum of 25 years was approved by the Irak Senate with but one dissenting vote. The treaty was signed recently.

THREATS ARE RECEIVED BY SASK. MEMBERS

Regina, Sask.—Anonymous letters threatening members of the Saskatchewan Legislature who dare oppose the bill amending the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Act of insurrection, have been received by Premier Charles A. Dunning. The premier, speaking on a question of privilege in the chamber, declared his confidence that the promoters of the bill knew nothing of the threats.

Supported by opposition groups in the house, Premier Dunning condemned the authors of the anonymous letters. He pointed out that intimidation of members was punishable by the legislature sitting as a court.

Debate on the proposed amending bill today brought out the question "Will the amending bill prejudicially affect the rights of any individual in an action now before the courts?"

"To the provisions of the bill by which the pool seeks the right to collect 25 cents a bushel as liquidated damages, also power to secure an injunction against those breaking the contract, raise the matters at issue in the Pool-Carswell judgment?"

The question were raised on points of order Mr Speaker Robinson reserved his decision

Wembley Workers Rewarded

Honors' List Issued For Those Who Made Exhibition a Success

London.—Representatives which have been so prominent ever since the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley closed for recognition of those whose work made it a success, have prevailed earlier than the authorities originally intended. An honors list was issued which takes in decorations for those participating in the exhibition.

General Sir Travers Clarke, deputy chairman and chief administrative officer of the exhibition, is created a Knight of the Grand Cross, the highest honor awarded.

Four were made knights and twelve Commanders of the British Empire. Eight were created officers of the order of the British Empire and ten members of the Order, of which Australia and New Zealand took the lion's share.

The only woman recipient was Lady Clarke, chairman of the Women's Section.

Newfoundland was represented in the list by Major W. Outerbridge, of St. Johns, who was made Commander of the Order of the British Empire

Building Super-Bomber

New York Company Starts Construction of Huge Plane

New York.—The largest single seaplane bombing plane in the world is now in the course of construction for the government, it was disclosed by Thomas E. Huff, president of the Huff Daland Airplane Company.

The new super-bomber known as the XB-1 will be powered with a single 1,500-horsepower motor, capable of developing 1,500 horsepower. The plane will have an approximate speed of 175 miles an hour and will carry fuel sufficient for a 24-hour flight

Chicago Gunman Captured

St. Louis, Mo.—Trailed three months by operatives of Burns agents, one of whose number he killed in slain, Martin J Durkin, 24, notorious Chicago criminal, was captured here. The much sought slayer, described in police circulars as "very dangerous" "quick to draw," fell into a trap prepared by department agents, city detectives and railroad employees and was overpowered in the drawing room of a Frisco Kid's train upon arrival at Webster Groves, a suburb, from San Antonio.

Made Fresh Daily

Josephburg

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas on Tuesday the 19th of January, a night of dancing took with the approval of both young and old. The music rendered caused many steps and turns to the harmonious strains of violin and accordion, the player of the latter being from Edmonton. The old bushel beverage flowed freely for a while, but was soon exhausted. Just the same it produced good fellowship and made

MARVELLOUS VALUE

Reports from all provinces indicate that the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal at One Dollar a year is sweeping the country.

The reduction in the price of the Family Herald from $2.00 to $1.00 a year makes that great weekly journal more than ever the marvel of the newspaper world. The Publishers have announced that notwithstanding the change in price, every feature will not only be maintained, but improvements will follow.

When one considers the huge volume, wide variety and high quality of the reading matter in each issue of the Family Herald, one wonders how it can be produced at the price. It is a complete family journal, a family magazine and weekly newspaper—all three in one at a cost of less than two cents a week.

For this winter's reading there is no better combination than your local paper and the Family Herald and Weekly Star. Subscriptions may be left at The Record office.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

James Oliver Curwood

Copyright, 1917, by McClelland, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

It was in the winter that a half breed found in the forests of Hudson Bay a wolf-dog. He repented to McTaggart, the factor, that he had been pitted larger than those of a fox and the latter's employees were astonished. Baree had been his name. He had tried to kill the dog and in the fight had inflicted wounds on him. Moreover, McTaggart had shot Pierrot, the trapper's dog, in self-defense, and rescued the animal to be separated from Pierrot, the trapper's daughter.

The next day saw the beginning of the struggle that was to follow between the wild-red man and beast. To Baree it was merely a fight. But to McTaggart's trap-line was not war; it was existence. It was to furnish him food, for the time, and furnished by him food for many months. But he sensed the fact that in this instance he was law breaker and had an enemy to outwit. Had it been good hunting weather he might have gone on, for the unseen hand that was guiding his wanderings was drawing him slowly but surely back to the old beaver pond and the Gray Loon. At it was, with the deep drift of fresh snow made for his special use. He followed in the Factor's snowshoe tracks, and in the third trap hitherto a rabbit. When he had finished with it nothing but the hair and crimson patches of blood lay upon the snow. Starved for many days, he was filled with a wolfish hunger and before the day was over he robbed the bait from a full dozen of McTaggart's traps. Three he struck in his poison-baits—venison or caribou fat in the heart of which was a dose of strychnine; and each time his keen nostrils detected the danger. Pierrot had more than once noted the amazing fact that Baree could sense the presence of poison even when it was most skillfully injected into the frozen carcass of a deer. Fires and watres sent down from which he got the supersensitive power of detecting the presence of deadly danger turned him away. So he poured Bush McTaggart's poisoned tidbits, sniffing them on the way, and leaving the story of his skepticism in the manner of his [illegible] In the case of Wolf, McTaggart had baited at least twice and his dinner Baree made these rejections circles with his feet.

"The Black Wolf!"

The second day, being less hungry and hence more wisely alive to the baited smell of his enemy, Baree ate less but was more destructive. McTaggart was not so skillful as Pierre Enotach in keeping the scent of his hands from the traps and "bosses," and every now and then the smell of him was strong in Baree's nostrils. This brought in Baree a swift and definite antagonism, a steadily increasing hatred where a few days before he had wagged and forgotten. There is, perhaps, in the animal mind a process of simple comparison which does not quite achieve the distinction of reason, and which is not altogether instinct, but which produces results that might be ascribed to either. Baree did not add two and two together to make four; he did not go back step by step in prose to himself that the man to whom the trap-line belonged was the cause of all his griefs and troubles—but he did find himself possessed of a deep and yearning hatred. McTaggart was the one creature except the wolves that he had ever hated; it was McTaggart who had hurt him. McTaggart who had made him lose his beloved Nepessa—and McTaggart was here on this trap-line! If he had been wandering before, without object or destiny, he was now a maddened man. It was to keep to the traps. To feed himself. And to vent his hatred and his vengeance as he lived.

The second day, in the centre of a lake, he came upon the body of a wolf that had died of one of the poisoned baits. For a half hour he smelled the dead beast until its skin was torn in ribbons. He did not taste the flesh. It was repugnant to him. It was his vengeance on the wolf breed. He stopped when he was half a dozen miles from Lac Bain, and turned back. At this particular point the line crossed a frozen stream beyond which was open rain, and over that plain came—when the wind was right—the smoke and smell of the Post. The second night Baree lay with a full stomach in a thicket of hemlocks pine; the third day he was travelling westward over the trap-line again.

Early on this morning Bush McTaggart started out to gather his catch, and where he crossed the stream six miles from Lac Bain he first saw Baree's tracks. He stopped to examine them, and knew that they were those of a dog. Then he went on, and in the next trap found a rabbit. Another trap held a fox, and in the next a lynx. Bush McTaggart was a trapper, and he knew that the lynx was half ruined, a mink was torn completely in two. The second day he found still greater ruin, and more baren traps. He was like a madman. When he arrived at the Second cache, late in the afternoon, Baree's tracks were not an hour old in the snow. Three times during the night he heard the dog hunting.

The third day McTaggart did not return to Lac Bain, but began a camp-fire hunt for Baree. An inch or two of fresh snow had fallen, and as if it takes even greater measure of vengeance from his man-enemy, Baree had left footprints freely within a radius of a hundred yards of the cabin. It was half an hour before McTaggart could pick out the straight trail, and he followed this for two hours into a thick Banksian swamp. Baree kept with the wind. Now and then he caught the scent of his pursuer; a dozen times he waited until the other was so close he could hear the snap of brush and the metallic click of traps against the rifle barrel. [illegible] with a sudden impulse that brought [illegible] McTaggart's lips, he swung in a wide circle and cut straight back for the trap-line. When the Factor reached the line, along toward noon, Baree had already begun his work. He had killed and eaten a rabbit, he had robbed three traps in two distance of a mile, and he was [illegible] again straight over the trap-line [illegible]

Discover Strange Race

Survival of a Lost Tribe in the Wilds of South Africa

A scientific expedition, led by three Leaders Mountains, has returned to Cape Town from the remote desert regions to the north with a strange tale of the survival of a lost tribe of Bushmen, the people of the rock dwellers who formerly inhabited the coastal belt of the Cape and were believed to have become extinct.

The leaders of the expedition are Dr. C. E. Cadle, Dr. Grant H. John and Mr. Lyell Handler.

The explorers have been filming bush life in the remote parts of the Kalahari Desert in the Bechuanaland Protectorate, and the Kaoko Veldt, the northern coastal region of the former German Southwest Africa. Here are the regions chiefly inhabited by the bushmen, among the most backward of the human race.

The scientists regret that the "strandloopers," the name given the cave dwellers by the Boers when they first came to this region many decades ago, were discovered inhabiting an almost inaccessible stretch of coast which is located by a long dreadful width of desert. The government of the South African Union is being urged to send a special armed force to investigate this territory and its inhabitants.

Prediction Came True

Cousen of Bombay Fortelld His Own Death On Nov. 18

An extraordinary story of predicting one's own death comes from Sholapur in Bombay Presidency.

Moti Swarup, the wife of Mr. Pearl of Ascotica, aged 80, had predicted, it is stated, six month ago, that he would pass away on November 18 last. Two days before that he reminded his followers that the time of his death had arrived, and at their request a photograph was taken.

On the day of his death he walked round the city and camp of Sholapur and collected money for his burial, deposited it with a municipal councillor, won themes and, having seated himself in the yogi posture, passed away.

He—"Can you tell me how to get into the museum?"

She—"Well, you might let your hair grow long and wiggle your ears."

COULD NOT DO HOUSEWORK

Woman Suffered until Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Charles, Quebec.—"I was married three years and had no children. I was always troubled with pains in the abdomen and was not able to do my housework. After trying all other remedies suggested to me I have at last found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best in the world for [illegible] I can now do a good deal more than anything else I ever tried. I am well now and able to do my housework and care for my family. I recommend it to my friends as I am sure they will be satisfied."—Mrs. J. D. MICHAUD, St. Charles, Co. Bellechasse, Que.

Nervous and Run-down

Hamilton, Ont.—"I was nervous and run-down, and always had a tired feeling and no appetite. I jumped at every statement I saw always kept spirited. My worst symptom was depression and I was like way for several months. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have taken it for three months and am very much better and can work around more. I feel like another woman."—Mrs. P. LaDuy, 30 Tuxedo Ave. No., Hamilton, Ont.

CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Can be Quickly Banished With Baby's Own Tablets

The ailments of childhood are many but nine-tenths of them are due to one cause and can easily be cured—disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. They quickly banish any of the minor ailments of babyhood and childhood the bowels cause to be made to work regular and the stomach must be sweetened.

No other medicine for little ones has had such success as has Baby's Own Tablets. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; correct diarrhoea and colic and promote healthful sleep by regulating the functions of the stomach and bowels. Concerning them Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Baby's Own Tablets as I have found them excellent for childhood ailments."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Watch Your Daughter!

Mr. and Mrs. Stade

Beaufort, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best tonic and nervine that can be given to a young girl while growing into womanhood. When I was 16 to the age where I began to develop, I was very backward. I became so nervous I could not sit still. I was not able to sleep, had severe pains thru my back and head. I was very tired, weak and miserable. The lady where I was staying got me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and by the time I had taken it I was feeling fine, my nerves were good, I got strong, began to gain in weight and developed into womanhood naturally and never had any more trouble."—Mrs. Stacky Toner, 161 Halliway Ave.

Doubling the Arguments for Saving

ALL that can be said in favor of opening a savings account in the Standard Bank may be repeated with greater emphasis as regards a joint savings account. Joint accounts are primarily for convenience of depositors, but where two people are linked together by common interests, the moral as well as the practical value of working together, planning their financial betterment with the aid of a joint bank account is clearly evident. The Standard Bank solicits your joint savings account.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH CONGREGATIONL MEETING

The annual congregational meeting of St. George's church was held last Thursday, Mr. Harper in the chair.

The financial report was presented and it showed the affairs of the church to be in a very satisfactory condition, all outstanding debts having been paid and no encumbrances with which to start the new year.

The Chancel Guild report and the Women's Auxiliary report were read, the latter showing an exceptionally good year's work.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were:

Rector's warden—Mr. Harper.
People's warden—Mr. Dodge.
Vestry—Messrs. Dodge, Stevens, Bulloch, Carscadden, McDonald, Magur, Mrs. Magur, Mrs. Staples.

Votes of thanks were passed to the different organizations of the parish, which includes the Women's Auxiliary, Chancel Guild, Sunday School, organist and choir, and the outgoing vestry.

NEW GRAIN DRIER FOR COAST

Construction of a new grain drier at No. 2 elevator, Vancouver, to cost $75,000, has been authorized. This new equipment will increase the drying capacity of the port by 84,000 bushels per day and will speed up the handling of grain there by about one-third.

W. A. KRAUSE RE-ELECTED MAYOR OF BRUDERHEIM

W. A. Krause has been re-elected mayor of Bruderheim for the ensuing year and J. H. Meyers re-appointed secretary-treasurer.

The council closed the past year with a cash balance of over $450 00

An early closing by-law and a by-law to allow the council to collect a dog tax were given their first reading

The school census just completed shows an enrolment of 152 children

It was moved and carried that Rev E.R. Lockyer be asked to stay as incumbent, and that the wardens communicate with the Bishop, acquainting him with this wish of the parish vestry.

REPORT OF THE ANNUAL RATEPAYERS' MEETING

The annual ratepayers meeting was held last Friday evening with the usual attendance.

On motion of S. O. Jones, seconded A. H. Gibson, His Worship Mayor Sutherland took the chair and called the meeting to order.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read, same being adopted on motion by A. S. O'Brien, seconded S. O. Jones.

Moved by S. O. Jones, seconded by J. B. Adamson, that the Financial report of the town as published in the "Record," Fort Saskatchewan, be taken as read.

Councillor Hunter, chairman of the finance committee, presented his report, as printed in the Record.

Moved by S. O. Jones, seconded A. S. O'Brien, the financial report as published in the Fort Saskatchewan "Record" be adopted as read.—Carried.

Councillor Cranston, chairman of the Public Works committee submitted a detailed report on the year's work.

Moved by J. B. Adamson, seconded A. H. Gibson, that in their opinion the money had been wisely spent and that the report be adopted.—Carried.

Councillor Graham, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee, in submitting his report, answered several questions in regard to the possibility of a day or half day service, the subject being introduced by Councillor Dubuc, who strongly advocated that immediate steps be taken to secure the same. Mr. Graham informed the meeting that the matter had been and still was under consideration by the Electric Light committee, and on motion by A. H. Gibson, seconded by A. S. O'Brien, the report was adopted, the council recommended that the matter be left in the hands of the committee for future action.

Councillor Dubuc, chairman of the License and Police committee, reported on the work of his department, said report being adopted on motion by S. O. Jones, seconded by A. H. Gibson.

Councillor Flintoff, chairman of the Health and Relief committee, advised the meeting that the reason for the excess actual expenditure over that estimated was that Mrs. Lemoureux had received relief under the provisions of the Mother's Allowance Act commencing in May, subsequently said expenditure had not been taken into consideration when the estimates had been arrived at in March. Moved by J. B. Adamson, seconded by A. S. O'Brien, that the report be adopted.—Carried.

Councillor Augustine, chairman of the Works and Property committee, rendered his report, which was adopted on motion by A. H. Gibson, seconded by A. S. O'Brien.—Carried.

The secretary-treasurer of School District No. 81, J. B. Adamson, presented the financial statement which was adopted on motion by A. H. Gibson, seconded by S. Hunter.—Carried.

An expression of appreciation was voiced by S. O. Jones, seconded by A. H. Gibson, for the efficient manner in which the council had transacted the business of the town during the past year, to which the Mayor replied by thanking the meeting in general, concluding by expressing his own appreciation of the splendid co-operation and support given to him by the councillors.

A vote of thanks was moved by Councillor Hunter for the School Trustees for the efficiency shown in the handling of school affairs during the year 1925.

PROVINCIAL LIQUOR PROFITS

Net profits or $1,817,185 were made by the Alberta government on its operations under the liquor act in 1925. The full amount realized through the business of the liquor control board was $1666,976, covering the full calendar year. Sales of permits for the year amounted to $112,172.

Out of the gross receipts of the board during the year the sum of $37,615 was placed to reserve accounts, the policy of the government being to build up a reserve fund that will give protection against possible future losses.

Last year was the first twelve-month period for which the liquor control board has reported, since the act was not operative at the beginning of 1924. For the eight months of that year covered by the operations of the board, as reported to the last legislature, the net profits were $1,-020,324. The 1925 figures are therefore slightly in advance of the proportionate figures for 1924. In both cases they represent the entire net revenues received from venders' sales and beer licenses.

TRUE BLUE CLUB PLAYS 'AN OLD FASHIONED MOTHER'

(Contributed by one of the audience)

"An Old Fashioned Mother" was splendidly rendered by the True Blue club of Partridge Hill on the nights of January 27 and 28. The church was filled to capacity on both nights. Deborah Underhill had a heavy part to perform, and acted it to perfection, showing a spirit of Christian fortitude in face of adversities, and being the cause of making a man of Enoch Rene through her Christian, motherly advice.

"Widder Bill Pindle" acted her part splendidly as the choir leader and also as the mother of Sabey Pindle. Sabey was a limb of mischief and acted her part exceedingly well.

Miss L. L. Custard was splendid and after much angling, eventually succeeded in catching "Deacon Brother Gubbs," the pastor, who is a widower with seven youngsters.

John Underhill, the youngest of the deacon's six, and the black sheep of his family, as of the part of the prodigal son is perfection, proving that

Fathers and Sons

From either the contemplation of abstract phases of life, or the ebb and bustle of ordinary affairs, it is refreshing to turn to an occasion of robust, red-blooded companionship such as is called forth by the association of fathers and sons in the annual observances of Father and Son Week.

There is much philosophizing on the Brotherhood of Man, much dogmatizing on the Fatherhood of God, but all in meaningless without a proper appreciation of the vital relationship between the individual father and the individual son.

No more congenial field for development can be given a boy in which he may discover the many relationships which should exist in life than in the atmosphere of an understanding father's influence. And what matters so much more in a few years' time depend on the impressions obtained in early youth.

A boy's code has been made from the days when the old woodshed held sway as about the only occasion on which a father became intimate with his son and summed up for him the acknowledged position of the father as judge and disciplinarian, and the unit with whom he thought it desirable to talk boy's matters than to see for was home when required and out of sight the rest of the time. We are thankful that today we can point to the fellowship of father and son in contact running throughout all the family activities, in the interests of the community and teaching out to rising Provincial and every Dominion visit.

To what may be attributed this change? In a large measure it is due to a keener appreciation of all the aspects and truth of the poet's statement that "the boy is father to the man." The fathers realize it in the trained personage of the daily life, and the unit with eyes to the thought of how to lead boys' minds to greater things than they themselves have done and in the splendid building their privileged duty of leading out their boys toward a truer sense of values.

The son, recognizes it in the urge to look beyond the present to that dim time which forever beckons to youth the time of the realization of their powers and possibilities. And the sense of his not long to be delayed responsibility throws him back to glean humbly those truths which companionship with a mature mind might give him. And in the impact of this seeking for the best in each, the father meets the son not merely as a progenitor, but as the sympathetic man-child and pride, and the son realizes in the man not the male offspring of the man but is of the flesh of his very heart and soul and holds at his disposal the best of which the father is capable.

So with the thought at the front, the place and purpose of this high relationship between Father and Son the C.S.E.T. movement has made a very definite place for its observance. During the month of February a week is set aside in which to foster the fellowship of Fathers and Sons. To many fathers this time is a time of real reconsecration to the biggest job of their lives—that of upbuilding and outfooding the life of a boy, and to the boys come a realization that, though often preoccupied with business cares, Fathers have their best interests at heart and a renewed trust is awakened and strengthened in the limits of all the relationships of the home and this finds expression also in increased faithful performances of their obligations to the home.

Not only are home relationships emphasized, but also Christian fellowship in the Church. That line in Longfellow depicting the village blacksmith going on Sunday to Church and sitting amongst his boys exerting a punch minister that had delivered by the smith's muscled arms and hands on the red hot iron is not to be all. It is the unanswerable argument with those who would have you do as I say, not do as I do.

Not only are public opportunities provided for in Church service and banquet for expression and development between Fathers and Sons, but encouragement is given to the more personal and private interchange of thoughts and ideas by means of hikes and home nights. These are golden grounds, affording priceless opportunities to each participant to make his contribution to that happy estate of perfect understanding between both.

Much might be said of the details of the programme of activities during Father and Son Week. Suffice it to say that, while emphasis is laid on recognition of Fatherhood and Sonship and all they involve during the short period of one week this is to be taken only as an indication of the necessity and worthwhileness of an understanding between Fathers and Sons based on sympathetic fellowship with and deep respect to each other the whole year round, and from this achievement of the soul will flow out a real spirit of brotherhood, embracing the height, breadth and depth of all human relationship, breathing goodwill to man and honor to man's Maker.

ANAEMIA SHOWS IN VARYING SYMPTOMS

Pains and Aches Disappear When the Blood is Built Up

When the blood is thin every organ of the body suffers in its turn. Nervousness and headaches, sleeplessness and loss of color and strength. Many symptoms develop which the patient suffers widely different diseases and so cause the unwelcome approaches. The quickness with which a supply of rich red blood will drive away all these pains and aches is shown by the case of Miss Alice Saadberg, Qwens, Sask., who says: "I can speak with the highest praise of Dr Williams' Pink Pills, for in this medicine I owe my present good health. Last winter I was pale, weak and run-down generally looking. My back ached and I had severe pains in the stomach. At times my head ached and I would feel dizzy. I tried various medicines but they did not help me. A friend advised me to try Dr Williams' Pink Pills and I can honestly say how glad I am that I acted on this advice. I had not been using them very long when I felt a change for the better. Day by day I became stronger. The headaches, backache, stomach troubles and dizziness disappeared and I was again enjoying good health. You may be sure I shall ever have a good word to say for Dr Williams' Pink Pills."

If you need a blood-building tonic begin taking Dr Williams' Pink Pills today. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Three Directors Issue Statement in Connection With Elevator Policy

Three directors of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, W. G. Weir, C. S. Stevenson and A J M Poole issued a statement in connection with the statement of elevator policy recently made by Colin H. Burnell, president of the pool, and published in the Free Press of Jan. 15. The statement in part is as follows:

"The Free press of Jan 13 contained a statement from Mr. Burnell carrying the heading, 'Pool Will Again Seek to Acquire Elevators'

"This statement was issued without consultation with the board of directors of the Manitoba pool, and without authority from the board.

"As three members of the Manitoba pool board, our efforts for over two months have been directed to attempting to get the boards of the pool and the U.G.G. together to discuss frankly any differences of opinion that may exist.

"We believe more can be done in this way than by the boards staying apart and each in their own meetings evolving plans to put up to the other."

Canadian Banks In Better Position To Serve Public

One of the most conspicuous and unfavorable elements which pushed [illegible] was the [illegible] banks [illegible] and the pressure became [illegible] was made by [illegible] Manager of The Royal Bank [illegible] ada, at the annual meeting [illegible] held in part.

Through amalgamation the number of banks in Canada has been [illegible] reduced, the process [illegible] amalgamation [illegible] Canadian Bankers Association [illegible] the banks [illegible] the banks [illegible] have been organized [illegible] tration of banking [illegible] of a comparatively few [illegible] may lead to bad results, such as [illegible] ceding of competition or neglect of local interests. The feeling in Canada [illegible] competition seems to have had [illegible] rejoice in the fear of what may [illegible] be in future, rather than a result of developments to date. for no one can say that the competition between banks is [illegible] than it has been in the past. We believe that the contrary is the case and that a large proportion of the [illegible] efficiency and economy has been passed on to the public in the form of increased service and facilities to customers.

The merits of branch banking as compared with a system of unit banks are a subject of debate in the United States, but the principle of branch banking have obtained such a strong hold in Canada as to make [illegible] any business to go back to unit banking. Canada, however, the arguments in favor of branch banking have been strengthened by the fact that during the period of business depression, which are related to it, it has been more intimately in touch with conditions at the points requiring assistance.

Very Gratifying Success Is Achieved By British Settlers Coming Under Assisted Scheme

It has been said that one of the factors which might become an active stimulant to British immigration to Canada in 1926 and the years following would be the satisfaction and success exhibited by those British families moved to the Dominion in the course of the present year to be settled on farms under the assisted scheme of the Canadian Government. Through the terms of the Overseas Settlement Act, the Imperial and Canadian Governments entered into an agreement whereby three thousand families in the British Isles would be assisted on to Canadian farms. The colonists were to be provided on arrival with a farm which they would make their domicile, and this stocked with cattle, poultry and machinery, the price of these to be repayable in the settler in twenty-five annually payments, with interest at five per cent., no payment being asked until at least a year after settlement.

The scheme came into operation in 1926. Only families were accepted which, after careful investigation, were approved as suitable by the emigration agents in the British Government. Farm owners were prepared for their occupation before their arrival. No family, however, was permitted to operate a farm immediately on their coming to Canada, especially if it was recognized must be gained and Canada were located to neighboring farmers for the first year, during which period they would be living, sharing, garden and pasture. The farmer of the family also undertook to see that they were directed to employment in the immediate vicinity. The first family thus accepted under the scheme sailed for Canada in March, 1925, and altogether during the first year approximately 500 families, numbering nearly 2,500 persons, came to Canada under its provisions.

Some statistics published to-day by the Department of Immigration and Colonization in the House of Commons at Ottawa, show that the scheme has been a success from the point of view of the Canadian Government. Not only has the number of families originally selected for the scheme increased, but the number of persons who have left the farms on which they were originally placed is very small. Of the total 425 families, or 65 per cent. of all those who sailed in 1925, have definitely expressed themselves as happy and satisfied, and glad that they moved.

A review of these simply narrated experiences, gathered together by the department of immigration and colonization, makes very gratifying reading to those who have found it a matter of deep regret that it has not been found possible in the post war years to effect any great agricultural development in Canada along British lines. Such families as dropped out of the scheme, it was found, had not formed a proper conception of actual farm life in Canada. In several cases they did not realize that hard work was essential to success, or that a farm which could be purchased at a moderate price, with no payment down, with low interest, and at long terms, must necessarily be a modest establishment and not the highly developed place so frequently conceived as a typical Canadian home. The revised, lately altogether, goes to show that every one of the British families which set out in the right spirit, actuated by a vision which permitted them to see the future result of present labors, has achieved an initial measure of success which is very gratifying to Canada and must be highly pleasing to themselves.

Bran As Human Food

Lessens Supply Necessarily an Opinion of U. S. Doctor

Some of our food specialists think the average diet would supply all the food elements needed for health and bodily vigor if it contained a little more milk. Fish-Farming In Europe

Germany Goes In For This Industry On Large Scale

Great Britain is almost the only country where fish farming is practically unknown.

It is true that there are excellent trout and salmon hatcheries, but these are run only for the sake of restocking waters for sport.

Germany goes in for eel-farming on a large scale, and before the war the Germans bought huge quantities of elvers, or young eels, in England. Figures, on the Severn, was their source of supply, and in four years they took seventeen million eel fry from this place to their own fish farms.

The most up-to-date eel farm in the world is at Neuhaus, on the Danish island of Zealand, where an artificial lake of nearly five hundred acres has been formed and stocked with eels. Pumps have been set up to pump the salt water from the bay close by into the lake, and a special passage is arranged with fresh water flowing out of it to attract the elvers or young eels from the sea.

JESUS HEALS AND SAVES A BLIND MAN

Golden Text: I am the light of the world: he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. John 8:12

Lesson, John 9:1-41

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42:1-7

The Text Explained and Illustrated

(By Arthur Wallace Pitt, B.A., Author of "The Abiding Christ," "The Gospel According to Paul," etc.)

1. And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. Jesus was leaving the temple, and as He passed through the court He saw a man who had been blind from his birth, sitting there begging. Blindness was common in the East, and the people looked upon it as a punishment for sin. Jesus' disciples evidently shared this view, for they asked Him whether this man or his parents had sinned that he was born blind. Their question implied that the Rabbis were suffering for the sins of their parents, and that God had dealt severely with them in order to punish them. Jesus said that they were both wrong. Neither the man nor his parents were responsible for his blindness. It was not a case of punishment for sin, but a case where God's power could be manifested in healing. Jesus' answer was a rebuke to the Rabbis, who were always looking for someone to blame when anything went wrong. Instead of looking for the inevitable moral reason which leads men to connect trouble with wrong doing, Jesus said that they will all men have a certain trust that the Power which rules the universe is just; that moral causes and effect run through all the world, that no wrong is done on the part of the human self, committed in the unseen darkness, or carried on where the sense of the most complete enforcement of time can or does escape punishment.

The next Saskatchewan school trustees' convention will meet in the City Hall Regina on February 17th, 18th and 19th. A splendid programme has been prepared that should prove both interesting and entertaining. Among the speakers expected are C. A. Dunning, premier of Saskatchewan; Chief Justice Doak, K.B. Court of Saskatchewan; Professor G. W. Weir, University of Saskatchewan; Hon. R. J. Gant, minister of education; Very Rev. Archdeacon Davidson, and Dr. H. J. Rigell, of Alberta. A special committee in this locality is being made by the Regina College Conservatory of Music and, as usual, a large part of the time will be devoted to discussion on rural options. Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Conquers Bad Breath and is Popular Again

"The day I started taking Carter's Little Liver Pills," says Mr. John A. Perry of New York City, "my tongue had breath and bad stomach stopped. I strongly recommend them to all those afflicted with these nasty troubles. I assure you that for my case was a bad one, causing me untold embarrassment, and Carter's helped me right from the start."

Bad breath comes from sour stomach and can usually be relieved quickly by Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They are wonderful for constipation, sick-headache and indigestion and they physic the system in a mild and gentle manner, no bad after effects.

Griddle Cakes

A Tested Recipe For This Favorite Breakfast Dish

Who doesn't like griddle cakes? From father to the youngest member of the family, every one clamors for them—when they are light. Here is a tested recipe

1 cupful Borden's St Charles Milk
1 cupful water
2 tablespoonfuls melted butter
2 eggs, well beaten
3 cupfuls white flour
1 teaspoonful salt
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder
2 tablespoonfuls sugar

Combine the milk and water, add the shortening, sugar and the egg, and beat in the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Beat thoroughly and fry as usual on a slightly oiled griddle, or on an unoiled aluminum or soapstone griddle. If very thin cakes are desired, add two more tablespoonfuls of St. Charles milk and water.

Self-Poisoning Increasingly Common

Modern Living Habits Promote Self-Poisoning in Thousands are Victims

The average man or woman does not enjoy consistent good health. Loss of appetite, headaches, biliousness and a lack of enthusiasm for either work or play are constant complaints.

Everyone who has ascertained that such a condition is due to self-poisoning resulting from constipation, or other deficient—especially among middle aged people. The poisons from waste matter are absorbed in the system of people thus affected in the insidious energy of good health.

Such people need Nujol, because Nujol softens the waste matter and permits thorough and regular bowel elimination without overtaxing the internal muscles. It helps Nature help you.

Ask your druggist for Nujol to-day—and remember, look for the name "Nujol" in red on both bottle label and package.

MARKETING PLAN OF CANADA WEST ROAD TO SUCCESS

Saskatoon Development of co-operative marketing evidenced through the efforts of the producers as it is being done in Western Canada was characterized by Professor C. B. Fullerton of Toronto, speaking before the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers here, as the one means of building up a marketing organization that, from the standpoint of farmer would give lasting results.

"The eyes of the world are upon Western Canada, wondering if this great economic venture will last," the speaker declared in his opening remarks. Judging from what Mr. Mc-Phail pointed out in the address of welcome, the people here propose carrying it through. Mr. Fullerton pointed out that in Western Canada development was starting almost with the first.

In Western Canada the improvement of marketing facilities for the farmers has been gradual and has always been more or less in a right direction," he said. "It was felt that agricultural conditions of difficulty which were to confront and there first were first directed toward improvement in shipping facilities and a general improvement in methods. In marketing of grain but the movement has spread and today we will find a great central market organization by which it is hoped that the farmer will receive a reasonable margin of profit on his output.

Photograph Canada From Air

Topographical Survey Aid Air Force in Useful Work

Ottawa.—Through the closer co-operation of the Royal Air Force and the topographical survey department of the interior, 47,000 square miles of Canadian territory have been surveyed fully photographically during the past season. This rapid progress, it is stated adds another milestone toward the successful application of aerial photography to the survey of Canada. The material was as an aid to the development of Canada's resources.

The photographs were carried on in various parts of the country from air bases already established. The bulk of the work performed however was located in Manitoba and Western Ontario, where 37,700 square miles of forest and mineral areas were photographed.

In Ontario the lids as canal, Rideau Lake and part of the Muskoka area were successfully photographed. The mapping of some 4,000 square miles were performed in the Ontario and the same in the district of Mitaki and the mineral district of Red Lake, as part of the Manitoba operations. A section of the Pas district and Hudson Bay Railway were also photographed.

Congestion Becoming Serious

Interior Elevators Plugged As Result Of Embargo On Grain Shipments

Winnipeg.—Congestion of interior elevators as the result of the embargo on the shipment of grain in the head of the lakes and the Pacific coast has become serious, according to officials of the prairie wheat pools and the United Grain Growers, Limited.

The report that thousands of loaded cars are in the lake-head terminal yards. All the sidings between Winnipeg and Fort William are congested and filled with grain cars and with farmers still marketing grain every day. Inside the interior elevators are plugged.

Until the all-rail movement of grain becomes greater, there will be no relief, these officers state.

It is reported that more than 10,000 cars are held up at sidings in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Sir Henry Thornton Says All Signs Point to Revival of Business

Sir Henry Thornton says all signs point to a revival of business in Canada during the coming year. President of the Canadian National Railways, told a gathering of more than 700 persons at the luncheon of the local chamber of commerce here. Another successful year, such as Canada enjoyed in 1927 will mean a total of more than 1926 a banner year.

The Canadian railway chief gave his impression of conditions in Europe gleaned during his recent trip to England and France. Both these countries were rapidly recovering from the period of great depression and the lessons plan he said has been favorably received everywhere in Europe.

Urges Empire Settlement

Prince of Wales Would Like to See More Emigration to Dominions.

London.—Closer co-operation between Great Britain and the dominions in the matter of emigration, it was urged by the Prince of Wales speaking at a luncheon given in his honor by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Prince said the great migratory stream must benefit both the over-populated old Countries and the dominions "which have great virgin regions of possibilities . . . I should like to see more well-to-do people settling on the land overseas as a definite career," the Prince stated.

A Challenge To The Rural School Trustees

Support of Every School Trustee Necessary to Keep the Pupils in Attendance

Abreast of Ever Changing Needs

In a recent address at Saskatchewan U. W. Kirby of Calgary stated that the children of rural Canada are not had a square deal and are not getting a square deal today. He said the opinion some of the trouble in the rural schools lies with the rural trustee.

What are the facts? Some rural schools are excellent, most of them are fairly good, in a number, condemnation of the rural school reflects very largely the attitude of the local ratepayer and trustee. Where the school is successful, you will find they are more interested in keeping down the taxes than educating the children and their idea of education is usually limited to the three Rs. Naturally, they choose a teacher who best substitute represents them and their views. The result has very little, if any, contact "with trustees of other schools." Th in the province calls the school once or twice a year, but the trustee rarely sees him. His relation with the department is practically eliminated except by the occasional inspection. RAILWAYS COME UP FOR DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa.—Canada's railway problems received some attention from members during the continued debate on the address in the House of Commons. W. F. MacLean, Conservative member for South York, advocated amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. Unnecessary duplication of lines with consequent waste of millions would thus be eliminated, he said and the new system would be equipped with a great steamship service operating on the two oceans. He told the house that the time had come to shut party feelings and get together to solve the railway problem. Legislation to settle the matter was necessary, he said, and there was nothing to dismiss a proposal for consolidation.

T. B. Mclntosh, Liberal member for North Battleford who preceded Mr. MacLean, spoke in favor of extension of the Hudson Bay Railway. It was a short route for Canadian products to the markets of the world he said. Parliament, he thought, should issue no more bonds for guaranteed railway purposes but instead use dominion funds in approving it.

From the Progressive seats, John Evans, member for Rosetown-Biggar, hailed the tariff as diabolical framup between manufacturers and politicians." He reiterated that the Canadian people would have paid $225,000,000 this year through the tariff.

Increase In Farm Products

Figures For Alberta Issued By Department of Agriculture

Edmonton.—Alberta's agricultural production in 1927 is valued at a total of $256,000,367, showing an increase of $14,817,997 over the total of $213,182,370 for 1926 according to figures just issued by the provincial department of agriculture.

A large share of this increase for the past year is accounted for by the greater value of grain crops produced in the province of 1927, stated H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, in announcing these figures to the delegates to the convention of the Alberta Farmers' Association here.

A total value of grain crops grown in the province in 1927 is placed at $148,502,214, as compared with $106,409,146 in 1926. Dairy products show a slight decrease of from $32,200,000 in 1926 to $32,007,000 in 1927, a decrease which invariably accompanies a year of exceptionally good grain crops.

Humane Society Rewards C.P.R. Hero

In recognition of his heroic action when at great personal risk he rescued a lady from being crushed under a tramway, Joseph Tammaro, cobbler and stenographer in the Investigation Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been presented with a certificate of the Royal Canadian Humane Association in the offices of the department at Windsor Street.

The presentation was made by Brig-General E. de B. Panet, chief of the department of investigation, who, in handing over the parchment to Mr. Tammaro, stated the whole department was proud to think he had so distinguished himself at the "risk of his life for an entire stranger. It was a very gallant action and one that they all admired.

Mr. Tammaro, in reply, said he would not hesitate to repeat it if the occasion arouse.

The accident occurred in July, 1923, at St Catherine Street. A lady crossing the thoroughfare fell on the tram car tracks as a car was approaching. The conductor had no time to pull up and she would have been run over but for the presence of mind of Mr. Tammaro who dragger her to safety at the cost of spraining his ankle.

Reach Agreement On Debt

Easy Terms Accorded to Italy by Great Britain

London.—Great Britain and Italy have come to a settlement on the Italian war debt. A complete agreement has been reached according to an official statement issued this week.

Count Volpi (Italian minister of finance) and Mr Churchill (chancellor of the exchequer) have arrived at a complete agreement on the Italian debt to Great Britain. Formal signature of the funding agreements will take place tomorrow and the text will be available tomorrow evening."

As yet the exact terms of settlement are not known. It seems safe to assume, however, that the British taxpayer will be greatly disappointed, as it is understood that the terms Count Volpi obtained were even better than the terms granted to Italy by the United States.

It is believed that he made those of the settlement provide for the payment of an annuity of 4,500,000 pounds sterling for 62 years, the annuity commencing forthwith, but possibly with some slight relaxation the first year. Italy remunerates the interest on the 27,000,000 pounds sterling in gold deposited with the Bank of England.

Export Of Liquor To U. S.

Bay Regulations and Treaty Obligations Are Being Strictly Observed

Ottawa.—Discussing the charges made at the meeting of the Ontario Prohibition Union in Toronto that liquor was being shipped from Canadian ports to the United States and that the Dominion customs officials were leaving regular clearance papers on such shipments, Hon. George H. Boivin minister of customs said that the departmental customs was watching closely for any infractions in the export of liquor.

The minister of customs pointed out that when a certificate is issued on a shipment bound for the United States, the designated United States customs officers are notified of the same.

Mr Boivin declared that regulations were being enforced by the latter and all treaty obligations to the United States observed so far as the Dominion Department of customs was concerned.

SENATE URGES U.S. ENTRY INTO WORLD COURT

Washington.—Although the Senate has previously given its decision that the United States shall enter the World Court, the controversy over this question apparently is only beginning. There appears little likelihood that the resolutions of ad-hesion will receive the needed two-thirds majority and the reservations which would virtually nullify United States participation are expected to receive but little support.

Proponents of the League of Nations in the United States have already served notice that they intend to follow up entrance into the World Court by a campaign to force the country into the league.

This was aroused the opponents of entry into the World Court more than ever, and they are laying plans in the first place to force the withdrawal of the United States from the court and in the second place to quiff by the campaign to get the country into the league.

Senators Borah, Reed of Missouri and other active proponents of entry into the World Court will appeal to the country and between now and an election of Congress will doubtless have made many speeches with a view to arousing public sentiment.

Will Investigate Atmospheric Disturbances

Sun Spots Play Havoc With Electrical Communication

Winnipeg.—Atmospheric disturbances which have played havoc with electrical communication over a wide expanse of the Dominion during the past few days, will be a subject of investigation by a committee of Winnipeg scientists, electrical experts and other authorities. The committee will launch upon its task during the present week.

Violent disturbances have caused a great annoyance to radio fans since early last fall and investigation of the data being the forces of interruption are traced directly to the sun.

We already have noted that sunlight interferes with radio transmission. Experiments have shown that the sun's rays affect radio waves and broadcast music waves. Dr P. R Coates, superintendent of the broadcasting station of Winnipeg declared he considered on the cause of disturbances.

Investigate Complaints About Canadian Apples

Fruit Not Tainted With Arsenic Says Department of Agriculture

Ottawa.—Complaints that Canadian apples are tainted with arsenic as the result of the poisons employed in spraying to control the codling moth, have led to a request for spring flying tests, it was announced this week by the department of agriculture, to make a rigid investigation.

No trouble has ever arisen over this danger so far as Canadian apples is aware, through such treatment of apples, and the department is doing all in its power to prevent danger arising and anticipate possible trouble, Deputy Minister Dr. J. H. Grisdale, stated.

It is understood here that the complaints arose because apples grown in some districts in the United States have been found to contain traces of arsenic residue of the Paris green spraying solution used in the orchards.

Sleigh Dog Chases Wolf

Port Arthur, Ont.—Mrs R Paliska—Kaministiquia, got a thrilling ride when her sleigh raises a snowman's dog, gave chase to a wolf, which had crossed his trail. HOCKEY

The Fort hockey team received a handsome trimming at the hands of the Lamont contents last Wednesday night. The locals were badly handicapped with the small sheet of ice they play on in the the eastern village and also on account of some dead line, no man's land, or whatever it is they are not allowed to shoot at, or from, or to; a peculiar ruling made necessary by the miniature rink. The score was 5—3 in favor of Lamont.

In the fastest game of the season Alberta Avenue Community League team defeated the local boys by 5—1 last Saturday. It was a very clean game and most enjoyable. E. Pocock handled the ball and considering it was his first attempt did very well.

MERIT MARKS FOR PRISONERS

Eighteen months ago Hon. Alex Ross, minister of public works in the Alberta government, instituted a scheme in the provincial jails, at Lethbridge and Fort Saskatchewan, whereby prisoners by dint of good behavior and industry could earn suf scient "merit marks" to entitle them to a remission of sentence.

The scheme was applicable only to sentences of one month and upwards, with a maximum remission of four days per month graded down to one half-day, according to the number of merit marks obtained. Hon. Ross is in receipt of reports from the wardens of both jails giving results obtained since its inception.

At Lethbridge, 311 prisoners participated in the scheme and the sum of remissions amounted to totalled 649, making an average of over five days for each prisoner. During the year it was found necessary to take away the whole remissions from only two men, both for serious breaches of discipline. There were a few minor infractions which did not affect the remissions to any great extent.

At Fort Saskatchewan 510 prisoners took part in the scheme and only four men failed to earn remissions of some kind. In their reports the wardens praise the scheme, saying that the prisoners work with a will to earn their full quota of marks. On occurring the jail, prisoners are informed of the scheme and it depends entirely upon themselves whether they receive shortened sentences. A man has some incentive to take greater pains to behave himself, and the whole thing, besides the wardens, has done much to promote good discipline in the jails.

FEAR

By Dr. C. M. Hincks

A series of mental hygiene articles prepared by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene

The bogie man, the goblin and the ogre, invented to frighten children into behaving, often mar the disposition of a child. They tend to cause timidity and have other unfortunate consequences.

Parents should refrain from telling ghost stories that serve to arouse fear in the mind of a child. They should teach their children that sleep ing in adark room is the most natural thing in the world and that dark corners hold no terrors

For the average child, the parental qualities of courage and fearlessness in meeting al situations will prevent timidity and cowardice in later years.

It is always important to interpret the fears of children correctly and to meet them in a rational way

In the case of a child afflicted with intense and persistent fears, a physician should be consulted. Children who suffer from "night terrors" often have physical infirmities and, with their removal, the fears disappear. In some cases "night terrors" are caused by heavy meals or by excitement just before bed time

HOW MONEY IS MADE

Behind the Scenes at the Royal Mint at Ottawa

1—Rolling ingots into thin strips of gold and silver. A series of grooves in a cylinder of steel, through which the ingots are passed, gradually reduces them to the thickness required. 2—Punching blanks from the strips. The machine punches out the blanks, which are then weighed, and rough ones sent to the melting pot again.

3—Turning blanks until they have exactly the right weight. The blanks are then passed to have it in liquid form, otherwise it and ...

...—the main entrance to the Canadian Branch of The Royal Mint at Ottawa.

THERE is a vast difference between making money and coining money. Anybody can make enough may make money, says a writer in the Royal Bank Magazine, but the privilege of coining money belongs to the Sovereign. The only place in all Canada where money is actually made is at the Canadian branch of The Royal Mint at Ottawa, which was opened only seventeen years ago, in 1908, for the manufacture of all Canadian coins as well as English sovereigns.

Great cleanliness is characteristic of all the work at the mint. A certain weight of metal is given out, and a certain number of coins must be returned. Every piece of metal is searched for till found. Even the dust which accumulates is collected and melted to recover the precious metal it contains.

The punching throughout, which the raw material passes in being transformed from the rough metal into the finished coin are: melting, rolling, punching, engraving, milling, annealing, blanching, coining, counting.

Melting Metals

The ingots as received from the mint office are placed in crucibles with the proper quantity of copper and melted. The molten metal is poured into cast-iron moulds. The burning coinage bars about two feet long, two inches wide, and half an inch thick.

The bars are not passed on till a report has been received from the Assay Office that they are of the right standard.

The Rolling Mill

In the rolling process the bars are thinned by stages to their proper ...

...ayerstown or eighteen feet long and of a thickness equal to that of the coin to be made therefrom.

Punching Discs

Next the fillets are taken to the punching machine, which simply blank is punched out. If this is found to be the right weight the whole strip is passed as standard, but if too light, it is returned to the rolling mill. Blanks are weighed per and two in silver or gold are cut at each stroke, and each machine can produce three hundred gold per minute, and from thirty to forty bronze blanks in a minute.

The blanks from the punching have been cut nearly an ounce up so that to be rounded.

Weighing

The blanks then are passed through the marking machine, which gives a raised edge to the coin. The machine can mark six hundred coins in a minute.

The milling and cutting process makes the metal hard and brittle, so they in a furnace, and annealed by passing them through an annealing furnace, and cleaned in a weak solution of sulphuric acid, and then washed and dried. They are now done in a centrifugal drying machine.

Stamping Coins

Coining or stamping is the next process. The presses, of which there are six, have a capacity of 300,000 coins a day. The top and bottom dies, which make the impression on each side of the coin, move up and down, the collar piece, in which the blank is enclosed, remaining stationary. The blanks are passed in a feed tube, one at a time to the die by steel fingers, which fall into the tube at a time and place for ...

...ressure of eighteen tons and of a thickness equal to that of the coin and form the impression on both sides at once. The milled edge and the final polish have been put on at this one operation.

Examining and Weighing

The next step is the testing and examining of the coins. In the case of gold, and fifty and twenty-five cent silver coins, each is weighed on an automatic machine. The impossible coins are rejected, and weighed in groups, against a standard weight, by hand. The one-dollar piece against a pound of avoir-du-poids weight, and fifty and twenty-five-cent pieces should weigh exactly half and quarter respectively. Other weighing machines are so arranged that, when loaded, the beam will turn to the weighed part of a postage stamp. Each machine will weigh about twelve pieces a minute.

The coins passed by the automatic scales as being of the correct weight are then subjected to another examination, where they are spread on two trays sliding belts and carefully examined. One operator examines one side and another the other. The perfect coins are dropped singly on an iron block to be struck, after they have received a ring; 50,000 such coins can be struck in a day. Any found to be imperfect are put through the defacing machine, which cuts notches around the rim, and then they are sent to be remelted.

The coins that have stood all these tests are then weighed into certain fixed amounts and deposited to the credit of the banks, who receive them in bags by the thousand.

The coins are then ready for circulation in small change.

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mowning, Ontario, — "I am a pictorial nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not get at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed. I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have had good health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it."— Mrs. NEAL Bowers, R. R. 1, Mowning, Ontario.

Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, to be Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, his beloved Nepeese, daughter of the trapper, gone wandered about over the trails, through the forest, always in search of Baree, but without success. At length he encountered the Scotch half-breed McTaggart, the latter and he stripped them of everything, and carried off Nepeese. They yielded to McTaggart's lustful desires, but his father and supporting the murder by footprints were those of the dog, and running, started after a search for Baree.

between Baree and Bush McTaggart had become more than an incident in the life of the wilderness dog. It was the beast, and more than an irritating happening to the man. It was, for the first time, elementary values dawned in their lives.

Baree hung to the trail of the murderer, and each time that he sniffed afresh the scent of the Father Cross Lost his ...

the fur he came across; his greatest pleasure came to be—not in eating—but in destroying. The fires of his hatred burned fiercer as the months passed, and at last he would snap and tear with his long fangs at the snow where McTaggart's feet had passed. And all of the time, away back of his madness, there was a vision of Nepeese that continued to grow more and more clearly in his brain. That first Great Loneliness—the loneliness of the long days and longer nights of his waiting and watching at the Grey Lone, oppressed him again as it had oppressed him in the early days of her loss. On stormy or moonlit nights he set forth his waiting cries for her again, and Bush McTaggart, listening to them in the mid dle of the night, felt strange shivers run up his spine

The man's hatred was different than the beast's, but perhaps even more implacable. With McTaggart it was not hatred alone. There was mixed with it an indefinable and superstitious fear, a thing he laughed at, a thing he cursed at, but which clung to him as surely as the scent of his trail clung to Baree's nose. Baree was a thief, stood for the animal alone; he stood for Nepeese. That was the thought that tormented, growing in McTaggart's ugly mind. Never a day passed now that he not think of the Willow; never a night came and went without a visioning of her face. He even fancied, on a certain night of storm, that he heard her voice out in the wailing of the wind—and less than a minute later he heard faintly a distant howl out in the forest. That night his heart was filled with a load on dread. He shook himself. He smoked his pipe until the cabin was

It was the fifth day that Bush McTaggart returned to his post. He was in an ugly mood. Only Valence of the four Frenchmen was there, and if Valence who heard his story and afterward heard him cursing Marie. He came into the store a little later, big eyed and frightened, one of her cheeks flaming red where McTaggart had struck her. While the storekeeper was getting her the canned salmon McTaggart wanted for his dinner, Val ence found the opportunity to whisper softly in her ear:

"Mi'sieu Lorne has trapped a silver fox," he said with low triumph. "He loves you, mon ami, and you will have a splendid catch by spring—and sends you this message from his cabin up on The Little Black Bear With No Tail. He reads in the when the post shows come!"

Marie did not look at him, but she heard, and her eyes showed no like scars when the young store keeper gave her the salmon that he said to Valence when she had gone:

"Blue Heath, but she is still beautiful at times, Valence!"

To which Valence nodded with an odd smile.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition we see every day. Some people call it nervousness, others call it nerves and I cannot tell which is right, but I know I have had both and I have had a broken down system. I was in a terrible condition. I had no appetite, could not sleep, was very nervous, had dizzy spells, and was all run down. I had been taking different medicines but they did not help me. I was induced to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut and I am glad I did so. They have done me a world of good. I am now in the best of health, have a good appetite, sleep well, and am not troubled with nervousness. I am glad to recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to anyone suffering from a broken down system. a mother's prayers are answered.

"Brother Jonah Quackenbush', was splendid in his role of "a whited sepulchre," and there was quite a bit of Skylock about him too.

Jeremiah Gosling, "Jerry," was too funny for words and kept the audience in peals of laughter. As a swapper he has no equal.

The remaining characters all acted their parts splendidly, thereby adding to the pathos and humor of the play as their various parts required.

The splendid morals of the play, "Honor thy father and thy mother," and "Look not upon the wine when it is red," were beautifully demonstrated throughout the greater part of the play.

WHEAT POOL NEWS

The following is an extract from the January 8th, 1926, issue of "The London Grain, Seed and Oil Reporter," published in London, England:—

"American interests are reported to be buying Manitoba wheat for milling in bond for export, which has become a feature of the Buffalo milling trade. There are also reports that the Wheat Pool is holding back wheat in anticipation of higher prices. Traders appear to be fighting the Wheat Pool strenuously, and the breaks in the market are in part due to the speculative selling as being down Pool prices, but so far this organization has managed to hold its own and to pretty well rule the market for actual wheat."

HIGH AVERAGE OF ALBERTA OIL WELLS

In comparison with the average production in other oil fields of the world, Alberta oil wells are showing show a high average. The Royalite well south of Calgary in the Turner Valley field, known as the world's richest oil well, is producing 400 barrels a day of almost pure naphtha, while wells in the Wainwright field east of Edmonton are producing from 80 to 100 barrels a day. This compares with an average of 6.59 barrels in 296,915 wells in the United States in 1924, with an average of 56.53 in California, of 20.9 barrels in Texas, of 8.22 barrels in Oklahoma, of 20.63 in Montana Rocky Mountain area, of 41.84 in Wyoming.

NEW OFFICIAL NAMED

Dr. A. E. Braithwaite, well known Edmonton physician, has been named by the provincial government as chief coroner for the cities of Edmonton and Calgary. Dr. Braithwaite will also act as inspector of hospitals. The announcement has been made by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, minister of health, states that Dr. Braithwaite will not interfere with the work or powers of existing coroners, but will have power to make further investigation wherever thought advisable, and in addition to his duties in the two cities, will go, on occasion may require, to any point in the province.

HOCKEY

The Fort hockey team was up against a stiff proposition when they met the Edmonton Junior Eskimos Tuesday night. The visitors had a well balanced and formidable organization but early in the game they discovered they were not to have everything their own way. Players on both teams were inconvenienced by the soft ice on one side of the rink, this condition spoiling many good plays and many good intentions. The first period ended 1—1. The local boys did some fine shooting in this period, particularly Kenny, an E4 mention player assisting the locals and who was by far the best player on the ice, and Pete Karran. Kelly Walker was, however, responsible for the first tally, the only one of fully a score of shots to get past the visiting goalie, who played a good game, as also did Bob Karran between the home sticks.

Pete Karran, playing a stirring game, gave the Fort the leading tally for the second period.

Kenny scored in the third and after some do-or-die efforts the visitors se-

Thrift

At this season of year banks, insurance, trust and mortgage companies and financial corporations generally are printing and distributing their annual reports for the past year and through the advertising columns of financial journals and the newspapers informing the public of the results of the past year's operations. Without exception so far noted, all companies have the same satisfactory story to tell a record of increases all along the line and an optimistic note sounded for the current year.

The showing made is an exceedingly satisfactory one, but only from the standpoint of these companies and their shareholders, but from a broad Canadian national standpoint. These reports reveal a healthy state of affairs.

This is the feature of these reports is especially gratifying and reflects great credit upon the people of this Dominion. We refer to the increase recorded in savings accounts and in investments, such as life insurance which constitute savings. The opening of tens of thousands of new savings accounts is recorded while the volume of new savings means up into tens of millions of dollars. Practically every life insurance company reports a record year representing further very large savings on the part of the Canadian public.

It seems unlike the war years with the great Victory Loan campaigns, educated thousands of people in the art and value of saving. They bought Victory Bonds at first from purely patriotic motives to help win the war but gradually in which the people of Canada gained their ability to finance the enormous war expenditures of this country, when the British, United States and all old world money markets were closed to them, was not the least magnificent thing the nations of the world learned about Canada during those stirring years.

But what the people of Canada learned to do from patriotic motives between 1914 and 1918, they are continuing to do as a matter of business. To an increasing extent Canadians are saving, and carefully investing their savings. The semi-annual clipping of coupons from Victory Bonds, or the promptness six months of a discriminant cheque for interest earned on Bonds is a pleasant and very satisfactory occupation. People learned, many for the first time, how money makes money, and how rapidly interest mounts up, and especially it it is reinvested instead of dissipated in possible foolish extravagance and needless extravagance.

The practice of thrift is the cornerstone of prosperity for a nation, a family or an individual. It is an anchor in time of storm and stress. It is an effectual guarantee against financial worry. It is a solace in times of sickness and in old age. It makes for contentment and a serene happiness.

The Government, through the post office savings banks and its annuity scheme, the banks and other financial agencies have all done their part. Savings accounts provide easy, safe and convenient means of saving for the people everywhere. With the small sum of one dollar a savings account can be opened. Furthermore, these seemingly insignificant accounts are welcomed by even by the strongest banks. Bankers, better than most people, realize that the dollar saving of today will represent a really worthwhile account in the not distant future. Like the old nursery rhyme, "Little drops of water, little grains of sand make the mighty ocean and the beauteous land," so do the cents and the single dollars roll up mighty bank accounts.

All parents should encourage their boys and girls to start a savings account, no matter how small. In fact, parents may well commence this good habit by habit by starting a savings account for the baby before it is old enough to think for itself. Very small amounts regularly set aside may provide for its future education at a time when possibly some reverse in the family fortune might otherwise deprive such child of the advantages it ought to enjoy

The habit of thrift develops character. It makes for earnestness, thought fulness, the exercise of care. It is a safeguard against extravagance and encourages the putting forth of one's best energies. The substantial gains which thrift brings gives a new value to work. The needs wells of the world are likewise also secured in ours.

Thrift does not mean greed nor miserliness, but it does mean economy, the absence of waste and extravagance. With, a return to better times throughout the country, and more money in circulation, it will be a mighty fine thing for Canada, for the family, and the individual if the habit of saving goes on increasing and a reasonable proportion of the resultant prosperity is placed in a savings account or some sound investment against the rainy day which is inevitable at some time or other in the life of every one.

Britain Needs Ready Money

Ronnee Winston Churchill Gave Hair Such Reasonable Terms

That in ten years time Britain will have recovered from her present industrial depression and will be on the high road to prosperity, and that for this reason it is better to get money now from Italy rather than at will, like the United States is the general interpretation put upon Churchill's policy of funding Italy's debt.

Winston Churchill is gambling on Britain's future with absolute faith in her ultimate recovery, since he quite flatly says in effect, terms such as the United States awarded them for the sole purpose of getting ready money which is needed for current expenses, and for the budgets of the immediate future.

Britain emphasizes the fact that Churchill and others have made careful analysis of the trade barometer and have at last the promise the manufacture that there are signs of improvement and grounds for sober optimism. Meanwhile, Churchill is fighting the grimmest battle he will ever wage in Britain, which the political experts say is inevitable.

Dr. William's Pink Pills have done wonders for me," writes Mrs. Russell Hill, Norwood Ont. "I was a nervous and could not rest or sleep and would sometimes faint. I took a lot of doctor's medicine but it did me no good. It was a real trial to do any housework, or to go about. I got so that I scarcely cared whether I lived or died. Then one day I read of a case like mine and determined about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I described a case very much like my own and I decided to give the pills a trial. I had not been taking them long when I could feel a change for the better I continued the pills until I had used six boxes when I felt like a new woman. Every disagreeable symptom had vanished and I gained in weight, and a good color returned to my face. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am now never without them in the house, and am glad to recommend them to others as they are my first aid. I gladly bear this testimony to Dr. Williams' and it will benefit some other sufferer."

The Horse Breeding Industry In More Promising Condition Now Than For Many Years

"Conditions in the horse breeding industry are better and more promising than they have been for years," was the hopeful message given by Robert Thomas, of Brandora, president of the Saskatchewan Horse Breeders' Association, at the annual meeting at Saskatoon. Mr. Thomas said that there had been a far greater advance in the price of good horses than for ones who had either bought nor sold horses realized. He had attended a recent horse sale at Saskatoon and believed that the prices of good horses averaged fully 50c more per head than prevailing prices a couple of years ago.

Speaking on the changing conditions in the horse industry in Canada, J. M. McCallum, chief of the Saskatchewan Live Stock branch Ottawa said that Canada is no longer the great supply centre for horses, as breeding had fallen off very greatly in that province, and it is doubtful whether Ontario is supplying its own wastage.

Figures for the past three years showed shipments to Eastern Canada from the west amounted to over 10,000 horses in 1923, 17,443 in 1924 and 17,000 in 1925. Besides this, quite a number of western horses have found a market in British Columbia.

"The fact that some sections of horse breeding rises in Saskatchewan and some in Manitoba were reported last year indicates that the greatest activity in horse breeding in the Dominion is to be found in the prairie provinces," Mr. McCallum stated.

"Regarding the market for commercial horses, we may just as well face the fact that there is a profitable outlet for only a few types, and that the farmer who is anxious to make a profit from horse breeding operations must study that market and direct his energies to producing only those kinds which are in demand. Commonly used on the farm, and for which, when offered for sale, there is a steady demand.

"Farmers will apparently continue to depend on horses for supplying farm power and breeders should raise horses with a view to supplying the city demand for good, big, sound, well-bred all purpose horses. Horses grow them, and to supply the farm demand both sexes and weight for good big agricultural horses combining size, quality and action."

"The return to the increased use of horses on the farms of Canada both east and west shows the close of the Great War to secure greater production, is a fairly conclusive indication that the tractor and motor trucks are not going to soon dispense with the use of horses

Truck Farm in New York

Prisoners Work 840 Acres On Island Farm

New York City, not usually thought of as an agricultural community, has within its boundaries at least one good-sized truck farm. The farm is located on Riker's Island in the east river, and, in a report of the state commission of prisons made public, its operation is credited to workhouse prisoners and drug addicts. Two horses on Island against the petty sinners in their work on the farm and about the institute. The land on which the farm is located is for the most part refuse by which the island has been increased from sixty-three to approximately 640 acres since its purchase by the city in 1884.

Tree Seed For Britain

Lodgepole Pine and Spruce Seed Being Sent From Alberta And B.C.

The seed extraction plant of the Dominion Forestry branch at "Banff" Mountain House is now working on an order for Canadian tree seed from Great Britain for lodgepole pine and spruce seed is being prepared at the plant, while other varieties of tree seed will be prepared at the New Westminster plant. Approximately 600 pounds of lodgepole pine seed and 150 pounds of spruce seed will be prepared at the Alberta plant.

Saskatchewan Butter

Production During 1925 Was Valued At $20,945,840

Dairy production in Saskatchewan during 1925 was valued at $20,945,840, an increase of about 10 per cent over the previous year, according to a report of the dairy branch of the provincial department of agriculture. During the year 18,556,000 lbs of creamery butter were manufactured, as compared with 17,545,000 lbs in 1924. The total 1925 output was more than double the production of 1921.

A feature of the dairy industry in Saskatchewan last year was the increase in butter supplied under the Provincial Dairy Pool, which during 1925 more than doubled its output of creamery butter as compared with the previous year. Not only have there been additions to the number of creameries operating under the pool, but the output of those already in operation has increased.

Figures for the first three years showed shipments to Eastern Canada from the west amounted to over 10,000 horses in 1923, 17,443 in 1924 and 17,000 in 1925. Besides this, quite a number of western horses have found a market in British Columbia.

Seed Cleaning Plant

About 70,000 Bushels of Wheat to be Handled at Edmonton Plant

Between 65,000 and 70,000 bushels of wheat will have to be handled by the Alberta provincial seed cleaning plant this winter, according to W. J. Stephen, field crops commissioner. They will be mostly Marquis wheat, and Victory and Banner oats. There will be approximately 10,000 more bushels of wheat this year than last and the quality of the grain to sold to be exceptionally good.

Industrial Winnipeg

Further progress has been made in the industrial development campaign being carried on at Winnipeg. Financial and industrial men interested in the construction of a sugar mill, woollen factory and a plant for iron and steel small wars, have been visitors to the city, and certain definite announcements from them are expected at an early date.

A Great Industrial Area

Natural Resources Development in the Ottawa Valley

One of Canada's industrial areas that is less known and with natural resources not more important in the near future, is the Ottawa Valley. The Ottawa River provides a number of excellent waterpower sites, some of which have already been developed, while others are now installed to the near future. This available power has been by means of connecting many hydro-electric plants with the natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior.

The lumber industries are probably the most important feature of the Ottawa Valley and the cheap abundant power available is certainly a factor in large pulp and paper mills. The pulp and paper industry is the manufacture of newsprint paper, and other kinds of the pulp and paper mills are also a source of considerable importance in the Ottawa Valley. Large lumber mills are also a natural result of the pulp and paper industry. Large lumber mills are also a natural result of the pulp and paper industry. ON THE AIR

What Is Going In the World of Radio

There are still some bad features about the radio. That pet-name song for example.

Australian broadcasting and education authorities have got together on a joint programme to offer educational courses by radio.

Something new in radio presentation was attempted recently when a comedy-comedy, "Part of the Game" was successfully broadcast from CKCK Regina.

On the eve of the Saskatchewan Dairy Association convention, H W Heish, Prince Albert, president, broadcast a two minute address on the dairy industry from CKCK Regina.

Children under 12 years of age have been refused permission to take part in a broadcast concert at Birmingham Eng. The local educational authorities will permit children between 12 and 14 to perform up till 9 p.m.

She Found Relief For Her Backache

Mrs. A. Caskanett Tells of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Sends a Message of Cheer to Thousands of Canadian Women Who Carry a Load of Pain and Weariness Through Their Daily Work.

Greenport, Ont.—(Special)—"I had a terrible backache and thought it was caused through my kidneys, so I bought some Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me so much. Whenever I am not feeling well I get a box. I am glad to write about it, for I know of nine others I can refer to who have recommended them." This message comes from Mrs. A. Caskanett, a well known and highly respected resident here.

It must bring cheer to that great army of Canadian women who daily in about equally as many homes are weighed down by that curse of womankind, backache.

The relief that Mrs. Caskanett found in this home is thousands of others' secret through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They share that the ache is caused by the kidneys.

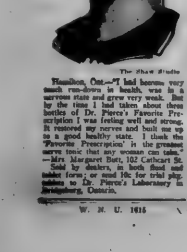
Are You Nervous? Weak? Why Wait For A Complete Breakdown?



The Shaw Studio

Hamilton, Ont.—"I had become very much run-down in health, was in a nervous state and grew very weak. But by the time I had taken about three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I was feeling well and strong. It restored my nerves and built me up to a good healthy state. I think the 'Favorite Prescription' is the greatest nerve tonic that any woman can take."—Mrs. Margaret Butt, 102 Cathcart St. Sold by dealers, in both fluid and tablet form; or send 10c for trial pkg. tablets to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 14

JESUS THE GOOD SHEPHERD

Golden Text: I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep. John 10:11

Lesson Text: John 10:1-30

Devotional Reading: Psalm 23

Explanations and Comments

The True Shepherd and the False Shepherds, verses 1-6.—This allegory, which spoke to the man born a child (our lesson last week), and to others about the Pharisees who had excommunicated the man and accused Jesus of being a sinner for working a miracle on the Sabbath.

"Verily, verily," Jesus began: he those words he drew attention to the importance of the discourse that was to follow, and also connected it with what had preceded. There he pictured an eastern sheepfold—a large, open enclosure with only one entrance, where the flocks of several shepherds are kept during the night—into which a thief seeks entrance by climbing up over the wall that enclosed it, while the shepherd enters by the right way, through the door which the porter opens for him. The sheep know the shepherd's voice and come at his call. He goes before them and they follow, while from a stranger they flee, because they know not his voice. The eastern flock is not driven, as in our western fields, but is led as Jesus the Eastern shepherd that the sheep will follow that he does not even take the trouble to look behind.

Alberta Butter Winnings

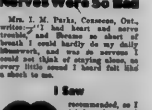
Kiwanian Shooting Made by Province In Dominion Butter Competitions

Cromaney butter produced in the province of Alberta during the past season won 23.7 per cent. of all prizes offered at the 11 exhibitions in Canada at which exhibits from this province were shown, according to a statement compiled by Dr. Marker, dairy commissioner. The number of prizes won was 276 out of a possible 716. Of all first prizes offered, Alberta won 16 or 22 per cent.; of second prizes, 44 per cent. won won; of third prizes, 44 per cent.; of fourth prizes, 23.5 per cent.; of fifth prizes, 20.4 per cent.; of sixth prizes, 8.3 per cent.; of seventh prizes, 23.3 per cent.; and of eighth prizes, 23.3 per cent. In the eastern exhibitions, Alberta won 13 out of 44 prizes at Ottawa, 10 out of 36 at Toronto and 9 out of 31 at London.

She Could Hardly Do Her Housework Nerves Were So Bad

Mrs. I. M. Parks, Cascade, Que., writes—"I was short and nerve trouble," and became so short of breath I could hardly do my daily housework, and the nervous I could not think of staying alone, so every little sound I heard fair liked a shock to me.

I Saw



recommended, so I tried a box, and after taking the second one I am now feeling like a different woman."

This preparation has been on the market for the past 30 years and has achieved a wonderful reputation for the relief of all heart and nerve troubles.

DAIRY PRODUCTS ARE NEEDED IN GREATER VOLUME

Regina—Stressing the value of diversified farming in the promotion of a permanent and contented people in Saskatchewan, Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture, presented the trophies and prizes won by successful competitors in the various contests conducted by the Saskatchewan Dairy Association, at the annual banquet.

R. W. Heish, president, was in the chair, and there was a record attendance of approximately 500.

A feature of the function was the presentation by the minister of agriculture of the trophies won by Chris Hanson, butter-maker for the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Regina, for first place in wonderful butter exhibited at the London, Eng., land, dairy show last year, and the second prize for salted butter, won by R. Jensen, butter-maker for Carlyle Creameries, Ltd., Carlyle branch, the same show.

Mr Hamilton said it was particularly gratifying to see the producers and manufacturers gathered together in good fellowship. Both had a great deal in common. Both were interested in production and the needs for increasing the volume of dairy products, and both parties recognized the importance of placing high quality products on the markets of the world and the value of uniformity.

Professor R. M. Washburn, St. Paul, Minnesota, conveyed the greetings of the dairy farmers of Minnesota. He had attended conventions in 26 states and six provinces in the last 20 years, but he congratulated Saskatchewan on having the spirit of optimism and co-operation to a greater degree than most other sections of the continent.

D'Arcy Scott, secretary and general counsel to the National Dairy Council of Canada, and R. H. Hopkins, Montreal dairyman, also briefly addressed the gathering.

Probe Urged On Capital Punishment

Attorney-General, Manitoba, Suggests Committee to Study Question

Winnipeg—Appointment of a committee by the Federal Government to study the question of capital punishment and make a careful and scientific analysis of the subject was suggested by Hon. R. W. Craig, attorney-general in the Manitoba Legislature.

Sir William Lever, Labor, brought the question before the house and the debate lasted more than an hour.

Mr. Craig said the old Mosaic law of "a tooth for a tooth" sounded ridiculous today and a "life for a life" was the only phase of it left.

Ancient Site Discovered

Market Place of Roman London Revealed By Excavators

London—Excavations for a building at the corner of Grace Church Street and Leadenhall Street, the busiest commercial crossing in the city, have revealed what is believed to be the site of the main forum, or market place, of Roman London during the first four centuries of the Christian era, when the city was called Londinium.

Piers and the remains of a wall uncovered apparently fix not only the site but the boundaries of this centre of Roman commercial life.

Reward Capt. Fried

Paris—Stephane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, asks the government to award the Legion of Honor to Captain Fried and Lieutenant Miller, of the steamer President Roosevelt for their heroic efforts in rescuing the crew of the British freighter Antinoe and also to Master-at-Arms Williams and Deckswains Mate Ernest Notman, who were captured.

Would Outlaw War

Stockholm—By the signature of a compulsory, unlimited arbitration with Finland, Sweden has completed a system of agreements with all her Scandinavian neighbors for the outlawing of war. Similar treaties have been concluded with Norway and Denmark.

Will Add To Territory

Survey Has Disclosed That Ontario Has 72000 More Miles Appearing Manitoba

Ottawa—A survey commission carried on during the past year or two has been found that Ontario has gained nearly 1,500 square miles of territory more than previously estimated, according to the report of the land survey committee of the Association of the Dominion Land Surveyors. The report was submitted at the annual meeting here.

A survey has disclosed that the position of Island Lake, the geographical point on the unsurveyed boundary between the provinces of Ontario and Manitoba was 31 miles out of place. The correction of this added the 1,500 square miles to the Ontario area.

In the Northwest Territories an exploratory trip was made across country never known visited by the white man where a lake never yet charted was found to be surveyed.

The report, which includes the activities of dominion land surveyors, recommends that a start be made on the survey of the north boundary of Alberta, so that the province may secure its natural resources.

Substantial Prize Offered

Dancing Masters Seek Something New to Replace Fox Trot

Paris—Europe is ready for a new dance and the dancing masters are ready to pay a goodly sum for one.

The Charleston has been tried and found "not wanted."

The fox trot has endured for nearly years. The one step has had its day. The tango has met with a cold reception, but the waltz apparently is to be eternal.

At the European dance congress which ended here yesterday it was announced that a special prize of 10,000 francs will be awarded for the dance most likely to replace the fox trot in popular favor.

The dance must be based on the waltz step.

Ask Wider Control Of Films

Too Many U. S. Pictures Says London County Council

London—London County Council by a large majority adopted the recommendation its theatre and music halls committee made that the government should be asked to give the council wider power to control the moving picture films exhibited in the county of London.

The committee's report issued in December alluded to the predominance of United States films and the question before the house and the debate lasted more than an hour.

Mr. Craig said the old Mosaic law of "a tooth for a tooth" sounded ridiculous today and a "life for a life" was the only phase of it left.

Big Test For Railways

Faced With Problem of Carrying Delegates to Eucharistic Congress

Montreal—One of the largest special passenger traffic movements in the history of Canadian railroads will take place this summer in connection with the Eucharistic Congress at Chicago in June. Thousands of people have to play by the transportation of the greater part of this huge gathering presents problems which are occupying the full time of a committee of the heaviest traffic experts on the continent.

Historic Painting Finished

Tokyo—The Japanese painter Gasei Takeuchi, who has been reproducing on a huge canvas the historic scene of the great accession ceremonies of the present emperor, has finished his work after ten years. The scroll is 30 feet long and more than 1,000 human figures are painted on it. The scroll will be presented to Emperor and Empress.

Elevator Damaged By Wind

Vancouver—A violent windstorm did damage to the gallery of the Woodward grain elevator here. The gallery was blown off the deck, but the building was salvaged. It will take ten days to repair the damage, but there will be no loss of time in receiving and shipping grain, it is stated. The damage amounts to about $1,000.

HOPE TO CURB SMUGGLING BY A NEW TREATY

Washington—According to American customs officers, the new Canadian tariff will check American smuggling treaty is proving useful to this government in sending to prevent smuggling in violation of the United States customs laws.

The customs officials are showing a disposition to co-operate to prevent such violation.

Before the treaty, the Canadian officials felt themselves precluded from giving information to the United States officials which might prove useful in preventing smuggling or in apprehending smugglers.

Under the treaty it is learned, a number of useful laws have been passed by the United States and Canadian official sources. Customs officials also established that they have been useful to the Canadian authorities.

How Texans Controls Crime

Members of Police Force Are Expert Pistol Shots

San Antonio, Texas here in the shadow of the old Alamo, talks gospel and the politicos in particular have a reputation for being quick on the trigger. But San Antonio with a population of 200,000 and a police department of 192, has not had a homicide since May, 1924.

The remarkable absence of gun men, safe-blowers and others of that ilk from the police blotter is accredited to the fact that there are 25 men on the force who are expert pistol shots. The whole force including the marksmanship medal holding Chief T. O. Miller, engage in pistol practice regularly each Thursday. It is said that if officers are to be beaten on the "draw" they would hand over their weapons in disgust.

The 192 persons of the force, which includes matrons and other attaches, patrol an area of approximately fifty square miles.

Old-Time Tribunal Revived In Germany

Four Men Sentenced to Death For Murder Plot

Berlin—Four members of the so-called "Black Reichswehr" were sentenced to death in the first of a series of political trials. Two others were given prison terms, and five acquitted. They were accused of the murder of Walter Kadow, another member of the organization.

These tribunals, or "schmgerichte" as they are called, existing in Middle Ages and exercised a powerful and sometimes sinister jurisdiction in Germany. Trial by secret tribunal sentenced was death, which was carried out on the spot.

Votes Depends On Programme

Miss McPhail Says People Are Able Understanding the Situation

Ottawa, Can.—Agnes McPhail, M.P., has revealed a new kind of cosy for masculine pals. The St. Catharines Standard says: "She talked one way and voted another, and that's a woman." She herself said in an interview: "People are misunderstanding the situation. We voted on a constitutional question. We did not give the government a vote of confidence. For my part I would not hesitate to change my vote, it depends on the programme."

Ottawa—A series of questions was addressed to the minister of immigration in the House by Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Addington) in respect to the securing of employment for Edwards quoted settlements from English papers referring to guaranteed employment. Dr Edwards asked what kind of employment was guaranteed up that Canadians out of work would have an equal chance at it

Hon Charles Stewart acting minister of immigration, said there was a guarantee of employment for five years to selected immigrants The railway companies and the government were working in co-operation in this work. The Federal Government and the provincial officers were also co-operating Mr Stewart explained that the expenses of immigrants were borne by the Canadian Government which contributed £3, the steamship companies £3, and the British Government £2. The minister said he would be glad to explain the work fully at a later date.

Big Butter Shipment

New Zealand Sends 136,000 Pounds Butter to Vancouver

Vancouver A total of 136,000 pounds of butter arrived here from New Zealand on the liner Aorangi most of which is for consumption in Vancouver

In the first week in January an initial shipment of 8,000 boxes was brought in, with the result That the price of the British Columbia product fell from 43 cents a pound wholesale to 44 cents

It is not expected that there will be any further drop, owing to the fact that colder weather on the prairies has reduced production there.

Through some curious notion that popularity runs after year, others are here for a season and are then put aside. As an indoor game the cross word puzzle has lost favor and its place has been taken by the puzzle "Where is that $6,439?" All thoughtful lawyers are more or less interested.

If it was not for the danger of breaking up this beautiful weather and hastening a dirty spell to spoil our happiness, we would suggest tennis and basketball meetings be held shortly to prepare for the coming season. Being afraid of a drastic change in case we propose anything of the kind we think we had better keep mum. (These ambiguous remarks should serve the purpose and still hoodwink the weather prophets, seeing they so easily fool themselves.)

The Women's Institute will meet at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, February 11, in the Memorial hall, guests for the evening being the members of the Girls' A.A.A. and the C.G.I.T. Members of the Institute are asked to come prepared for a book guessing contest and the visitors for a flower guessing contest. Please note that everyone is to come with display label suggesting book or flower, as the case may be, attached to themselves; also pencil and paper.

DOUGALL, MacDOUGALL & GORDON, Ltd.

Scions of British nobility are learning farming under the most ideal conditions in Alberta. Ideal conditions is meant, practical conditions, where every chore on the farm is handled at some time or other by men born under some of the most famous titles of Britain.

They are doing this on Cottesmore farm, 25 miles east of the city of Edmonton, in the rich Fort Saskatchewan district. Cottesmore farm is owned and operated by one George Bridges Harley Count, who happens to be the eighth Baron Radnor, descendant of the famous Admiral Radnor whose victory over the French fleet in 1782 saved the empire of the Britons from the Bourbons.

Baron Radnor himself, and Lady Radnor, have gone through the throes of life as hired help on an Alberta farm, and are not putting others through their paces on their own rich and fertile farm over looking the broad Saskatchewan river. Believing that the best way to understand life in Western Canada is a proper perusal for those of notice blood they are leading these young aristocrats along the right path by putting them through every known job on a up-to-date farm. They have with them this year, which is the second year they have operated this school in farming, Montagu, son of Lady Farquhar, the Duke de Nemours, descendant of the very Bourbons whom Radnor's illustrious ancestor helped to defeat, and others.

Everybody works on the Radnor farm. Lord and Lady Radnor themselves superintend the farm operations and actively participate in them. They know them. They have been through the mill. When they first came to Alberta they hired out Through the government employment bureau and took a real job on a real farm. Later they bought Cottesmore farm, the original holding of which belonged to Judge Pinet, of Quebec. They farm 1,500 acres of the finest land in central Alberta, and their farm homestead stands on the brow of a high bank overlooking the Saskatchewan, providing one of the most beautiful views one could wish to see.

Visit the Radnor farm any day during the farming season and you will find the eighth Baron Radnor here, there and everywhere, doing any one of the tasks that come the way of a man who superintends operations on a 1,500 acre farm. You will find Lady Radnor in the kitchen doing her cooking, or out at the dairy where she takes an active part in the operations of 130 dairy cow of the business, or out in her garden where she looks herself. You will find the young Lord Montague feeding the hogs, or stacking grain, and young Viscount Radnor and the others performing teams or pitching sheaves or hoeing roots under the supervision of the instructor when is there to show them the right way to do things.

It is a case of everyone to his task and sticking on it at the Radnor farm. It must be that way on a farm which produces from its herd of 40 grade shorthorns, all the milk and cream necessary for the big university hospital at Edmonton, where there are several hundred acres in crop, and a bunch of fine hogs to nurse. It is a real farm, run by real people, and the scions of British nobility like it. They say it is the life. They seem to care for no other. They are going to make good farmers.

LOCAL NEWS

Mention was omitted last week of the three retiring councillors: W. A. Dubue, E. Graham and O. Flintoft. To fill the vacancies W. A. Dubue, Jos. S. O'Brien and W. A. Graham were elected by acclamation. Dr. Turner and A. H. Gibson were elected school trustees.

There was a good attendance at the presentation of "An Old Fashioned Mother" given by the Partridge Hill Tree Rim club at Bruderheim Monday. Expenses were naturally higher than when the play was put on at Partridge Hill, but there is every satisfactory sum left to place in the treasury. The performance was very well received by the people of Bruderheim.

Our Hired Man

When I sold the boss that I had smashed his truck in town the other day, he would never think to fix it up, he said, "The auto grevin and the auto taketh away."

I hadn't rolled many cows before I learned it didn't pay to weight a switching tail with a brick.

The other night, the boss and the missus had a spat over which was kept the cleanest, the kitchen or the milk house.

"I scrub the kitchen three times a week," says the missus. "And I white wash the milk house three times a year," says the boss, walkin' out of the room.

Now's the time you can tell where the draughts in the barn come from.

Discussing small top milk pails, the boss says, "The milk goes in just as easy—and it's sure harder for the dirt to get in."

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

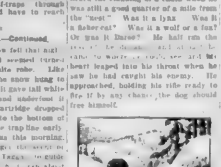
"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, in an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the wolf-dog, and McTaggart, the trapper, were at war. Enemies of old, each now devoted himself to making his unseen enemy as miserable as possible. Baree continued to strip McTaggart's game-traps of their food, instinctively avoiding the poison which the treacherous man hopefully spread for him. Then McTaggart placed deeply well-trapped, through which the dog would have to reach to procure his bait.

CHAPTER XXVI.—Continued.

Seven inches of snow fell that night and the white world seemed turned into a wonderful white robe. Like billows of feathers the snow hung on the trees and shrubs. It piled two tall white caps on the rocks, and underfoot it was as soft as a cartridge dropped from the sky sank to the bottom of it. Baree was on the trap line early. He was more cautious this morning, for there was no longer treachery in snowshoe track or McTaggart in the white hills. He stopped at a trap about halfway between Le Barre and the shack in which Pierre was waiting. It was sprung, and the bait was no bait. Trap after trap he visited and all with them he found sprung, and all with out bait. He smelled the air suspiciously, sniffing calmly to catch the tang of even a whiff of the man smell. Along toward noon Le came to the "nest"—the twelve treacherous traps which for him with fiendish jaws half a foot under the blanket of snow. For a full minute he stood well outside the danger line, sniffing the air, and listening. He saw the rabbit, and his jaws clicked with a hungry click. He moved a step nearer. Still he was suspicious—for some strange and inexplicable reason he sensed danger. Anxiously he began circling about his nose, his eyes and his ears. And all about him there was a great silence—a silence of peace. His jaws clicked again. He whined softly. What was it stirring him? Where was the danger he could neither see nor smell? Slowly he circled about the trap-house; three times he circled round it, each circle drawing him a little nearer—until at last his feet almost touched the outer cordon of traps. Another minute he stood still; his ears flattened, in spite of the rich aroma of the rabbit in his nostrils something was drawing him away. In a manner unusual he would have gone, but there came suddenly—and from directly behind the trap-house—a fierce little cry-like squeak, and the next instant Baree saw an enemy whiter than the snow tearing hungrily at the flesh of the rabbit. He forgot his strange premonition of danger. He growled fiercely, but his



"When he saw McTaggart he made a lunge to his feet, almost instantly."

Baree lay on his side, panting from exhaustion and quivering with pain. A coarse cry of exultation burst from McTaggart's lips as he drew back and looked at the snare. It was pretty hard for many feet about the trap-house, where Baree had struggled, and it was red with blood. The blood had come mostly from Baree's jaws. They were dripping now as he gazed at his enemy. The steel jaws hidden under the snow had done their work—less work well. One of his forefeet was caught well up toward the first joint; the hind feet were caught, a fourth trap had closed on his flank, and in tearing the jaws loose he had left a patch of skin half as big as McTaggart's hand. The snow told the story of his desperate struggle and the last instant Baree saw as evidence that his bleeding jaws showed how vainly he had tried to break the imprisoning steel with his teeth. He was panting. His eyes were bloodshot. But even now, after all his hours of agony, neither his spirit nor his courage was broken. When he saw McTaggart he made a lunge at his foot, almost inhumanly crumpling down into the snow. But his forefeet were fettered. His head and chest remained up, and the snarl that came from his throat was ingerish in its ferocity as he saw the evil beast. And again his foot from him—was the one thing in all the world that he hated more than he hated the wolf beast. And again he was helpless, as he was helpless that other time in the rabbit snare.

The ferocious fury of his snarl did not disturb Bush McTaggart now. He saw now utterly the other was at his mercy, and with an exultant laugh he leaned his rifle against a tree, pulled off his mitts, and began loading his pipe. This was the triumph he had come forward to see, the torture he had waited for. In his soul there was a hatred as deadly as Baree's, the hatred that a man might have for a man. He had expected to send a bullet through the dog. But this was better—in which him dying by inches, to taunt him as he would have taunted a human, to walk about him so that he could hear the cries of the trap and see the fresh blood drip as Baree twisted his tortured legs and body to keep facing him. It was a splendid vengeance. He was so engrossed in it that he did not hear the approach of snowshoes behind him. It was a voice—a man's voice—that turned him round suddenly.

The man was a stranger, and he was younger than McTaggart by ten years. At least he looked no more than thirty five or six, even with the short growth of blond beard he wore. He was not that sort that the average man would like at a glance, but he had a man with clear eyes that

High Temperature in Well

Record Temperature of 206 Degrees at 6,600 Feet Below the Surface

C. E. Van Orstrand, of the United States geological survey, has recorded a temperature of 206 degrees Fahrenheit at a place 6,560 feet below the surface in a well in Lancaster, Cal. The well was the hottest ever tested by the surveying party. Mr. Van Orstrand said that he would have expected greater heat had he gone down 7,560 feet, but the capacity of his instruments had almost been reached at the 6,560 foot level. The next hot test well on record is at Fairmont, West Virginia, where at a depth of 7,500 feet the temperature was recorded at 178 degrees Fahrenheit.

The snake, angered at something bit Chu in the tongue. Both man and serpent died the next day.

Increased Duty On Bananas

The new West Indies Treaty, which has not yet been proclaimed by the Dominion Government, adds a duty of 50 cents a stem on all bananas brought into Canada from countries outside of the British West Indies. All bananas brought into Winnipeg and Western Canada come from Central America, so that when the treaty goes into effect an additional cost of $50,000 will be added to consumers of bananas, as the average is 1,000 cars season for Western Canada.—Free Press.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

and would not be without it now. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk and I was all run down and could hardly get around to do my housework. I would be in bed three or four days at a time. I was told by a friend to try your Vegetable Compound. I did, and by the time I took two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took ten bottles in all, and now I am all right again and doing my own work. I have an grown-up to work for, so I have plenty to do. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I think it is good." But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think if more of it was used women would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost much more."—Mrs. NELLIE HORN, 28 St. Matthews Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recommended to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition.

BABY'S WELFARE DURING FEBRUARY

Should Be Most Carefully Guarded by All Mothers

February is one of the severest months of the year on little ones. It is a month of cold, blustery days that prevent the mother from letting her baby out for the fresh air so necessary to its welfare. Baby is consequently confined to the home. More often than not the rooms are overheated and badly ventilated and the little one catches cold or grippe. What is needed to keep the baby well is a gentle laxative that will regulate the stomach and bowels; banish constipation and indigestion and in this way will either prevent or break up colds and grippe. Such a laxative is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are mild but thorough in action, are absolutely safe and they are guaranteed to contain neither opium, morphine nor other narcotic. They never fail to be of benefit to little ones from birth to five years. Either the mother, baby or the grocery store. Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all dealers in medicine or may be had by mail, post paid, at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

cured one more but failed to get the equalizer they were straining every effort to get, and the score remained at 3—2 when the bell rang for the end of play.

Other outstanding players besides those mentioned were Roy Stanley and G. Walker.

We suggest that the club impress into service more helpers for cleaning off the ice. The spectators find it unnecessary waiting a long between periods of play and in a cold night this would entail skiing-suffering in order to witness a game and would doubtless affect the attendance. Everyone understands the players are ready for a breathing spell but they must have been ready to play again last night long before the ice was ready for them.

The Fort hockey team plays Morinville here Thursday, February 11, and Bruderheim here, February 14, and Stony Plain, February 16.

The Rink Rats were not quite up to the standard of the Chipman youngsters they played last Saturday afternoon. The visitors had some classy little players and at the end of the second period had the advantage of a 3-0 score. Rod Allard appeared for the locals in the third frame and greatly strengthened the team. The Rats scored twice in the third and had the game lasted a little longer would have at least equalized. Earl Lane was a hard worker and a constant source of danger to his opponents.

VALENTINE DANCE WAS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Getting away to a late start, as dances usually do in the Fort, the Valentine dance arranged by the St. George's W.A. last Friday presented a blue lookout in its early stages, but with the arrival of many latecomers the dance eventually proved a decided success and fully repaid the hard work of the ladies of that organization.

The decorations were very pretty indeed and tastefully arranged, though part of them hung a little too long. One cupid struck the writer several times in the course of the evening, but struck in the wrong place: the head, instead of the cost sleeve. We were glad to notice, however, that they had hung the mischievous little beast.

INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY TEAM HOLDS CARNIVAL

The Vics' intermediate hockey team held a skating carnival last Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance, many being in costume than there were at the carnival held last winter. The band was a popular feature and it would be nice to have it perform on other occasions of less moment. The musicians were Messrs. Fred and Val

'AN OLD FASHIONED MOTHER' WELCOME VISITOR TO FORT

Under the auspices of the C.G.I.T. the "Sod Busters' Comedy Co. of Partridge Hill presented their play, "An Old Fashioned Mother," at the Eden Palace theatre on Monday. There was a very fair attendance, and the audience, in the main, was exceedingly appreciative.

As this play was ably covered by a Partridge Hill correspondent in our issue of two weeks ago, there is very little left for us to say without repeating the encomiums he handed it. While some characters naturally had more to do than others, they were all good, and left no weak place for any critic to point his finger at. In particular one thing was a matter for congratulation and that was the clear and distinct way in which each artist spoke their lines, making it possible for the audience to hear everything.

MOTOR ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES FROM HIS INJURIES

James Cunningham, life insurance agent of Westlock, passed away at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, on Friday morning as the result of an auto accident near Fort Saskatchewan the previous night. When the auto in which the victim and three others were driving got out of control on the icy entrance to the south end of the Saskatchewan river bridge it crashed into the ironwork of the structure and Cunningham was hurled through the glass and over the bank a distance of thirty feet to the bottom. The injured man was brought back to the Fort where he received medical attention and was then removed to the city hospital. He was taken to Edmonton in the early morning but medical aid was helpless and he passed away. Internal injuries were given as the cause of his death.

According to the report given to the provincial police of the accident, Cunningham, accompanied by Charles Westgate and a lady, both of Westlock, had been visiting friends in the Fort in the afternoon. They had hired a taxi to make the trip and this was in charge of Charles Phillips. After staying for a short time at the Fort they started on the way back to the city. Just at the south approach to the bridge was a particularly icy portion of the road and at this point the driver lost control of the auto. Sliding down the hill the machine crashed heavily into the side and Cunningham shot through the front and over the bank which is very precipitous at that place. When he was picked up by the others who had escaped without serious injury he was found to be bleeding at the mouth and nose and unconscious. Another party coming along soon after brought the injured man back to the Fort where it was seen he was in a serious condition and little hope was held out from the first for his recovery.

There was no carelessness in the operation of the auto, according to the facts ascertained by the police, and the accident was entirely due to the dangerous condition of the road. Witnesses say that the taxi was not being driven at an excessive rate of speed.

Start the Children Right

In this column last week some emphasis was laid on the importance and aims of developing habits of thrift, and in the concluding paragraphs parents were urged to encourage their children to start a savings account early in life, and even to provide the nucleus of such an account in case the child was old enough to think and act for itself.

The writer's attention has since then been drawn to a report on The Penny Bank of Ontario, a system created for the purpose of encouraging thrift on the part of school children in that Province, and thereby teaching in a concrete way the wisdom and great value of thrift and the habit of saving. The subject is surely important enough to warrant a further reference.

It is the aim of The Penny Bank of Ontario to provide for every child at school an opportunity on a stated day of each week to put small coins in a safe place and to serve to him or her how quickly a series of small amounts builds into a comfortable balance. From the report, to which reference has been made, it is learned that Penny Bank accounts in the public schools of Toronto now number 43,253, while the average school pass-book shows $6.000. In other words, 70 per cent. of the children are taking advantage of the service offered.

Some rather interesting facts are disclosed through this Penny Bank scheme, and two questions asked, based on the weekly reports, are: "Are the children of well-to-do parents gaining a just notion of the value of money?" "Is there a tendency among them to regard coupons, medals and tag-coat pieces as more chicken-feed, no counterpoise coins, as unworthy fractions of that noble unit, the Dollar?

Analyzing the deposits made in Toronto schools in a given week, it was found that in the poorer districts the services of the Penny Bank are accepted and appreciated to a far greater extent than in the more well-to-do districts. In one school in the heart of the poorest district, 45 per cent. of the children present on October 27 last made deposits. On that same day in one of the richest districts only 13 per cent. of the pupils were depositors, while at another school in a rich district the figure was 11 per cent. Through out the eighty-eight public schools in Toronto the average of depositors on October 27 was 27 per cent of the pupils present.

It may be true, and probably is, that many of the children in the better resident districts have savings accounts in the chartered banks. If so the boy or girl, is not likely to make a journey to the bank to deposit 25 or even 10 cents. He or she is more likely to wait until a dollar or more is accumulated, and meanwhile the small coins gradually filter away.

As it works in a Toronto paper points out, in commending on this Penny Bank scheme, the training thus afforded is just as valuable for the child of a prosperous home as for the boys or girls of the poorest district. It may be even more valuable, since the son or daughter of the rich man is likely in some time to take the handling of large sums of money. They cannot manage them efficiently unless they know the exact value of a nickel, unless they have learned the importance of small sums. It is the untrained children of the rich who blossom into wasters.

Thrift is a habit, a character forming habit. The boy or girl who deposits five cents every week without exception get more benefit than another who deposits a dollar at irrequent and irregular intervals. In the business of life, pay day comes once a week, or once a month. The man or woman who banks a stated amount, large or small, on each pay-day is on the road to success, and the boy or girl who makes this a habit early in life is almost certain to succeed

Here in the West, the same principle is being applied in some schools by many individual families. The boys or girls are given a pig, or a calf, a setting of eggs, for their very own on the understanding that they look after them, and the increase and profits are theirs. In this way, the boys and girls not only develop a greater love for animals and learn practical knowledge in their proper care and feeding, but their interest in the farm home and agricultural pursuits generally is maintained and intensified. And if the profits from the handling of their own poultry or livestock are carefully placed in a savings account, or are used to add to their holdings, it will not be many years before those boys and girls accumulate a respectable bank account, which will prove a further incentive to careful management, and a training through actual experience which will prove of undoubted value to them throughout life.

That the coffin containing the remains of Queen Alexandra, is lying unlatched and exposed to view before the altar in the Albert Memorial chapel at Windsor is strictly in accordance with Danish tradition, has, apparently, passed without comment in the newspapers. In the case of Queen Alexandra, its position was not pre-arranged and is a thing of no customary character, but in Roskilde Cathedral, the Westminster Abbey of Denmark, where almost all the Danish sovereigns from Harald I., who died in 963 A.D., to King Frederick VII who died in 1912, are buried, only the latter kings reclined in side chapels quite uncovered and open to inspection by visitors

KEEPING HEALTHY DURING WINTER

Colds, Influenza and Like Troubles Can be Avoided

Have you noticed that some people enjoy good health through the months of rigid weather, while others succumb to colds or influenza at every change of wintry conditions, or are attacked by rheumatism or neuritis? The reason can be found in the condition of the blood. If it is rich and pure the system is able to resist disease. But let the blood become impoverished and the seeds are made clear for disease to enter the system

The common sense way to avoid colds and influenza is to keep a plentiful supply of rich, red blood in your veins. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have achieved world-wide fame for their remarkable blood-enriching power. The new blood which comes from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tones up the whole system and so helps the body to resist winter ills

If the system has already been weakened by colds, influenza or other winter ailments, then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the safest medicine to use in building the blood and strengthening the body. An example of the value of these pills is given by Mrs. R. O. Stromberg, Cobalt, Ont., who says:— "I had a very severe attack of grippe, or influenza, which confined me to my bed for a week. On getting up again I did not recover my usual strength for quite some time, both my body and in my head, and a constant backache. I had to get a woman to do my work for me as I had neither the strength nor the energy to do anything. At this stage, remembering the great benefit I had through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for girlhood, I began using this medicine, and soon my strength began to return. I am now able to do all my own work again and take care of my baby. I am very grateful for what the pills have done for me, and hope my experience will be of benefit to some other sufferer."

If you need a blood-building tonic be sure to ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, today. Sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box, writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Shows How To Control Or Extinguish Incipient Fires That Threaten The Farm Home

During the past few weeks there would seem to have been almost an epidemic of fires in the smaller homes, and, more regrettable still, these have resulted in an unusual number of deaths, particularly of children and the natural resources intelligence service, of the department of the Interior at Ottawa. These young lives are being cut off largely as the result of carelessness, or neglect in taking reasonable precautions. The use of coal oil or gasoline to light or force fires every winter takes its heavy toll of lives, while overheated stoves and furnaces are accountable for a large share of the fire loss among Canadian homes.

Every precaution should be taken against fire. Careful examination should be made that no fire dangers exist in and stovepipes and chimneys are safe and whole, that lamps and lanterns are not left where small children may open them, that matches for the cause of so many fires that result in the deaths of children, are kept beyond their reach, and that sparks can not escape to the floor surrounding the stove. When fire does occur, however it is of the utmost importance that a cool head be maintained. Getting excited only delays adopting means to fight the fire, and in many cases is the cause of the fire spreading the fire to get beyond control. There is an old saying that "all fires are the same size when they start," but favorable conditions very quickly show this to be fact. A few simple precautions will be of much value in extinguishing a fire in its infancy, and the knowledge how to do so should be impressed upon the mind that they will be almost automatically adopted when occasion arises.

The first thing to get in the ladder so one can quickly carry water up to put upon the fire started in the shingles of the roof by sparks. It is also a good thing to have a bucket of water or a fire extinguisher always ready for use in the attic.

In the kitchen where there should always be a bucket, kept full of water, ready for use to put on a starting fire. In winter salt is put in the water in the bucket; or it causes freeze. Pipes freezing is no excuse or fat boiling over on the stove should not have water thrown on them, but covered with the blaze. Use ashes, baking soda, salt or flour to smother it.

Keep ashes some heat away from burning material than any other fluid or substance. Things other than water used to put out a fire, such as smother it by keeping air from it or make a gas which pushes the air away.

If the blaze is just starting, throw water on the material that is burning, not at the blaze. One bucket of water will do more good if thrown on by the handful or with a broom than if dashed on at once.

Small fires may be smothered with a rug or blanket or beaten out with a wet broom. Salt or sulphur should be used to put out fires in the stovepipe or chimney.

A gasoline fire can be put out by smothering it with wet rags, woolen cloth, sand, ashes, or flour. If water is used, put it on in large quantities; a small amount spreads the flame.

Do not throw water on flames which start from kerosene oil, as it tends to spread the blaze. Smother the flames with a carpet, quilt or heavy clothing.

In not leave a door open when you run out to give an alarm. If the doors and windows are closed when the fire starts, one can probably get help in time to put it out while it is only in one room.

The Wheat Board Surplus

Saskatchewan Is Putting the Money to Excellent Use

Excellent proposals for the use of the $284,200 which fell to this province as its share of the wheat board surplus have been presented to the legislature by its committee on agriculture. The committee is in accord with Premier Dunning's proposal that the money should be invested and the interest put to work for agriculture forever. Its plan is to constitute a research foundation, with the dean of the agricultural college, the minister of agriculture, and the president of the university board of governors as members. It is suggested that they be empowered to spend the interest on $216,000 on research into farm problems, particularly such as meet problems as white root and mange betting, and on scholarships for brilliant students of agriculture. A DAY WITH THE HEBRIDEANS

Mrs. Neil MacLean

The MacLean Farm when 200 Acres of Grain was Threshed in 1925

The Hebrideans are rapidly carving out new homes in Western Canada. In one of their settlements, at Eyrath, near Red Deer, Alberta, the first to be established in that province by their kind, they have settled down to the new conditions with a determination which bids fair to prove that the women, the home-makers, that the large interest lies. Their very evident pride in their domestic accomplishments augurs well for the contentment of their families in this new land.

"I get a book and learned how to make cakes," said Mrs. Neil MacLean, one of the Hebridean matrons. "A woman, one of my neighbors, taught me some to make bread and I bake it twice a week. I never saw bread before till I came to Canada, for we all like it better than oatcake now."

Mr. and Mrs. Neil MacLean, with eight children, live on their new farm of 160 acres, near Evarts. They have been settled here for two years and built an addition to a one-roomed house that was on the place. The family they inherited 160 acres of grain. Mr. MacLean's mother, known to the family as "Granny," with two of his children, live in Red Deer. One of the girls who had some years of experience in service in the Old Country, is employed here as a housekeeper, at seventy dollars a month. Six of the eight MacLean children attend school in the district of their farm and Mrs. MacLean says that they now all like it. Fond of their studies and "get lots of stars at school." "At home they did not like the school and would cry when I made them go to school; here they bother if they have to stay at home."

Mrs. MacLean's husband was a tailor and fisherman in the Hebrides. "He was always away," she said, "and it is good to have him at home on the farm. We feel so much more settled. Almost eight years ago we bought a small crop of 35 acres, on the island and kept two cows. I did the work while my husband was at sea. I worked with a spade from dawn till dark, so very hard, yet we could not make any money and could not get ahead. Now we have a farm and finally came to Canada penniless. How I wish we had come here when we were first married and got our own land, they have settled down to the new conditions with a determination which bids fair to prove that the women, the home-makers, that the large interest lies. Their very evident pride in their domestic accomplishments augurs well for the contentment of their families in this new land.

"I get a book and learned how to make cakes," said Mrs. Neil MacLean, one of the Hebridean matrons. "A woman, one of my neighbors, taught me some to make bread and I bake it twice a week. I never saw bread before till I came to Canada, for we all like it better than oatcake now."

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Galbraith from the Hebrides, have a pleasant little cottage with fluffy muslin curtains at the windows. They have finished threshing a very good crop and have quite a lot of stock and some fine horses.

A fine situation for a home and a more pleasing outlook could not be found than that of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Gillis' farm-home prospects. Located near Evarts, on a rise of ground, a mountain hill, it slopes to a small forest and has a front view of vast stretches of prairie. The small hill is tree-covered. It has thick pop lars and several straight-standing pines. In summer, when the poplars are in leaf, the house is in the heart of a little sun-flooded forest that is gay and jonquil with the scent of the birch. "It is just a different home out the time," said Mrs. Gillis, "and the trees make it so cool. It I just had the cows I could not want anything." Mrs. Gillis is from the island of Harris and have three young children.

Naturally, the Hebrideans on the prairie are very homesick for home. They have always lived in sight of the sea, knew its temper. How ever, in Canada, they find great consolation in their work, even if they do long for their sea-girt island.

The Hebridean's about Evarts are settled on what is known as "Isolated farms," that is farms surrounded by neighbors of other nationalities, in place of in community settlements. These they are assisted and advised by experienced farmers and given words of cheer when the ways of this new land seem strange and inhospitable.

A short distance from Red Deer, in the vicinity of the former industrial school, are the group of twelve cottages, erected by the Scottish Immigration Society. They are for the purpose of giving temporary accommodation to the Hebrideans while they are endeavoring to become located on farms. At present these homes are occupied, generally, by widows and their families. Work is secured for the children who are old enough to go out to service. The younger children attend school in one of the industrial buildings. A Gaelic teacher has been secured for them, that is one that can talk Gaelic but is a graduated Canadian teacher and follows the Canadian system in her work.

Western Canada has prospect of a new industry being developed in the immigration of these people. Many of the women have a knowledge of knitting, carding and homespun. When they are labor assembled in groups, looms will be put up and the industry encouraged. This year some webs of Harris homespun tweed was made by these Hebridean women and sold to the Hudson's Bay Company.

She Had Suffered From Backache and Indigestion and Found Relief In Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ottawa, Ont. (Special)—"Twenty years ago I was very sick with indigestion and Lumbago," states Mrs A Demers, who lives in Ottawa, St. "I had seen many doctors and, nothing seemed to relieve me. I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills After three months I noticed a great change and at the end of the year had no pains at all. Since that time, if I feel a bad at all, even a headache or my back I take Dodd's Kidney Pills and get better I highly recommend your pills which should be taken continually until relief comes."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities, all the poison out of the blood. They are the greatest of all tonics. Give them a trial at once They can be obtained from all druggists.

Telephones In Canada

In 1911 there were only 300,000 telephones in Canada. By 1921 there were 560,000 phones, and at the end of 1925 there were 1,072,650 telephones in the Dominion.- The increase in the number using telephones ranks next to the growth of the automobile.

WELL-MERITED SUCCESS

A distinguished citizen, honored politically and professionally, Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, made a success for the scientific blood purre herbal remedies which have stood the test for many years are still among the best sellers in the world. Golden Medical Discovery is a blood purifier and stomach alterative. It clears the skin, banishes pimples and boils, helps digest and the circulation, and plugs up a cough quickly. Every druggist has it but ask him and get what he recommends. For your blood to be good, your stomach must be in condition, your liver active. JESUS RAISES LAZARUS FROM THE DEAD

John 11:1-12:11. Golden Text: I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on Me, though he die, yet shall he live. John 11:25.

Lesson: John 11:1 to 12:11.

Devotional Reading: I. Cor. 15:50-58.

Explanations and Comments

The Sisters at Bethany Send For Jesus, verses 1-3.—What John tells us in regard to the friendship of Jesus for the little family at Bethany, Lazarus and Martha and Mary, gives us a beautiful insight into his tender and loving heart What beautiful trust lies in the few words which the Sisters sent to Jesus when their brother fell ill—"He whom thou love est is sick" How can we remain long in such anxiety when we have such a Friend as thou art! they seem to say. They do not send word that He must come at once. They make no claim upon Him. They simply lay the matter in His hands. That is faith!

They asked Jesus to come and change things that needed changing. I can think of no better definition of prayer than that. They sent for the Master—which was the honest thing they ever did or anybody can do, anywhere, at any time, under any circumstances. Prayer is not saying words; it is asking and expecting the real Master will come and change things, and that He will begin in you" (Dr. S. D. Gordon).

Lumber in Northern Alberta

An outcrop of 19,000,000 feet B.M., has been made of the lumber cut during 1926 by five companies located on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway. There are a number of smaller operators who have failed to send in reports of their estimated cuts for the present season, but the total cut of the territory served by this line is expected to run well over the 20,000,000 feet mark.

MOVEMENT OF WESTERN GRAIN REPORTED SLOW

Fort William Following is the report of E. A. Lysell, statistician to the board of grain commissioners on the movement of western grain crops for January, 1926

"Owing to the comparatively small quantities of wheat being imported by European countries from North America, the disposal of the Canadian surplus has been coming place slowly the past few weeks at a rate very much below what was expected

"From a strategical standpoint Australia's are agreed that available supplies of wheat in exporting countries only exceed the estimated normal requirements of importing countries by a small margin Economic conditions in European countries however indicate home-grown supplies will be utilized to the fullest extent so that imports will be cut down to absolute necessity only Rye is also being used more extensively as bread grain Another factor which exerts a market influence against the importing of wheat is the fact that the price at which native supplies are available to mills in some countries is far below that which would have to be paid for imported grain

"Until conditions change it is hard to be expected that Canada's surplus can be disposed of very rapidly In the meantime both the end of January, spread of 32,000,000 bushels will about still remained in store at lower lake and Atlantic seaboard ports. Fort William and Port Arthur elevators were full and interior public elevators, rapidly filling Vancouver, with ample ocean storage available is hard hing almost only per cent of the total North American wheat exported at present and is only presented by lack of demand from shipping far inadequate to meet the requirements of the Orient Oriental purchases accounted for a large proportion of Vancouver ship ments until the last few weeks, but shipments to Europe increased substantially. From present indications the volume handled through Vancouver this season will exceed all previous records

"The volume of movement to terminal points in the western grain inspection division, although far below December, is much in excess of a year ago. During the month, 20,824 cars of all grain passed inspection, as compared to 54,716 in December and 12,006 a year ago The movement of grain grading 'no grade,' tough or damp, still continues in excess of 50 per cent. to the total."

Hopes Membership Will Be Retained

Government Anxious to Avoid Break With Pacific Cable Board

Ottawa Negotiations are still pending between Hon Charles Murphy, postmaster general, and the other members of the Pacific cable board, it was learned here. It is understood that it is the hope of the government to retain Canada's membership on the board. Hon Ernest Lapointe, leader of the government, has said that he has "every hope that they will come to an understanding"

It is expected that there will be no change in the rates before very long. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Here and There

Salmon exports from British Columbia amounted to 1,371,000 cases, the record for several years past. Shipments in 1924 were 1,558,000 cases; 920,000 cases in 1923; 794,000 cases in 1922 and 939,000 cases in 1921.

For the first time in Canada, a sport known as the "mountain gillnade," was performed at Revelstoke, B. C., on Friday, January 29, before hundreds of visitors to the start of Revelstoke's fourth winter carnival. The "gillnading" consists of flying down rough uneven mountain sides on skis.

From August 1, 1925, to January 31, 1926, 3,182,198 bushels, or about one and a half per cent. of the 195,-627,113 bushels of grain shipped by the Canadian Pacific Railway went by the all-rail route. About one-eighth, or 20,216,134 bushels travelled through the port of Vancouver and the balance of 85 per cent was shipped via Fort William.

Five hundred Montreal school children will give a concert on the concluding night of the triennial conference of the National Council of Education, to be held in Montreal from April 2 to 9. The speaker for the occasion will be Sir Alfred Davies, well known authority on national and school music.

Under the auspices of the French government, the French universities and the French Chamber, a three-dozen-general of Canada in France, a tour through France has been arranged for the spring, starting, in Quebec on May 26 with the departure of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland.

Pulp and paper exports from Canada during 1925 were valued at $148,585,591, as compared with $139,-891,660 for the previous year. Newsprint production for 1925 was estimated at 1,816,000 tons, as compared with 1,565,804 tons for 1924. This is twice the newsprint production of 1918.

With glorious weather prevailing, a large gathering witnessed the opening of the tenth annual Fort Winter Carnival on February 5. "Queen Cabrielle" regally entered in a fairy ring gorgeously formed by frost crystalling ice, drawn by a team of huskies. Shooting, skiing, tobogganing, hockey and hikes featured the big winter sport tournaments.

Two more cases of poliomyelitis crushing through quiet at level crossings at Chelsea Road, Hull, Quebec, have been reported. On January 6, an automobile ran, laden with passengers, was driven through both gates. The driver exclaimed that his windshield was frozen. The second case occurred February 3 when a car ran past just as the gates were being lowered. Both cars were damaged.

Addressing the members of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association at their eighth annual convention banquet at Ottawa recently, E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated that the 1925 income tax would collect from $42,000,000 to $45,000,000. Mr. Beatty declared that a reduction of $5 per cent. or $11,000,000 might be made about if the government expenses were cut. The Canadian Pacific Railway had reduced its expenses by over double that amount in one year, and the railway company was not as large as the Dominion of Canada.

Our Hired Man

Last week we heard a talk by the County Agent on Bacteria in Milk—"It's the little things that count," he said.

"That isn't a lory, that's a radio set," answered Gabriel. "There's a thing in on her husband's bowels from Station HLZ."

"Doesn't it strike you that's a queer shaped harp that new woman-angel is tugging around?" asked St. Peter with a puzzled frown.

"That isn't a harp, that's a radio set," answered Gabriel. "There's a thing in on her husband's bowels from Station HLZ."

If you've got anything good to say about a chap, spill it while he's alive! A slap on the back while he's living is worth a bucket of tears after he's dead.

Most people would be good friends if you only knew them better.

Changed Methods in Handling Milk

Where proper sanitary measures are neglected the bacteria in milk multiply many times. Mrs. McDonough.

Where sanitary precautions are taken the bacteria in milk remain few.

How much do the farmers and dairymen of the United States pay in toll to bacteria in milk? In process of arriving at the answer to this question, representatives of leading milk and dairy products companies of New York recently met with officials of the United States Agricultural Experiment Station, with the Department of Farms and Markets and the College of Agriculture at the Experiment Station, at Geneva.

The bacterial count is being used more and more as a basis for determining how much per pound a farmer is to be paid for his milk. Getting the bacterial count under a given figure means millions of dollars annually to Uncle Sam's dairymen. Dairymen, themselves, are alive to this question, and where the milk produced is a material part of the income from the farm, complete sanitary precautions are being taken to insure a low bacterial count in the milk.

Precautions start at the beginning of milk production and continue clear through until the time the milk is in the hands of the consumer. To begin with, properly ventilated, easily cleaned stables are provided. Plenty of bedding is given the cows; pasturages are built in the right locations to maintain the particular breed of cows that are kept; the gutter is built wide and deep; the animal is clipped about the udder and flanks periodically. The cows are groomed carefully every day and just before milking, loose particles of dirt are brushed off, or, when the cow is clipped, wiped off with a damp cloth. Small top milk pails are used to receive milk from the cows. Utensils such as milk pails, cans, milking machines and separators, are thoroughly sterilized after each milking.

The fresh-drawn milk is immediately removed to the cooling tank where it is cooled to a temperature of 50 degrees to 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

On receipt at the dairy, the creamery or the condensery, the same extreme sanitary precautions prevail. White garbed workers who have passed medical inspection, wash themselves free of personal freedoms and are as hygienic in the handling of milk and milk products, as about their duties efficiently and unwillingly immediately after the pasteurizing of whole milk, it is bottled and capped. The date of bottling is stamped on the cap and the milk is usually sold before 24 hours have elapsed since pasteurizing.

Such a difference over the old-time methods of handling milk!

It is these changed methods in the handling of milk that have with supply that has swelled the individual consumption of milk to more than 54 gallons per year.

Must Hold Command Of Seas

Great Britain Has to Protect Trade in Order to Feed Her Population

It is still necessary for Great Britain to hold command of the seas, in order to feed her population, Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, declared in addressing the members of the Canadian club at Ottawa last week.

The decisions of the Washington conference in regard to the dilapidations of the world's principal navies have been faithfully observed by Britland and the other countries that signed the treaty, Churchill said, but the same position as other countries. "She is no longer an island fortress," he declared. "She is a vast trade-mill which she must feed or her very existence

THE STORY

Wear Lac McTaggart the factor Intended for Corporal Carew the dog has not actually following the factor's trail and Carew is in great danger of being court-martialled. Baree the Fire Dog, is with Carew. Baree has a great love for him and Carew was a prisoner. McTaggart found him there and showed her his master. Baree snarled back but was helpless. And then came a human crisis for Carew. "You poor dog," he said sympathetically, to Baree. "I'm an outlaw. Well, they haven't played you a trick

Shirley and yet gaining out into the open. Baree followed. He heard voices and paused. Carew and McTaggart were talking. Baree was in a maddening clearness of the heard. Carew said in a contemptuous tone: "I'll get at him myself in the morning. I'll have him out of the way." Then he heard McTaggart laugh and the sound of his footsteps as he walked away. Baree followed Carew into the cabin. Carew was sitting on a bunk with his head in his hands. He looked up and saw Baree. His face was white and drawn. He sprang to his feet and stood over the dog. "You poor devil," he said, "you've been starving, too. I'll bet you haven't had a bite since I left you. Well, I'll fill you up before I'm taken. Then I'll have a chance to get away. I'll take a shot at Shirley and yet gaining out into the open. Baree followed. He heard voices and paused. Carew and McTaggart were talking. Baree was in a maddening clearness of the heard. HOCKEY

The senior team was defeated at St. Albert Monday. They say the score was 5—3. We'll take their word.

The 'Vics' (intermediates) defeated Lamont 3—1 Tuesday in the fastest game of the season. Both teams played their hardest and were apparently evenly matched until half the third period had elapsed, when the second and third goals, following in quick succession, left no doubt as to which was the superior team. Every member of the Vics played bang-up hockey. The defense was very strong and the forward line got all the goals necessary.

From a pass from Buchanan, Hutton scored the first goal in the second period. H. Allard and E. Wright scored one each in the third.

The Fort line-up: goal, R. Pocock; defense, E. Buchanan, D. von Hillard; Val Burg; forwards, H. Allard, I. Hutton, A. Allard, E. Wright, M. Pocock.

CURLING

After five days of curling, in which many a valiant and stubborn fight was put up, the local rink has been finally put out of the running at the Edmonton bonspiel. In several competitions they came close enough to the silverware to see the names of winners of former years on it, but stumbled when it was almost within their reach. W. A. Graham was skip and the other rock barriers were Jack Wright, Ellis Graham and J. Earl Graham.

Two ladies' rinks of the Scona club met two local rinks here last Saturday afternoon. They were skipped by Mrs. Brick and Miss McGillivray. Pleasant games ensued in which the Fort ladies won one game 11-5 and lost the other 5-6. The visitors were entertained to tea in the buffet room of the Memorial hall. The local rinks were: Mrs. vonHland, skip; Miss Atkinson, Mrs. Grubb, Mrs. Magee. Mrs. Orr, skip; Mrs. McDonough, Mrs. Henry, Miss Edna Houston.

Pleasant View

Mr. F. C. Moore has been attending the Edmonton bonspiel during the past week.

Miss Ethel Isod and Mr. Percy Dennis were united in the holy bonds of matrimony in Edmonton on Saturday

The annual U.F.A. meeting was held on Thursday evening. The officers for 1926 are: president, T. W. Moore, vice president, J. Mohr, jun., secretary-treasurer, N. E. Robison; directors, J. T. Krebs, Geo. Cranston, W. McAdoo and J. Miles

At a late o'clock returning officer W. F. Williamson declared the meeting open for nominations for the office of councillors for Division four and five. At four o'clock the returning officer declared Mr. W. Grubb first councillor for Division No. 4, being the only nomination. He announced two nominations for Division No. 5, Messrs. H. Avery and S. Isbell, and gave notice that a poll for same will be held in the Castle school on Saturday, 20th February, between the hours 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A resolution was passed recommending the council to consider the advisability of such councillor calling a meeting in his division prior to the annual meeting.

A resolution was passed commending the action the council took in trying to get rid of noxious weeds, and that the work be followed up.

With a short discussion on the question of hospital accommodation, and a short, but heated discussion on the collection of school taxes, the meeting adjourned.

Stoford

Mrs. J. Allen and daughter Alma, of Edmonton, have been visiting with friends in this district.

Mr. Jess Sim, of the Sim Studio Co., Edmonton, was in the district on Thursday taking motion pictures. By fixing his machine on a sleigh excellent pictures of dogs catching and killing coyotes were obtained at A. Untereutalis's farm. The reels clearly show the capture of two coyotes.

FARMERS WARNED TO TEST GERMINATION OF SEED

It has come to the attention of the Alberta Department of Agriculture that a large percentage of grain in the province is displaying poor germination qualities. It is most important that, before seeding commences, the farmers should have their seed thoroughly tested for germination. This can be done for a nominal fee by sending samples to the dominion seed branch office at Calgary. It is believed that there is plenty of good quality of seed in the province to fill all demands, but it is important that farmers make certain of the quality of their seed before seeding. Those who have not made arrangements for seed or who have not seed available may secure high quality seed through the provincial marketing plant at Edmonton.

M.D. CLOVER BAR RATEPAYERS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Municipal District of Clover Bar, No. 617, was held in the Memorial hall, Fort Saskatchewan, on Saturday, February 20.

This was the best attended meeting held for some years, there being about one hundred ratepayers present.

Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, which were adopted as read, the financial statement was fully discussed and dealt with.

At about o'clock returning officer W. F. Williamson declared the meeting open for nominations for the office of councillors for Divisions four and five. At four o'clock the returning officer declared Mr. W. Grubb first councillor for Division No. 4, being the only nomination. He announced two nominations for Division No. 5, Messrs. H. Avery and S. Isbell, and gave notice that a poll for same will be held in the Castle school on Saturday, 20th February, between the hours 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A resolution was passed recommending the council to consider the advisability of such councillor calling a meeting in his division prior to the annual meeting.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WERE HOSTESSES TO GIRLS' CLUBS

(Overlooked last week)

The Women's Institute entertained the local C.G.I.T. and Girls' A.A.A. last Thursday in the Memorial hall. Addresses were given by Miss West on the Girls' A.A.A., and Miss Paterson on the C.G.I.T. The girls contributed choruses and duets, and competitions were held. The flower guessing competition for the girls was won by Elizabeth Jones after tying for first place with Nan Turner, and the book guessing competition for W. members by Mrs. Walton. Refreshments were served.

HOCKEY

The seniors met another Edmonton junior team from Edmonton last Saturday and for the first two periods allowed the Traders to do almost as they liked. The locals were playing hard but lacked system and teamwork and the blubber-eaters were not slow to take advantage of it. They scored six goals in the first two periods and only in the third did the Fort boys show their mettle. They settled down to business and made the med students look like second-raters, keeping the play in their territory practically the whole of the time. The Fort scored three goals in this period and one in the second, when Roy Stuckey, in scoring the first goal, was tripped or otherwise knocked off his balance, and had a dangerous fall into the net, severely wrenching his leg. He was removed from the ice and is still laid up from his injury. Final score: 6-3.

The 'Vics' intermediate hockey team romped home with a 7-0 victory over the Gibbons boys Tuesday night.

Don't forget St. Patrick's concert. Particulars to be announced later.

Canada's "Inferiority Complex"

A prominent Canadian addressing a meeting in New York recently, deplored the "inferiority complex" of the people of the Dominion—in other words that it has had tendency to detract from the progress and achievements of the country. Briefly, its growth, and question its possibilities. Two years ago a report was received from a well established firm, the baggage department of the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines in 1926. There was also a decrease in the amount of claims of twenty five per cent. from those of 1924, bringing the actual amount paid out to less than 1500 dollars.

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, dull, faded dress, coat, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings. Anything! Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye or tint is silk, or wool, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

HER IMPROVEMENT WAS REMARKABLE

Weak and Run-Down—Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"Two years ago," says Mrs. L. Wright, Secretch, Sask., "I was very much run-down in health. I suffered from indigestion, which headaches and dizziness, and I was so weak I often could not do my work. I was told to do down till the sickness passed away. I was so short of breath that I could not walk any distance or do anything that required much exertion, without feeling completely tired out. As I was constantly getting weaker, anaemic and needed building up. I took several boxes of tonic but they did me, but the help I got from it was only temporary. At this stage I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I had used in girlhood with much benefit. It was not long after I began using them that I knew I had at last found the right medicine. I think I took altogether some fifteen boxes, and the improvement was remarkable as I was feeling as well as ever I did been, and my good health has continued to this day. I had also been troubled at times with rheumatism and this as well as my other troubles disappeared. I have since recommended Dr Williams' Pink Pills to neighbors who have used them with equally good results."

All weak, anaemic women and girls should follow the example of Mrs. Wright, and give these pills a fair trial. New health and new strength is sure to follow. You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Turkish Women Enter Industrial World

Over Twenty Thousand Have Found Employment in Last Four Years

There was not one Turkish woman among the industrial workers of Constantinople four years ago, but now there are more than 20,000. A Turkish laboratory, the Denibas Society, led women into industry when it opened a factory in 1931 with the employment of 150 Turkish girls.

Turkish women have proved an adept at the sorting and grading of tobacco leaves that now this society employs 6,000 women. Other companies have sprung up and increased female employment. Comfort and health of the workers has been insured.

Record Baggage Handling

Checked Four Million Pieces of Luggage With Loss of Only Eleven Pieces

Handling 4,000,000 pieces of baggage in a year with a loss of only 11 pieces, is the record establishing by the baggage department of the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines in 1926. There was also a decrease in the amount of claims of twenty five per cent. from those of 1924, bringing the actual amount paid out to less than 1500 dollars.

Alberta Oil Development

Royalite Company Now Producing Five Hundred Barrels Daily

After spending more than four million dollars in exploration work the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd., has at last obtained a "gusher" in Turner Valley, it was reported by President C. O. Stillman at the recent annual meeting of the company in Toronto. In his address to the shareholders, Mr Still man said one well in Alberta operated by the Royalite Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Imperial, was now producing 500 barrels daily and showed [illegible] Mine wells he said, were being drilled by the Royalite Company in Turner Valley, Alberta, in which district the company was hoping for greater success. The company was also delivering about 12,000,000 feet of gas daily to Calgary.

Where Liquor Money Goes

More Money Spent On Liquor in Alberta Last Year Went to Ottawa Than to Provincial Treasury

More money spent on liquor in Alberta last year went to Ottawa than remained for Alberta's own treasury, according to the report of the liquor board now submitted to the government. Over $2,125,000 was paid into the Dominion Government in 1927, representing customs and excise duties on liquor and spirits taken on board, excise on malt, and sales taxes on the various products sold.

No reduction in the duty charged by the Dominion Government was made during the year, and there is little possibility of any reduction of the material lowering of present retail prices until such reduction is given effect.

Canada's Trade Grows

Trade Within the Empire Shows Heavy Increase

Canada's active participation in trade and commerce within the empire is revealed in the trade statements for the year 1925, issued by the bureau of statistics. In both imports and exports, Canada has increased her business with the rest of the empire. The imports from other sections were $197,000,000 in 1927, $182,000,000 in 1924 and $204,000,000 in 1925 — the same three years exports to British possessions were $175,000,000 in 1927, $464,000,000 in 1924 and the new peak of $567,000,000 last year

Cause of Fire

People in the Maritimes are calling Sir Henry Thornton "a menace to Canada." And Sir Henry's response, observes the Kingston Whig, is a contract to purchase 192,000 tons of Nova Scotia coal for the C.N.R. That is equilibrium. He appealed to the sun his way of keeping cools of fire on the heads of his detractors.—Toronto Globe.

No Trouble to Catch Shark

Dr. R. E. Maxwell, head of the department of physiology at the University of California, had urgent need of a live shark with which to demonstrate certain principles of the law of equilibrium. He appealed to the sun dent employment bureau and a janior, Arthur Cornell, produced one after a few hours' fishing.

Greater Industrial Development Shown Within Recent Years In The Western Provinces

Of recent years, and evidenced most markedly in 1925, there has been pronounced activity in Western Canada in the direction of achieving a greater industrial development, principally through the exploitation and utilization of the wealth and variety of the natural resources, that are possessed. This broad activity is commonly regarded as being purely agricultural, dependent entirely upon the east and other markets for its manufactures and whilst it is true that the great bulk of its revenue is derived from farming, with manufacturing a relatively unimportant phase of its economic life there is at the same time a steady industrial expansion evident and Western Canada is consistently moving to manufacture a larger share of its fabricated requirements

The prime reasons for being essentially agricultural, the manufactures from farm products are natural in the extent which have developed and most actively. In all three provinces flour and grist mills constitute the greatest industrial activity. Slaughtering and meat packing occupies second place in Alberta and Manitoba, but in Saskatchewan butter and cheese factories take second place, whilst it is third in both slater provinces. In British Columbia, resources differ totally from the remainder of the provinces' lists and lumber is first activity and pulp and paper is second, with fish preserved at third place with an almost equal importance. The other leading industries are the petroleum products, and cotton and jute bags, electric light and power, bread, biscuits and confectionery, coffee and spices, printing and publishing, cash, door and planing mills, malt liquors, aerated and mineral waters, and lumber, lath and shingles. Saskatchewan's fourth industry is electric light and power, followed by slaughtering and meat packing, flour and grist mills, planing mills, sheet metal products, cash, door and planing mills

Vancouver has become the first industrial city of Western Canada with a production value of $71,221,805, followed closely by Winnipeg with a value of $70,000,000, and Calgary, whose occupies third place, has an annual manufacturing production value of only $18,171,249. St. Boniface, Regina, Edmonton and Victoria have each a production in excess of $16,000,000, and Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Medicine Hat and New Westminster in excess of $5,000,000 Other important manufacturing centres are Brandon, Portage la Prairie and The Pas in Manitoba, Prince Albert, North Battleford, Yorkton and Weyburn in Saskatchewan, Lethbridge and Redcliffe in Alberta, and Prince Rupert, Fernie, Merritt and Nanaimo in British Columbia.

Efforts towards industrial expansion in Western Canada have been very much more marked and become much wider in scope since last survey was made by the government, and developments of a manufacturing industrial nature have taken place. Beet sugar manufacture has been inaugurated in Alberta, and oil refining is steadily becoming a more important activity as the crude product is drawn from the Montana field, whilst more successful results are confidently awaited in Alberta and Saskatchewan. In the same province the manufacture of cereal straw into paper pulp has almost reached the stage of actuality, and there would seem to be every probability that very soon the tar sands of the Athabasca will be vigorously utilized. Sodium sulphate deposits in Saskatchewan have been put on a commercial basis and the product is being shipped east and south, whilst ceaseless effort continues in the matter of utilizing the province's resources of lignite. Altogether there is evident in Western Canada a very marked determination to expand industrially through the exploitation and development of the great wealth and variety of the natural resources of that area

Market For Canadian Coal

Introduce British House to Levy Duty On U. S. Coal

Agitation to hold Canadian markets for Canadian coal took a concrete form in the House of Commons when two bills were introduced asking that a duty be levied on all coal [illegible] entering Canada from the United States

With the tie up in the American anthracite fields the manufacturers of the east have looked more and more to Alberta for fuel requirements and it is predicted at Ottawa that the 3[illegible] now in Canada will be increased to [illegible] this year. Imports last year were [illegible] an increase of $[illegible] over the previous year. Of $21,000,000 [illegible] from the United States [illegible] coal was imported from Great Britain [illegible] from Australia.

Canada's coal trade in 1925 was the largest in history, 17[illegible] more than in 1924. Imports last year were [illegible] an increase of $[illegible] over the previous year. In 1923 more than [illegible] were imported.

Maritime members who have been disturbed over the unemployment in the coal fields of the east are hopeful that the bills will help to keep the situation better for a time, but they are not expressing any optimism over the proposed measures.

It is recognized however, that placing a tariff barrier against the United States coal would have an effect on Canadian trade as the balance of trade in favor of the United States would be materially increased. The position to go very carefully is to be left to the bills introduced

Saskatchewan Registered Seed

Seed Growers' Association Improving Facilities For Handling

"Improvements and expansion of the facilities for handling registered seed have been made in the progressive work being carried out by the Saskatchewan Registered Seed Growers' Association," states M. T. Tullis manager of the organization. Last year the association marketed five times as much registered seeds as has been done in any other year prior to that time and for the 1926-27 season to date inquiries from Canada in the maritime and seed districts of the east and south indicate a 50 per cent increase over the 1926-27 [illegible] business.

St. Catharines, Ont.—"During my first expectant period I was in very poor health, was very nervous, suffered from morning sickness, had backache and abdominal pain. I was so miserable as could be. Then a friend I married to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and after I began taking it I got along fine; it relieved me of the morning sickness, pains and distress thru my back and sides and I grew well and strong. Was able to do my own work the remainder of the time. I experienced very little suffering and had a fine healthy baby, who has never had a day's sickness except slight colds. I was very glad to know of a medicine so valuable as the 'Prescription' proved to be."—Mrs. Reginald Stone, 68 Haynes Ave. All dealers.

A Skidmount transmitter is being installed in Rolls Royce cars, made this the key to the entire radio communication system of the United States Government. It is one of the most powerful stations in the country

An important investigation just completed under the direction of George S Burgess, director of the United States bureau of standards shows less harmful effects from high tension wires than had formerly been had been expected by this bureau.

A new record for amateur radio communication is believed to have been established by a pioneer amateur tour, Earl Chang, when he was in communication with a ship lying in Discovery Inlet, Labrador, when more than 10,000 miles away, for more than fifty minutes

In 1923 there were 2,500 radios on farms in the United States, increasing to 650,000. Furthermore, the farmer is not to buyer of cheap sets. In 1922 the average price paid was $175. In 1925 the high price sets were still the best sellers to farmers, says Good Hardware, and total sales were $175 to $400 were better sellers than the $100

JESUS TEACHES RESPECT FOR LAW

Golden Text: Think not that I came to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfil. Matt. 5.17.

Lesson: Matthew 22.15-23.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 1.

Explanations and Comments

The Clever Question and Its Purpose, verses 15-17.—The Pharisees were now received to conquer the death of Jesus. They had no power to order Him put to death, and so they discussed among themselves how much by which they could accomplish their object. They decided to make an attempt to ensnare Him in His talk, hoping He would say something which they could report to Pilate as treason and thus secure from the Roman Governor His death sentence. And, indeed, two days later they falsely told Pilate, "We found this man perverting our nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar." Lk. 23.2. Craftily keeping themselves in the background, they sent their disciples together with the Herodians, to question Him. The Herodians were the court party a small class who resented the Roman rule, but favored the kingship of the house of Herod and meant to be on good terms with the government at any cost.

This alliance of Pharisees and Herodians, who hated each other, shows how supremely great was their common hatred of Jesus. Cherish hatred and it will in time absorb all other feelings, and will expand itself, not upon the object of your hatred, but in the ruin of your soul.

Would Lower Duties

Reduction In Duty On Automobiles Is Believed Certain

Conference between Liberal and Conservative members of the session 1926 budget has been inaugurated and it is understood that already there is some agreement on some features. It is believed as practically certain that there will be a reduction in the duty on automobiles and that this will constitute the principal change in the tariff schedules.

In addition, it is learned, the Progressives have asked for reductions in other commodities, including pumps and pump pipes, lubricating oils and farm tools.

Self-Poisoning Takes Huge Toll

Many Fall in Life Through Sheer Neglect of Fundamental Rule of Health

Thousands of men and women are to-day victims of their own neglect, unwitting, fellow, quickly bring suffering from headaches and biliousness, they spend enormous sums on medicines without avail. They would give much to regain their old vitality.

Can it be done? Yes! How? Simply by recognizing the importance of one fundamental rule of health the proper elimination of the bowel contents. Poisons that are allowed to remain in the system quickly lower the stamina, weaken the nerves and thus pave the way to ill-health. Stop this self-poisoning by taking Nujol—the scientific lubricant that completes the work of Nature's lubricant when, through modern living conditions, the natural supply fails.

Nujol can be taken indefinitely without injury to the system. Try Nujol to-day. Ask for it at your nearest drug store, but remember there is only one Nujol. Watch for the name "Nujol" as set on the label and package.

SAY EASTBOUND GRAIN RATES NOT COMPLIED WITH

Ottawa.—When the board of railway commissioners were urged to deal promptly with eastbound grain and flour rates to Fort William, commissioner Boyce declared that it was a claim for preferential treatment out side the general rate investigation.

The incident cropped when W. H. McEwen, counsel for Saskatchewan, declared that the order of the board issued last June fixing the eastbound grain and flour rates, was not being complied with by the railways. It was an application for Canadian Pacific Railway main line rates to be applied generally on western lines

If the railways were not living up to the order issued by the board then the remedy was under the Railways Act, declared Commissioner Boyce. A new order would not make any difference, said the commissioner.

Mr. McEwen claimed that "the Crow's Nest Situation should be cleared up, for the farmer of Saskatchewan had been continuously involved in the thing since 1923 Commissioner Boyce replied the claim of the Saskatchewan counsel that he had the right to make an application to insure that the order was complied with.

Predicts Large Surplus

Premier Brownlee of Alberta Briefly Outlines Policies of Government

Edmonton.—Premier [illegible] in his address [illegible] Legislature as premier [illegible] Brownlee predicted a surplus of $118,000 in the provincial finances of Alberta for the fiscal year 1925, the second largest in the history of the province.

In speaking to the message of Hon. R. Marshall, leader of the opposition, Premier Brownlee declared that it was a fallacy to suppose that the province is on the verge of a great era of industrial and agricultural expansion, and laying down the policies which he regarded as essential for the encouragement of this expansion fairly regulated on the Hon. Mr. Marshall's charges against the Farmer government of indecision, mismanagement and ill-advised legislation.

Among the points which Premier Brownlee gave as his policy essential to ensuring a sound industrial and economic development were:

First: Continued encouragement to co-operative marketing among the farmers, and the establishment of the principle of orderly marketing.

Second: Extension of markets for Alberta products.

Third: Creation of a [illegible] to be taken by the federal authorities in the transportation of [illegible] of Ontario.

Fourth: Better facilities from all [illegible] such as grain and coal.

Fifth: Development of the western rail routes and Alberta representation on the Vancouver harbor board.

Sixth: Continuation of the natural resources.

Seventh: Greater co-ordination between government and industry as per example the coal council which is responsible to solve Alberta's coal problems.

Eighth: Continuation of a policy of government economy and settling up all outstanding [illegible] debts.

Ninth: A sound immigration policy

Had No Intention Of Offending Canada

English Magistrate Did Not Regard Dominion As Persi Colony

Birmingham Eng. March 2.—Mr. Silver, in an interview with the Canadian Press, expressed surprise and regret against his judgment recently in giving a prisoner a choice between being sent to jail or going to Canada. Magistrate Rhodes said to-day, however, he thought the advice given to the prisoner to go to Canada was the best for the man and good for Canada, as the person in question was the type of man who could make a valuable colonist. The man had never been convicted, the magistrate continued, was well built and sturdy and was of the kind that would be capable of righting himself in a country where a healthy outdoor life and hard work were essential to success.

He said he had not the slightest idea of offending Canadian susceptibilities when he suggested that the accused should choose to go to Canada and make a fresh start in life.

A protest against Magistrate Rhodes's action was voiced in the House of Commons at Ottawa by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, North Centre, Winnipeg

Red Delegates Must Explain Expenditures

Spent Millions of Gold Rubles and Accomplished Little Say Soviets

Latvia.—A group of delegates, representing many countries, have arrived at Moscow to attend the annual communist convention.

Parades, receptions and "at the theatres" in honor of the delegates are noticeably absent this year. The attitude of the delegates is subdued, according to the Moscow papers.

Under pressure of M. Djerjinski, head of the all powerful state police—the Cheka—the Communist party has decided to call the delegates to an accounting. Most of the sessions of the conference will be devoted to reports on how the appropriations have been spent during the last year. The Soviet papers are unable to understand why the millions of gold rubles failed to produce any noticeable revolutionary activities abroad.

Already the Scandinavian communist party has been notified that they no longer will receive Moscow's financial assistance Subsidies in all the other European communist parties face a radical reduction.

May Get New Post

Here and There

Canada has officially invited the British Dominions and colonies and all foreign powers to attend the world's poultry congress at Ottawa, which is to be held from July 27 to August 4, 1927. Three thousand delegates are expected to attend.

Canadian construction contracts for the month of January totalled $12,060,000 as compared with $6,884,700 in January 1924. The demand for January indicates that winter construction is rapidly increasing in favor.

March Gras celebrations at Quebec started off along the lines that have made the Ancient Capital famous throughout the continent. This year's activities were rendered even more interesting by the fact that the city is now at the height of its winter sports celebrations.

The value of the wheat crop of Saskatchewan was $264,806,000 in 1924, or substantially more than half of the total Dominion value. A total of 12,992,741 acres were seeded which yielded an average of 18.5 bushels per acre, or a total of 240,851,000 bushels.

One of the most remarkable escapes from sudden death was witnessed at Aylmer, Quebec, when a chauffeur attempted to start the train to the Aylmer Road Crossing and reached the tracks the very same moment a train was passing. The taxi driver and his two passengers were thrown from the car and were unable to speak on account of the shock and fright. They were otherwise unjured.

Manitoba Farmers Ask For a Reduction of Protective Duties

Reduction of protective duties now in force on imports, before other steps are taken to assist in a readjustment of all commercial conditions of the United Kingdom of Manitoba, was the immediate request of the United Farmers of Manitoba in a resolution passed at the recent convention. The United Farmers of Manitoba re affirm their demand that no long ar tariff changes are levied, the taking of which is preferable to protective duties on imports since a much larger proportion of the increased price indicated by it passes into the national exchequer. The revenue ought to be derived from direct taxation on incomes, inheritances, estates and equally inequitable and direct incidence."

Famous Polar Ship in H. B. Service

Amundsen's "Maude" Will Fly As Tender in Canadian Waters

Captain Amundsen's famous polar exploration ship "Maude," from now on will ply Canadian waters, and will possibly be seen next summer by some of the Edmonton fur traders who make the annual pilgrimages to the Arctic coast.

On her return from the fruitless effort to drift with the ice to Europe via the Siberian coasts and the northeast passage, the "Maude" was sent to Seattle, where the ice pioneer was purchased by the Hudson's Bay company.

With the coming of the spring the vessel will be sent north via the Behring Straits. Once in Canadian Arctic waters she will be used as a tender in connection with the company's large ocean-going steamer "Baychimo." It is understood that it, itself will not go further than Herschel Island, due to the danger of being caught in the ice packs. She will unload her cargo there for the many new H. B. C. posts recently established in the Arctic, the "Maude" transferring the cargo to its various destinations.

FIGHTING FOR BABY'S HEALTH

Is the Constant Care of Every Young Mother

The young mother has a constant care in looking after the welfare of her little ones. Childhood ailments come on so suddenly—sometimes without a minute's warning—the mother may have a very sick baby on her hands before help can be obtained. That is unless she has a remedy in the house which she can safely give the baby for any of the many minor ailments of babyhood and childhood.

Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. Thousands of mothers throughout the country always keep a box of the Tablets on hand and they proclaim them to be without an equal for sweetening baby's stomach; regulating his bowels, and thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers, and making the dread ed teething period easy.

Baby's Own Tablets are an absolutely safe remedy. They are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any other narcotic drug which are so harmful to the future welfare of the baby. Mothers, if you value the life of your little ones give him Baby's Own Tablets when he is ill, or, better still, give him an occasional dose of the Tablets to ward off illness. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or will be sent to any address post paid, at 25 cents a box by addressing The Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Back at the cabin Baree crept, inch by inch, to the window and cautiously looked out at the interior of the cabin in light. It was too late to escape now. He had seen Jim Peters and knew that Jim knew him. Where was Jim's partner, Wilson? He had known only a few men, and all of them he had regarded as friends. But this was a time that changed all things. He was a wolf once more. He wanted to die. He wanted to die with a desire all at once to be alone at the heels of this stranger. For the first time in his life a desire for the friendship of man possessed him. He did not know until Jim's wife entered the room. Then he knew!

That night they were camped in a deep growth of cedars and balsam ten miles north of Black Mississagan trap-line. For two hours it had snowed, and their trail was covered. It was still snowing, but not a flake of the white deluge sifted down through the thick canopy of boughs. Carvel had put up his small silk tent and had built a fire. Their supper was over, and Baree lay on his belly facing the outlaw, almost within reach of his hand. With a look in a time, Carvel was smoking luxuriously. He had thrown off his cap and his coat, and in the warm firelight he looked almost healthily young. But even in that glow his jaws lost none of their square menace, nor his eyes their steel alertness.

"I'm a bad one, old chap," he chuckled. "You haven't got it on me—not a bit. Want to know what happened?" He waited a moment, and Baree looked at him steadily. Carvel went on, as if speaking to a friend. "Let's see. It was five years ago, five years this December, just before Christmas time. Had a half fun and money, too. Had a wife and a kid. Then I got—got—got—" He choked and his face worked. Under the firelight Baree saw a wolf-like gleam in his eyes. "Got—got—" Carvel's throat worked horribly. "Got—got—" He could not speak. He could only look at Baree, and Baree knew that he was struggling with a terrible thing that was choking him. Suddenly Carvel leaped to his feet and stood over the dog. His hands were clenched, and his body trembled. Baree's throat—a chain of ferocious sound. It was the sound that Carvel had heard when Baree first leaped at him, and Carvel, opening the breech of his gun, had thrust in a fresh cartridge

Ramsay Theam is having his feed operated upon at the University hospital, Edmonton.

The regular monthly meeting of St. George's W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Carscadden on Thursday, March 4, at 3 p.m.

A Fox production, "The Wheel," is being shown at the Eden Palace theatre this week. An all-star cast. Also comedy. Usual prices.

Jack Holmes, of Lamoureux, has landed a carload of brick out to his farm for the brick-veneered house he intends building this coming summer.

A half-sprighan bee belonging to Joe Lorenz hatched out a brood of chickens last Friday. Like "Charley's Aunt," they're still going strong.

Partridge Hill U.F.A. local will hold a "500" drive in the school house Friday, February 26. Good prizes. Admission to drive, 25c. Everybody welcome.

The Ladies' Aid of the United church will give a social tea and concert at the home of Mrs. S. G. Cross on Thursday, March 4, from 3:30 to 6 p.m. A small charge of 25c will be asked. Everybody welcome.

Jack Holmes, one of the prominent farmers of the Lamoureux district, has hauled in to the elevator two more of wheat and two cans of oats, and is now hauling in two cars of barley, all of first class quality.

"Miss Alberta," who has lately received innumerable instructions from the Edmonton Journal to "tell 'em," has a familiar look. A girl who will take so many orders without answering back is a rare jewel in these days.

At the Retail Merchants' association convention held last week in Edmonton, S. O. Jones was requested to continue in the office of treasurer, but declined, accepting however, the honor of being 3rd. vice-president. Messrs. Lisenby, Morel, Simard, and A. M. Carscadden were also present. There were more than 150 in attendance at the convention, said to be the best ever held.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Bosse is confined to her home, having contained a painful injury to her hand.

Mr. F. A. Walker returned from the coast last week. Mrs. Walker is continuing her visit.

Miss Irene Greene, of the W. A. Dolker hardware company, is in Calgary visiting her mother who is a patient in the General hospital.

Mrs. Harris and daughter Evelyn are at Rochester, Minn., where Evelyn has undergone a serious operation at Mayo brothers hospital. A telegram received states the operation was successful.

Mrs. H. Gaul, who was severely burned Saturday, February 13, when the home was destroyed by fire, is still suffering from burns to face and from shock, but is recovering as well as can be expected.

Yorkville

On Thursday last, February 18, a social function in the form of a shower for Miss Ethel Lund was held at the home of her mother, when friends and neighbours gathered to shower her with good wishes and other good things. The evening started with dancing until about eleven o'clock when a lunch consisting of two courses with a letter of greetings for Miss Lund and a miniature parlor in which a miniature wedding party was placed. After came a sleigh with a basket filled with gifts; children and basket were decorated with hearts and streamers in keeping with the nature of the occasion. Little Ethel Armstrong and Ardith Robinson carried in the greetings; Orval Robinson and George Armstrong followed with the sleigh. After the presentation was made Mr. William Lund, in the absence of the bridegroom-elect, Mr. Percy Dennis, gave a short address on behalf of his sister, and thanked everyone present. Gladstone Horton gave a hearty vote of thanks to the conveners of the shower. Then crowd then sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Dancing was continued to the early hours of the morning.

The bride-elect received many pretty and useful gifts, consisting of linen, silver, hand-embroidered articles, kitchen and laundry supplies, and china dinner set. Mention should also be made of a cabinet of silver presented previously by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Whitson, now of Alcondale; also a beautiful cut-work table cover from Miss Ineff's dearest friend, Miss M. Mayers, London, England, which was on display during the evening. It was discovered even the out made her presentation: a trap already baited.

The bride will be at home to her friends after March 1st at — 84th street, Edmonton.

Another social evening was held in the Agricola school house when the orchestra of that district, consisting of Harold and Roy Cinnamon, Lloyd and Frank Walker, Claire Millinbeck-er, Maurice Andrews and Donald McLick, assisted by their instructor, Mrs. Gillies, of Ardrossan, gave an informal dance. The boys rendered some very old and some very new selections, and did remarkably well considering some of them have only been playing a few months. Mrs. Gillies has just cause to be proud of this young company. There was a good crowd in attendance and everyone was pleased with the progress the young people are making. At twelve o'clock a splendid lunch was served and the evening's entertainment wound up at one. The orchestra intends putting on another social in the near future. We are looking forward to it with pleasure and hope they will name an early date.

Mr. R. Robinson, of Furry Sound, Ontario, is visiting his sons, Mr. F. H. and W. J. Robinson, and renewing old acquaintances in the district.

The Red Cross met at the home of Mrs. T. Johnston for January and at the home of Mrs. Trinity for February. The meeting for March will be at the home of Mrs. R. Rose, March 3.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaul wish to thank all those friends and neighbors who came to their assistance at the time of the fire at their home and also for donations given and other kindnesses shown since that unfortunate event took place.

MILDEST WINTER IN 126 YEARS

The Peace River district, 400 miles north-west of Edmonton, has experienced the mildest winter shown in 126 years of records, according to J. A. McGregor, general manager of the E. D. and B.C. railway, who states that the ice on the Smoky river went out on December 9, and the ice on the Peace river went out on December 16. According to records which Mr. McGregor has, this occurred once before 125 years ago. In the southern part of the province, in the foothills, ranchers state that it has not been necessary to feed a pound of hay to cattle, which have been able to feed off the range all winter. A small amount of plowing has been done on the land in certain southern districts.

Theatre Attendance in Alberta

An average of approximately 100,000 admissions a week was the record of Alberta theatres for 1925, according to the report of the Provincial Secretary in this respect. The total admissions for the year were 5,200,702. The total amusement tax collected was $193,331.14. The picture censor, Howard Douglas, reports that out of 5,013 reels of film censored, 4,733 were passed without change. Eight were rejected entirely.

Another Fruitless Strike

The folly of strikes and lockouts as a means of settling labor disputes is once again demonstrated in connection with the ending of the miners' strike in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. Originally the miners demanded a ten per cent increase in wages, about $1.80 per day. And the threat of against the latter being the method whereby the coal companies collect dues for the union by deductions from the miner's pay. The coal operators refused to increase wages, refused the check-off, and offered parallel arbitration and a long contract.

As a result, as the ensuing deadlock, 158,000 men working in 328 mines of 153 companies abstained from work for a period of 163 days, and lost wages aggregating to about $1,000,000 a day. On the other hand, the coal companies lost the profits on 366,000 tons of coal a day, and the industry and the community lost, it is estimated, one billion dollars, while the people of the United States, and to some extent in Eastern Canada, suffered loss and added hardships because of lack of fuel. The effect on the morale of these 158,000 men in idleness, and the women and children dependent on them, cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

To offset these losses, what have the miners gained? The settlement arrived at provides that they go back to work at once at the old scale of wages —no increase being granted—and continue unincorporated to August 31, 1930. After January 1, 1927, either side may, not oftener than once a year, propose changes in the contract, but if the two parties fail to agree after thirty days' negotiation, then the decision shall rest with a board of two men. The check-off is not specifically provided for, but it is provided that "questions of co-operation and efficiency shall be referred to a conciliation board of three operators and three miners." The miners classify the check-off as "co-operation and efficiency" and expect to get a modified form of check-off.

Without any increase of wages, and bound not to re-open the issue for a year, the miners have little opportunity of making up the $165,000,000 of wages lost in the six months' strike. They have weakened their position in other respects. While the mining of hard coal in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania was at a standstill, the miners and operators in the West Virginia and Kentucky fields found a market for all the coal they could mine, and even more—the demand made it possible to boost prices all along the line. As many of the anthracite mine owners are also interested in these southern fields, when they lost in Pennsylvania they made up in the southern states, while the general public paid. But the miners had no means of recouping their losses.

Another Use For Helium

Mixed With Oxygen Permits Divers to Reach Greater Depths

Another use seems to have been found for helium, the inert, non-inflammable gas that is used for inflating the American dirigible but lems. One of the dangers of deep sea diving is the absorption of nitrogen by the blood. Recent experiments indicate that a mixture of helium and oxygen will permit divers to descend to depths greater than have been attained, and to ascend more rapidly without danger.

Throat Trouble

Toronto, Ont.—"For about eight years I was subject to laryngitis, my throat would get very sore and I would lose my voice I would have a spell of this bad a couple of times a year, especially in the winter when the weather was cold and disagreeable. It would be a couple of months each time before I would fully recover from these spells and get my voice back. I doctored and took medicine with little relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it has so completely relieved me of this trouble that I scarcely ever have a little hoarseness or suffer in any way from my former trouble."—Mrs. A. Britain Discards Helicopter

Will Concentrate On Autogiro Type Which Is Much Simpler

The Brennan helicopter experiments on which £250,000 has been expended to date, will be discarded by the air ministry in favor of concentration on the Lacierva autogiro, it is understood The ministry is credited with the intention of constructing four or five machines embodying the principles of Spanish "Windmill" plane, which was hailed by Sir William Ircancher, Alex Vee-Marshal when it was tried out at Farnborough as "the greatest aeronautical invention since the Wright brothers."

Experiments with the helicopter have been carried out in the closest secrecy for the last five years, but air reports are now said to have come to the conclusion that the machine's inventors all that the perfected helicopter would have been able to do, while its principles are much simpler.

ON THE AIR

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

G. B. Shaw says radio is doing serious harm by training artists to perform without applause.

Reception of a radio programme from Johannesburg, South Africa, on a short wave set at London, Ohio, recently has been verified.

The aurora borealis is being harnessed by experts for unobstructive radio reception. They are now more two sons why the radio will not work than why it should function properly.

An ordinary street light in an Kansas town has the peculiar property of acting as a radio and every day between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon stops on its rounds to listen to a programme

A cooking talk will broadcast all of its lectures and instructions, has been inaugurated at Vienna, Austria The talks, which are given at 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. and will last approximately two hours.

Rough usage harms many radio tubes, and owners are urged to purchase a new set before he should need them. Handling tubes, taking them out of the sets and such often causes damage to them.

Direct wireless telephonic communication with Australia, a distance of 12,000 miles, has been established by Frank Neill, an amateur of Whitehead, near Belfast, Ireland The test was held 2 minutes and the voice of [illegible] citizen named Herbert could be distinctly heard. The wave length used was 36 metres.

"One of the most effective vermifuges on the market is Miller's Worm Powders They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will leave a very convincing evidence that children in repudiating the infantile ailments and establishing it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed. They can be given to child dum in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

First Recorded Eclipse

Eclipses were predicted by an Athenian, named Calippus, in the year 330 B.C. The first eclipse recorded in history happened on March 19, 721 B.C., a fact which may also be given to child dum in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

Still Enjoying Life at 84

Thanks To That Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. F. H. Miller, 1843-11th Ave, East, Vancouver, B.C., writes — "Five years ago my husband suffered terribly with severe attacks of palpitation of the heart and nervous trouble, and two doctors stated that he could not possibly live six months.

A friend recommended Milburn's H. and N. Pills, with the result that my husband is still enjoying life at the age of 84 years.

He has improved so wonderfully that he can now climb the stairs without having those awful pains in his heart."

THE RECORD

H. Oxley, Editor and Publisher

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1926

We think we have seen in print somewhere that all roads lead to Edmonton. If they do, the very worst specimen, without possible exception, must be the one from Fort Saskatchewan. In the condition in which it was at the beginning of the week no one should have been allowed to attempt to travel it, the detour signs were as necessary as at any time during the—er—improvement. To allow the public to attempt its difficulties and hazards without fair warning is another instance of "man's inhumanity to man," which makes many modern motorists mourn.

Chiefly concerns a multitude of sins.

Ford Introduces
National Payment Plan

For twenty-one years the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, has pioneered in the field of motor transportation, doing everything possible to make high quality cars easy to buy and economical to own, in order that the greatest number of people may enjoy the benefits and advantages of owning a car.

In line with this policy, a new and unique time payment plan has been inaugurated which makes it possible for more people to own Ford cars.

This is called the National Time Payment Plan because the payments are the same anywhere from Halifax to Vancouver.

Through this plan you know definitely in advance, the amount of the down payment and the installments required to buy the car you want.

You pay only the advertised amount—no more. All Ford models are now obtainable on this plan from your local authorized Ford dealer in conjunction with Traders Finance Corporation, Limited.

NATIONAL TIME PLAN PAYMENTS

Payments throughout Canada are standard. Down payments do not vary regardless of tax, licenses, insurance, freight or delivery charges

Communists Fail in Britain

Were Unable to Shake Allegiance of Soldiers and Sailors

If they have no other reminder they have the running of revolution. They have been busy on a broad point of view from the start was to work their communistic purposes by undermining military and sailors from their allegiance. Those have failed in their attempt to shake the allegiance of the soldiers and sailors. That is one fact that is to be remembered. They have been disappointed in that. They are undermining a righteous patriotism and those who believe over come by accident or leader would dare to commit such crime. Black wood's Magazine.

Carvel ... he's yelling and ... the ... fight. He ... breathing ... He no longer ... struggle in the darkness, nor did he hear the movement of bodies. The suddenness and ferocity of his attack had driven back the wolf horde like the dog. He caught his breath, and ... his eyes. A shadow was dragging itself into the circle of light. It was Baree. Carvel ran to him, put his arms under his shoulders, and brought him to the fire. For a long time after that there was a ... glistening light in Carvel's eyes. He reloaded his guns, put fresh fuel on the fire, and from his pack dug out strips of cloth with which he bandaged three or four of the deepest cuts in Baree's legs. And a dozen times he ... a wondering sort of way.

"Now what the deuce made you do that, old chap? What have you got against wolves?"

All that night he did not sleep, but watched.

Their experience with the wolves broke down the last bit of uncertainty that might have existed between the man and the dog. For days after that as they travelled slowly north and west, Carvel sensed Baree as he might ... "With the big automatic before his eyes he plunged out into the darkness," ... "and his lips there loosed a wild yelling that could have been heard a mile away."

south that he need the sled most frequently. This was quite natural, Carvel thought, for his old hunting grounds were back there. But as the days passed he began to notice other things. Now and then, looking off into the far country from which they had come, Baree would whine softly, and on that day he would be filled with a great restlessness. He gave no evidence of wanting to leave Carvel, but more and more Carvel came to understand that some mysterious call was coming to him from out of the south.

It was the wanderer's intention to swing over into the country of the Great Slave, a good eight hundred miles to the north and west, before the much-sewn came. From there, when the waters opened in springtime, he planned to travel by canoe west and to the Mackenzie and ultimately to the mountains of British Columbia. These plans were changed in February. They were caught in a great storm in the Wholdaia Lake country, and when their fourteen hooked darkest Carvel stumbled on a cabin in the heart of a spruce forest, and in this cabin there was a dead man. He had been dead for many days, and was frozen stiff. Carvel chopped a hole in the earth and buried him.

The cabin was a treasure trove to Carvel and Baree, and especially to the man. It evidently possessed no other owner than the one who had died; it was comfortable and stocked with provisions; and more than that he owner had made a splendid ... ward room Carvel swung sharply to the south and east again and almost immediately Baree regained his old sturdiness, and ran ahead of his master.

A week later Baree ... a weird Cree name ... swinging westward ... Lac Bain. It was mid-afternoon when they came ... the trail along which Black McTag and ... dragged ... had been set ... Baree did not even pause. He bore ... due south travelling so fast that at ... he was lost to Carvel's sight. A suppressed but intense excitement possessed him, and he whined when ... Carvel stopped to rest always with his nose ... the wind out of the south. Springtime ... flowers, earth turning green ... singing of birds and ... the sweet ... in the air were bringing him back to that great ... Yesterday ... when he had been ... to ... sense. CHAPTER XXX.

A strange humor possessed Carvel as he began the southward journey. He did not believe in omens good or bad. Superstition had played a small part in his life, but he possessed both curiosity and a love for adventure, and his years of lonely wandering had developed in him a wonderfully clear mental vision of things, which in other life imagination. He knew that some irresistible force was drawing Baree south; he might be called singularly so back into the south—that it was pulling him not only along a given line of the compass, but to an exact point in that line. For no reason in particular the attention began to interest him more and more, and as his time was valueless, and he had no fixed destination in view, he began to experiment. For the first two days he marked Baree's course by compass. It was due southeast. On the third morning Carvel purposely struck a course straight west. He noted quickly the change in Baree—his restlessness at first, and after that the dejected manner in which he followed at his heels. To-

Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I returned home one week ... was unable to move a chair. For four months I was almost frantic with pains and suffering until I thought more there could not be any cure for me. I had very severe pains in my left side and ... I felt sick and weak ... Several agony every month. One day ... thing I was not able ... got up ... mother begged me to try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle ... Vegetable Compound at once and ... I took it. I started a second bottle, ... and to my surprise and joy the pains in my side left me completely and I ... am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you ... see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and have also used the Sanative Wash."—Mrs. L. LAUZON, Box 105, Coniston, Ontario.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ARE OF GREAT VALUE

To All Mothers Having Young Children in the Home

No other medicine is of such aid to mothers of young children as is Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are the very best medicine a mother can give her little ones during the dreaded teething time because they regulate the stomach and bowels and thus drive out constipation and indigestion, prevent colic and diarrhoea and break up colds and simple fevers.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets, Mrs. John A. Patterson, Scotch Village, N.S. says:—"I have six children, and all the medicine they ever got is Baby's Own Tablets. I would use nothing else for them and can sincerely recommend the Tablets to all other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cannot Solve Secret

Tabbi "Fire Walker" Have Always Been Puzzle to Scientists

Most everyone has heard of the Tabbi "fire walkers," but few have viewed their curious feat. A trench two feet wide and two feet deep is filled with boulders, on top of which a fire is kept for hours until the stones have attained a white heat. The ashes are cleaned off, then the walkers stroll nonchalantly over the hot stones, barefooted. Scientists have made intensive studies to learn the secret, but it's still a secret, and theirs only.—Variety, New York

FREE TRACTOR SCHOOL AND PICTURE SHOW MAR. 22

Everyone interested in the advancement of farming will welcome the opportunity to attend the Power Farming School which is being brought here through the enterprise of Mr. James Graham, local Ford dealer, in conjunction with Ford Motor Company of Canada and the Oliver Chilled Plow Company. The school will be held in the Eden Palace theatre and the public will be admitted without charge. A one day course of lectures delivered by R. C. Hunking, well known tractor instructor of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Limited, comprise the programme.

These lectures will be on March 22, at 10 a.m., and will go on until 5 o'clock. Mechanical instruction on the Fordson will be given at this school.

Since the object of the school is to discuss ways and means of making farming in this district more profitable, the subjects selected are ones that have a direct bearing on the problem. Power Farming, Soils, Preparation of Seed Bed, and Conserving Soil Moisture are topics that will be thoroughly gone over. Good speakers have been secured to deliver the lectures and their talks will be illustrated by motion picture films In this way it is hoped that the speaker's arguments will be made quite clear and easily understood. Matters that are peculiar to this particular locality will also be discussed and the best method of solving them sought out.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CLOVER BAR, NO. 517

Following the annual municipal elections the council of the Municipal District of Clover Bar, No. 517, held their first meeting on Saturday, Mar. 6 with three members in attendance.

Messrs Hacko and Gillies were again elected Reeve and Deputy Reeve respectively.

Dr. Henry was re-appointed Medical Officer of Health for the district, with the Reeve, Deputy Reeve and Secretary as members of the Health committee.

James A Henderson & Co., Edmonton, were re-appointed auditors.

It was decided to again continue the policy of distributing free gopher poison, and the secretary was instructed to purchase sufficient quantities as occasion demanded.

It was decided to hold council meetings on the first Saturday in each month.

A. LUNAN RABBLE-ROUSING UNTIL U.F.A. CONVENTION

A. Lunan, U.F.A. Director for Vegreville constituency, dropped in to see us recently and reports that the U.F.A. is experiencing a revival of enthusiasm. The farmers are showing renewed interest in the farm organizations, new locals are being formed and old ones that have been somewhat dormant are awakening to the need of keeping the U.F.A. in a live, healthy condition.

Mr. Lunan was on his way to Ketterborn to attend an organization meeting of a new local in that district. The meeting took place Saturday night, March 6.

On Monday he left for Hay Lakes, where he will commence a series of meetings in the towns east as far as Viking, returning by C.N.R. from Ranfurly addressing meetings there and at intervening points west to Lamont, arriving there in time for the Victoria Provincial U.F.A. convention to be held March 23.

Suppression Of Crime

In freedom from serious crime Canada enjoys a good name and reputation which is in striking contrast to that of its great neighbor, the United States. It is a name and reputation which Canadians should jealously guard and carefully refrain from pollution and actions which would in the slightest degree lower the standard so long maintained in this Dominion. A word of warning is in order because signs are not lacking of a tendency to grow somewhat lax in the matter of law enforcement.

In the United States crime has become a national menace, and in many respects the law has broken down. So serious has the situation become that responsible officials and nation wide organizations, including the legal profession, are shocked, and are looking about for some effective means of checking the reign of lawlessness and violent criminal acts now recognized as a national disgrace as well as danger, and which places the United States in an unenviable class by itself among the nations of the world. The rising tide of crime is now admitted to be one of the United States' greatest problems.

A study of some of the causes of the condition now existing in the United States may be of value to Canadians in safeguarding themselves and their country from the development of a similar state of affairs here [illegible] let us consider a few figures

In 1922, 9,580 persons were killed in crimes of violence in the United States. In 1923, the number was 10,600, and in 1924 it had risen to 11,000. Compare these figures with England and Wales. In 1922 there were 16 murders committed in all England and Wales, and 92 homicides other than murder, a total of 141 as compared with 240 that same year in Chicago alone and 14,000 in the United States. The population of England and Wales at that time was 38,000,000 and of Chicago slightly less than 2,000,000. London and New York have approximately the same population, but London had just 62 murders in 1922 as compared with New York's 303. In 1923 more than twelve times as many people were robbed in one United States city alone, Chicago, as in all the Dominion of Canada.

Such figures indict the Canadian and Canadian judicial systems, with judges appointed for life, and the United States system of judges chosen by popular election, is one cause of weakness across the line. But the chief factor in the increase of crime in the United States is undoubtedly the lack of law enforcement. In many of the large U. S. cities crime has become a well organized business. Many lawyers clever, but utterly unscrupulous, make it their business to defend the criminal class. They can command big fees, and they take full advantage of every twist and quirk in the law to get these law breakers off. Partisan elected judges, and politically chosen district attorneys, and a politically administered police force, cannot successfully cope with these lawyers, backed with unlimited resources from the criminal [illegible]

Let us not [illegible] of an unfair class holding the law and law officers in contempt. Prohibition[illegible] has [illegible] fear terrors for them, because in the majority of instances they are confident they can beat the law. And they do.

In Canada Great Britain, criminals have a wholesome respect for the law. They know it will be enforced without fear or favor. But, unfortunately, there has developed in this layer a certain sickly sentimentality among people and some organizations for the criminal class. They have entered with the suppression of crime have sounded warnings, but many people think only of the criminal and not of the community, and nowadays hardly a murderer is sentenced to pay the penalty of his crime that petitions are not circulated asking for leniency. In view of the high character of Canadian judges, the people may well leave the administration of criminal law to them, especially as they are in full possession of facts unknown to the public at large.

A contributing factor in the rising tide of crime in the U. S. is the ease with which the criminal class, in fact, anybody, can obtain pistols and revolvers. With hardly an exception the cheaper magazines of the country carry scores of advertisements for the sale of pistols. They can be purchased cheaply and as easily as groceries. Yet a pistol has one use and one only—to be used by man against his fellow man, either in the hands of criminal, or by man in defence against a criminal. It is no longer used in war; it is not used in sport. Ninety per cent. of all murders in the U. S. are committed by the use of pistols, yet the appalling fact is that in the year 1924 alone nearly half a million pistols were manufactured in the United States.

Canada should maintain the most stringent laws against the carrying of concealed weapons, and there should be no loosening in law enforcement and in the infliction of adequate punishment upon all convicted law breakers. Criminals have no regard for the rights, prosperity and lives of others; it is the height of folly to become unmerited sympathy upon them.

British Columbia's fine new Prince Charles highway will be open for general use about July 1st.

World Ban This Royal Sport

Campaign Is Launched in England Against Fox Hunting

The broken collarbone of the Prince of Wales and the ban on the movement of horses which caused a great slaughter of the herd and mouth disease, have brought about a campaign in England against fox hunting.

Two of the strongest arguments against the sports are its expensiveness in proportion to the number of raiding foxes killed and its cruelty to the fox.

Value of Field Crops

The aggregate value of all field crops in 1925 is $1,150,541,900, as compared with $906,238,900 in 1924. The increase in value is 26.9 per cent., while the total was $1,458,244,600 and the year 1920 is the first year since 1920 and the value was $1,458,244,600 and crops of Canada have exceeded one billion dollars in value

UTTERLY DISCOURAGED

This Was the Condition of a P. E. I. Woman Before Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Ahern, R.R. No. 2, Alberton, P.E.I., writes: "For many years my husband went overseas and I was left with the care of a farm and stock, with no help but that of a young boy. My health broke down and for the first time in my life I became utterly discouraged. I lost my appetite, had no strength, and was ready to have a crying spell any moment of the day, as the work loomed up ahead of me. A friend happened to speak one day of the good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done her and urged me to try them. I had not energy enough, or perhaps confidence enough, to try them, but she would not be denied and sent me three boxes, and by the time I had taken them I knew they were helping me and was anxious for more. I continued taking the pills for nearly six months and by the time I had safely passed a critical period in my life and regained my usual good health. To all overworked, nervous, run-down women and there are a great many of them—I still say, and at all times, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I know you will regain your energy."

There are many troubles due to weak, watery blood easily overcome by a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to purify and enrich the blood, and when that is done all the usual symptoms of anaemia disappear and good health returns. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hamilton, Ont.—"Before the arrival of my little boy my health was very poor, my back hurt and my nerves were so upset I could not sleep. I grew very weak and miserable and suffered from morning sickness. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in the drug store where I trade, so I decided to try it, and I did not a world of good. It relieved me of all distress in my back, built me up in strength and my nerves calmed me give me any more trouble. I got along fine the remainder of the time and I had a very strong, healthy baby. In addition to keeping a woman healthy and strong it relieves her of a certain mental strain, from which most women suffer during motherhood."—Mrs. Joseph Curtis, 10 Bay St., North. (Picture above.)

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

An opinion from corporation counsel in Chicago held that operation of radio broadcasting late at night is not in the public interest.

The radio crystal receiving set, which confines reception mainly to the nearest broadcasting station, is still the predominant type used in the British Isles.

The worst and most powerful radio broadcasting station in Northern Alberta is being erected in King Edward Park, Edmonton, by the International Bible Students' Association.

Mayor Mitchell, of Windsor, is speculating a novel plan for the entertainment of guests of the city at Detroit during the tercentenary this summer. He proposes to have installed radio sets with earphones. The possibilities are endless and the cost low, the mayor says.

As patron of the world's only social cathedral, which has neither length, breadth, height, depth, and is without date or location or latitude of any kind, Rev. Paul Rader, of Chicago, numbers his congregation in tens of thousands. Rader heads the National Radio Chapter the hour and every Sunday he conducts a Bible service over station WJIT, which is under contract for 10 years for this purpose.

MOTHERS WHO HAVE USED BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Always Strongly Recommend Them to Other Mothers

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets she feels she never will use nothing else—actual experience teaches her that there is no other medicine to equal them for any of the minor ailments from which baby or little ones suffer. Having used the Tablets in her own home, she is always anxious that other mothers should share her knowledge. That is why Mrs. (reigh ton White North West Read N.B., writes the following: "I have a baby seventeen months old and have given him nothing but baby's own Tablets ever since he was a week old. I know of no other medicine to equal them, and it is certainly a pleasure to recommend them to other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative that regulates the stomach and bowels, banishes constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and the sickly baby will soon be happy again. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Will Hams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada's Electric Power Development

Holds Second Position Among Nations Of the World in Amount of Energy Developed

Canada now leads the world in the generation of electric power per capita according to the latest statistics available, having a per capita generation of 878 kw. hours. SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR MAY 16

LAST WORDS OF JESUS WITH HIS DISCIPLES

Golden Text: I am the way, and the truth, and the life. John 14:6.

Lesson: John, Chapters 14 to 17

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:18 to 31

Explanations and Comments

Christ the Comforter, verses 1—"Let not your heart be troubled; believe God, believe also in Me," were the beautiful words which the disciples heard in Christ's last talk with them. They were perplexed and sadness in their hearts were falling them as they approached the last crisis in their Master's life. It was faith in the Father that kept Christ serene and peaceful as near His end, and faith in the Father and the Son would uphold the disciples in that terrible time.

What Jesus said to His troubled disciples He says likewise to us in our times of storm and stress. Here lies the secret of an untroubled heart amid troubled circumstances—faith in Him, loving God and Savior. Let not trouble have dominion over you. Keep yourselves in the love of God and the peace of God shall guard your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus.

"Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God!" Forgive us, Master, when we grieve!—

Pardon the doubt wherein lurks all despair!

O, God is love, and God is everywhere!

—(Rickaby S. Fisher.)

Old Letter Discovered

Painted On Silk and Contains 13,000 Chinese Characters

With tragic history attached to it an old letter has been presented to the Pope by the Vicar Apostolic of Shoui. The letter is painted on silk and contains 13,000 Chinese characters. It was written in 1801 to the Bishop of Peking suggesting plans to save the persecuted Church in China. It was intercepted by the police, and both writer and bearer were arrested and killed. Missionaries in China recognize the letter about thirty years ago when the police archives were dispersed.

Change in Direction Of Japanese Current

Earthquake Three Years Ago Believed To Be Responsible

The Japanese Current, which is believed to have somewhat changed its course since an earthquake in Japan in 1923, is forcing fish in Alaska to find new haven, declared a herring fleet operator of Douglas, Alaska. "It is generally believed among Alaskans that the earthquake caused a change in the direction of the Japanese current. This winter, for the first time since 1917, there has been many snow. Days are sunny, with the temperature ranging around 45 and 50 degrees."

Colds Are Not Necessary Evils

Observance of One Fundamental Rule of Health Protects Against Them

Whether one catches cold easily is largely a question of physical conditions. If the general vitality is low, resistance to disease is weak and at such a time a cold is easy to construct and difficult to throw off.

Constipation is frequently the cause of such a state of health, with its attendant list lessness, biliousness, headaches and a general lack of vitality. Poisons from the waste matter that remains behind after improper, irregular bowel elimination are picked up by the blood and carried to every part of the body. They weaken your resistance to disease. Thousands of people who have suffered from self-poisoning on this way have found that Nujol, the internal lubricant makes bowel elimination soft and easy.

Nujol softens the waste matter and permits thorough and regular elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. Nujol can be taken for any length of time with no ill effects.

If you take cold easily, ask your druggist for Nujol to-day—and remember, look for the name "Nujol" in red on both bottle and package.

URGES GRADING OF WHEAT ON PROTEIN CONTENT

Vancouver—Suggestions for an improvement in the grading of wheat occupied the attention of the Western Canada Development and Utility League, Mayor R. A. Brackenbury of Edmonton, and James Robinson, member of the board of grain commissioners, taking part in the discussion.

On the question of the grading of wheat, Mayor Blatchford described the present system as obsolete. The burden of his complaint was that the system now in use did not recognize the protein content. A change based on protein content would save the prairie farmer millions of dollars. He quoted prices paid at Minneapolis for wheat judged on this basis to show how such a system would be profitable here.

James Robinson of the grain board, stated that the reason why Minneapolis paid big prices for wheat with high protein content was because the general grade of protein content in United States grain was low. The Canadian system of grading was recognized as the best in the world and the advice from British buyers was to stay with it.

"Naturally," interrupted Mayor Blatchford, "the British buyer gets the advantage of the protein content."

"The protein system is not applicable to the export business," continued Mr Robinson. "There are in the neighborhood of 70 grades of wheat. Winnipeg elevators tests that vary in protein content. If we had to separate and show the protein content that would mean the number of grades. Immature wheat frequently grades very high in proteins. I have seen samples where feed wheat contained more protein than other grades. To grade on the protein system you would have taken the same condition as now as coming at Minneapolis."

Appeals To Privy Council

Last Week In The Alberta Legislature

Minister of Agriculture Deals With the Farming Situation of the Province

Edmonton.—One debate on the address in the Alberta Legislature ran [illegible] was the discussion [illegible] was offered by [illegible] position.

The outstanding feature was from Hon. Hoadley, minister of agriculture, who dealt with the agricultural and health situation throughout the province. The total value of all agricultural products in 1926 was $265,000,000. The wheat yield averaged is bushels giving a total of 93,000,000 bushels. The seeded acreage in the province is [illegible].

All field crops totalled in value $146,000,000, and forage crops 16,000,000.

Dairying did not make the same progress as in former years, but increases were shown in the make up. The total realized being $23,000,000. Poultry production totalled $8,000,000, and production being $15,000,000.

Beekeeping was becoming quite an industry in southern Alberta. 15,000 colonies being produced last year.

Fodder corn had made remarkable development. Alberta had last year shipped 15,000 horses and 200,000 cattle to the United States.

The report of the health department showed that much progress had been made in the province, particularly in the use of antitoxins and by vaccine clinics and public health nurses. Municipal hospitals were now [illegible] efficient in the province's population.

827 mothers received allowances under the Mothers' Allowances Act last year, the total expended being $334,000.00. Assumptions would be introduced this year the effect of which would be to help mothers where incomes [illegible] totally incapacitated, and where there were [illegible] children.

The government has already [illegible] cured thirty-two bills, a number of which have already received second reading.

Most of them are not important, but deal with matters which will afford the province materially in the future.

A bill for the transfer to the province of its public lands has been introduced in the house. This includes the agreement entered into with the Dominion whereby the province has natural resources of the province to provincial control. The present subsidy will be continued for three years in lieu of an acquisition. The house is practically unanimous with regard to the whole matter is dependent on action which may be taken by the Dominion House. However, it is believed that the bill is generally in principle by all parties at Ottawa.

For Corporal Punishment

Advocates Spanking Machine to Put Fear in a Minds of Evil Doers

Winnipeg.—R. B. Graham, K.C., crown prosecutor, continued his advocacy of corporal punishment as a deterrent to crime, in an address before the Rotary Club here.

Physical pain, naturally inflicted and without the desire for revenge, he held to be the only real deterrent to crime. He termed sentences a failure and fleeting revolting. He advocated the infliction of pain without sentiment and with absolute uniformity by a means of a device similar to "a spanking machine."

He repeated a previous assertion that jails had ceased to operate as places of punishment and have developed into "warm winter quarters for the lazy and chronic of crime."

Sydney, Australia.—With a view to preventing a possible recurrence of fatal and destructive bush fires, the New South Wales forestry commission has arranged a conference of forestry representatives to consider measures for protection of the Australian forests against fires.

GREAT PROGRESS IS SHOWN IN THE MINING INDUSTRY

Montreal.—Great progress was made in the mining industry of Canada during 1925, according to a report made by H. J. Cody, chief of the mining, metallurgical and chemical branch of the Dominion bureau of statistics at Ottawa, during an address at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy here.

Reviewing developments of the year, Mr Cody pointed out that the production of minerals reached a value of $258,000,000, an advance of $19,000,000 over the total for 1924 and well ahead of the record valuation of $237,350,665 attained in 1920.

Upwards of 4,000 persons and employment in various mining industry wages and salaries totalling approximately $5, mployment in Canada, which amounts to approximately $65,000,000.

Dr J. A. Allen, professor of geology, University of Alberta, and Leslie Stobbart, Calgary, were nominated for the presidency of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at the first day's session of the twenty-eighth annual general meeting of that body, which opened here.

The following staff were elected: Honorary president, Sir Robert Borden; honorary vice-presidents, Hon. Peter Lougheed, Calgary, and Hon. Charles Stewart, Edmonton; honorary secretary, Dr. J. B. Porter, Montreal; honorary treasurer, Major Ernest Marion, Montreal; editor of mines and public works, Nova Scotia.

Claims Prohibition Law Was Violated

Publishing Washington's Beer Recipe A Crime Says Texas Member

Washington.—Action against the editor of The Washington Post for publication of George Washington's beer recipe was demanded of President Coolidge by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas. Publication of the recipe, the Texas representative charged on the floor of the house, constituted a violation of the prohibition law.

Prohibition officials were frankly puzzled over the printing of the recipe, but it was announced at the department of justice that no official cognizance of it had been taken.

Fiji Epidemic in Russia

Moscow.—An epidemic of influenza is sweeping Russia, there being 27,000 registered cases in Moscow alone. All unemployed physicians and nurses have been summoned to the hospitals to relieve the overworked staffs.

One New Membership For League Council

Report Says Germany Alone Will Be Honored For the Present

London.—The latest developments surrounding the meeting of the League of Nations seem to indicate that Germany alone will be elected to a permanent seat on the league council and that the question of the claims of Poland, Spain and Brazil for similar honors will be left to the meeting of the assembly in September.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, is said to have received from his reports stand in favor of other new permanent members than Germany. He would favor, however, giving Spain a seat at the coming session, but this seems out of the question, as it is not believed Germany would agree to such a suggestion.

The correspondent of The Daily Express in Berlin says he learns that Germany has been assured she alone will be admitted to the league council and that other claims must be left for later consideration—perhaps at the September meeting.

Making Use Of Ice Bridge

Two Alien Rumrunners Captured By Border Patrol at Niagara

Niagara Falls, N.Y. Alien rumrunners are alleged to be using the ice bridge below the falls as an avenue to bring liquor into this country from Canada.

A motor boat crossed the bridge only to fall into the hands of the border patrol when they climbed a ladder from the bottom to the top of the gorge bank, a distance of 200 feet.

One man escaped and descended the ladder, re crossing the ice jam to Canada as the border patrol men sent a volley of bullets after him.

He is reported to have reached the Canadian side safely.

To Depart Aliens

Says Chicago Gangland Will Be Swept Clean in a Week

Chicago.—Deportation officers and authorities learned their drive on gangdom here.

William Schoemaker, head of a special contingent of detectives assigned to the round up of deported aliens, predicted that within another week gangland would be deserted.

Thieves Take Precious Artacles

New York.—Thieves who entered the Barton, Price and Wilson, jewelry shop in the Fifth Avenue district broke several jars made in the 18th century, said to have been "priceless" and escaped with three imperials valued at approximately $40,000.

WOULD SECURE BASIS OF UNION FOR FARM BODIES

Saskatoon.—A long step forward in the amalgamation of organizations between the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and the Farmers' Union of Canada was taken at a convention in the board of trade offices here. It was decided that Manitoba and Alberta members of the W P and S should be members of the United Farmers of Western Canada. Saskatchewan section, until such time as provincial sections are formed in those provinces, when such sections shall have complete autonomy. Another resolution, passed unanimously, expressed the earnest desire of the amalgamation committee to work out a basis of union which shall commend itself to the good judgment of the great majority of members of the two organizations.

Attending the conference were C. H. Burnell, president of the Manitoba wheat pool, who acted as chairman; J. H. Hamerman, president of the Farmers' Union; W. M. Thrasher, secretary of the Farmers' Union; L. C. Brouillette, C. H. Hartle, A. Barton, George F. Edwards, president of the S.G.G.A.; C. C. Stoliker, Mrs. A. W. Selby, Mrs. A. L. Hollis, Mrs. McNaughton and G. F. Chipman, of the Saskatchewan Section, and J. Harvey Hanna, secretary of the Farmers' Union.

Germany Hears About War-Time Conditions

Secrets of Mutiny in Navy Revealed in Reichstag Speech

Berlin.—Startling revelations with regard to the Navy mutiny strikes and the munitions model prevailing in Germany early in 1917 have just been made in the Reichstag, the Socialist deputy, in a long speech delivered before the special committee appointed by the Reichstag to inquire into the causes of Germany's collapse in the war.

Herr Dittmann stated that the chief ground of the men's discontent during the so-called "hunger winter of 1916-17 and in the following summer was the bad quality of the food supplied to the crews, and their indignation at the vastly superior fare supplied to their officers.

An incident that occurred on board the battleship Thuringen shows the state into which the men had deteriorated. The officers, while at mess one day, were suddenly disturbed by a loud noise as though a shell was turned on them by an unknown hand, and despite the closest investigation the culprits remained undiscovered.

The picture of Germany which has been revealed by Herr Dittmann has come as a shock to many Germans who had been kept in ignorance of the seamy side of the many methods during the war.

Russia Liberates Prisoners

Moscow.—The central executive committee has issued an order liberating all prisoners in the Far Eastern provinces formerly making up the Far Eastern Republic who are serving terms of a year or less. Sentences of more than a year in this region are commuted by one-third. This action was taken to make available all possible labor so as to strengthen the Russian Far East economically.

Conservative Leader Resigns

Saskatoon, Sask.—Dr J. T. M. Anderson, M.L.A. for Saskatoon City and leader of the Conservative party in this province, announced that his resignation from the party leadership had been in the hands of the executive of the Saskatchewan Conservative Association for months. He was quitting the leadership to enter business, he said.

Dominions May Be Represented

London.—The question of the possibility of the dominions being represented in the House of Lords when the latter is reformed was raised in the House of Lords by Baron Strathspey, who suggested that the Imperial conference in October should provide an opportunity to ascertain the opinions of the premiers of the dominions on this point.

Latest reports show that there are 37,500 women in the federal civil service in Washington.

Post Visits Winter Carnival

Miss Carman, the famous Canadian poet, not only loves to sing the praises of the mountains, the wide open spaces, the soft beautiful snow, but also loves to live the life he sings about so well. Recently he donned the apparel of the men of the west, and attired in comfortable moccasins and woollen socks tramped about in his host's comfort in the vicinity of Banff. One day he took a snow-shoe trip to one of the lakes in the climate. The famous Canadian poet is here seen with the queen of the Banff Winter Carnival.

INFORMATION FOR FEEDERS OF STOCK

Eight groups of steers, eleven lots of hogs, four pens of sheep and two lots of dairy cattle on test this winter at the University will contribute some interesting facts in connection with the most economical methods of feeding live stock in Alberta, on Feeders Day at the University, April 10th. A load of fall farrowed pigs, less than six months old, was marketed recently from the University. These were Tamworth-Yorkshire crossed, raised on self feeders and graded $5 per cwt. select. This is further evidence of the fact that select hogs can be marketed fully as early as other types and also points to the possibility of winter pig production.

Some Freak Inventions

Queer Things Received At Patent Office in Washington

Among the useful conveniences that have received patents at the United States patent office at Washington are many freak inventions. One is a hat that insures it being lifted when a man greets a woman. In the words of the inventor, this remarkable headpiece "automatically effects the lifting salutations by the elevation and rotation of the hat on the head of the saluting party, when said person bows to the person or persons saluted."

Another curious patent covers what is called a "mental hat." This hat has two reports, one dealing on each hemisphere of the wearer, which bonds the hat above the head. Electric connections that his unique garment will transmit the inventor's ideas to all parts around and cause the headband to vibrate, thereby preventing headaches from the weight of the hat and allowing free circulation of the heat from the head."—London.

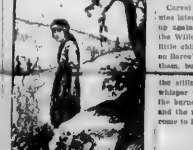
Something greater than mere curiosity began to take possession of Carvel. A whimsical humor became aroused and deeper thought, an increasing anticipation that was accompanied by a certain thrill of subdued excitement. By the time they reached the old beaver pond the mystery of the strange adventure had a firm hold on him. From Beaver-tooth's colony Baree led him in the creek along which Wakayoo, the black bear, had fished, and thence straight to the Gray Loon.

It was early afternoon of a wonderful day. It was so still that the rippling waters of spring, singing in a thousand rills and streamlets, filled the forests with a strange music, as the waves rose rhythmically against the glowed like blood. In the open spaces the air was scented with the perfume of Blue Flowers. In the trees and bushes mated birds were building their nests. After the long sleep of winter Nature was at work in all her glory. It was Tee-hopeto, the Mating Moon, the Home Building Moon—and Baree was going home! Not to motherhood—but to Nepesee. He knew that she was there now, perhaps at the very edge of the chasm where he had seen her last. They would be playing together again soon, as they had played yesterday, and the day before, and the day before that, and in his joy he had leaped into Carvel's face and urged him in greater speed. Then they came to the clearing, and once more Baree stood like a rock. Carvel saw the charred ruins of the burned cabin and a moment later the man crept under the tall grass. He began to understand as his eyes roamed slowly, and the wailing, listening dog, a great swelling rose in his throat, and after a moment or two he said softly and with an effort:

"Boy, I guess you're home."



"Even than it seemed quite the most natural thing in the world that it should be Nepesee, and none other."

Baree did not hear. With his head up and his nose tilted to the blue sky he was sniffing the air. What was in that came to him with the perfumes of the forests and the green meadows? Why was it that he trembled now as he stood there? What was there to the air? Carvel asked himself, and his quivering eyes tried to answer the question. Nothing. There was death here—death and desertion, that was all. And then, all at once, there came from Baree a strange cry—almost a human cry—and he was gone like the wind.

Carvel had thrown off his pack. He dropped his rifle beside it now, and followed Baree. He ran swiftly, straight across the open, into the deep of balsams and into a grass-grown path that had once been worn by the travel of feet. He ran until he was panting for breath, and then stopped and listened. He could hear nothing of Baree. But that old worn trail led him through the forest trees, and he followed it.

Close to the deep, dark pool in which he and the Willow had dispersed so many times, he came upon something that could bear the rippling of water, and his eyes shone with a gleaming fire as he guessed for Nepesee. He expected to see her there, her olive body shimmering in some dark shadow of overhanging spruce, or gleaming dazzlingly white as snow in one of the warm plashes of sunlight! His eyes sought out their old hiding places, the great split rock on the other side, the shelving banks under which they used to dive like otter, the spruce boughs that dipped down to the surface, and in the midst of which the Willow loved to screen her naked body while he searched the pool for her. And at last the realization was borne upon him that she was not there, that he had still farther to go.

PAINS ALL OVER BODY

Two More Cases of Feminine Illness Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Barrington, N. S. "I had terrible feelings, headaches, back and side aches and pains all over my body. I would have to go to bed every month and nothing would do me good. My husband and my father did not want for me as I have two children and we have quite a big place. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought a little bank about it through the mail, and my husband lent to Eaton's and got me a bottle, and then we got more from the store. I am feeling fine now and do all my work and am able to go out around more. I tell my friends it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that makes me feel so well."—Mrs. VICTOR RICHARDSON, Barrington, Nova Scotia.

Dull Pains in Back

St. Thomas, Ont.—"I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found great relief from the dull, heavy pains in the small of my back and the weakness I had, which I suffered for five years after my boy was born. After taking the Vegetable Compound and using Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I am feeling better than I have for the past seven years, and advise my friends to take it."—Mrs. F. CHAPTER XXXI.

That night there was a new campfire in the open. It was not a small fire, built with the fear that other eyes might see it, but a fire that sent its flames high. In the glow of it stood Carvel. And as the fire had changed from that small smouldering heap over which the Willow had cooked her dinner, so Carvel, the officially dead outlaw, had changed. The beard was gone from his face; he had thrown off his carbon-dyed coat; his sleeves were rolled up to the elbows, and there was a wild flush in his face that was not altogether the tanning of wind and sun and steam, and a glow in his eyes that had not been there for five years, perhaps never before. His eyes were on Nepesee.

"Tomorrow or the next day I am going to Lac Bain," he said, a hard and bitter note back of the gruffle wreath in his voice. "I will not come back until I have killed him."

The Willow looked straight into the fire. For a time there was a silence broken only by the crackling of the flames and in that silence Carvel's fingers wound in and out of the silken strands of the Willow's hair. His thoughts flashed back. What a romance he had missed that day on Bath McTaggart's trapline. If he had only known. His jaws set hard as he saw in the red-hot heart of the fire the pictures of the day when the Factor from Lac Bain had killed Pierrot—as he had told him the whole story. Her flight. Her pluggle to what she had thought was certain death in the icy torrent of the chasm. Her miraculous escape from the watery grave. And how she had discovered, nearly dead by Tubee, the toothless old Cree whom Pierrot out of pity had allowed to hunt in part of his domain.

He felt within him, all the tragedy and the horror of the one Shadow that had darkened her life—and gone out of the world for the Willow, and in the flames he could see faithful old Tubee as he smiled on his last attempt to bear Nepesee over the long miles that lay between the chasm and his cabin. He thought shifting visions of the weeks that followed in that table, weeks of hunger and of intense cold in which the Willow's life hung by a single thread. And at last, when the snows were deepest, Tubee had died. Carvel's fingers clenched in the strands of the Willow's braids. A deep breath rose out of his chest, and he said, staring deep into the fire:

"To-morrow I will go to Lac Bain."

40,000 Imprisoned, 4,300 Tortured Or Executed Outside Russia

President G. E. Zinoviev, speaking before the sixth plenary congress of the executive committee of the third Internationale at Moscow, quoted figures showing that 40,000 revolutionaries had been imprisoned, 13,000 wounded and 4,300 tortured or executed in different countries last year. He said there was great opposition to communists in Italy.

Internally and Externally it is Good.—The rejuvenating property of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT WAS SUCCESS AS USUAL

The annual St. Patrick's concert was held in the Eden Palace theatre on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church. As is the case year after year, it was a success, though the audience was not as large as last year, possibly on account of the condition of the roads. This possibility is not offered as an alibi for those who should have been present but were not; maybe a little effort would have overcame any difficulties. The absentees missed a good concert.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Robinson, who will shortly leave for an extended visit to Ontario, gave a farewell party in their home Friday, March 5, in the Agricola school house. The evening was occupied in dancing. At midnight supper was served and a presentation made to Mr. and Mrs. Robinson by their oldest and nearest neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William Simmons, who officiated in this pleasing capacity on behalf of their neighbors.

Prior to their leaving the district, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Robinson were host and hostess to a large gathering of their neighbors at their home last [illegible]

OBITUARY

The death occurred at Victoria, B.C., on Friday, March 11, of Fred Moonan, who succumbed to injuries received in the war. He was severely wounded while on duty at the hospital at Etaples in the year 1917, being the victim of an air raid. These aforesaid wounds caused spinal injuries which paralyzed the lower part of his body. He kept a remarkable hold on life through all the pear- of suffering and was always cheerful.

Deceased enlisted in the 194th batt from Fort Saskatchewan and will be remembered by many in the district. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and three children and his father, Mr. Moon, of Fort Saskatchewan.

MISCELLANEOUS

We are glad to report Mrs. Twigge is able to be around again after a long and tedious illness.

The noted Commercial Graduates basketball team, of Edmonton, ladies world's champions, will leave shortly for Eastern Canada and the U.S., where a series of exhibition games will be played during Easter week at Toronto, New York, Philadelphia and other points.

Owing to the extremely mild winter and early spring conditions work has already started on the land in several districts in Southern Alberta, operations confined chiefly to plowing. This is one of the earliest spring starts on record.

Partridge Hill

The Union church at Partridge Hill will be raised and placed on a concrete foundation. A basement will be placed under it. Twenty-five loads of gravel and sand are now on the ground, although conditions have not been favorable for hauling recently. A community ball is also to be built on the baseball grounds before long.

Residents claim that poplars, blue birds and crows have already been seen in the district, also cranes have been going north.

Attendance at school has been poor owing to an outbreak of measles.

A boys' baseball league has been formed comprising Partridge Hill, Josephburg and Pleasant View, and we would like to include Ypres Valley and Agricola. Would anyone interested in baseball in the Ypres or Agricola district be good enough to communicate with either C. C. World Wide Reforms

All truth while reforms are slow of accomplishment because the people of the world are essentially conservative in their thought and action. It is perhaps well that this should be so, otherwise nations might be stampeded into the acceptance of unsound theories and hasty, ill-considered and even cruel policies, bringing unsettling and ruin in their wake.

But there is such a thing as being too ultra-conservative, and so bound by old-time precedent and usage that wise progress and wise advancement is made extremely difficult and for long years impossible. Such extreme conservatism is banned. Danger there may be from the optimistic reformer who urges his pet theory or scheme as a "cure-all" for the ills from which mankind and the body politic may suffer, and as the key which will open the door to Utopia. But there is equal danger from the chronic pessimist who scoffs at everything new and declares "it won't work."

For a long time there have been advocates of a reform of the system of currency in Great Britain and in the systems of weights and measures in Great Britain, Canada, United States and some other countries. Those advocates have consistently and persistently urged the adoption of the decimal and metric systems. They have carried on a work of education which apparently is going to bear fruit. At all events, official cognizance is being taken, both in Britain and the United States, of the growing strength of the demand for reform in these matters.

Great Britain, with its world-wide trade and commerce, cannot afford in these days of rapid communication and transportation, and intense world competition, to cling to its present rather archaic system of pounds, shillings and pence when all the other great trading nations have adopted the decimal system.

Nor should Canada and the United States continue to adhere to their equally out-of-date systems of weights and measures with twelve inches to a foot, three feet to a yard, 1,760 yards to a mile, two pints to a quart, four quarts to a gallon; not to mention grains, ounces, pounds, pecks, bushels, tons, etc., with no logical and fair weights.

The adoption of the metric system of weights and measures would exert much simplification not only in all international commerce but our own domestic business as well. Soldiers of all nations serving in France soon discovered how simple and easily understood is this metric system, and undoubtedly their experience and knowledge is having its effect in influencing the more pronounced agitation for this reform which is in evidence throughout the world.

Another question which is coming to the front is the reform of the calendar. The League of Nations is to decide the proposal of all grades of misapprehension and its present, the League of Nations, is taking an active part in connection with these reform movements, and at the present time one of its committees is giving consideration to numerous plans submitted to it, providing for a reform of the calendar. One of the few plans reserved for further study out of the large number submitted is by a Canadian, and provides for a year of thirteen months, each of 28 days. Under this plan the first day of each month would be a Sunday. The present names of the months would be continued, but a month created out of the last half of June and the first half of July. In order to make up the year to 365 days of the year, there would be one day at the end of the year to be known as "Year Day." The convenience of having all months of equal length, and of having the days of the week always falling on the same dates, can hardly be overrated.

There would naturally and inevitably be some confusion at first during the short period of readjustment from the present time-honored systems and routines to the new, but the admittedly great economic gains and conveniences which would result from these proposed changes would surely far outweigh the temporary inconvenience.

Canada led the world in adopting the new universal system of standard time under which the globe is mapped out in zones within which the time is uniform. Canada, like the United States, has a decimal monetary system. Why should the Dominion not lead the way on this reform as it has by adopting the metric system of weights and measures, and also throw the weight of its influence into the scale in favor of a reform of the calendar?

Dodd's Kidney Pills Purify the Blood, and Pure Blood Means Good Health

Mr. J. Linville was Relieved of Kidney Trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills After Other Remedies Failed.

St. Louis, P.Q.—(Special)—"For three years I suffered from kidney trouble," said Mr. J. Linville, "and tried different remedies but they did me no good. Having read in your almanac of numerous persons being relieved, I tried your box of your excellent pills and felt better immediately. I shall tell my relations who suffer from kidney trouble that they can take Dodd's Kidney Pills with perfect confidence."

This statement comes from Mr. J. Linville, a well known resident of this place.

If you require among your neighbors you will find scores of people who have discovered in Dodd's Kidney Pills the best form of kidney trouble. It may have been the backache, lumbago, dizziness, nervousness and inability to get refreshing sleep that made the trip early in the disease, or it may be diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease or one of the dangerous diseases that mark its advanced stages.

New Steel Takes Razor Edge

Modern Product Developed By Ohio Man Is Hard, Yet Pliant

Many of the qualities of the celebrated Damascus steel are said to be found in a modern product which an Ohio man has developed by a secret process. Six cumbrous iron and car bars in such a way that the resulting steel will bend, keep an edge of razor sharpness, is tough and can be forged through other steels without breaking. A bar of the material fifteen inches long, was subjected to five different degrees, one end of it being heated enough to cut glass, a section was sharpened like a razor and would cut dry hair without honing or stropping, while other parts in the same bar would cut off a spike under blows of a hammer, would spring or could be bent backward and forward with the thumb and forefinger without breaking. Vanadium is an important element used in the preparation of the steel.—Popular Mechanics

Movement To Link Up The Various Wheat Pools Into A Close Association

An international wheat pool sounds like an exceedingly ambitious project. National wheat pools, themselves, are hold contingent based on strong faith in the co-operative principle. Some, no doubt, will suggest that the success of the national pools should have been assured by a longer experience before there was any thought of an international pool. The organization which is being formed at the present meeting at St. Paul, however, is not, strictly speaking, an international pool. It is not proposed to actually put the wheat from the different countries into one pool, but rather to link up the various pools in a close association.

It is hoped to profit from one another's experience in pool management, and it is planned to have a permanent office in the various pools the full price which the actual condition of the world market warrants.

This is all quite intelligible and seems a natural development from the individual pools. The future of the international organization depends, of course, on the fortunes of the separate pools. Some will say that that is assured. Others will consider them still in the experimental stage. The latter dwell on the fact that a wheat pool is a huge business proposition whose success depends on many different factors. They say that the prevailing high prices have enabled the pools to pay the farmers a good return, as a result of which they have been well satisfied, but when the prices are reduced to the world market and a drop in prices, the world not run so smoothly but the pool might be a very tested.

The farmers of Western Canada have been encouraged to go into the pooling of their wheat by their experience in other co-operative enterprises, and they are bent on giving it a good trial in the immediate future. Success, and whatever is eventually found to be the best plan for marketing the grain will be to the benefit of the whole country.—Montreal Gazette Free Press.

Farms in Hudson Bay Area

Demonstration Farms Operated Along the Hudson Bay Road

Further details of the experiments in growing agricultural products along the Hudson Bay Railway line just issued, indicate that the valley is much broader than the recent announcement indicated.

The three demonstration farms are located at Hudson Bay Junction, Mile 137, and Mile 165. In addition to these, the department has arranged to have a full line of agricultural products grown at Mile 42, Mile 91 and at Port Nelson.

The potatoes to be grown are wheat, oats, barley, peas, clover, grasses, turnips, carrots, mangle wurtzle, lettuce, radishes, beets and onions.

Adequate records of the progress of everything planted will be kept and in the course of a few years a large body of facts on production in the northern part of Manitoba will have been accumulated.

Salmon Travel Quickly

One Recently Covered Nearly 1,300 Miles in Less Than Month

That salmon travel amazing distances in short periods is indicated by the journey of one fish which was lifegraved at the mouth of Nova Scotia last June and was caught less than a month later in the Miminegash River, Quebec. Identification was made by means of the silver tag which had been placed in one of the salmon's fins when it was first captured. Its journey was between 900 to 1,300 miles long. By means of the tags, valuable knowledge is being gained as to the habits of salmon and other fish.—Popular Mechanics.

Canadian Council Orders Exhaustive Report On Horticultural Industry

An exhaustive report on all aspects of the horticultural industry in relation to the tariff question to be submitted at a future meeting of the council, was ordered at the closing session of the Canadian Horticultural Council in Ottawa.

Resolutions were passed asking that the Dominion department of agriculture include a provincial horticulturist on its staff to prevent the importation of infected trees and plants into Canada, also that the customs authorities more rigidly enforce the customs regulations as affecting importation of horticultural products.

A special committee was appointed to protect the government against the free importation of fruits and vegetables.

Overseas Settlement

Says British People Hold Too Low a View of Emigration

Presiding at a meeting of the Royal Society of Arts, Viscount Burnham, president of the Imperial Press conference, emphasized that the British people had not realized the value of settlement from a high economic standpoint. Viscount Burnham urged that pro paganda should tell only the truth. Health not 2nd-rate was the known lons for demanding a high standard of health, but pleaded that conditions at home be brought well known and of a standard fixed.

Canadians Eating Fewer Apples

Due to Lack of Advertising Says Commissioner Sanderson

Canadians are eating fewer apples than they used to, consumption having fallen to less than half an apple a day, Mr. C. E. McIntosh, Dominion fruit commissioner, says. At the same time, consumption of citrus fruits has increased. Mr. McIntosh says this is due to the advertising the oranges and bananas have been getting. The moral should be self-evident. Canada cannot raise citrus fruits. If we want our producers to benefit by the manner we spend for fruit, we should advertise the apple.—Border Cities Star.

Mining and Agriculture

Exploitation of Minerals Opens Up Country For Farming

"It is estimated we have used more of the earth's mineral resources in the last 75 years than in all preceding time," said Charles Ames, deputy minister of mines, in his paper on the "Influence of Mineral Resources on History and Development" before the twenty-eighth annual general meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Montreal. "Time and space throughout the world have been annihilated by the amazing development of railways and steamships. Consequently the world's resources are now available to all nations. Those nations which have extraordinary impetus from mineral discoveries, Mr. Cambell declared.

Speaking on the development of mining in the Province of Ontario, he said that "Ontario, perhaps a less favored province than Quebec, has produced a more diversified mineral output, both in value and variety of metals."

Mr. Cambell said the colonizing and civilizing influence of metal deposits was well illustrated.

The exploitation of the country's mineral deposits was also of great benefit to open up the country for the development of agriculture.

Farm Accounting Made Simple

Every Farmer Should Keep a Correct Record of His Affairs

Manitoba farmers are increasingly impressed with the necessity of keeping accurate records of their business affairs, and are profiting by the advice and assistance offered by the agricultural representatives in the province. With the object of simplifying things and offering forms on farm accounting which will take up little time yet will enable one to keep a correct record of his affairs, the department of agriculture at Ottawa has published a small accounting booklet designed to cover a year's work. It gives directions for the making of entries and the taking of inventories, and requires no special knowledge of accounting. It may be obtained free of cost from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Council Must Pay Reward

An Old Country bylaw passed in 1067 when horse-stealing was much in vogue, offered a reward of $10 for the capture of the culprit. It is now a dead letter, and as this measure had never been repealed, Constable R. J. Moore, of Lucknow, Ont., claimed the reward for capturing and committing Elmer Daniels, a lad who recently stole a Lucknow liveryman's rig and was jailed for the offence. The county council had no other option but to pay the bill.—Toronto Star.

Manitoba Dairy Industry

Production of Creamery Butter Shows a Substantial Increase

Substantial progress was made by the dairy industry of Manitoba during 1925, as shown by the annual report of the provincial dairy branch. The production of creamery butter was 12,643,212 lbs., an increase of 1,020,000 lbs. over 1924, and in addition a conservative estimate places the butter fat shipments to the United States from Southern Manitoba at 1,000,000 lbs. for the twelve months. The total make of cheese last year amounted to 795,507 lbs., an increase of 364,771 lbs. over the previous year. Exports of creamery butter last year, mostly to Great Britain, amounted to 316 cases, or 126,400 fifty-six pound boxes, valued at $2,416,600.

For Spring Work

Increased Amount of Land Ready For Cultivation in Manitoba and Alberta

According to the estimate of the general agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, land prepared for spring work in Western Canada shows an increase of 754,700 acres in Manitoba, an increase of 394,791 acres in Alberta and a decrease of 1,160,000 acres in Saskatchewan. The decline in Saskatchewan is largely attributable to the smaller amount of fall ploughing accomplished which will be remedied as soon as farmers get on the land in the spring.

Greater Butter Output

Saskatchewan Shows Increase in Production For Month of January

Creamery butter production in the province of Saskatchewan in January last amounted to 697,300 lbs., as reported with 490,300 lbs. in the corresponding month a year ago, according to a statement issued by the provincial dairy commissioner. While the increase is comparatively small, yet it is gratifying in view of the fact that the output for January, 1925, was unusually high and greatly in excess for the production of the same month in previous years.

Forbidden to Marry Christians

The law which prohibits polygamy and divorce by the mere whim of the husband enforces as null marriages contracted with Christians.

Modern civilization has, as yet devised no efficient alternative to the influence of the home on children, and that influence has been at work on the decline. As the Bishop of Ely has said, the decay of family life is, at once the cause and the outcome of the degeneracy of national character and character. "Bullnick more than the strength of its armaments, or the prosperity of its commerce, or the abundance of its wealth, is the security of a nation." The Roman Empire fell for want in the once strong discipline of the homes of its citizens. It fell, as the moralist pagan of Juvenal told us, with the atrophy of that home-life.

The motor car, the film, and even the press have been blamed for their part in the social evil which is evidenced in a decay of home life. There are undoubtedly grave factors at work which, collectively, not singly, have a psychological influence of a sinister character. More than anything else, however, the decay of domestic life marched side by side with the decline of home-education and the taking over by the state of the moral training of the young. The home could mould characters of the most virile kind. The state cannot. And the fault is a large measure to stimulate the juvenile imagination. It has not been a success and a decrease of 1,160,000 acres in Saskatchewan. The decline in Saskatchewan is largely attributable to the smaller amount of fall ploughing accomplished which will be remedied as soon as farmers get on the land in the spring.

All Winter Sports at Banff

Ice-racking, dog-sledding, ski-ing were the high lights of the Banff Winter Sports Carnival recently concluded at the Rockies resort and they were enjoyed within a nothing that has not its equal in the wide world. Some of these majestic surroundings are shown in the above photographs with mountained, fir-clad mountains and the rolling cliffs that encircle Lake Minnewanka. The dog derby for the throughout Trophy was another of the big thrills and the keen air made all those who foregathered for the sports look back on their participation with a sigh of delight. People came from Calgary and all over Alberta and from the other side of the Rockies, Vancouver and Victoria, while visitors from the United States were round in evidence. A great array of sailors assembled who enjoyed the fireworks and ski jarring, while hockey and fancy skating made for appeal to others. In addition to the big sporting events that were decided, there was always something for the spectators to do besides watching other people give exhibitions. The attractions of sun-rays in Winter time have a real rival here where the full glories of a Canadian winter can be enjoyed to the full. There is less need to fit in Florida or California when Canada has this to offer to its sons and daughters, and the younger generation are well aware of this.

TOO LITTLE BLOOD

The Cause Of Nearly All The Everyday Ailments Of Life

Too little blood—that is what makes men and women look pale and sallow and tired and languid. It is blood that makes them drag along, always tired, never real hungry, unable to sleep well, good, breathless after even slight exertion, and often feeling dizzy. Or, is scarcely worth living. The doctors tell them they are starved—for blood. Nothing being too little blood.

Many such sufferers have already been made strong, energetic and cheerful by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than by any other means. The case of Mrs. A. P. Foster, Bowmanville, is typical of many. Mrs. Foster said: Mrs. Foster said:—"Some years ago I was very badly run down. My doctor advised me for several months and the only relief I had being so much as up to the winter as my blood was so poor that he feared I would not stand the cold of our winters. I took his advice and went to my mother's, Mrs. Hall, and she and me she said 'Try Williams' Pink Pills for pale and sickly people.' She got the pills for me and I began taking them. And into indeed staying the winter, but all the cold of the second month I came home a well woman. When the doctor saw me he said, "You are all right now, but don't let yourself get run down again or nothing will save you. Then last winter I had the influenza, which left me in a weak and run out condition as before. Again I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and again they made me well and strong. I can conscientiously recommend the pills for I feel that they have saved my life."

Weak, ailing men and women should get these health-giving Pink Pills to-day and note the speed; improvement that follows. You can get these pills from medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Delightful Version of the Two-Piece Sports Frock

Many points of interest centre in this sports frock. First, the material, a beautiful novelty tweed that is the smartest thing for these essential costumes, then there is the deep yoke that runs and back from which extends the two box-pleats. The long sleeves are gathered into tight little wrist bands of contrasting color silk, this harmonizing note being used for the narrow collar and all around belt. It is obvious the skirt, which is joined to a camisole top, gets its fullness by repeating the box pleat of the overblouse. The blouse, No 1272, is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 bust requires 2¾ yards 36-inch, or 1¾ yards 54-inch material. The skirt, No 1266, is in sizes 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches bust. Size 26 bust requires 4¼ yards 36 or 54-inch material, with ¼ yards lining for the camisole top. Price 20 cents each pattern.

Our Fashion Book illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

John Dixon Dies in Ottawa

John Dixon, former newspaperman, and for many years editor of the organ of conservation during war years, and director of publicity of the Intelligence services of the natural resources branch department of Ireland, died at Ottawa aged 67. Born in St Thomas, Ont., he was at one time manager of the Toronto Bulletin. A sister, Mrs. W. H. Hawken, of Cranbrook, B.C., is among his survivors

TOO LITTLE BLOOD

The Cause Of Nearly All The Everyday Ailments Of Life

Too little blood—that is what makes men and women look pale and sallow and tired and languid. It is blood that makes them drag along, always tired, never real hungry, unable to sleep well, good, breathless after even slight exertion, and often feeling dizzy. Or, is scarcely worth living. The doctors tell them they are starved—for blood. Nothing being too little blood.

Many such sufferers have already been made strong, energetic and cheerful by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than by any other means. The case of Mrs. A. P. Foster, Bowmanville, is typical of many. Mrs. Foster said:—"Some years ago I was very badly run down. My doctor advised me for several months and the only relief I had being so much as up to the winter as my blood was so poor that he feared I would not stand the cold of our winters. I took his advice and went to my mother's, Mrs. Hall, and she and me she said 'Try Williams' Pink Pills for pale and sickly people.' She got the pills for me and I began taking them. And into indeed staying the winter, but all the cold of the second month I came home a well woman. When the doctor saw me he said, "You are all right now, but don't let yourself get run down again or nothing will save you. Then last winter I had the influenza, which left me in a weak and run out condition as before. Again I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and again they made me well and strong. I can conscientiously recommend the pills for I feel that they have saved my life."

Weak, ailing men and women should get these health-giving Pink Pills to-day and note the speed; improvement that follows. You can get these pills from medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

She Couldn't Sleep Heart Was So Bad

Mrs. J. D. McIntosh, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with my heart. I could not sleep at night, and was so nervous I imagined that I would see everything in the room moving, and would have to turn on the lights before I could get to sleep.

After buying read of your

JESUS DIES AND RISES FROM THE DEAD

Golden Text Therefore doth the Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I may take it again John 10:17

Lesson John 18:1 to 20:23

Devotional Reading Psalm 16:5 11

Explanations and Comments

1. The Soldiers at the Crucifixion, 19:23, 24—At a crucifixion the garments of the victim became the property of the soldiers who were the executioners. When Jesus was crucified each of the four soldiers had one of his garments, and then they drew lots to see who should have the seamless robe. "That the scripture" (Ps. 22:18) might be fulfilled—The Evangelist adds, "which saith."

"They parted my garments among them, And upon my vesture did they cast lots."

"For things can make a divine man feel more desolate than to over hear those who sit around his bed already disposing of his effects, counting him a dead man who no longer has the apparatus of the living, and congratulating themselves on the profit they make by his death. How furious have old men been made by any portrayal of eagerness on the part of their heirs! It was a cruel addition to our Lord's suffering to see these men heartlessly dividing among them all He had to leave" (Dr. Marcus Dods).

II. Christ and His Mother, 19:25-27 Standing by the cross were the mother of Jesus, her sister Salome, Mary the wife of Cleopas, and Mary Magdalene. (The two phrase "His mother's sister, Mary the wife of Cleopas," may be taken to refer to one woman, but in that case the two sisters were both called Mary, which is improbable.)

"Thank God for the mothers who cling to us in the hour of our shame, who stick to the sinking ship, who befriend lost causes, who stand near dear ones when everybody abandons God!" I am grateful that our Lord, in the hour of his passion, could look upon a little company of faithful women" (Dr. J. H. Jowett).

SUBMIT OFFER TO PURCHASE BIG ELEVATOR PLANT

Regina An agreement covering the offer to purchase the elevator system of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, as approved by the pool delegates at an extraordinary general meeting held February 17 to 19, has now been forwarded to that company.

The complete system included in the offer to purchase comprises 451 country elevators, together with subsectors, agents' houses, etc., two terminal elevators at Port Arthur, namely, Terminal No. 1 with a storage capacity of 1,200,000 bushels, and Terminal No. 2 with a total capacity of 4,500,000 bushels, the Transfer Elevator at Fort William, New York company's leasehold interest in the New Terminal at Port Arthur which has a storage capacity of approximately 3,000,000 bushels, and company's office building in the city of Regina, together with furniture, fixtures, etc.

The ratio of the entire system is to be determined by a board of arbitration composed of three arbitrators, one from the pool shall select one, the Elevator Company another, and these two shall select a third. The arbitrators also shall fix the purchase price. Should the two first named two arbitrators are to be appointed within ten days and the third within twenty days after the Elevator Company has notified the pool of its acceptance of the offer.

The sum of $500,000 in cash will be deposited with the pool or in the building of the special general meeting of the Elevator Company, and $1,500,000 will be paid by the pool on August 1, 1926, making a total payment to the company of $2,000,000. The balance of the purchase price will be paid in equal annual consecutive instalments of $1,000,000, which together with interest at the rate of per cent. per annum will be payable on August 1 of each year.

The pool reserves the right to pay off the whole or any part of the purchase price at any payment date before maturity, without notice or bonus.

Coal Probe Was Costly

Inquiry into Nova Scotia Mining Industry Cost $30,000

Halifax, N.S.—It was divulged in the House of Assembly during consideration of the estimates that Mr. Justice Rae Duncan, chairman of the Royal Commission who recently conducted an inquiry into the coal mining industry in Nova Scotia, received $1,500 per month as remuneration for his services and the two other members of the commission, Hon. Duncan Graham, of London, Ont., and Rev. Dr. H. P. MacPherson, rector of St. Pyanl's Church, Toronto, received $1,000 per month each. The secretary of the agricultural commission which recently completed an investigation of the industry in the province gave their services free, but received travelling expenses. The total cost of the royal commission was $2,500 and of the coal commission approximately $30,000.

Wheat Pool Payment

Interim Payment of About $17,000,000 To Three Prairie Provinces

Regina The interim payment was announced by J. Madigan, president of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, limited (the central organization of the wheat pools of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, are making an interim payment of 20 cents per bushel on all grades of wheat. On coarse grains a payment of nine cents per bushel is made on oats and barley, ten cents on rye, and 25 cents on flax.

"As a result of this distribution the initial payment on the different grades on and after March 11, will be as follows:

"Wheat, $1.30, basis 1, Fort William, oats, 40 cents, basis 2 C.W. Fort William, barley, 56 cents, basis 3 C.W., Fort William, flax, $1.75, basis 1 N.W. Fort William; rye, 80 cents, basis 2 C.W. Fort William.

"Approximately [illegible] bushels of wheat [illegible] Fort William and Port Arthur, and [illegible] bushels in the Pacific coast terminal elevators. Adding to this the amount [illegible] the initial payment will be [illegible] bushels.

"Applications for initial payments will be received by the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, limited, from the various pools, and cheques will be issued by the pools to the individual producers. The initial payment will be [illegible] to be referred to the provinces for their approval of the increased rate of per ton. In the meantime [illegible] and their approval is gained, the Dominion Government will guarantee the $4 difference.

After the railway commission gives a decision on the cost of hauling coal from Alberta, an adjustment will be made between the provinces, the Federal Government and the Canadian National Railways.

Vagrant Children Of Russia Form Unions

Bands Gangs Give Themselves Union Names and Status

Moscow.—Following further of the Communist slogan, "workers of the world unite," groups of the vagrant children of Russia have formed themselves in local "trade unions" and cities.

In the Shirokhski district of the Ukraine, 200 gamins have organized a pickpocket trust, the specialty of which is evident.

Khabarovsk groups of homeless boys who have specialized in petty trouble have joined into the Young Bandit Union. Among the "unions" established by parentless children in Moscow is the "Amalgamated Brotherhood of Young Pirates."

Planning Change In Manitoba Liquor Act

Legislation Has Been Introduced to Tighten Up Enforcement

Winnipeg.—Tightening of the enforcement of the Manitoba Temperance Act is provided for in legislation introduced in the Manitoba Legislature by Hon. H. W. Craig, attorney-general. The legislation would limit the delivery of liquor to which Rejuor can be taken and kept, would provide for personal appearance of persons accused of violations of the Temperance Act and would provide for a government appropriation of $100,000 for enforcement of the law, instead of $50,000 as approved by the legislature last session.

Picture Brides From Orient

Victoria.—With a total of 164 passengers, among them 46 Japanese picture brides for descriptions, the Nippon Empress of Australia arrived March 6 from the Orient.

The Nippon brides were the synonyms of all eyes at the steamer dock. Officers of the ship said it was the largest party of their kind ever carried by the vessel.

Word arrived that the next inbound Empress will bring a party of 300 Russian settlers for Alberta.

Teach Canadian History

Young Canadians Should Be Steeped In Things Canadian

Vancouver.—To produce Canadian men and women should begin in the schools. Every young Canadian should be steeped in things Canadian and should be taught Canadian history as no other thing is taught. That is not being done." H. U. Nicholas, editor of the Victoria Times, declared in addressing the board of trade here.

"Only on the broad ground of a purely Canadianism can this country be united," he declared. "Promotion of Canadian consciousness rests on two basis, the first, sentiment or moral and the second, intellectual or economic."

As a definite formula for creating unity in Canada, Mr Nicholas advocated the increased immigration of other people that British Columbia and the port of Vancouver are given national assets.

Discuss Change Of League Headquarters

Opinion Expressed That Geneva Is Not Entirely Suitable

Geneva.—Last week resulted at a meeting of delegates from the dominions to the league assembly at which the question of the transfer of the league's headquarters was discussed. A great part of the meeting was given over to the question of building a new assembly hall but no definite decision was reached before the close of the session.

The point pressed by the Opposition was that the people of the new Dominion were suffering from the unnecessarily caused by the delay, but government speakers said that no public agreement could give the people a more suitable centre might be found.

Urge Acceptance Of Design

Winnipeg Taking the stand that the design of naturalized Canadian citizens should be endorsed by the present opposition to the prize-winning memorial design, submitted by Edward Hahn, Toronto sculptor, the Canadian Club of Winnipeg urged the unqualified acceptance of the design. Hahn, who was born in Germany, has been a resident of Canada for 38 years and was naturalized on becoming of age.

FIX RATE FOR MOVING ALBERTA COAL TO EAST

[illegible] rate of $9 a ton for hauling coal from Alberta to Eastern Canada was reached at a conference today between Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, E. J. Garland, H. M. Kennedy and L. H. Jolliff, representing federal members from Alberta and four coal operators. The ten-dollar rate is subject to approval by the provincial governments interested.

After the conference, Mr Garland stated that the agreement provided for the haulage of 2,000,000 tons of coal annually, of which quantity each road would haul [illegible] tons. The rate is to be referred to the provinces for their approval of the increased rate of per ton. In the meantime [illegible] and their approval is gained, the Dominion Government will guarantee the $4 difference.

For Return Of Alberta Natural Resources

Measure is Given Second Reading in The Legislature

Edmonton—Good progress is being made with the Alberta Government's legislative programme. Over forty Bills have been introduced into the house, and a number have received second reading, and been passed through committee. Many of the bills are of a non-contentious nature, being reconsiderations and amendments of existing statutes.

The bill providing for the transfer to the province of its public lands and minerals was given second reading (opinion on all sides of the house is unanimous in urging this measure).

At present the Dominion Government owns the natural resources of the province. Premier Brownlee said that a bill embodying the agreement with the province would be introduced in the Dominion House, and he did not anticipate any serious objection. The bill was a government measure and so had in addition received assurances of support from Opposition members. Before being passed into law it would require the consent of the Imperial Parliament, but unless other provinces objected, there would be no difficulty there.

The Alberta legislators are also unanimous in asking the Dominion to give the public utilities board of the province control over charters of sales of shares. At present companies are being refused charters by the Dominion and granted them by the Dominion.

Some measure of protection for the public is demanded by the oil boom which recently commenced in Alberta.

The province is interested in railways north of Edmonton to the extent of $23,000,000. Nine of these railways are paying their way.

The Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway Company, which is the subject of an all day debate in the house. The Liberals demanded to know what progress was being made in the negotiations for the disposal of these railways, but the government members replied in caution to declare that at this time the progress of the negotiations. However, they promised a statement before the close of the session.

The point pressed by the Opposition was that the people of the new province were suffering from the unnecessarily caused by the delay, but government speakers said that no public agreement could give the people a more suitable centre might be found.

MOVEMENT OF CANADIAN WHEAT CONTINUES LIGHT

Fort William Fur owing to the report of E. A. Lyrell, statistician to the board of grain commissioners on the movement of Western Canadian grain crops during February.

"Conditions surrounding the marketing and movement of Canadian grain during the month of February remained almost exactly similar to those obtaining during January. The demand from European importers is quite slight, native supplies in Europe being utilized to the fullest extent possible while good quantities of Argentine and Australian wheats are arriving, which will furnish the bulk of the immediate import requirements. Inland receipts quantities of high grade wheat necessary to millers preferring strong flour, there does not appear to be any prospect of a change in the situation, for the present at least.

The movement of Canadian wheat into consumptive and export channels continues very moderate in comparison. From the head of the lakes the rail movement to the seaboard is extremely light. The unloadings of winter storage elevators at Canadian lower lake ports for movement to the seaboard for export also have been small. Only 2½ million bushels still remaining to be disposed of, while at Buffalo and other United States ports the total is reported somewhat higher by 5 million bushels. At Vancouver a steady shipment continues, averaging 1½ million bushels required to complete loadings.

"Ocean freight rates from Vancouver continue around 80 shillings per ton to United Kingdom and Europe, and $4.75 to $5 to the Orient. The small movement from Atlantic ports, Montreal, St. John and Halifax, at times, for liners to obtain "bottom" cargoes and rates have fallen most markedly

Fuel Oil Tax In B.C. Illegal

Justice Morrison Of Supreme Court Hands Down Ruling

Vancouver—The fuel oil tax of one-half cent a gallon passed by the Legislature in March, 1923, and reimposed to return an annual revenue of $400,000, was declared illegal by Mr Justice A. Morrison in the Supreme Court here. He declared that the tax is indirect and ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature.

Although the consumer tax of three cents a gallon, also passed in 1923, by the legislature was not directly involved in the fuel oil case, the statute is analogous, and the reasoning directed against the fuel oil tax would apply equally against the consumptionality of the other. It is generally conceded that if the fuel oil tax is indirect, that of the gasoline tax is also indirect.

Sugar Mitigation Agreement

Brisbane, Australia—The government of Queensland has signed the migration agreement to which the British Government is a party and under which the maximum amount of £4,500,000 ($16,245,000) is to be allotted to the Australian states for the settlement of immigrants. New South Wales is now the only state which has not signed the agreement

Change in Regulations

Ottawa—Changes in the regulations in regard to income tax provide for the filing of returns with the inspector of taxation for the district in which the taxpayer resided. Last year returns were made to the nearest collector of customs and excise, but this practice is now discontinued. The change is a return to the practice which prevailed prior to 1925.

Portugal Offered British Warships

Lisbon, Portugal—The Liarte Nolten a says Great Britain has offered Portugal four warships for the Congo, allowing her facilities for payment. The warships are not obsolete, the paper says, but the British desire to substitute more modern vessels for them.

Town Razed By Hurricane

Vienna.—Dispatches to the Arbeiter Zeitung say the town of Lajvino in Bosnia was razed by a hurricane and that the entire population is homeless. No mention is made of casualties.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mobey and their family of six husky children were the first arrivals this season from Great Britain under the "2,000 Family Scheme" of the British Empire Settlement Board. The family sat in a screened box, accompanied them to their new home on Vancouver Island via the Canadian National Railways. The Mobey's, who arrived in Canada abopt the middle of February, have taken up one of the improved farms of the Canadian Land Settlement Board near Victoria. Mr. Mobey was a farm laborer at Evenly, Northamptonshire. His children range from two to 15 years of age. The buildings on their new farm are ready for occupation and everything is in readiness for the spring work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor,
Fort Saskatchewan Record.
Dear Sir,

Will you kindly publish the following? The Memorial Monument Committee are planning the completion of the grounds this spring by installing an electric pumping unit with storage tank, and planting trees and shrubs, tuberous perennial plants, and seeding down the plot to grass, and it has been intimated that some citizens would like to furnish memorial trees, shrubs or perennial plants in memory of some one of their dear ones who has passed away. Those who so desire can confer with D. Robertie, the secretary, or the undersigned who will show them a plan prepared for the planting of thirty-three ornamental or shade trees besides several lilac, honeysuckle, spirea and Japanese, all flowering shrubs, and a quantity of peonies and bleeding hearts, all of which are extremely hardy and live in the ground and increase in size and beauty each year.

The choice of trees, shrubs or plants will be allotted as the orders are received, as the plan is already made out decided on, and the number of trees and the location of each tree is marked on the plan, so that you can observe the location by adopting the tree for the locality of each tree. I may add that mountain ash, elm, white ash, golden willow and Russian poplars are the trees selected, with the above flowering shrubs and tuberous flowering perennial plants, any of which can be selected and paid for when selected.

Any further information required will be cheerfully given by the undersigned; phone 52.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for so much valuable space.

Yours truly,
G. T. MONTGOMERY,
Chairman of Committee.

There were also others present who are not members of the Institute, among them being Mr. Montgomery, who spoke about the trees, shrubs and perennial plants required this spring for the beautification of the Memorial plot. A letter in this issue from Mr. Montgomery will explain more fully his wishes in this matter.

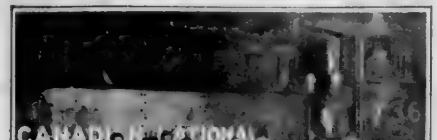
SETTLERS FOR WEST ARRIVE BY C.N.R. SPECIAL



THE first week of March saw an National trains, were unmolested by the arrival of the advance party re-ticked and the majority of the heavy movement of immigrants to Canada anticipated for this spring, when six hundred Britishers and Europeans arrived at Winnipeg en route to their destinations in British Columbia and the prairie provinces. This number, arriving in the evening by special and regular Canadian Pacific trains, were immediately re-ticked and the majority left the same night for their new homes.

A party of fifteen English boys ranging from 15 to 17 years of age is shown grouped around the engine that brought the immigration special into the Canadian National depot. Good homes on farms for each of these sturdy young lads had already been arranged by Capt. J. Smith, of the Church Army Shaftesbury Home, Winnipeg, who is shown near the centre of the group.

Rumors About Kitchener Revived

First Lord of Admiralty Again Denies Fantastic Stories

The suggestion by a Liberal member in the British House of Commons that the boat in which Lord Kitchener left the cruiser Hampshire after she was sunk by a mine in 1916 should be acquired for the nation as a relic evoked an explicit denial from the first lord of the admiralty of fantastic rumors about Kitchener's death which recently have been retired in fog and

Lord Kitchener said the first lord certainly did not leave the Hampshire in that boat, and probably not at all. Only a dozen men survived the loss of the Hampshire, and their evidence, which was taken by the admiralty, had cast no light on the disaster.

For a moment Neipsee did not answer. She too was looking into the fire. Then she said:

"Tubos must be a bit like white, the spring rain, and he could travel. When Tubos died I knew that it was who killed him. He came with Tubos's sister. It was fresh beaded yesterday. And Okimow Jeem ... had always put him, a triumphant glow in her eyes as she talked, down to a whisper. You will not get Le Bain. I have sent a message."

"A message?"

"Yes—Okimow Jeem is a—spy. Two days ago. I sent word that I had not died, but was here waiting for him that I would take him now his wife. Oo-oo-he will come, Okimow Jeem—he will come last. And you shall kill him, Neipsee." She smiled into his face and the throb of Carvel's heart was like a drum. "The sun is loaded," she said softly. "I will shoot."

"I—no—can't now," stammered Carvel from Les Isle it is—"

"He will be here to-morrow." Neipsee answered him. "To-morrow, as the sun goes down, he will enter the clearing. I know. My blood has been singing it all day. To-morrow—I to-morrow—for he will travel fast, Okimow Jeem. Yes, he will come fast."

Carvel had bent his head. The soft breast gripped in his fingers were crushed to his lips. The Will low, looking again into the fire, did not see. She felt—and her soul was beating like the wings of a bird.

"Okimow Jeem," she whispered—a breath, a flutter of the lips so soft that Carvel heard no sound.

If old Tubos had been there that night it is possible he would have read ominous warnings in the winds that whispered now and then softly in the tops of the spruce—the dripping shadows, and the black stars seemed to be watching. Neipsee knew. She knew the meaning of the night. But because she was Neipsee, and because she loved, she could not see the shadow that was creeping upon her soul. Nor could Carvel. When he came to bed he was thinking only of the morrow. When he came to the clearing, a splendid sun flooded the world with gold, and the birds were singing. Neipsee was not there. He went to the door of the tepee and looked down the trail. She was not in sight. He turned and looked toward the forest. She was not there. He went to the edge of the clearing and looked in all directions. Then he called:

"Neipsee!"

There was no answer. He called again, and then ran back into the tepee. Neipsee's rifle was gone. Her snowshoes were gone. Her mittens were gone. Her sash was gone. Her parka was gone. Her moccasins were gone. Her pack was gone. Her dog team was gone. Her sled

A meeting of the shareholders of the United Grain Growers will be held in the Memorial hall, Fort Saskatchewan, March 20, at 2 p.m. All shareholders and any others interested are requested to be present. A representative from head office will be present and will discuss the relationship of the company with the Pools.

ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT WAS SUCCESS AS USUAL

Miss M. Shackleton, (piano) Mr. Fred Berg, (saxaphone) and Mr. Fred Teague, (violin) contributed several orchestral numbers and Mr. Teague also rendered a violin solo in good style. Mrs. Glover and Mr. Markle contributed vocal solos and duets. Two very bright little plays enlivened the evening with humor and intense dramatic situations; intense, we believe, being the only word to adequately describe Mr. Cleverley's unique style of courtship in particular. The following took part in the plays and acquitted themselves very well indeed: Mrs. Horna, Misses Aurora, Louise and Edna Lamoureux, Anna Jacobs, Annie Bosenchuk, Elise Lamoureux and Mr. Racette.

Disappointment was felt at the failure of Dr. and Mrs. Belcourt to arrive. They started from the country from Edmonton but evidently were unable to negotiate the road or met with some mishap.

Through the enterprise of Mr. Jas. Graham a free tractor school and picture show will be held in the Eden Palace theatre on Monday, March 22, commencing at 10:30 a.m. S. C. Hunking, well known tractor instructor of the Ford Motor Co., will deliver a course of lectures which everybody is welcome to take advantage of this free opportunity to learn something worth their while, whatever their vocation may be.

TRACTOR SCHOOL WAS POPULAR EVENT MONDAY

The tractor school held in the Eden Palace theatre Monday through the enterprise of Mr. James Graham was very well attended. A large number of farmers were present during the morning and showed a great deal of interest in the lecture given on the Fordson tractor, at the conclusion of which several pertinent questions from members of the "class" were satisfactorily answered by the lecturer.

At the lectures, illustrated by motion pictures, held during the afternoon, the theatre was crowded. The audience received a great deal of useful information in a congenial and popular way, assimilating knowledge painlessly, as it were. Adults and high school pupils alike found much that was new to them in the talks and illustrations on Power Farming, Soils, Preparation of Seed Bed, Conserving Soil Moisture, etc.

NEW JUDGES

The appointment was announced last week of Hon. C. R. BIRTH

GODBOUT—To Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Godbout, Lamoureux, on [illegible] March 22, a son.

OBITUARY

The death occurred at the University hospital, Edmonton, on Sunday, March 21, of Donald McAllister, Fort Saskatchewan, at the age of 71 years.

Deceased was born at Campbelton, Argyleshire, Scotland, crossed the ocean when fourteen years of age and settled in Illinois, U.S.A., later moving to Kansas. He came to Fort Saskatchewan during the Klondike rush and settled in the Good Hope district. For the past twenty years he had resided in the Fort except on two occasions when he and Mrs. McAllister made a trip to the old country for the benefit of their health, but failing to make an improvement, decided to return.

He leaves to mourn his widow, a sister and a brother in Illinois, U.S.A., and other relatives in Scotland. Interment was made Wednesday afternoon, March 24, at the Fort Saskatchewan cemetery, Rev. M. R. Kerr, by special request, officiating.

Partridge Hill

A dramatic society was recently organized in this district. The society has several plays in consideration which will be produced at a later date. The chief officers are Mr. C. Flintoff, manager, Mrs. H. Rye, director, and Mrs. J. Osbaldeston, secretary-treasurer.

At a meeting of the School Fair association held in Fort Saskatchewan March 20, Mr. Frank Lawrence was chosen to represent the district in the association. We are sure he will give good service in this position. The attention of the parents is directed to the fact that the Partridge Hill S.D. will be again represented at the school fair in September. They are asked to co-operate with the Board and the teacher of the school, so that [illegible] at the fair.

Several young men from the district are attending the bronco school. The rounds are now dying nicely, and we would suggest that they would be improved by timely dragging. In case it is moved they would then have a chance to get rid of the water.

On March 19, Mr and Mrs. T. Whitson entertained a party of young people at their home.

"GRUMPY," FAMOUS COMEDY COMING TUESDAY, APRIL 6

A real treat is in store for the theatre-goers of Fort Saskatchewan on Tuesday evening, April 6, when Eugene C. Davis, supported by Miss Maxine McLeay and an all-star cast, will present the famous four-act comedy, "Grumpy," at the Eden Palace theatre. Mr. Davis was responsible for the production of "Peg O' My Heart" and "The Toymaker of Nuremberg" in the Fort and his return visit with Cyril Maude's thrilling stage success will be warmly welcomed. His company includes Miss McLeay, who will appear as the leading lady of the company, playing the role of "Virginia," niece of "Grumpy," a fussy irritable old gentleman, storming at everyone one moment and all heart the next. Mr. Davis will be seen in the title role.

FARMERS' DAY

The Department of Animal Husbandry of the University of Alberta is arranging to stage the annual "Feeders Day" this year on April 10. This is the last day of the Edmonton Spring Show and it is being held at this time in order to give fair visitors an opportunity to take in this event at the University. The results of the feeding trials conducted during the past year in which 80 steers, 320 hogs and 30 dairy cows have been used will be presented and discussed. The interesting feature in connection with the days programme will be the fact that those in attendance will have an opportunity of inspecting the animals and on this basis decide the relative merits of the different systems used. "Feeders Day" has now become an established event at the University of Alberta and the increased attendance each year indicates that this is a very satisfactory method of giving publicity to the results of livestock experimental work.

A. LUNAN FOLLOWING UP HIS PRELIMINARY WORK

A. Lunan, U.F.A. director for Vegreville constituency, who has just returned from an organizing trip to Hay Lakes and points along the C.N.R. branch of the C.N.R. east to Viking, called in at The Record office Tuesday. He reports enthusiastic meetings at Hay Lakes, Minnehik, Rose Creek, Ryley and other places in conversation Mr. Lunan said the U.F.A. is going strong in that district, many of the locals having doubled their membership since the new year. The coming Provincial election is the final topic of discussion and confidence in the return of the U.F.A. government to office is running high.

Mr. Lunan is leaving on Thursday, March 25, on another trip over the same territory where he has meetings booked ahead for the next two weeks. Much of his work on this trip will be a follow-up of the preliminary work done on his former trip.

A Year of Activity

With the coming of April, Western Canada will be away to a good start on another year of development and progress which, from present indications, promises to surpass any year since before the war. There are tangible and solid reasons providing a basis for this belief and offering encouragement to all Canadians who have a firm conviction of the future greatness of their country.

The financial statement of the C.P.R. for 1925 was the best one for the past nine years, and, after paying all expenses of operation, debenture interest and a ten per cent. dividend, provided an ample surplus of some millions of dollars. The financial showing of the Canadian National Railways was particularly gratifying and resulted in the largest operating surplus yet recorded, and bringing within measurable distance the time when the National's earnings will be sufficient to also take care of all interest charges.

From the position occupied a few years ago of being seventh among the nations as an exporting country on a per capita basis, Canada last year achieved second place, and at no time since war activity ceased has industry and trade generally been so promising or expanding so satisfactory. All the annual meetings of Canada's largest corporations and institutions have hailed the same story of betterment taking place last year, and with even brighter prospects for 1926.

During the past two weeks the Western Grain Pools paid out over $37,000,000 in cold cash to the farmers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta as a further payment on account of their 1925 crops, a truly enormous sum of money to be placed in circulation right at the outset of a new season's operations.

This huge second payment helps one to realize the fact that the cash value of wheat delivered by farmers at country stations during the fung and one-half months, August 1 to December 1, 1925, was $134,000,000, or an average of $1.300 per farm, with 85,000,000 bushels still to be marketed. Not only is this a new record, but those 4½ months of 1925 beat the whole of the preceding twelve months by no less than $50,000,000, and was $36,000,000 greater than 1923-24, $60,000,000 greater than 1922-23, and $130,000,000 greater than 1921-22.

During 1925 a larger acreage of farm lands was sold in the three Western Provinces than in the three years of 1923, 1922 and 1924 combined, and practically all direct to land users. In addition to the 873,062 acres thus sold by companies, homestead entries totalled 635,840 acres, or a total of 1,5[illegible] acres taken up last year.

[illegible] for a few of the [illegible] 1924 to 1925 [illegible] 1925 to 1926 [illegible] 1926-27 [illegible] 1927-28 [illegible] 1928-29 [illegible] 1929-30 [illegible] 1930-31 [illegible] 1931-32 [illegible] 1932-33 [illegible] 1933-34 [illegible] 1934-35 [illegible] 1935-36 [illegible] 1936-37 [illegible] 1937-38 [illegible] 1938-39 [illegible] 1939-40 [illegible] 1940-41 [illegible] 1941-42 [illegible] 1942-43 [illegible] 1943-44 [illegible] 1944-45 [illegible] 1945-46 [illegible]

Why He Succeeded

From local work on a farm in the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated, was the course which Doctor R. V. Pierce took.

In his younger days he practised medicine over a large district. It was then the days of fevers near Trumville, Pa. Finally he determined to put up some of his prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families.

At that early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as for Pierce Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, barks and herbs and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During the last sixty years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus, an alterative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and rare free.

Ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 50c for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Honduras Settles Old Debt

International Credit Hurt By Debt Of Fifty Years Standing

Congress ratified the agreement signed at Washington, October 20 last for the settlement of a debt to Britain contracted more than half a century ago.

The people in Honduras are glad to see the settlement because they feel that it re-establishes the inter national credit of this country and in turn will open up a era of prosperity.

A Honduran debt was floated fifty years or more ago in Britain amounting to £1,000,000, but before the end the debt was reduced it had climbed to nearly £30,000,000

A Review By Means of Allusions

Let all pupils who recognize the allusion in each group to bring it silently this after it is read. Call for the wisdom that comes about the noon in which it occurs

"I asked Thatcher to come to me in the afternoon, and he answered some what coldly, the night somewhat, and I gathered I was not a welcome guest, but he had a message that all days were well.

He who stooped to heal a mother's sorrow, to comfort her heart with the assurance that she was not forgotten stooped to heal the sorrow of a timid lover and to make it clear to all that they were not forgotten in W M Clow

Relieved After Other Remedies Had Failed

Ontario Lady is Very Enthusiastic About Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. P. Alexander Was Run Down, Had Pains in Her Back and Her Blood Was in Poor Condition

Nickleton, Ont. — (Special) — One more instance in the great area in which Kidney Pills are doing for women of Canada comes from Mrs. P. Alexander well known and highly respected here

"I was very run down and often had pains in my back," Mrs Alexander states. "My blood was also very bad I read in the papers about Dodd's Kidney Pills and thought I'd try a box I have tried many other medicines and they did not relieve the pain in my back. Shortly after taking half a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt the pain was not so severe, so I continued taking them and they relieved me entirely and can say they have no equal for kidney trouble. My friends would never be without them in the house. He suffered very much from kidney trouble."

Weak, nervous, run-down women should give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial at once

Indians Are Prosperous

The Indians of the prairie provinces in 1925 reaped over a million bushels of grain and had on their farms fifty thousand head of livestock, according to government reports. The cultivated area of Indian lands was increased 11,229 acres during 1925, bringing the total up to 1924,694 acres, and of the 66,420 acres were sown to grain.

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Party Whip's Success

Henry Elvins Spencer, who has been appointed Whip of the Progressive party in Canada, is a native of Great Alne, Stratford-on-Avon, England, where he was born 43 years ago. At the age of 25 he left England to take up farming in Canada and soon acquired a quarter section 4160 (area) in Alberta. He was joined a few years later by a brother from England, and today they own and cultivate between them more than 2,000 acres.

It will Prevent Ulcerated Throat.—At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quinsy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

If a cooper can't make a barrel of rum he can at least have a staving good time trying.

Self-Poisoning Increasingly Common

Modern Living Habits Promote Self - Poisoning — Thousands are Victims

—The average man or woman does not enjoy constant good health. Loss of appetite, headaches, biliousness and a lack of enthusiasm for either work or play are constant complaints.

Scientists have ascertained that such a condition is usually caused by self-poisoning resulting from constipation.

Due to modern living habits, the natural exercise which promotes regular elimination by softening the bowel contents, is often deficient—especially among middle-aged people. The poison from waste matter remaining in the system of people thus affected is the insidious cause of good health.

Such people need Nujol, because Nujol softens the waste matter and permits thorough and regular bowel elimination without overtaxing the internal muscles. It helps Nature help you.

Ask your druggist for Nujol to-day—and remember, look for the name "Nujol" in red on both bottle label and package.

BRAZILIAN VETO KEEPS GERMANY OUT OF LEAGUE

Geneva.—The assembly of the League of Nations ended its labours and the principal object for which it had been convened remained unaccomplished. Germany's election to the council remained unsecured and the assembly was compelled to forego the honor of a permanent seat in the league council. After ten days of negotiations, Brazil maintained her decision, to veto Germany's election unless she herself was accorded a permanent seat in the council.

When the assembly met Senor Mello Franco announced Brazil's decision and immediately Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, proposed postponement of the matter's election until the fall

Italy alone, of all the great powers represented permanently in the council, refrained from joining in the expression of regret that Germany had to remain herself outside the league for the time being.

This silence of Mussolini spokesmen was the outstanding subject of comment in Geneva, when all those were plainly worried about the future of the league, because of fears that this setback would be very difficult to overcome.

The council, in secret session, immediately attacked the problem of revision of the statutes of the league. It decided upon the immediate appointment of a special commi sion to probe the entire problem.

THE HOTBED A HOME GARDEN

(Experimental Farms Note)

By the use of hotbeds early in the spring, the maturity of certain crops can be hastened, a greater variety of vegetables can be grown in the home or farm garden, a more extensive floral display is possible, and the risk of loss of seedling plants is greatly lessened. Crops they can be easily forced for early maturity.

Just as plants from tropical and temperate regions require particular soil, hotbeds require a special soil for the best growth, so do we find within these groups diversity in regard to the soil best suited to each. For the purpose of this article, the classification adopted is one's ability to raise the three crops which can be grown where it is easy to mature in the open, and three whose maturity can be hastened, and yield increased, by first sowing the seed in a hotbed and later transplanting to the garden when growing conditions exist, and those which can be grown in the open only. Some of the garden crops which belong to the latter class are: tomato, pepper, eggplant, celery, cabbage, cauliflower, vine crops and half-hardy flowers. For many of these crops, soil temperature is as important as that of air temperature, hence they must be started where artificial heat is provided.

The hotbed should be prepared six weeks before the date on which the last spring frost is experienced in your district on the average. Use fresh friable soil. Seeds may be sown directly into the soil in the hotbed, or into flats which are placed in the hotbed,—the advantages of the latter system more than outweigh its disadvantages.

Always water on a rising temperature, that is, before noon in spring. Infrequent, heavy waterings that penetrate to the roots are better than daily light sprinklings that merely wet the surface. By careful watering and ventilating, strong plants will be obtained.

Easter Message

"Thou wilt not leave us in the dust:
Thou madest man, he knows not why.
He thinks he was not made to die,
And Thou hast made him; Thou art just."
—Tennyson

Easter holds one tremendous value it is the Resurrection Day. It lifts us from the dull earth and sings the glory of immortality. Easter speaks [illegible] about the persistence of personality "Because I live, ye shall live also." There are many lovely things that can be said about Easter, but this is the heart of the whole celebration. We believe that since Jesus triumphed over death we shall do the same thing. This is a grand conviction; it takes the sting out of death; it makes it possible to smile through our tears; it comforts our sad hearts in the hours of bereavements, it gives dignity to life. Those who say there is nothing in it, nothing to them are usually happy and prosperous men living in luxury I am convinced the majority of us need the doctrine of immortality to cheer us on our way. Without it the universe would seem a desolate place.

"Hallelujah! Hallelujah! Hallelujah!
The strife is o'er, the battle done:
The victory of life is won,
The song of triumph has begun,
Hallelujah!"

Real stirring music characterizes our worship, and with sweet fragrant flowers, try to express the sentiments that possess us. The note of victory is in our ears, and our hearts throb with the impulses of the new and endless life. May the inspiration of this Easter live with us during the year, adding to our own and others' joy, and giving us steadfastness in advancing the things of permanent value.

OBITUARY

Last Thursday, March 25th, there passed away, in the person of Mrs. Sarah Brigham, one of Fort Saskatchewan's most notable citizens. Mrs. Brigham had reached the ripe age of 80 years and had been a resident in the town for the past twenty years, making her home with her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Wilmeroth.

She was born in Gainsboro, Lincolnshire, England, and at an early age came to the United States where, with her husband and family, she resided until in 1886 the family moved to Alberta, taking up land at Rose Creek, forty miles south-east of the Fort. Here in a pioneer settlement Mrs. Brigham exemplified in a notable way that kindly hospitality and Christian service for others which so characterized and endeared her to such a large host of friends. In Fort Saskatchewan her talent for Christian service found ampler scope and in the work of the church she found [illegible] praise as church organist, in the Sunday school, the bible class, the Women's Missionary Society, and in the Ladies' Aid she rendered notable service.

Although past the allotted span of three score years and ten, Mrs. Brigham maintained marvellous activity, and even in the severest weather of winter never was absent a Sunday from her post of duty throughout her tenure of office. At the date of her death, she still, at 80 years, was teaching in the primary department of the Sunday school and accompanied her pastor regularly to the prison service in which she had so long given cheerful and unselfish service as organist.

The funeral took place on Saturday last from the United church, Rev. C. E. A. Pocock, minister of the church, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. M. L. Wright and Rev. M. S. Kerr, Vermilion, a former pastor of the church. As a tribute of respect the church was filled to overflowing and the love and esteem in which the deceased was held was abundantly evident in the profusion of beautiful flowers surrounding the casket.

During the service, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" was rendered by the choir quartette. Rev. M. L. Wright led the congregation very feelingly in prayer, expressing the devout thanksgiving of the church for such a life of service and devotion. In an address, couched in language of fitting solemnity, Rev. Mr. Pocock, pastor of the church, called the congregation to a fresh realization of the solemnity of life and to its high privileges and responsibilities. In the life and service of the late Mrs. Brigham these had been notably achieved. He referred touchingly to her great labor of love in the congregation and quoting the great lines of Tennyson, a hymn favored by Mrs. Brigham, remarked on how wonderfully the aspiration breathed there had been fulfilled in her own crossing of the Bar.

Through the courtesy and at the request of the members of the church, the personal tribute to the memory of Mrs. Brigham was given by Rev. M. S. Kerr, with whom she had been so intimately associated during his ministry in the Fort. Speaking from Rev. 4, 1, "a door was opened in Heaven," Mr. Kerr said that not only

A Land of Opportunity and Service

Canada and Western Canada in particular, has frequently been described as a young man's country—a country in which the humblest boy possessed of ability and energy, plus ambition, has an opportunity of rising to the top in any path of life he may choose, and of achieving the highest position which it is within the power of his fellow citizens to bestow. Over and over again has the correctness of this opinion been verified in the lives of young men who have risen to positions of influence and power in this country, whereas they probably would have led unessential lives had they remained in their old environment.

It is doubtful, however, if quite so striking an example of the rapid rise of a young man from very humble surroundings to a high and honored position has ever been recorded as in the case of Hon. Charles A. Dunning, until a few days ago Premier of Saskatchewan and now Minister of Railways and Canals in the Dominion Government. The story of Mr. Dunning's life since coming to Western Canada reads like a romantic fairy tale.

Mr. Dunning has not yet reached his forty-first birthday, having been born in Leicestershire, England, on July 21, 1885. As a youth of 17, and of late in health, he emigrated to Saskatchewan and began work as a farm hand. After following year he homesteaded at Beaverdale, Sask., and, like all new settlers without wealth, began to break his quarter section and erect his log and sod buildings. In the year prior to Mr. Dunning's arrival in what is now the Province of Saskatchewan, the Territorial Grain Growers' Associations was organized, and the newly arrived English lad soon identified himself with the "Local" in his district, and thus commenced to render public service and climb the ladder of fame.

Within a few years he was a director of the Association, then vice president for four years. During this period the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. was created, and Mr. Dunning was appointed its first General Manager, which position he held for six years, developing the latent Company until it reached the position of being the world's greatest co-operative handling concern. Then, in 1914, when W. M. Martin succeeded Walter Scott as Premier of Saskatchewan, he called Mr. Dunning to his cabinet as Provincial Treasurer, and, with the possible exception of Premier Gouin, of Quebec, no Province's finances were better handled during the last of the war years and during the difficult years of readjustment and depression that followed than were those of fine Saskatchewan.

In 1922, Mr. Martin retired from the Premiership, and Mr. Dunning was the unanimous choice of the Liberals of Saskatchewan as his successor. Then within nine years of serving in Saskatchewan, and on the early age of 36, Mr. Dunning was General Manager of one of the Dominion's biggest companies; at the age of 37 the English emigrant lad was a cabinet minister; at 37 he was Premier of the Province. What other country can offer a parallel to such a record?

During the war Mr. Dunning threw his abounding energy and organizing abilities into the task of furnishing (in wheres) to equip Canada and the Empire to worthily and successfully play their part. He was chairman of the Victory Loans campaigns in Saskatchewan for three years in succession, and Director of Food Production in Canada during the last critical year of 1918.

And now, secure in the Premiership, with an overwhelming majority in the Legislature following an election of less than a year ago, Mr. Dunning relinquishes a safe and comparatively easy position to go to Ottawa and take over one of the hottest and most responsible portfolios in the Dominion Government. And those who know him most intimately are agreed that he does so in order that he may thereby render still greater service to the country of his adoption and the Empire which gave him birth.

It is well for Canada that it can provide such opportunities for advancement to its people, and it is even better for Canada that when the occasion and the need arise, her sons are willing to give her their very best in effort and service.

Apart altogether from partisan feelings and affiliations, the people of Western Canada are proud of the achievements of Mr. Dunning and rejoice to have him in the Government at Ottawa at a time when strong men, allied with initiative, and capable of only but progressive leadership are urgently needed. Although a Westerner by his own choice, and fully seized with the problems and needs of this section of the Dominion, Mr. Dunning's vision is not restricted to the prairies. He will approach and deal with Canadian problems, not from any narrow or sectional viewpoint, but in the interests of Canada as a whole.

Knowing the West as he does and its enormous possibilities, he will apply his energies beneficially for the West, not because it is the West, but because thereby the welfare and prosperity of Canada as a national unit will be advanced. Political friend and political foe will, therefore, be found unanimous in a hope that the same unbroken record of successful achievement which has marked his career in the past will be surpassed in the larger arena of national affairs. It is Canada which will be the gainer thereby.

Alberta Professor Discovers Medicine That Hastens Recovery Of Broken Bones

Medicine to speed up recovery from broken bones is the latest idea in surgery.

Bones consist largely of calcium phosphate, and after a fracture, fresh quantities of this substance must be taken from the blood to form new ones. Now, however, it has been discovered that the process is slow owing to the small quantity of calcium and phosphorus in the blood.

Professor Collip, of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, obtained from the parathyroid glands an extract which, when injected or given by the mouth, increases the amount of blood calcium and phosphate in the blood. The parathyroids are four small glands in the neck near the thyroid gland, or embedded in it.

Not Concerned Over Casualties

U. S. Calmly Accepts High Death Rate From Auto Accidents

In the United States the death rate from automobile accidents is forty-eight every twenty four hours, with 160 injured in that period. The most pessimistic don't associate with these figures, according to statisticians who are studying them, is that the people are becoming so accustomed to the large casualty rate, although if war were taking that many every day there would be great excitement about it.

What Rheims Requires

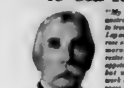
Restoration Is Almost Complete But City Needs Population

There is one city in the world, at any rate, in which there is no shortage of houses.

Rheims was practically destroyed during the war, but it has been rebuilt. It has fine houses, fine shops and fine factories, but the factories lack workers, the shops lacks customers, and the houses lack inhabitants. So the reconstruction committee is publishing the needs of Rheims in the newspapers of Paris, where people are at their wits' ends to find room to live. There should be a simple solution.

Why do Parisians not go and live in Rheims? Because there is no work. Why is there no work? Because there are no workers. Why are there no workers? Because there are no houses. Why are there no houses

Young vigor to old folks



"My nerves were unstrung and I used to tremble all over. I go awake at night, rose exhausted and morning. Tonics rushed health and appetite. I am 11, but now eat and work as well as 30 years ago." Harry Johnson, 13 Elm St., Windsor, Ont.

One of Tanlac's greatest blessings is the new life and vigor it brings to old folks. Every day men and women up in the seventies and eighties thank us for Tanlac's wondrous benefits.

Tanlac is a natural tonic, made from roots, barks and rare herbs. Harmless to man or child. It cleans the blood, stirs up the liver and puts digestive organs in wholesome order.

Trades Claim For Oats

Red Lake Prospector Needed Inflation For His Horses

Reminiscence of the gold rush days in the Klondyke are having their counterparts in the Red Lake district of today. Like an echo or fresh bargains in the old days, comes a tale of a bargain struck in the northern goldfields of Ontario.

Tim Crawsey, a youthful prospector had taken a team of horses into the outer regions of the Red Lake mining area. He had a small supply of oats and less hay. At the moment when equine provisions are the scarcest, he came in contact with A. H. Farnagan, pilot of one of the planes that survived the crash.

Crawley entered into a bargain with the airman. He agreed to stake a claim for Farnigan in exchange for a box of oats.

Stores brought from Hudson, Ont., indicate that many similar bargains have being made.

A SPRING TONIC AND AID TO HEALTH

You Can Lay the Foundation of Good Health Now by Building Up Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves. Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The good old fashion of tahlac a tonic in the spring time, like most of the readers of our grandparents is indeed upon sound reasoning and good medical practice. Winter is at its worst and those who have the best in rugged health. Many men, women and children are pale after the winter on reserve strength they have stored up during the summer months, and a few increasingly pale and languid as the spring days approach. A tonic is needed by the nerves at this time will do much to quick purify, by purifying the blood and cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that weakens thousands of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your blood is thin and weak. Nerves cannot be strengthened if they are not supplied with nourishment. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your appetite is poor or you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your reserve now, as well as to save you from suffering later on. And in the realm of medicine, there is no safer or better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills tone and enrich the blood which circulates through every portion of the body, strengthening jaded nerves and ruddying up the cheeks. Get a supply of new strength and energy to weak, tired, run-down people, men, women and children.

Miss K. Stroia, Kamouraska, Quebec:—"I would feel that I was neglecting an opportunity to help some other poor sufferer if I failed to tell you how much benefit I had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before taking the pills I was in a bad state of health and nervous. I was very weak, pale and breathless at the least exertion. I had no appetite and what my appetite was poor. I began taking the pills, but they seemed to do better health than I had enjoyed for a long time; in fact, my health is now the best since my girlhood days. No medicine has done for me it will do for any weak, ailing people."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 6

JESUS APPEARS TO HIS DISCIPLES (EASTER LESSON)

Golden Text: Because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed, blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed. John 20.29

Lesson: John 20.24-31.

Devotional Reading: Revelation 1.9-18.

Explanations and Comments

The Risen Savior Appears to the Disciples in the Upper Room, 20.19-23.—On the evening of the Sunday following the crucifixion, Christ appeared to the disciples in the room where they were assembled. That his body was no longer subject to ordinary law, is indicated by his sudden appearance in their midst although the doors were closed. Peace be unto you. was his greeting, and then to convince them of his identity he showed them his pierced hands and side. The disciples believed and rejoiced. Again he said, "Peace be unto you," and added, "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you."

"An associate and friend of yours," Dr. Henry Gutrom, has described an African prince visiting the African settlement at the St. Louis Exposition. He was clad in citizen's clothes, and the people from Africa appeared in their native costumes. When this stranger proclaimed himself a prince they ridiculed him. However, an aged man said, "I can tell whether you are a prince of the royal blood, said he ran his fingers down the back of the neck of the one who claimed to be a prince and found the scar that was there, the mark of his royalty. Then the aged man fell upon his knees with all the others to worship him. And Christ stands before us as the Lamb that had been slain, scars in his hands and feet, in his side and back and on his brow. He is our Redeemer" (Dr. J. Wilber Chapman).

Girls! Your Health!

—Michlethwaite Studio

Toronto, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a godsend to women and girls who have become run-down in health. When I was a girl I became all run-down in health, was weak and nervous, suffered from irregularity, and at times was in pain. I was miserable as could be, when, upon the advice of a friend, I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and it corrected all my trouble. I did not suffer any more, my nerves grew strong and I gained in health and strength very rapidly. After I married I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and it gave me wonderful relief."—Mrs. Elizabeth Pommen, 205 Oak St. All druggists.

THE PROBLEM OF THE WORLD WAR'S HERITAGE

London.—The problem of the world war's heritage of inter-allied debts was given a pedestrial airing in the House of Commons, and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and Philip Snowden, Laborite and former chancellor, who are poles apart politically, joined hands in the house in agreeing that the burden of responsibility for the war debt difficulties rests on the United States for refusing to adopt a policy of all-round cancellation.

Mr Snowden precipitated the debate in the hope of helping to bring Great Britain's recalcitrant continental creditors to time, and he spared neither the United States, France nor Italy in his scathing bitter criticism for which he has a reputation.

With ministerial responsibility associated with his utterances, Mr Churchill restricted his statement somewhat, and on the whole was hopeful of obtaining from Great Britain's debtors the necessary £33,000,000 sterling which this country is now paying to the United States annually. And the chancellor of the exchequer believes the British Government will be enabled to carry out the principle of the Balfour note, whereby Great Britain declared her intention of collecting from her continental allies only sufficient sums to pay her indebtedness to the United States.

Mr Churchill described the undertaking to pay £100,000 sterling daily for more than three generations by the nation as "one of the most stupendous tasks and burdens ever assumed by any country in the whole world's history."

May Expect Large Orders

Australia Will Buy Canadian Newsprint Says Melbourn Editor

Vancouver.—Canada may expect a third or a half of the Australian newsprint orders, running more than a million pounds sterling as a result of the Australian-Canadian trade treaty, according to Keith Murdoch, editor and general manager of the Melbourne Herald, who arrived in Vancouver from the Orient on the Empress of Asia, enroute to London, England.

At first Australia was inclined to favor Canada. Sale of dried and canned fruits from Australia in this country, he thought would depend upon the attitude of exporters in Australia. It might be advantageous to have a real New Zealand-Australian combination in this country, or some representative of the manufacturing and export houses. Conditions in Australia were bright he observed.

Will Protect Soviet Delegates

Russian Representatives Invited To Disarmament Talk in Geneva

Geneva.—The text of a letter embodying a final appeal to Soviet Russia from the League of Nations council to participate in the disarmament studies in Geneva has been made public. It shows that the council upholds the attitude of the Swiss Government that Moscow should not expect different treatment from that accorded to the representatives of the other countries invited.

The letter emphasizing that Switzerland has promised every measure of protection for the Soviet delegates, thus seeking to remove fears that Geneva might be the scene of lawless demands to that in Lausanne in 1923 when Vorovsky was assassinated

Will Discuss Locarno Pact

Canadian House of Commons Will Have Opportunity After Easter

Ottawa.—The House of Commons will be given an opportunity to discuss the Locarno agreement shortly after the Easter recess. Premier King, in answer to a question by Dr. P. Metlibbon (Conservative, Muskoka), stated that if members were anxious to discuss the agreement, he would see that an opportunity was given. He observed that the agreement was not yet in effect. Consequently, there did not appear to be any great need for haste in discussing it

Lloydminster Oil Discovery

Recent Find Promises To Result In An Oil Boom

Lloydminster.—With a number of claims already staked within the Lloydminster townsite, and with a couple of claims already filed with the Dominion lands office at Prince Albert where $1,000 was taken in last days duty

It was a cow that made history by setting fire to the oil city of Chicago. A cow, or rather cattle, have been the authors of the present excitement in the lumber town, which with the announcement that it will be made the divisional point of the new Canadian Pacific line, has made the place a booming settlement.

For the past two years John Marren, a farmer 12 miles south of town, on the Saskatchewan side of the boots boundary, has had difficulty in making his cattle drink the water from a low flat well situated on his property. Recently, at the instance of a visitor from Edmonton who was interested in oil development, a sample of the bottom of the shaft was sent to the University of Alberta for analysis. The answer from the analysis was that the sample was 75 per cent of what is known as distillate, an even purer form of liquid fuel than the Turner Valley, and the richest in the Wainwright field, with which, according to the professor, this Lloydminster discovery has a geological connection.

Prepare Malians For Emigration To Canada

Premier Mussolini Advises Sending Only Agriculturists to Dominion

London.—Premier Mussolini, of Italy, proposes transferring Southern Italians to Canada, where they can be best assimilated prepared for emigrating to Canada and establishing what he calls "emigration centres."

This passage was revealed by Bonar Dandurand, of Montreal, in an interview with the British United Press. Senator Dandurand said he recently saw a letter from Mussolini to Mine Garibaldi who went to Canada to see if there was a possibility to extend the Italian township. She found, he said, that Canadians everywhere said, "Don't send us Italians from the southerners. For this reason Mussolini has started this way out of the difficulty and is seriously working on his scheme for preparing his country men for life in Canada.

Senator Dandurand said, "something in the nature of this must be worked to overcome the unemployment problem in England. Agricultural training even before they arrived in England would be preparing emigrants for their life in Canada."

PAYS TRIBUTE TO DOMINIONS FOR SUPPORT

London Sir Austen Chamberlain replied his speech in the House of Commons debate on the address by saying he wished to pay a debt to the dominions and India which pressed strongly upon him. There were present at Geneva during the deputes and nations tonight he passed three representatives of all the British dominions and India and it was his good fortune throughout to be in the closest touch and consultation with them.

They all met almost daily in his room. Sir Austen read and commented on some of the most confidential state papers among them more than once daily. He desired to express the debt that he owed them for the straightforward and helpful way they had accorded him in one of the most difficult tasks that it had ever been his lot to confront.

Egyptians Recognize Prestige Of Britain

Majesty Realizes What Empire Has Done For Their Country

Ottawa.—An optimistic outlook for Egypt and its relations with Great Britain is held by Ahmed Alkhafy, Egyptian trade commissioner in Montreal, until recently high commissioner in that country, in an address following a luncheon by the Canadian Club here.

The victorious commander of the Palestine campaign was given an enthusiastic welcome by a distinguished audience.

The prestige of Great Britain in Egypt, Mr. Alkhafy said, was much greater than it is today. There is a real yearning of resentment on the part of the majority of the Egyptians for what Britain has done for their country.

Last Week In The Alberta Legislature

Healthy Financial Condition of the Province is Shown in Budget Speech

Edmonton The shortest budget debate on record concluded on Monday evening, the proceedings being confined to one day, excepting the budget speech by the provincial treasurer, Hon. R. G. Reid, made on Thursday. Two opposition and four government members spoke.

In presenting the budget, which called for an estimated expenditure of $14,477,483.99, and revenue of $11,290,453.80, leaving a surplus of $31,909.96, Mr. Reid commented on the healthy financial condition of the province. The proportion of all local taxation including provincial and municipal, to production was 7.7 per cent., the lowest of any province west of Quebec.

Reviewing the situation during the last year insofar of the Farmer Government, Mr Reid said that they had been able to effect big economies, controllable expenditure having been reduced $1,179,89.53.

J. C. Bowen, opposition leader, criticized the administration of the government, stating that greater economies should be effected. The other speakers of the debate were W. T. Henry, Lib-Lab, Edmonton, Hon. Geo. Hoadley, minister of agriculture, W. Shields; H. F. A. Herbert, Social Credit; J.F.A. Wainwright; and Donald Cameron, U.F.A., Innisfail A number of others had intended to speak, but the debate collapsed on account of the Liberals not having their speaker ready.

Several hours debate took place on the new Factory Act, which provides for a general fifty-four hour week in factories, workshops, stores, etc., the power given to the lieut.-governor-in council after January 1st, 1927, to declare for a forty-eight hours week. It was stated during the debate that eighty per cent. of the organized industries of the province were already on an eight hour basis.

The act was given second reading, but the government will introduce amendments during the committee stage to meet representations made.

During the week a number of bills were advanced to the committee stage

SAYS GRAIN RATE RESULTS IN LOSS TO RAILWAYS

Ottawa.—On handling grain west of Port William the Canadian National Railways lost $13,000,000 in 1923 (and 1924—approximate); $6,000,000 each year according to evidence given before the board of railway commissioners by F. J. Watson, of the Canadian National Railways, at the hearing of the application of the Quebec harbor commission for a lower grain rate on the National transcontinental line.

Mr. Watson added We are handling a lot of high class traffic at the same time which compensates us for this loss." The figures for the 1925 grain handling were not at present available and Mr. Watson said he was not familiar with th figures east of Port William.

Deputy Chief Commissioner Vien wanted to know how the figures of the losses on the grain trade were arrived at. The reply was that the company was prepared to show the accounting to the board, but was not willing to have it made public. Mr. Ralston argued that the particular [illegible] in this case had an interest [illegible] to know how this loss was arrived at. Such a statement must be published

Kept Lighthouse Lamp Going

Fourteen Year-Old Girl Was Alone For Three Days While Parents Ill

London.—The light in Heleh's lighthouse, near Cambridge, on the Isle of Wight, was kept burning for three nights by the 14-year-old daughter of the lighthouse keeper Langton. The girl was unaware that there was out food, except one loaf of bread and a small piece of cake, but betweentimes she carried out her father's duties valiantly.

Langton and his wife rowed ashore in a rough sea to fetch food and oil for the lighthouse lamps, but Cowes Hall. While they were ashore the sea rose in its fury, and notwithstanding several attempts they could not reach the Needles lighthouse. Meanwhile the girl kept awake at night and wound every hour the clockwork apparatus which turned the light.

"GRUMPY," FAMOUS COMEDY COMING TUESDAY, APRIL 6

As a special attraction at the Eden Palace theatre on Tuesday, April 6, no more popular comedy could have been chosen than Cyril Maude's phenomenal success, "Grumpy." This sparkling, four-act play enjoyed extremely popular runs both in England and America and its appeal is just as strong as ever. And the reason is not hard to find. Not only does it contain an intensely thrilling and exciting plot but is also abounding in clever comedy. This is a rare combination in modern plays and theatregoers everywhere know their appreciation of this in no uncertain manner.

Eugene C. Davis, the producer of "Grumpy" comes to the Fort direct from the New Empire theatre, Edmonton, where he is staging the same play this week. It is rarely that an attraction of this calibre is booked in this district and undoubtedly all lovers of clean, wholesome, worth-while drama will pack the theatre to the doors on April 6. Only by wholehearted support of superior road attractions will we ever obtain the type be encouraged to come here.

SERENADES

I love to hear that serenade,
Of the Mexican maid and her beau,
Of their canoe, the moonlit gulf,
And the gentle winds soft and low

I love to hear the serenade,
Of the dance girl in dear old Spain,
Of starlit night and a garden,
And applause for the same refrain

Yes, these serenades and others,
But there is one more than the rest;
One that I get mother to sing,
Is the serenade of the West.

It sings the songs of the rivers,
The forests, the hills and the plain.
It tells the conquests of fathers,
And also of heartaches and pain

Murmurs a tale of the maple,
It echoes the whispering pine;
And stories told through the ages,
Erased not by ravage of time

It pictures a "Throne of Promise,"
Yellow fields far richer than gold;
Of hearts to brave all the tempests,
Where plenty has fast gained its hold

It tells the tale of a country,
The land where man to man are men;
Home of the West, haven for me,
Mother, please, sing that song again

—Lillie M. Miller, Sturgeonville

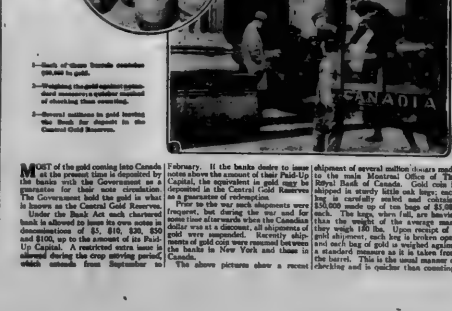
SHIPMENTS OF GOLD



1—Each of these Bundle contains $20,000 in gold.

2—Wrapping the gold against pilferage and ensuring a quicker method of checking than counting.

3—Several millions in gold leaving the Bank of Montreal in the Central Gold Reserves.

MOST of the gold coming into Canada at the present time is deposited by the banks with the Government as a guarantee for their note circulation. The Government hold the gold in what is known as the Central Gold Reserves.

Under the Bank Act each chartered bank is allowed to issue its own notes in denominations of $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, up to the amount of its Paid-Up Capital. A restricted extra issue is allowed during the crop moving period, which extends from September to February. If the banks desire to issue notes above the amount of their Paid-Up Capital, the equivalent in gold may be deposited in the Central Gold Reserves as a guarantee of redemption.

Prior to the war such shipments were frequent, but during the war and for some time afterwards when the Canadian dollar was at a discount, all shipments of gold were suspended. Recently shipments of gold coin were resumed between the banks in New York and those in Canada.

The above picture show a recent shipment of several million dollars made to the main Montreal Office of The Royal Bank of Canada. Gold coin is shipped in sturdy little oak kegs; each keg is carefully sealed and contains $50,000 made up of ten bags of $5,000 each. The kegs, when full, are heavier than the weight of the average man, they weigh 180 lbs. Upon receipt of a gold shipment, each keg is broken open and each bag of gold is weighed against a standard measure as it is taken from the barrel. This is the usual manner of checking and is quicker than counting

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT GIVEN BY ST. GEORGE'S W.A.

The annual concert under the auspices of St. George's W.A. was held Monday evening, a fairly large crowd being present. The evening's entertainment commenced promptly on time, which is an innovation locally, with a pretty little scene entitled "Hummingbirds," in which three tiny children, Dorothy Dodge, Hope Smith and Ward McLellan, posed and pantomimed to musical music by Mrs Rawden, accompanied on the piano by Mrs R. L. Wright

A health play by the Sunday School children was well received, Glover Taylor being especially good in the role of king Others participating were Ernest Smith, Trevor Oxley, Fay Goodrich, Dorothy Buster and Douglas Collinson, Jean McLellan, Margaret and Alice McLellan, Muriel Taylor, Teddy and George Flintoft, Alex Smith, Winnie and Verona Adamson, Edith Karras, Sarahe and Mary Oxley, Dorothy and Teddy Dodge, (comedian) Billy Smith, Peggy Bruce and Pauline Graham, Margaret Orr, Helen Karras.

A novel number, a "doll dance" by Grace Blatchford, Edmonton, was well performed and pianoforte selections by Marjorie Webb, Edmonton, were surprisingly well rendered for one so young.

Miss Beryl Fraser sang "Kinky Kids Parade" with a background of kinky kids whose antics created an amusing sensation.

Miss Aletha Orr contributed a reading which was the star turn of the evening's entertainment, which concluded with a laughable play entitled "Dr. Cure All." Artists specially engaged for the occasion were Mrs Magee, Mrs. Coy, Miss. Oxley, Misses Beryl Fraser, Eunice Orr, Winnifred Bullock, Jean McLellan, Dorothy Collinson, Messrs Barnett and Magee

Miss Aletha Orr had direction of the entertainment which added another success to her efforts in collaboration with St. George's W.A.

"GRUMPY," POPULAR COMEDY ENJOYED BY FORT AUDIENCE

On Tuesday evening Messrs. Davis and Dalkis presented at the Palace theatre the popular four-act comedy "Grumpy" This comedy has been giving delight to many audiences in Edmonton and the towns in northern Alberta and was hugely appreciated by Fort Saskatchewan patrons of dramatic art.

Mr. Davis' interpretation of "Grumpy" was the finest we have seen for a long time, portraying as he does to the life the character of a crotchety old criminal lawyer in his dotage who withal shows glimpses of his once powerful mind.

Maxine McLeay in the leading feminine role, Eva Basher, Maurice Sanderson, Jack Anderson, R. S. Reynolds, and in fact the whole of the supporting cast, gave a most commendable performance.

It is hoped that in a future performance by these artists their choice of date will be happier, as, slushing as it did with several local affairs taking place this week, the performance presented by Messrs. Davis and Dalkis was not patronized on this visit as well as it deserved to be.

LOCAL G.W.V.A. ACTIVITIES

At a recent meeting of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. it was decided to hold the annual St. Julien's memorial service the first Sunday after April 22.

The annual sports will be held as usual May 24.

Committees were appointed to make arrangements for these affairs and progress has already been made to ensure success.

Greater Revenue from Game and Fur

The final figures for the revenue from game and fur taken in the province during 1925, made available through the office of the Game commissioner of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, show that the total revenue was about $2,500,000, instead of $1,500,000 as first estimated.

FAULKNER—O'BRIEN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. O'Brien, Fort Saskatchewan, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, March 31, when Miss Winifred L. O'Brien, of Noel, Nova Scotia, became the bride of Mr. Gordon L. Faulkner, of Fort Saskatchewan. Rev. C. E. A. Peacock performed the ceremony in the presence of a small number of relatives and friends. To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Peacock the bride and groom took their places under the decorations, tastefully arranged for the occasion. Misses Muriel O'Brien and Ada Treby were the pleasing little waitresses.

The bride wore a tailored suit of navy gabardine, with becoming hat to correspond.

After the ceremony a delightful buffet lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner left amid a shower of rice and confetti and good wishes, motoring to Edmonton. On their return they will reside at Fort Saskatchewan.

Some people brag about their collar, while others keep a little still about it.

Greater Revenue from Game and Fur

The final figures for the revenue from game and fur taken in the province during 1925, made available through the office of the Game commissioner of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, show that the total revenue was about $2,500,000, instead of $1,500,000 as first estimated.

FORT SASK. DISTRICT BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETS

A meeting of the Fort Saskatchewan District baseball league was held in the Memorial hall last Saturday with president R. G. Fraser in the chair.

Previous year's reports were given and the good showing was appreciated by all these present.

Moved F. G. Rice—seconded Dr. deBeaupre—that the league be organized to carry on for the season of 1926. Carried.

The baseball clubs which had representatives present and asked to be members of the league for the season of 1926 were as follows: Fort Saskatchewan, Partridge Hill, Gibbons, Bremner and Namao. Although no representative was present from Clover Bar it was gathered from those present that they were desirous of joining and an invitation to do so was to be sent at once.

Moved—Dr. Bacon—seconded Walter Langan that the league organize on the basis of three six clubs. Continued more at page 6

A Matter of National Concern

Canada now obtainable articles many advantaged from its close proximity to the United States with its large population, marvellous industries, and great wealth. Many of these advantages are so self evident that it would be superfluous for us to enumerate them. But, on the other hand, it is equally true that Canada suffers as a result of the very close and intimate relations which exist between the Dominion and its big neighbor to the south. These disadvantages and disadvantages are very largely confined to the realm of economics.

The subject is so large that volumes could be written on it, pro and con. Among the many phases or angles of the complex questions involved in this very large problem, there is one which is more the matter of considerable discussion in Canada because while it is economic in its origin, it contains with its every possibilities affecting the whole social, industrial and political life of the country.

In a sparsely settled, largely undeveloped country like Canada, with people spread thinly over half a continent, and with some sections having little communication except periodically, with other sections, there is naturally lack of that community of interest, and resultant national spirit and consciousness which animates a smaller and more thickly populated countries. There is difficulty in the far eastern and far western Provinces knowing and understanding each other, while these far-flung sections are not even in very close touch and sympathy with the central Provinces, which latter are more or less self-satisfied and self-contained and lack understanding of both the east and west.

Halifax and St. John are closer to Boston and New York than they are to Montreal or Toronto. Montreal and Toronto are closer to New York, Philadelphia and Chicago than they are to Winnipeg. Winnipeg is closer to Chicago and Minneapolis than to Vancouver or Victoria. Vancouver is closer to Seattle, Portland and San Francisco than to Canadian centres. Such is the geographical position which nothing can overcome.

One of the most effective means whereby Canadians could be made to know and understand each other better, and brought closer together, is through the medium of national publications, weekly and monthly magazines and periodicals. Valiant efforts have been put forth by public spirited men and women to provide such media, but with indifferent success, considering there are nine million people in Canada. The reason for failure is not far to seek.

With a population twelve times that of Canada, United States publishers can develop enormously large circulations for their magazines. As a result they can command fabulous prices for advertising from large and wealthy national manufacturers. With enormous revenues under their control, these publishers can command the services of the world's best writers, artists and illustrators. The result is they can turn out the most attractive magazines, and of a class and a price which Canadian publishers in this large limited field can never hope to approach. Ads. in Canadians desire the very best obtainable in magazines, as in everything else, these United States publications have larger circulations in Canada than our own Canadian publications.

What will be the ultimate effect of this flooding of Canadian homes with United States publications? This is a question which cannot be answered not only to many Canadians but to thoughtful students of affairs throughout the Empire and in other countries. Canadians are being constantly supplied with the narrow United States viewpoint on all international questions, which in these magazines present as seen through Uncle Sam's spectacles and as they affect the big republic Canada is a member and loyal supporter of the League of Nations, yet our people are supplied daily, weekly, monthly, with open and veiled criticism and denunciations of the League. The United States viewpoint is urged as the only right one, and all others wrong. We are fed upon the super-safeguard for law which prevails throughout the United States; we have brushed in to us the practical breakdown of the machinery in and decency of domestic relations which characterizes the social life of the United States to-day, we are furnished with stories of the coming bankruptcy of Great Britain and the breaking up of the British Empire; and so on ad nauseum.

What will be the effect on the social life and political institutions of Canada if this keeps up for another generation or two? Is there any remedy that can be applied?

Canadian publishers believe that at least a partial remedy is possible, but that it must be applied in an economic way; that is, the remedy is not to be found in the arbitrary exclusion of United States magazines, but in providing a means whereby Canadian publishers will be given a reasonable chance to compete successfully with them through the production of Canadian periodicals more and more on a par from the standpoint of literary and artistic production with those from across the line.

As the subject is one which concerns all Canadians, it is proposed to examine further into the subject in a subsequent article.

Dominion Revenue Increasing

Figures Show Considerable Gain Over Preceding Year

Ordinary revenue of the Dominion increased by nearly twenty-nine million dollars during the eleven months ended February 28 last, as compared with the previous eleven month period. The monthly statement issued by the Department of Finance shows total ordinary revenue for the eleven months of $137,000,000 as compared with $108,000,000 for the previous corresponding period. Ordinary expenditures for about the same as a year ago. On February 28 last it totalled $276,629,000.

What's Wrong With Canada

Here Are Some Facts For the Croakers To Study

Canada with its small population, has as much foreign trade as the United States had when ship had 76 million people, according to recent statistics. In addition the Dominion is mining as much as the United States did when it had a vastly greater manufacturing as much as the United States did with 50 million people The value of production per capita to-day amounts to $121 while in the United States it is only $37.

NEW BLOOD NEEDED IN THE SPRING TIME

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills As a Blood Improving, Health-Restoring Tonic

Every mother knows what child needs now, rich, red blood at this time of the year to help it through the spring. All doctors know it. The blood grows thin and poor in the winter; there is not enough of the right kind of food to give the effect. Take note and see how many people you know are ailing at this time of the year. They complain of being easily tired, their appetite is poor, and they are often dizzy and have spells of fainting. No Mother Nature urging them to improve their blood supply; but often they do not. Here is where modern medical science comes to the rescue with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Direct action on the blood and enable you to get rich new red blood corpuscles in your meals. You soon feel their effect your appetite improves, your nerves are steadier, color returns to the cheeks and lips, you have more strength and you are ready to work with less fatigue.

The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in all who are in what is known as a run down condition has been proved by the experience of Mrs. McKenzie, Johnstown, Que., who says:—"I was in a completely run-down condition. Nervousness, sleeplessness, and loss of vitality were all things their cost. I felt miserable all the time and began to feel that my case was hopeless, as I had tried a number of remedies with little or no relief. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and finally decided to try them. I got a half dozen boxes, and by the time I had used about one half of them I began to see no doubt I had at last found the medicine I needed. I continued the use of the pills, gaining strength day by day, and I was soon enjoying good health and happiness. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every man, woman or child who is in a run down condition, feeling sure that the pills will soon restore them to health and strength."

Whether you are seriously ill or merely tired and tired and out of sorts, you should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring. They are sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box, by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Through Service For Steamship Passengers

Canadian Pacific Railway Inaugurates Through Tourist Sleeping Car Service

For the convenience of western passengers enroute to the Old Country, the Canadian Pacific Railway have inaugurated a through tourist sleeping car service from Winnipeg to Saint John, N.B.

These cars will leave Winnipeg on "The Imperial" at 10.00 a.m. every Tuesday until April 30th, providing through service to the ship's side at Saint John.

This service will prove extremely popular with passengers from the prairie provinces, eliminating as it does, changing trains at Montreal.

Minard's Liniment for colds

Get back that lost weight!

Gained Health, Energy, Vigor, Weight

"Before taking Tanlac I weighed 120 pounds and was a nervous wreck. I lost weight and had indigestion, constipation and insomnia. Tanlac has restored me to health. I have gained 30 pounds and now enjoy eating as much as I desire. I recommend Tanlac to my friends again."

Mrs. Louis Cole, 2156 Notre Dame West, Montreal

When you start to waste away to a shadow, when the color leaves your cheeks and your poor, tired legs will hardly hold up your weakened body it is high time you started taking a Tanlac and bid farewell to your troubles.

Tanlac will build you up and make you feel that life is living. Made from roots in the Hill Districts, Tanlac gets the corners of the earth and compounded under the exclusive Tanlac formula, Tanlac is just what the poor, starved body needs.

First of all it cleanses the blood stream and puts the digestive organs in order. You find, after a few days' treatment, that you want to eat. Pretty soon the welcome color starts back into your cheeks and the scales tell you that you're gaining weight. From then on it's only a short time until you're feeling fit as a fiddle.

Millions of men and women have taken Tanlac with great benefit. More than one hundred thousand people have written in glowing tributes to this wonderful tonic.

When you know it has worked wonders for so many folks it's folly not to try it yourself. Get Tanlac's help yourself. Don't put it off another day. Get a bottle at your druggist's now and start the good work right away. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.

Decrease In Railway Accidents

Number of Fatalities Through Accidents in Nine Months

A considerable decrease in the number of railway accidents and in the number of fatalities is shown in the annual report of the railway branch of the department for the calendar year, 1925. During these 12 months there were 2,713 accidents on Canadian railways, in which 273 persons were killed and 2,855 persons injured, as compared with 2,936 accidents in the previous year in which 316 persons were killed and 3,254 persons injured. Classified these casualties, there were six killed in 1925, as against 17 in 1924; 76 employees killed, as against 107; and 190 others killed, as against 195. Crossings protected by some means amounted for 76 killed in 1925 and unprotected crossings took a toll of 294 killed and 1,161 injured.

During 1925 there were 153 fires originating within 300 feet of the railway lines, and these fires burned over 57,450 acres, destroying forest property valued at $210,900 and other property valued at $77,300. There were 26 public sittings of the board last year.

Immigration Rush Begins

The week of March 7 saw the real opening of the spring rush of immigrants to Western Canada, when the Canadian National Railways transported to their various destinations over 1,000 new citizens from the overseas ships at Montreal and Quebec, to Winnipeg by special third regular trains and thence to their final destinations on prairie farms, and in British Columbia.

Professional Nurse Loud In Her Praises

Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills She Was Relieved of a Weak Back and Rheumatism

Mrs. E. Emmeau Now Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to Any of Her Patients Who Suffer with Kidney Trouble.

Edinburg, N.B. — (Special) — "I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly to anyone. I have suffered a great deal with a weak back and rheumatism. I used a lot of doctors' medicines but they did me no good. I could hardly lift a patient alone. I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills; used a number of boxes and soon got relief. I often thank the good friend who gave me the advice about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was very much pleased that I did so as it gave up my profession of nursing. I am bound to praise them for relieving me and will always recommend them to any of my patients who suffer from the same trouble as I did. I am very thankful to write this testimonial for Dodd's Kidney Pills."

This letter comes from Mrs. E. Emmeau (nurse) of Lansenburg, N.S., and tells of the benefit to be derived through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The British Empire

The British empire includes over one-fourth of the land area of the earth, and about one-fourth of the world's population. That is to say, it contains about 462,000,000 people. Of these 58,778,000 are of British stock.

Estimated Per Capita Wealth Of the Three Prairie Provinces Higher Than In Other Parts

While the national wealth of Canada was estimated in 1921 at $3,825 per capita, the estimated per capita capital wealth of the prairie provinces is placed at $2,286, an increase above the average of $771, according to a recent report of the Dominion bureau of statistics which outlines the necessary data to treat the three prairie provinces of Canada as a separate unit. Of the total per capita prairie wealth, agricultural wealth made up $1,946, of which $1,871 represents the farm value of land, buildings, implements, machinery and live stock.

This wealth was distributed among the 1,354,082 inhabitants of the prairies, the bureau estimating that by 1923, the figure had risen to $3,555,000. The population was engaged in the cultivation of 44,966,794 acres, of which 215,581,000 is arable land and 57,031,000 was under cultivation in 1921.

With these figures as a basis, the bureau states that the total value of production of the farms of the prairies was $946,000,000 in 1920, which, after making deductions for depreciation and maintenance of the agents of production, resulted in a per capita income for the prairie inhabitants of $433.

A survey of production in 1923 shows the provinces to be fundamentally agricultural. More than 91 per cent of Saskatchewan values were obtained from farming, while in Manitoba and Alberta the proportions were 83 per cent. and 81 per cent. respectively. Mineral production held second place in Alberta, coal mining, of course, being chiefly responsible for this. In Manitoba and Saskatchewan manufacturing was second in importance

Canada's Baby Production

Nearly All the Provinces Show An Increased Output

There was an increased production last year of 2,128,566 lbs. of butter and 11,241,114 lbs. of cheese in Canada as compared with that of the previous year. All the provinces excepting Ontario, which showed a decrease of 12.5 per cent., show an increase in butter, Saskatchewan leading with 21 per cent. or 1,000,000 lbs. Alberta, which shows a decrease of 12.5 per cent., above an increase of 17.7 per cent. All the provinces show an increase in cheese, Prince Edward Island shows a decrease of 2.4 per cent., and Alberta 19.9 per cent. All the provinces show increases, Quebec of 23.4 per cent., Manitoba of 28.3 per cent., Saskatchewan of 33.3 per cent., New Brunswick of 18.1 per cent., Ontario of 4.8 per cent., British Columbia of 2.3 per cent., and Nova Scotia of 1 per cent. These figures are taken from a recent issue of the News Letter published by the Canadian dairy and cold storage branch. The commissioner requests all cheese factories and creameries to send in statements annually of production to him at Ottawa for compilation and publication in the News Letter.

Pasteurization In Dairying

Efficient Pasteurization Assure a Safe Supply of Milk.

Inefficient methods of pasteurization have a bad effect on the dairy industry by giving the public a false sense of security, according to a new bulletin on pasteurization of milk, cream and dairy by products, issued by the Dominion department of agriculture. On the other hand, efficient pasteurization assures the safe supply of milk and other dairy products, delays the souring of milk and improves the flavor and keeping quality of butter The bulletin, which may be obtained from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, describes in detail the best methods of pasteurization for use in cheese factories and creameries.

For Seeding Time

Dates, Rates and Depth of Grain Sowing in the West

Three things are particularly worthy of consideration about this time, particularly in west, are the dates, rates and depths of seeding wheat. Experiments covering all three have been made at the Brandon, Manitoba experimental farm. Regarding the first, the dates, it would appear that except in abnormally early seasons the last two weeks in April and the first in May about suit the case and that after May 10 or 12 the prospect of good yields are lessened. Relative to the rates of seeding, an examination of the results of the experiments for the years 1918 to 1923 inclusive, would indicate that the best rates were the less seed the better yield, three-quarters of a bushel per acre being the best rate. Relative to depth, 2 inches per acre and 1½ bush of 2½ bush to the while 2½ bush brought 21 bush., and two bushels 25 bush. 26 lbs.; the above experiments would bring out about earlier maturity. As to depth of sowing, two or three inches gave the best yield, but it is a matter depending on the kind and condition of the soil, although under most conditions the shallower sowing would be found satisfactory in results.

Flour Exports

Value of Shipments Show An Increase Over Two Previous Years

The value of flour shipments for the twelve months ending with January still show an increase as compared with either of the two previous years. The quantity of flour shipped was smaller than for either of those years. The total was 10,166,926 barrels, valued at 72,894,819, against 11,229,374 barrels worth $68,458,604. Figures for exports to Great Britain show that that country is importing approximately the same quantity as last year, but there is a slight falling off in the case of shipments to the continent of Europe.

Wealth of Osage Indians

The Osage Indians are the richest per capita people in the world. Each year received more than $20,000,000 in oil and gas royalties and this sum was equally divided among 2,229 head rights or beneficiaries, each receiving more than $12,000 in cash or certificates of investment. The shares this year are expected to reach $13,000 each.

Vegetable Growing On the Prairies

Many Reasons Why the Farmer Should Cultivate a Garden

The soil and climate of Western Canada are particularly well suited to many kinds of vegetables and there is no reason for a scarcity of these vegetables in any farm household that most of the counties in some bulletin of the Dominion department of agriculture contend. The Prairie Provinces' vegetables garden, the contents point out, offers opportunities for growing a good farm garden which not only does not demand special equipment but which can be made to produce such a garden attractive in appearance and handy to the home. The soil and water conditions are favorable to commercial truck gardening and the possibilities for supplying our own markets are limitless. Besides the value of vegetables consumed in the home, the Department of Agriculture claims almost all communities could find a profitable market for surplus garden crops. The bulletin which may be obtained free from the department of agriculture, Ottawa, or agricultural representatives in the provinces, contains many other points of interest to farmers who desire to start a garden.

British Farm Boys

Greece Settlement Board in England Would Send Boys to Canada

British farm boys are to be sent to Canadian farming at the Alberta settlement colonies will be obtained this year if the committee of Greek's scheme to settle 1,000 families on 160 acres and 1½ bush of 2½ bush to the while 2½ bush brought 21 bush., and two bushels 25 bush. 26 lbs.; the above experiments would bring out about earlier maturity. As to depth of sowing, two or three inches gave the best yield, but it is a matter depending on the kind and condition of the soil, although under most conditions the shallower sowing would be found satisfactory in results.

Hon. George Handley, minister of agriculture, received an inquiry from the empire settlement board in England as to whether or not the province would be willing to take immigrant boys are brought over for practical training in farm methods, will be reserved for another season. A further supply of British boys could be secured, it is estimated, if the plan can be continued here

New Variety Of Field Peas

Experimental Farm at Ottawa Introduces the Golden Vine Field Pea

The introduction of a new and valuable variety of field pea, which "may be found to be one of the best yet tried" Marquis has meant to the growers of wheat in the west," is announced by the Dominion experimental farms system. The new variety is a sub-cition from a cross made at Ottawa between a variety of Mandarin and another called Black Eye Marrowfat. On the average for the past five years at the central experimental farm at Ottawa, this new variety, known as Golden Vine field pea has yielded over ten bush els more per acre than the well known variety called Arthur

B.C. Wool Production

Wool production in British Columbia during 1925 recorded a remarkable increase over the output of the previous year. The total quantity of wool pounds were shipped by the B.C. Wool Growers' Association, while for 1925 it is estimated that the figures reached 176,000 pounds.

Feeding Chickens

Proper Methods For Care and Feeding Are Described

When a baby chick is hatched it needs warmth and rest, but no food until it shows positive signs of hunger, which will be two or three days after hatching. Proper methods of feeding are described in detail in a new bulletin on poultry feeds and feeding issued by the experimental farms service and distributed by the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. According to the bulletin where the chicks are confined to their brooding quarters they should be some coarse sand or grit and fine oyster shell sentinced where they can have free access to it. For the first week after feeding is begun, the shelled receive dry mash five or six times a day, and then the should be given small quantities of grain and green feed. A good rotation for this period consists of one part each of shorts middlings, cornmeal and oat flour, half a part of fine bone meal and a little fine table salt, about ½ to ¾ of one per cent. If there is no bone in the mash, a dish of sour skim milk may be substituted for an equal amount of meat meal

Every poultry shelf is provided when mash is fed fresh clean sand and water, which should be renewed often. Care must be exercised to see that grit is not fed in excessive amounts and developed some other green food is necessary

After the first week or ten days the moist mash may be given twice a day, fertile eggs, shells and all, or raw liver run through a meat chopper, or cooked lean meat and liver dry mixed with the dry mash mixture, the moist mash being gradually replaced with mash moistened with milk. If regular maturity is desired, the moist mashes may be kept, up after the chicks are put on the range, otherwise they are discontinued

Scale, sour mash will put chicks off their feed, therefore, the sweet mash feed should be such that it will be cleaned up in a few minutes. If too much mash has been fed, the surplus should be removed Once chicks go on the range they can be reared with very little labor, if developed on the colony plan of chopper feeding. A clover field besides a corn field or an orchard make an ideal range.

Education

These being but a knowledge of the world situation in this regard, both as Canada and outside it, contributed advice to the Dominion to decrease their energy in other fields and the production of wool. Water to the use of sheep in the Province of Alberta, which has been one of the most successful in Canada in the production of wool, the station, said in part: "Sheep will be found to have no parasites."

Canadian authorities on the subject such as the president of the Canadian Wool Growers' Association, and the president of the Canadian Commission Agents' Association, and the Dominion Government have all urged upon the people the necessity of increasing the production of wool, and the possibilities for the industry in this country. It has been more significant that the position of Canada has asserted of late of the awards for sheep at the Empire Exhibition and made a distinct success of sheep at the 1925 Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, speaking at the latter exhibition Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, Dominion Government, pointed out that the production of sheep in Canada was not keeping pace with the increase in population, and that Canada was not keeping pace with the increase in population, and that Canada was not keeping pace with the increase in population, and that

Canadian Coal For Canada

Canadians see violence and dream dreams of a good time coming when the $40,000,000 that go out of Canada for the purchase of coal in the state of Pennsylvania shall be kept in Canada and Canada's anthracite coal bill could be divided—40,000,000 for Nova Scotia coke and $40,000,000 for Alberta coal—Dominion British Weekly.

The worms that infest children from their birth are a source of misery to those that find lodgement in the stomach and bowels. They rob the child of its intestines. The latter are the most destructive as they cling to the walls of the intestines and if not interfered with work havoc there. Miller's Worm Powders dislodge both kinds, and while expelling them from the system serve to repair the damage they have caused.

In Swing With The Mode

The three coat is the newest mode of the season, interested in Paris and accepted with enthusiasm on this side of the water. Here is a little model in very last word in smart, swagger lines and material. It is necessary to have a wrap in which utility and appearance are combined in these days of wide travel and of varied activities in social life. Fashioned of tweed in tones of tan and brown, the belt is carried and falls in soft ripples from the shoulders. The collar is convertible and long revers fasten in single-breasted fashion with two buttons. Deep patch pockets have a tab trimming, and narrow cuffs finish the set-in sleeves. No 1912 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 36 bust requires 3¾ yards 39-inch, or 2¾ yards 54-inch material, with 2¼ yards 36-inch lining material. Price 20 cents.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 11

THE STORY OF CREATION

Golden Text: In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. (Genesis 1:1)

Lesson (Genesis 1:1 - 2:3)

Devotional Reading. Psalm 33:1-9.

Explanations and Comments

I. God the Creator, verse 1. The first verse of Genesis is the summary, and the remainder of the chapter the detailed account, of creation. There are three great thoughts in our text. (1) That the world did not come by chance, it had a Creator, God. (2) That God had a purpose in the creation of the world; (3) That the process of creation culminated in man, and God's purpose for him was that he should be in the image of God.

In the beginning, God. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. (Ps. 90:2). In the familiar words of Watts:—

Before the hills in order stood
Or earth received her frame,
From everlasting thou art God
To endless years the same.

Each thoughtful study of the opening words of Genesis but leads one to say with deeper meaning, Reverence, O reverence that name, the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth."

II Primeval Chaos, verse 2.—And the earth was waste and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. "The Hebrew words are an alliterative description of a chaos in which nothing can be distinguished or defined" (Professor J. R. Driver). Chaos is absence of order; darkness absence of light. The deep is not the sea, but the primeval mass of water thought of as enveloping the formless earth. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. Was brooding upon. In the marginal rendering of the Bible.

Externally or internally, it is Good, when applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissue, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will relieve afflictions of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

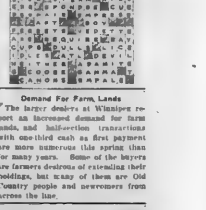
That Stomach of Yours!



—Michelthwaite Studio

Toronto, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the very best medicine any one can take for stomach trouble and to build up the blood," writes Mrs. Peter Sargent of 76 Cornwall St., Toronto. (Int. (Picture above.) "I suffered all the time from stomach trouble. My food did not digest properly, would set heavy on my stomach, causing me to suffer great distress. Food did me no good. My blood was impoverished and I did not have enough. But, after taking Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my digestion was good and my trouble was at an end so far as my stomach and blood were concerned. The food I ate nourished my body and soon my blood was in a good healthy state."

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

WOULD LOWER CUSTOMS TARIFF ON AUTOMOBILES

Ottawa.—H. H. Coote Progressive, Macleod, Alberta, moved in the House of Commons his resolution that there should be a substantial reduction in the customs tariff on automobiles and motor trucks.

Mr Coote submitted that owing to the lack of transportation in Canada especially in the west, Canadian farmers should be able to buy more motor trucks and automobiles. Canada he said, really ought to have more auto vehicles per head of population than the United States seeing as the ratio was lower in Canada. They could be only one reason why it was lower, he said That was the high price of autos.

In the west, the average distance which a farmer has to haul his produce was two miles. Those who had much farther than this to take their products before they could be shipped to market, were sorely enabled to pay a considerable part of the year's income for the use of their cars. He estimated that incidents of the customs tariff alone added $300 to the price of every car in Canada. Besides this there was the sales tax. Canadians also paid, on imported cars, United States excise duty of 5 per cent. Out of this taxation Mr Coote said, Canada received an entirely unfair burden of cost on the people who purchased autos. So far as the revenue was concerned he said, a car was becoming a necessity and should not be taxed as if it were a luxury.

Almost everywhere one went there seemed to be a demand for reduction in the tariff on automobiles Mr Coote said.

Mr. Coote compared the policy of the two banks—Motor cars to show that increase in the Canadian price was from 38 to 42 per cent over the American price.

The American manufacturer was taking advantage of the tariff If you bought a car made in Canada the tariff went to the American manufacturer, Mr Coote said. This tariff is imposed on the Canadian people for the American stockholder he said

Communists Reverse Attitude Toward Church

Anti-Religious Plays By Young Members Are Forbidden

Moscow.—Anti religious plays and evening parties by members of the Young Communist organization are forbidden under orders just issued by the central committee of that body.

The committee says that such affairs are directed against the church and are calculated to destroy the feelings of church people, especially in local minorities, and expressly hatred of the members of the Young Communist party by the peasantry.

The reversal of the attitude of the Communists toward the church is considered significant.

Keep Liquor From Youths

Tokio.—A nation-wide movement to prohibit the drinking of alcohol liquors by men under twenty-five years of age has been launched by eleven different bodies in Japan, including the Japan Temperance Union and the Women's Reform Association. Saskatchewan Egg Pool

Commences Operations Under Most Favorable Auspices

Regina.—With six candling stations opened at Hanley, Watrous, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Innisfail, and 175 receiving stations in some parts of the province, the Saskatchewan Egg and Poultry Pool has commenced operations.

Indoor arrangements at the stations have been completed and British financial arrangements are complete. Crates, cases, boxes, packing materials, cartons, cases and flats and excelsior pads have been delivered to the receiving stations. Also, all those will be used for transporting the eggs to the consuming markets. Reports and the grading system have been completed and the system of accounting has been installed. Some cases will be made from wood of a lighter nature, costing about twice a man.

It is expected that about 600 cars of eggs will be handled this season, estimated that incidents of the customs tariff alone added $300 to the price of every car in Canada. Besides this there was the sales tax. Canadians also paid, on imported cars United States excise duty of 5 per cent. Out of this taxation Mr Coote said, Canada received an entirely unfair burden of cost on the people who purchased autos. So far as the revenue was concerned he said, a car was becoming a necessity and should not be taxed as if it were a luxury.

For four years the light of The Record has now been shining forth, giving of its best in the interests of the business and social life of the town and district. This issue commences the fifth year of its career and we hope to keep it steadily improving, for to be self-satisfied is to be stagnant or worse. We have lost many verbal tributes made to us in this time, more tributes than known we are glad to say, but it takes more than kind words to pay the bills. Too many of the business people of the town are willing to accept the advantages of having a local newspaper so long as it costs them nothing for its upkeep.

Business is attracted by and is directed to those who have the wisdom to place their advertising in the homes of their prospective customers; the wise ones are aware of this and take advantage of it.

We are grateful to the contributors and advertisers who have assisted us in the past and hope they will continue to do so in the future.

There was a large gathering at the Union church last Sunday. Several members were given in a pleasing manner by the choir. It has been suggested that a choir should be formed as a permanent part of the church service. This would doubtless be welcomed in the district.

We would like to point out that the road from this district to the Fort is in bad shape and there seems no sign of any change for the better. Those well acquainted with the district, who happen to know just where these holes are, can stay in the car if they take a firm hold of the steering wheel, but it is for the benefit of the unsuspecting stranger who might strike the pieces unawares that we appeal most urgently.

INSTITUTIONS WELL HANDLED

The voluntary visiting committee appointed some time ago by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Health, to visit the institutions available for patients in the province, made its report to the Provincial last week. Generally speaking, the committee had high praise for the manner in which the asylums and goals were handled. Certain suggestions for improvement were made, at various points.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

EDSON R. WAITE, Secretary,
Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT if you read the advertisements of your local merchants you will find that merchandise can be bought as cheaply in your town as elsewhere, and in most instances you can actually receive more for your money than you can by buying from a catalogue or in a distant city.

THAT when you buy from your local merchants you can see what you buy before paying for it.

THAT when you buy at home you don't have to wait days and even weeks for the delivery of the articles you order.

THAT you don't have to order from a catalogue or some distant branch, but buy good merchandise. Your local stores carry big stocks of seasonable merchandise.

THAT money spent at home helps to build your town; money sent away from your home town helps to build some other city. You should have no trouble in making up your mind to be for your home town first.

THAT your local business concerns need your business; they should have it. They are your friends, your neighbors and a living part of your town.

THAT as business grows so will your town grow. As a loyal citizen, as a booster, as a builder you should spend your money at home.

DON'T LOOK ABOUND TO SEE WHO I AM TALKING TO. I AM TALKING TO YOU!

Through the efforts of the railway department, of the provincial government, an order has been issued at Ottawa granting to members of the Alberta Provincial Police the same transportation rates over railways as given to Dominion Police. This will mean a saving of several thousand dollars a year to the government, states A. Chard, traffic supervisor.

During the eleven months ending February 28, the ordinary revenues of the Dominion was $137,000,469 or an increase of twenty-nine millions over the sum of $108,044,207 for the corresponding period of the previous year. Ordinary expenditure is about the same as a year ago. On February 28 last it totalled $276,629,417.

Archie Gee, the good-natured chef on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia superintended the transfer of 1,000 cases of 50,000 Canadian fish eggs from Vancouver to Kobe. The shipment necessitated extremely careful handling. The eggs were packed in ice and had to be kept at an even temperature during the entire voyage.

The Dominion Experimental Farms system announced has the introduction of a new and valuable variety of field peas which may seem to the farmer that Arpath has much to the growers of wheat in the west. The new variety is a selection from a cross made at Ottawa between Mummy and Black Eye Marrowfat varieties.

Gross earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway during 1925 amounted to $111,356,096, as compared with $103,807,916 in 1924, while working expenses last year totalled $142,301,230 as compared with $140,647,914 in 1924, leaving a balance, after deduction of fixed charges, of $25,216 879 for 1925, as compared with $22,646,950 in 1924.

In an interview in Montreal recently, E. W. Beatty, president and chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that the National Conference of Edmonton, scheduled for Apri., would be of inestimable importance for the future of the Canadian people. Mr. Beatty is chairman of the Montreal Committee which undertook the organization and financing of the Conference.

Count Theo Hohenstein, one of the wealthiest men in Czecho-Slovakia, who arrived on the Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm recently, is to purchase a large tract of land around Calgary. Count Hohenstein, owner of large properties in Czecho-Slovakia, is well versed in scientific farming and came to Canada to verify reports concerning the great possibilities which await the right type of settler.

A party of twenty-five schoolboys, arrived at Montreal in March, under an arrangement between the Macdonald Agricultural College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and the Canadian Pacific Railway. At the college the boys receive a short training in the rudiments of Canadian farm methods and are placed in suitable positions on farms in the spring. As experienced supervisor devotes his entire time to see that the boys are well taken care of.

Extracting Helium From Air

British Firm Successful in Gathering Non-Inflammable Gas

Ever-helium, from the air has been extracted by a British firm. The company has employed a power station with a flywheel of huge dimensions, working in the atmosphere to be driven under pressure into the various gases.

Helium is regarded as the one non-inflammable gas available for inflation of dirigibles. It is said that one might place a lighted match in a vat of helium and the flame would be extinguished. In the case of child explosions, as in that of the R-38 in America, it is claimed that but for the non-inflammable character of his gas very life would probably have been lost in the following on the explosion that ripped the vessel.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Joanna, pretty, modern, shop girl about to be wed, finds her fiance has nothing but poverty and a desire for the luxuries of life. Her lips are lipstick red, her dress is short, her heart is short but her head is clean with all of her high ideals. She is unimpressed into the amour presence of Graydon, her employer. She is expecting to be dismissed.

CHAPTER II.

Into the Kingdom of Money

For a long time Graydon silently looked down upon the girl who had swayed into the chair. She, too, was silent, motionless. The letter he had given her with the small leather bound book, stood in her hand she held it before her, an arm resting across her knees. Her eyes stared at the typed lines. Now and again she closed her lids tightly, shook her head over an little, and peered her lids again, as if the words on the paper blurred before the fascination of her gaze and she had straightened them out by shaking the confusion out of her brain.

Once she let her hand droop, and kept her eyes closed, as if what might have been half a minute. Then, with a sudden haste that seemed as if she were clutching at a shadow that might didn't want to fade, she brought the paper closer and read each line again, in frantic haste. As Graydon watched her the wrath of something very tender, and inexplicable, hovered about his lips. Out of the depressing pattern of the exaggerated to be represented, the extraordinary objective "daughter of today," a new shape emerged. For the moment he forgot the man they were opposed on side his office doors: the headcum of bargaining in the great to his house. The girl faltered, and looked again at Graydon, who was watching her. The frown grew still wrinkled in her brow. Her eyes still grazed. "You see," she argued desperately, "I don't know what the liability of the dependent, nor as to his reasons for the instruction upon us to send distance his letter."

The girl faltered, and looked again at Graydon, who was watching her. The frown grew still wrinkled in her brow. Her eyes still grazed. "You see," she argued desperately, "I don't know what the liability of the dependent, nor as to his reasons for the instruction upon us to send distance his letter."

Graydon pushed to the paper shaking in her trembling fingers. She read for him the closing paragraph:

"We are sending you through your employer your bank book with an allotty of your account. You are pleased to understand that Mr Graydon will amplify certain remarks included above. We trust."

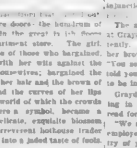
Her voice drained off through the perfunctory assurances of advice and assistance. When she raised her eyes Graydon had dropped into his chair, across the table from her. She looked at him blankly.

Graydon spoke deliberately, choosing his words, as if conscious of his need to penetrate the understanding of the girl whose mind struggled against a portent that overwhelmed her.

"You may accept such sentences with complete confidence," he said. "Your money is there, ready for you. Investories, at the rank, my own ear is waiting to take you, and your bank book, to the bank." There you will sign your name, just a scratch of the pen, and it is done."

He paused, and his fingers again played with the jade paper weight. In that slight pause Joanna—the Joanna of the philosophies were truths to many wisdoms—thought she saw the thing that, for the time had been driven from her thoughts.

"She was right, after all! Only, it hadn't come in the way she expect ed. A pretty little play, with all its elaborate stage setting! A million dollars! A new kind of surprise made by her uncle who thought she would n't be 'wise' in time. A million liars; then, 'the rest'!" And then the pompous gift of money revalled as unthinkably as it had been craftily given! Ridiculous!"



"Tell me," she pleaded, "What is it they're doing to me?"

The "Old Man," forgetting for the moment the fluctuations in the price of Manchester cotton and the seasonal demand for Highland plaids, pictured her as a rhododendron suddenly bewildered by a beam of sunlight breaking through a mist.

And then Joanna looked up at him. Doubts and confusion had gone from her face. It was lit with the taunting smile of one who had solved a fiddle riddle. "Somebody's a doctor. Who's crazy, you or I?"

Graydon shook his head. "It's all very real, Joanna! You cease in to me a white ago, a little lady of very small estate. When you go out again, you will be a veritable princess in a house of money!"

Joanna crumpled back in her chair. She brushed her forehead with the back of a hand.

"Please, Mr. Graydon," she pleaded. "Don't make a fool of me."

The earnestness, the seriousness of the man who confronted her puzzled and caused suspicion. My face was disfigured and caused much suffering.

Mrs. Dayman Gives Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the Credit

Colborne, Ontario.—"When I was first married I was very thin and weak. The doctor said I was weak and would never be able to have a child, but I did, and from the time my baby came on I suffered all the time and doctored and took medicine. Life became a burden, and doctoring was no use. Then I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and so I told my husband that I thought I would try it, that I might get some relief.

I had not taken one bottle when I could feel it helping me. I took five bottles and had better health. Now I have three girls and a boy and have done my work up to confinement. I am now at the Change of Life and owe my good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I take a bottle when I think I need it."—Mrs. Susan Dayman, R. R. No. 6, Colborne, Ontario.

Sold by druggists everywhere.

Joanna dropped the letter to the floor and rose. Her lips set into a line that was out of place against their petulant contours.

"Mr. Graydon," she exclaimed, "I thought there'd be a catch in it. What's the trouble?"

"Nothing at all, Joanna," he said with a smile, as if he suspected a little heterodoxy in the girl's commandments and said: "Who ever said there was any other fee for the catch in it?"

"There are no obligations," he said with a shrug, his words slowly. "The stipendiary gift is yours without conditions. Is that the word you would have me use, conditions?"

Before this rebuff Joanna again was powerless. Graydon went on: "You may not even ask a question. In return you will be asked to make it possible that you shall never know the name of your benefactor I know his reasons. I know the motives that I may not reveal them to you. I am sorry, and I regret you will have a little trust in me that you need have no trouble and that there is nothing unpleasant about your money."

Joanna sank to her chair. "You mean" she pleaded "You mean that I'm not to know—that I don't even know—has made me rich and that I won't have to—that he won't ask of me anything?" She could see by her reasonings, her wisdoms, her safeguards were beaten away as if they were flimsy things. Graydon and Grey-Dugdale—whatever happened her benefactor—the profits in Lennox left her helpless.

"You will not be asked to give—anything!"

The office door opened. Graydon looked behind his broad shoulder and the secretary entered—the strangely soft man named, unobtrusive girl in whom Joanna had first seen utter inattractiveness, but who had caused her to wonder, after a bit, if her own lips were not a little too colorful.

On the girl's arm was Joanna's wrap and in her hand was Joanna's hat. It was the same fur wrap Joanna had considered to be in direful need of the pawnshop when Graydon summoned her from the silk counter presumably to her dismissal for some unknown offence. The hat was the one still unpaid for.

Stomach Troubles

Numerous Causes Responsible For Serious and Often Fatal Disturbances

Though it is true the majority of us have at least one of these ailments, results in personally unpleasant consequences comparatively few are aware that the immediate causes are responsible for serious and sometimes disturbances of the process of digestion. An inactive and brain dull liver frequently is the source and one internal damage that will an entire day's work. Just how to correct these troubles is a matter of importance to many people. Many have proved to their satisfaction that a long-felt want of not only relieving but also fully restoring the balance of the digestive system. It is to be hoped that a sufficiency of such medicine can be secured to adequately relieve Canadian sufferers. Information concerning these popular medicines can be obtained by applying to Mr. F. Three Things Determine Whether the Price You Pay for Your Automobile is High or Low -

CHECK VALUE FOR VALUE

Check the value in the car you buy on the basis of the advertised f.o.b. price. Chevrolet quality, power, appearance, easy riding, dependability and economy provide the reasons why over 2,000,000 people bought Chevrolet cars.

INVESTIGATE THE CASH DELIVERED PRICE

The purchaser of any automobile pays for freight, tax and handling charges. Chevrolet's low delivered price includes these charges—there is no padding.

CHECK TIME FINANCING CHARGES

The financing charge when buying a Chevrolet on time are the lowest in the world. And these minimum charges include financing and fire and theft insurance. No other charges—no side notes to be signed.

Because of Chevrolet's low cash delivered price and the lowest of financing charges, you obtain the greatest value at the lowest cost, whether you pay cash or buy your CHEVROLET on the GMAC Time Payment Plan.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN HORTICULTURAL AND FORESTRY ASSOCIATION

An organization to be known as the Fort Saskatchewan Horticultural and Forestry Association was created at a public meeting held in the Town hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. R. O. Jones occupied the chair.

Miss Reeves, of the Edmonton H. and F. association, gave an address on the work and objects of that association and also gave what explanations were necessary during the lantern slides. Messrs. Geo. Buchanan, A. Kendall and Rice Sheppard, officials of the same organization, also spoke on the work already done in Edmonton and in various parts of the province, and of the plans in contemplation.

Following a suggestion by Mr. Rice Sheppard that organization should be made right there and then, it was moved by Mr. Augustine, seconded by Mr. Montgomery—that a horticultural society be formed in Fort Saskatchewan.

The motion carried and in the election of officers which then took place the following were elected:

President—Mr L. B. Augustine.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. G. T. Montgomery.
Sec-Treasurer—Mrs. Lord.
Executive—Mrs Jones, Dr. Turner, W. A. Graham, W. A. Dubue, W. D. O'Keefe.

It was moved by Mr Montgomery, seconded by Mr. Augustine,—that the fee be $1.00

It was decided the name Fort Saskatchewan Horticultural and Forestry Association be adopted.

Mr. Montgomery moved a vote of thanks be tendered the visitors from Edmonton for their invaluable assistance, to which these present heartily expressed their endorsation.

FORT TROOP BOY SCOUTS FATHER AND SON BANQUET

About seventy were seated at the Boy Scout father and son banquet held in the Memorial hall Tuesday evening. Lashings of good things were provided and son had to go some to tuck away more than Dad. Ample provisions had been made for the feast by the following committee of ladies, who also attended personally on the wants of the fortunate boys of all ages: Mesdames Stuckey, M. B. Wright, Thesne, O. Flintoff, E. Flintoff, Hurlbut, E. S. Taylor, Goodrum.

At the conclusion of the meal, Lord Rodney, honorary president of the Fort troop, was asked to take the chair. Upon doing so, he in a few remarks divulged the interesting information that he was one of the first hundred to join the Boy Scouts when they were first organized in England, the birthplace of the movement, and that he was one of the first twenty patrol leaders and was in the first Boy Scout camp. He said he had always retained his interest in the Boy Scouts and expressed a desire to have the boys out to his farm for an outing some time during the summer.

Rev. Pocock was called upon and during the course of a short, impromptu speech submitted some splendid advice to fathers with regard to their sons.

Rev. Hoffman and Mr. Lord also spoke, and Rev. Wright made toasts to "The King," and to "The Scoutmaster." Scoutmaster Lamoureux briefly replied to the latter toast and a programme in which Mr. G. A. Dawson, Scouts Glen Adams, Arthur Adams, Hurlbut, Kingsley and Grubb contributed brought to a close an evening long to be remembered by those present.

Stop The Flood

The problem of erecting an effective dam to stem the flood of United States publications, already large and steadily rising, pouring into Canada and unwilling to Americanize our social thought, national ideals and politics, has for some time occasioned serious consideration on the part of Canadian publishers, and is now giving concern to people who are in no way identified with the publishing business.

A large section of the Canadian people not strongly opposed to restrictive policies based on this positive principle, while others dislike the idea of placing a bar on the free interchange of reading matter and all are more or less averse to the adoption of any policy which might be interpreted as an unfriendly act, would not desire to interfere. But, as pointed out in last week's issue of this column, the situation has become a very serious one not only to Canadian publishers, but to Canada as a national entity.

Prohibition of United States publications is not to be thought of, except in the case of those which constantly fly the banner of hostility to Britain and their blatant attempts at sensationalism to usher the appetites and appeal to the pocketbooks of their readers. The United States should itself place a ban on these, and it falls to do so there is no reason in the world why Canada should not protect itself by taking such action. Such publications are not necessary to any people. They serve no good or useful purpose, and are wholly harmful.

A campaign is certainly advanced and now being widely discussed is that, while not placing an obstacle in the way of United States papers and magazines carrying Canada, a tax should be imposed on the advertising matter contained in them. Canada is used as a "dumping ground" for these magazines and papers largely for the purpose of increasing circulation, thereby boosting advertising rates and revenue for the publishers and providing an avenue through which United States manufacturers and others can attract trade by place their wares before the Canadian public. These magazines are sold in Canada at a price considerably below the cost of production, and some of them are carried annually by the Canadian post office department at an actual loss to the Government.

That these American publications are circulated in Canada solely in order to obtain additional distribution of these advertisements is fairly well demonstrated by the fact that in their literary contents little or no attempt is made to cater to the views and tastes of Canadian readers. They are "American," in the United States acceptation of that word, through and through.

Take for instance the current issue of one of the weekly publications which has a very heavy circulation in Canada. It consists of 240 pages, 12 inches long and each page weighs over a pound and a half. It retails for five cents, or less than the cost of the white paper. Of the 240 pages, 94 are devoted to reading matter and illustrations all, with the exception of the front cover, printed in black ink. The other 146 pages are advertisements, and 41 of these are full page advertisements printed in all the colors of the rainbow, and then some—reds, blues, greens, purples, browns, yellows, pinks, mauves and varying shades and combinations of these colors. In a word, this magazine is mainly an advertising catalogue, and a beautifully attractive one at that, of United States goods.

If all this advertising matter entered Canada as a catalogue, or as circular advertising matter, thousands of dollars would have to be paid on it in Customs duties, but coming in under the guise of a magazine it is practically duty free. And in addition the Canadian post office distributes a large percentage of it for a merely nominal sum. It would cost these United States advertisers millions of dollars annually to themselves print and distribute this matter in Canada.

Therefore, it is argued, and with reason, that while United States mags slazes should still be allowed free entry into Canada, a tax should be imposed on the advertising matter contained in them somewhat comparable to the amount that would be collected if such advertising was sent in as such and not as part of magazine.

The effect, of course, would be a decided decrease in the number of such publications sent into Canada because the publishers, having to pay this tax, would be obliged to sustain the loss, or increase their subscription price in this country to cover it, and circulations would automatically drop. But the tax did not have this effect, then it would at least increase our national revenues.

Canadians may naturally object to paying largely increased prices through Customs duties imposed on foreign-made articles they require to purchase, and on Canadian-made goods the price of which is advanced under cover of tariff protection, but they are not likely to object to a tax being placed on the advertising propaganda of United States concerns canvassing for business in the Dominion

House Adopts MacPhail Motion

Resolution to Produce Productive Work For Penitentiary Inmates

After brief debate the house at Ottawa adopted a resolution moved by Miss MacPhail that the administration of penitentiaries be amended to provide:

(1) Sufficient productive work to keep the inmates employed;

(2) That a share of the proceeds go to dependents, and in case of no dependents such share to be held in trust until release.

Miss MacPhail moved a similar resolution last session, but it was talked out.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe minister of justice, supported the resolution which was adopted without opposition and speedily.

Miss MacPhail explained it was her purpose to provide only for the proportion of profits needed by the Federal Government.

The resolution had been presented at last session and had received considerable comment she believed it would have been adopted if the 6 o'clock adjournment had not arrived too soon.

ALWAYS TRIED OUT

People Who Feel Like This Need the Help of a Tonic

The distressing symptoms of nervousness are a tonic that increases the strength and gives vigor to the system. That tells why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a real tonic. Thousands of men and women are filling today, not sick in bed, but without ambition to do a full day's work, though they are tired to keep on. They are always tired in nerves. The nerves will not awake in the morning unrefreshed. They have no backbone to the stomach trouble. Such people need the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The beneficial effects of this medicine are shown by the whole system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do more than relieve the symptoms—they remove them. E. Vinette, Postmaster, Tobold, Alta., has proven the value of this medicine and says:—"I can all cordially recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a Pale People. I was in a run down condition of the system. I have followed the printed instructions for a number of years and after a few weeks of help of trying means I take up the books and I am glad to say that I am now in the best of health. The pills also proved a great boon to my daughter at a trying age, and I have used them myself and also children their use in other cases." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Through Service For Steamship Passengers

Canadian Pacific Railway Inauguration Through Tourist Sleeping Car Service

For the convenience of western passengers enroute to the Old Country, the Canadian Pacific Railway have inaugurated a through tourist sleeping car service from Winnipeg to Saint John, N.B.

These cars will leave Winnipeg on "The Imperial" at 10.00 a.m. every Tuesday until April 20th, providing through service to the ship's side at Saint John.

This service will prove extremely popular with passengers from the prairie provinces, eliminating as it does, changing trains at Montreal.

Chicks, Deer and Cat Live Together In Kansas Zoo

Perhaps the queerest family group lives in the Arkansas City, Kans., park. A pet live Dixie, buck deer, sit chick cat, and a big yellow alley cat. At night the deer curls up in the shelter and the cat and chickens hover in close proximity absorbing as much heat from the deer's body as possible.

At feeding time the deer pushes his nozzle into the feed trough and then lets the chickens pick the bits of bran and grain from its face. And the cat has forgotten how to wash its face and hands. Dixie lives the cat a thorough tongue bath regularly.

Canada Now Occupies A Prominent World Position As Regards The Poultry Industry

With rather startling suddenness Canada has sprung to a prominent position with regard to her poultry and by industry. Prior to a couple of years ago Canadian birds had never been exhibited abroad. After showings at the International Poultry Congress in Spain and the British Empire Exhibition in England, no trouble was experienced in bringing about a unanimous decision to hold the international poultry show in the Dominion in 1927, for which preparations are now being made. At the same time, Canadian birds came into demand for the improvement of others, and they are now going abroad to the value of, at times, $50,000 a year. Within the past couple of months a consignment of ten cockerels, valued at $400, left British Columbia for Denmark, and a shipment of fifty Wyandottes went from Ontario to England, being consigned to the Dutch Government there.

Progress has been rapid and is still continuing. A great number of poultry is being kept on farms throughout the Dominion every year and the production of eggs is continually rising. Poultry in Canada totalled 48,132,949 head in 1925 as against 47,538,190 in the previous year, and the production of farm eggs was 274,178,867 dozens worth $57,950,240 as compared with 272,648,985 dozen worth $50,322,439 in 1924. The greatest progress is being evidenced in the western provinces where one of the tendencies in the movement of population from farm to agriculture has been a steadily increasing interest in egg and poultry production, and where a dependence upon imports in this regard has been changed to the engagement in a considerable export trade. Whereas three years ago Ontario produced one-half of poultry in the western provinces in 1919, there were more than 150,000 birds in 1925.

Western Canada, in particular, has been most progressive and successful in meeting the problems encountered with regard to poultry and eggs through co-operative organization. All the provinces have their own co-operative supervised systems of instruction and disposal. In Manitoba, through this co-operation, the province, which was importing these products as late as 1919, is now exporting voluminously to Eastern Canada and the United States. Poultry experts in Saskatchewan have also effected on the co-operative system, doubled between 1923 and 1924, and showed further increase last year in Alberta, which rapidly left its dependence behind it and now exports upwards of 60,000 cases of eggs annually to England, Scotland and other countries, a poultry and egg pool commenced operations in November last. Government marketing service stations have been established at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, where eggs candled, they are sealed, and graded, the shippers being sent 10 per cent of the value of the shipments

Canada and Japan

New Record For Foreign Trade Set Last Year

The annual report of the Japanese consul at Vancouver shows that the trade between Canada and Japan increased more than $5,000,000 during 1925, setting a new record for foreign trade between the Orient and Canada. The total volume of trade was $23,125,000, of which $15,163,778 was in exports from Canada and $7,963,029 in imports from Japan. The increase in exports alone was nearly $2,000,000 and in imports the increase was more than $1,000,000. Recent trade returns have been:—1924, $20,374,180; 1923, $27,735,824.

Lord Allenby On Canada

Says This Country Can Fill Every Conceivable Need For Human Happiness

"If I were thinking of emigrating I should look to Canada as a very desirable country to come to," said Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, during an interview on his recent visit to Ottawa, on his return from a visit to Australia and New Zealand. "If I were asked I should certainly advise them to Canada who considered emigrating to think seriously of it. I honestly appreciated," he continued, "the best that Canada can fill every conceivable need for human happiness. This I have found during my journey across the Dominion. The absence of labor troubles, the natural resources of the country, the agricultural and power possibilities make Canada an ideal country."

To Grow More Corn

Alberta Farmers Bringing in Large Quantities of Seed

There will be a big increase in the acreage planted to fodder corn and sweet clover this year in Alberta, according to the provincial department of agriculture. Farmers are already bringing in large quantities of seed for these crops. There will be several thousand acres in sweet clover, and the acreage, which last year was estimated at 70,000 acres, will probably pass the 100,000-acre mark this year, for the province as a whole, with the bulk of it grown in Southern Alberta.

Canada's Best Customer

Big Increase Last Year in Trade With Great Britain

United Kingdom purchases from Canada, during the twelve months ended in February totalled $560,000,000. This was $100,000,000 more than the United Kingdom purchased in the preceding twelve months from Canada, and $29,000,000 more than purchased to Canada by the United States.

On the other hand, Canada bought from the United States in the 12 months goods to the value of $697,000,000 as against imports from the United Kingdom valued at $162,000,000.

What They Can't Do

A small theatre was crowded among the artists of New York City when it became known that Ralph Adams Cram, noted architect of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, was employing foreigners to do certain work. Several American artists protested in person and statements to the daily press, and it was later discovered that one of the foreigners, by way of retaliation, had chalked on the largest bell cast for the cathedral, "You can make Fords, but you can't make these."—The Argonaut.

Beneficial Effect Of Grading

Exporters More Careful of Quality When Filling Orders

There is abundant evidence that the system of grading adopted in Canada is having a beneficial effect. In the first Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dominion dairy and cold storage commissioner, bears testimonial. He further says that improvement in marketing conditions has also aided in raising the status of butter and cheese. As regards barley, he mentioned that maltsters in the importing countries were now demanding the Canadian product in preference to that of other countries. In recent years grad ing has greatly extended and is now applied to the marketing of farm products, including grain, fruit, wool meat and eggs as well as butter and cheese.

Forests Provide Fibre Silk

Prettiest Fabrics Are Manufactured From Common Wood Pulp

Canadians need never worry about having clothes to wear as long as the country's forests last out, was the assurance given the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association by Prof. Harold Hibbert Mcgill University.

A number of years ago some scientific chemist found cotton was made of cellulose, slightly changed in a chemical way and also that common wood pulp was cellulose, another form of same substance and from that time time the scientists world had been displaying the prettiest fabrics and most diverse forms of apparel or goods that were nothing more nor essential than the wood they were made out of.

Artificial or silk fibre, known as merely a pure substitute of cotton, was simply nitro-cellulose coagulated into the finest thread, and as proof of this statement the speaker manufactured some of it before his audience. In answer to many questions the speaker said, the product would be constantly improved.

Britain Gives Best Demonstration Of National Honor That The World Has Ever Seen

Alberta's Mineral Production

Value of Production Increased Nearly Three Million in Year

The total value of the mineral production of the province of Alberta in 1925 was $15,005,218 compared with $12,246,990 in 1924 according to the preliminary report of the Dominion Bureau of statistics. Among the principal items of production during the year were coal, 5,967,913 tons valued at $19,910,948 oil, 109,483 bar grades, included in the package, the fuels value $754,877; gas, 4,366,321 M cubic feet value $2,700,000, cement, 395,567 barrels, value $913,539.

The most outstanding feature of the production for the past year was the vast increase in the output of crude petroleum. In 1924, Alberta occupied but an insignificant place in the production of oil in Canada, but in 1925 it suddenly took first place among all the provinces of the Dominion, producing more oil than all the others put together. The comparison of production shows that in 1924 only 944 barrels were produced with a value of $4,135, but in 1925, 109,483 barrels were produced with a value of $754,877. The rest of Canada produced 148,831 barrels which a value of $429,310.

An Enviable Position

Canada's Per Capita Wealth Only Surpassed By Britain and U.S.

In estimated national wealth in millions of dollars, Canada stands seventh on the list, higher than Australia, Brazil, Argentina and, in fact, higher than any of the newer countries save which surpass population and lively flow," Dr. D. A. MacGibbon, professor of political economy, University of Alberta, stated in a recent address at Regina. In wealth per capita in dollars Canada is only surpassed by the United States and Great Britain, standing at about $2,000. Only by a continuous drawing a surplus on current account, and is also among those countries having a favorable balance of trade is established its currency at par and to look the whole world in the face with credit unimpaired by the unfortunate American, regardless of refugee Irish ancestors or German extraction, must take off his hat to the most prominent exponent of national honor the world has ever seen."

Agitation in Glasgow For Revival of the Free Importation

Glasgow has taken the lead in the revival of the Free Importation at Canadian Cattle Association, which was disbanded about two years ago because it was thought the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle would result in largely increased shipments of cattle from the Dominion and which is being revived in consequence of restrictions yet remaining and disappointment in the shipments. An Albino Holstein

Something new in the way of bovine curiosities is reported in the Breeders' Gazette.

"I am testing for the Kilsworth Cow Testing Association in Pierce County, Wisconsin," writes Clarence Englemar. "At Henry Rohrer's farm I found an albino bull calf. It is absolutely white, with pink eyes, and is a grade Holstein-Friesian, born Jan. 3 1926. It is healthy and normal, except in color. The dam is a three-fourths grade Holstein Friesian, and the sire a seven-eighths grade Holstein-Friesian. Who knows of another calf like this one? I think it unusual as I have never seen one before."

To Advertise Canada Abroad

Special Canadian Supplement of the Christian Science Monitor

Why Canada needs at the present time more than anything else is advertising in those other countries at the world where there is capital look for investment and people looking for opportunities to get away from the building conditions and establish themselves where they will have a new chance in the new world.

This country has got everything that the surplus men and the surplus money of older nations may be looking for everything in the way of natural resources, and it is particularly for the investment of capital and for those landless people can acquire home-steads and set up estates pelsing communities.

The time is ripe for Canada to present her case to the world and in securing this foreign advertising to be by the special Canadian supplement to The Christian Science Monitor, which will be issued each month will do important service. There will be an issue of 250,000 copies, of which 100,000 will circulate in the United States, 50,000 in Europe and Australia and 100,000 in Canada, largely for mailing abroad. Toronto Star.

Engineer Evolves Aerial Train

Dirigibles Linked Together Will Have Speed of 100 Miles An Hour

An aerial train consisting of several dirigible airships connected has been evolved by a Detroit engineer. It is to be completed by June 1 at an estimated cost of $2,000,000. This big craft will have room and berths for 2,000 passengers and will be able to transport 2,000 pounds of freight and mail on each trip, according to the engineer. Departure from existing types in the plan of the inventor is equip the ship with wings, of which each side will have four. The theoretical speed of the train is 100 miles an hour.

The Best Medicine I Have Ever Taken

So Says Mr. Arthur Simmons Of Dodd's Kidney Pills

P.E.I., Man Used Them For Sore Back and Headaches

Miscouche, P.E.I. (Special) — For Backache and Headaches are caused by weak Kidneys, and that the right way to treat them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills to again shown by the experience of Mr. Arthur Simmons, a well known and highly respected resident of this place.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a great help to me and I am glad I started to take them for I had severe pains in my back and suffered with terrible headaches. I felt tired after I had taken the first box and now I am taking them all the time. They are the best pills I have ever taken."

The work of the kidneys is to strain the impurities out of the blood. It is necessary work if the body is to be kept healthy. It is a trying work, for the kidneys are constantly in contact with the refuse of the body.

THE BEGINNING OF SIN

Golden Text. For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive. I Corinthians 15:22.

Lesson Genesis 3:1-24.

Devotional Reading Psalm 1.

Explanations and Comments

The Temptation of Sin, verses 1-5.—Read The Historical Background. The story begins with the words, "Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which Jehovah God had made." The serpent is here the power of evil personified. It is Milton, not Genesis, that calls the serpent Satan. It is easy to see that the serpent is made the symbol of temptation because of its glittering eyes, tempting coils, stealthy motion and deadly fascination.

The serpent shows his subtlety in his first remark to the woman—whom he holds more susceptible than the man. Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of any tree of the garden?" Jehovah. The interrogation form is also exclamatory and is designed to arouse distrust in God by Shinarer gives the thought finely by translating it, "As, and so God hath said that you shall not eat the fruit of any tree in the garden?" and finds the range of the prohibition purposely exaggerated in order to provoke inquiry and criticism.

"The serpent is entirely incidental. No serpent from without can ever tempt a man unless there is a serpent of lawless desire within."

Mrs. Phebe Claus

Hamilton, Ont.—"I wish I were able to convey to every woman and young woman the value of Dr. Pierce's wonderful medicines and what they have done for me. I am the mother of six children and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was the only medicine I ever took during expectancy. I always got along fine, it kept me so well and strong that I was able to do my work right up to the last and I did not suffer with any of the troubles that come to most women at that time. Also I had very little suffering. My children were all healthy and strong and I regained my strength very quickly afterwards. SEES ENORMOUS ADVANTAGES IN HUDSON BAY LINE

Toronto (Ont.) Board of the Hudson Straits prove the means to navigation from Fort Nelson to Europe when some believe it to be the Hudson's Bay Railway can still be a profitable proposition, Senator G. B. Robertson former minister of Labor, has declared in an interview with the Star here. It will enable the iron ore deposits at Belcher Islands to be tapped and provide a route whereby that iron can be taken to the coal fields of Alberta be pointed out.

The iron ore deposits around Lake Superior Senator Robertson points out, are taken by water and rail to Pittsburg and the Pennsylvania coal field. A similar transportation plan will take Belcher Island iron to the coal fields of Alberta and make Alberta what she is destined to become, the industrial area of Western Canada.

Senator Robertson pointed out to the Star that should the straits prove too dangerous, wheat can be routed Europe via the Hudson's Bay Railway to Port Nelson, thence by the sea route to Moose Factory at the south end of James Bay and by rail to Quebec City, thence by steamer to Europe. Such a route would mean 200 miles shorter rail haul and 400 miles longer water haul than the Halifax and rail route via Port William.

Grain carriers from Port Nelson to Moose Factory, he said, would find return cargoes from Belcher Islands, which are rich in iron ore. Belcher Islands lie at the east shore of Hudson's Bay where is narrows down into James Bay. The return cargoes would travel via the Hudson's Bay Railway to the main transcontinental line and to the smelters in Alberta. In addition, the north Saskatchewan mines would be connected with short branches to the Hudson's Bay Railway and the ores be taken to Alberta.

Alberta Pacific Sold To Montreal Company

Business Will Be Carried On Under Old Name

Calgary.—At a special meeting shareholders of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company unanimously ratified the sale of the assets of the company to the Royal Securities Corporation of Montreal.

It is said the transaction involves more than six million dollars.

The purchasers of the assets will, it is understood, form a new company by the same name and continue the operation of the Alberta Pacific Company. It is stated that the present employees of the grain company will continue in their positions under the new ownership.

It is understood the transaction will be completed within the next few weeks.

Spillers, British milling interests, were among the principal shareholders in the Alberta Pacific, having purchased a big interest some time after they started their Canada venture.

Expedition Has Left For Dutch New Guinea

Party Led By California Professor to Seek Pigmy Tribes

Batavia, Java.—The expedition headed by Prof. Matthew F. Sterling, Jr. rheley, Calif., sailed for Sourabaya to explore the unknown interior of Dutch New Guinea.

"If pigmy tribes are in New Guinea we will find them," declared Stanley Gedney, historian of the expedition. He said the party hoped to bring back interesting material, not only for science, but for the world in general. "For New Guinea is the last of the really unexplored countries of the world."

An aeroplane will be used for flying over the jungles and mountains.

Will Fly Around World

Montevideo, Uruguay.—Major Larre Borges the Uruguayan aviator, has gone to Europe to purchase aeroplanes for the commencement of a world flight late in August.

The Uruguayan Government is sponsoring the venture.

Last Week In The Alberta Legislature

Outlet to Coast For Peace River Country Discussed

Edmonton.—A statement by Alberta's attorney-general that the Canadian Northern and Pacific railways had agreed to the principle of the construction of the Edmonton-Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway was greeted by the premier's house in the assembly.

The interest on the provincial debt owed to the railway, but without one penny, and the offers for bonded receivership from either of the transcontinental railways promised early building that which would relieve the provincial burden to be borne by the taxpayers. The announcement was made by Premier Brownlee in response to a question by an enquiry in the road bed laid by the Royal Banks. The bank had originally asked $2,500,000 for half of the interest on the provincial debt, but was willing to accept $1,500,000 for the whole. The offer was accepted by the government, however would not be completed.

Premier Brownlee considered that this road was a responsibility of the Dominion Government. Premier Markenzie King, prime minister, in session election, speaking at Edmonton, had declared that the province of a road outlet for the Peace River country was the responsibility of the Dominion Government policy. To construct a road outlet it would be necessary to build over the P. G. R. He considered it would be a blot on the history of Canada if the Dominion made provision for the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway without also providing the Peace River country with an outlet to the coast. Rather than approve the completion of the Hudson Bay road but said, "If you build the one, build the other." Immediately after the close of the present session of the provincial house, he and the minister of railways were going to Ottawa to urge this upon the Dominion Government.

In the meantime they would continue to press for their hearing arrangements with the C.P.R.

Disastrous Fire Sweeps Banff Springs Hotel

North Wing Destroyed and Loss Will Be Nearly $2,000,000

Banff.—A disastrous fire, which apparently broke out in the rotunda of the north wing of the famous Banff Springs Hotel, destroyed the wing, a four-storey structure, but the combined efforts of the town people of Banff, the large force of railway workmen and fire apparatus rushed from Calgary saved the south wing, and much of the valuable furniture in the section destroyed.

No estimate of the damage has been made by officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which owns the hotel, but it is believed it will be near the $2,000,000 mark. In addition to the complete destruction of the north wing, considerable damage resulted to the newer central section. A stone tower situated between the two wings acted as a barrier to the flames which at times threatened to sweep the entire building.

Immediate steps will be taken to rebuild the section destroyed and to repair damage to the central tower and other sections of the hotel.

Make Recommendations

Ottawa.—Representatives of railway companies made recommendations to Premier King and members of the cabinet including requests for restoration of the powers of the railway board, repeal of all age pensions, increase of exemption under the income tax, and elimination under the income tax, and income taxes.

British Diplomat Dead

Sir John Brown Noted For Achievements In Far East

London.—Sir John McLeary Brown, noted for his career in the British diplomatic service in the Far East a generation ago is dead at 82.

His most notable achievement in the field of diplomacy was the settling of diplomatic words with the Russian admiral, Alexieff, when the latter was forced to withdraw Russian troops from Korea to allow the peaceful financial annexation of that kingdom to Japan.

Sir John was a descendant of Ochterlony, who was governor of Malta and Gibraltar.

Brisk Demand For Farm Labor

Workers Coming to Saskatchewan From Manitoba, Alberta and B.C.

Regina.—A brisk demand for farm workers is reported from the district agricultural offices throughout rural Saskatchewan and labor is being imported from British Columbia, Alberta and Manitoba points almost daily. Up to March 1 this season a total of 542 farm workers have been brought in.

In addition, a large number of Scandinavian, Danish and English immigrants have been placed on farms for spring and summer work.

Physicians Test Out Combined Inventions

Possible to Get Accurate Record of Human Heart Beats

Chicago.—Physicians of Cook County (Illinois) hospital have combined two modern inventions—the radio electrocardiograph and the oscillograph—in an endeavor which they believe makes it possible for a physician to get an absolutely accurate record of human heart beats.

The stethoscope's function is to amplify heart sounds. Hitherto it was pointed out, every physician who had used had a different ear and even when the sounds were filtered, discrepancies in diagnosis resulted. The electrograph has been attached to the stethoscope in such manner that the heart beats are recorded mechanically thus doing away with a large amount of error.

Questions Use Of Mounties In B.C.

Matter Placed Before House by Conservative Member For Victoria

Ottawa.—Dr. F. Tolmie (Conservative, Victoria) in a question placed on the order paper of the House of Commons ask "Has the Government of Canada still before them its duty honestly for maintaining the R.C.M.P. in British Columbia, having regard to the fact that the customs officers are not able to deal with the contraband on the waterfront; also having regard that this work is also covered by the drug squads of the Vancouver and Victoria city police also by municipal police throughout the province, as well as the provincial police, which covers the whole province and has offices and large staffs in the principal cities of the province."

Big Development Plans

Company Will Spend Fifteen Million In Pin Flon Mining Area

Winnipeg.—A development scheme involving expenditure between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 will be launched in Pin Flon mining area of Northern Manitoba, as soon as a railway line is built into the area and boat for transport of ore completed, according to J. P. Watson, head of the Mining Corporation of Canada.

The plans of the company, Mr. Watson announced, provide for the establishment of a town site, erection of a smelter with a capacity output of 2,000 tons a day. It is also proposed to develop 20,000 horsepower on the Churchill River.

Chinaman Robbed By Thugs

Edmonton.—Accosted by two thugs as he was proceeding home, Wong King Yee, a Chinaman was assaulted and knocked unconscious after a severe beating up and robbed of a sum of $137.50 which he was carrying in his pocket at the time. The injured man also depicted the Chinaman of his overcoat and coat and vest.

Bright Outlook For Western Farmers

C.P.R. Survey Shows Agricultural Conditions Are Favorable

Winnipeg.—Agricultural conditions in Western Canada, according to a survey just completed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, are favorable on both. Fall wheat is almost with its top the average. Spring wheat acreage will be increased in the province of Alberta and Saskatchewan, according to the survey, and in Manitoba there is more spring preparation.

Acreage under crop in Canada approximated last year's acreage, the report states. By provinces the acreage is shown as follows:

Manitoba this year 3,000,000 acres, last year 3,000,000 acres.

Saskatchewan this year 15,000,000 acres, last year 15,000,000 acres.

Alberta this year 7,500,000 acres, last year 7,221,000 acres.

The acreage in Canada this year compared with 1925 is 36,000,000 acres, ago. The report adds that the acreage cultivated and to be cultivated by the end of spring sowing farmers are able to do.

ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSINATE ITALIAN PREMIER

Rome (Reuter Message).—A strong man of Italy was near to death April 7, as he emerged from the Chamber of Deputies. He had walked a few yards in salute to the plaudits of the multitude, when a woman pressed a pistol or two his face and fired.

At that very moment, Mussolini as is his habit, threw back his head and the bullet passed through his nostrils, and with a quick step forward of the Fascist premier put his hand to his face and drew a hand covered with blood.

His assailant, believed to be an Irishwoman, the Hon. Violet Albina Gibson, the 50-year-old sister of Baron Ashbourne a resident of Kensington, France, was seized by her bitter and dragged to a place of safety, for in an instant the bystanders had gathered to arrest the premier were in a frenzy of excitement and rage.

With Mussolini at the time, were Professor Roberto Alessandri, and the noted surgeon Professor Bastianelli and the rushed to his aid it was Bastianelli who dressed the wound and later he issued a statement, saying: The premier was wounded by a firearm, the bullet perforating both nostrils but without grave results.

Notwithstanding his injury Mussolini desired to enter his automobile but he was induced to return to the capital. He is perfectly tranquil, seemingly not thinking of himself, and was only anxious that no grave consequences among the people should arise from the incident.

I desire that the country be not alarmed," he explained. "I do not want reprisals. I am well."

Shortly afterwards as reappeared before the crowd who cheered him and would have carried him shoulder high Mussolini smiled and again gave the Roman salute, and then drove away with Alessandri and Thaon di Revel.

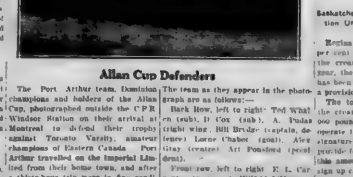
Dairy Pool Incorporated

Saskatchewan Has First Organization Under Co-operative Marketing Act.

Regina.—With an objective of 75 per cent of the butter-fat handled in the creameries of the province this year, the Saskatchewan Dairy Pool has been incorporated, and officers and provisional board of directors elected.

The total production of butter in the creameries last year was 16,000,000 pounds, and before the pool can operate it will be necessary to secure signatures of sufficient producers to provide for an output of one-quarter this amount, the closing date for the sign up campaign being set as November 20.

The Dairy Pool is the first body to be incorporated under the new Agricultural Co-operative Marketing Act.



Allan Cup Defenders

The Port Arthur team, Dominion champions and holders of the Allan Cup, photographed outside the C.P.R. station on their arrival at Montreal to defend their trophy against Toronto Varsity, amateur champions of Eastern Canada. Port Arthur travelled on the Imperial Limited from their home town, and after a thirty-hour trip were in fine condition for the crucial games, a sterling tribute to the smoothness of travel they experienced over C.P.R. lines.

The team as they appear in the photograph are as follows:—

A public gathering in the Fort the other evening opened with the singing of O Canada. There is nothing unusual about that, they all do, you will say, but to the observer it would have been something, if it had not been so disgraceful, to see such a fearfully large percentage of these present unable to sing the words. One would think that every Canadian would spend a few minutes of his or her time and memorize the words, even if it was only to avoid being ridiculous on an occasion of the kind.

On reading the minutes of the Fort Saskatchewan District baseball league last week we were mildly surprised to see they were going into the printing business. We refer to the section to collect ads for and attend to printing of schedules. The idea of these schedules who conceived by the writer two summers ago during one of those hot afternoon intervals when there was no income and expenses refused to go into a state of coma. We thought it an opportunity to honestly earn a couple of dollars or so and at the same time do the league a good turn. We took a chance, put in some good hard work and got repaid for it by the money helping to pay our bills.

If the league was in a bad way financially we could better understand their decision, but on their own statement they are in good shape. What then can be the motive for this blow aimed at the faithful ally of baseball and all other sports The Record has always aimed to be?

While it cannot be expected that everyone will be an out-and-out enthusiastic member of the Horticultural and Forestry association just organized in the Fort, it is reasonable to hope that those who are not will at least be interested. The association will benefit the town and all who live in it, helping as it undoubtedly will to make it a pleasanter place in which to live our time out on this planet, and it behooves us to give the association all the encouragement and assistance we are able to. Become a member if it is possible. If not, remember that assistance can often called upon to do so by the public-spirited citizens who have placed upon their shoulders the onus of much work to be accomplished and little hope for reward beyond the satisfaction of contributing a benefit to the interests of the present and future generations.

Thank goodness, pedestrians don't have to lose time changing gears when chafing a speeder.

THE COUNTRY PUBLISHERS' CAKE

(The Dufferin Leader, Carnduff, Man.)

Every now and then the publisher of "country weekly" newspapers are invited by pamphlet subscribers to exchange with the four, or six, or eight page newspapers they publish are higher in yearly subscription price than numerous forty, or sixty, or eighty-page "national" journals they may be familiar with. To readers of The Leader who have pondered this mystery and are sincere in their desire for information, and to those who are inclined to resent the apparent assault upon their purses in the recent increase of the price of this paper, the publisher desires to submit a few facts which, if not convincing to all, will be interesting to many.

Stating it frankly, the country newspaper publisher's difficulty lies in the fact that the reading public has been "spoiled" by the large publishing houses insofar as subscription prices are concerned. With them the subscription price is not regarded as a source of revenue; it is merely a nominal fee that must be charged in order to obtain benefit of postal rates. paper rates which weekly publications enjoy. The advertiser pays the cost. The publication of a monthly journal can scale afford to send their papers out free by the million copies, by reason of the advertising revenue they could obtain, were it for the postal regulations. As it is, they are satisfied to receive a subscription price which in many instances they regards as reasonable and which is not expected even to cover the cost of paper, ink and mail in the publication; it does well even to meet the postal charges at the special newspaper rates.

Immense output is also an important factor. Every man owning an automobile, for example, has a production means; if autos were built as newspapers are published—by thousands of independent firms, in small plants—there would be fewer cars by millions in one today.

Advertising revenue, mentioned above, is another factor to consider. Advertising has developed to such an extent in recent years that it has become a thing industrially like the third place in the list of industries in New York City for 1922. Seven thousand pages of the issue of a 32-page advertisement in a single issue of The Saturday Evening Post (covers and seven-page positions higher), the page being less than one-half the size of a page of this paper. The national woollies, with their hundreds of thousands of dollars to contract advertising in immense volume, which is not available to the country weekly paper, the latter character of which gains only local and therefore limited circulation.

Another instance of saving effected by quantity production is seen in cases of weekly editions of daily newspapers, where the bulk of the matter used is prepared for and used first in the daily edition; the weekly is a by-product.

In some of the foregoing do we mean to decry low subscription prices; we say let's get all we can for nothing, or next to nothing, but we say let us not allow our sense of values to become distorted.

The average reader will gladly pay, more for gasoline on a summer's day motor drive than he is asked to pay for a newspaper sent to him once a week for a year; the weekly work in a year takes the price of six to ten subscriptions; chewing or pipe tobacco's weight in quantity fifty-two weeks is equivalent to five or six subscriptions; and still we have those who cannot see two dollars value in their home paper in a year. The fact that eighty per cent. of the weekly newspapers in Canada quit for $2.00 a year is evidence, however, that the publishers of these papers are convinced that the investment of time and money involved in a newspaper production demands that the price be not lower than $2.00.

The average reader is fair valuation, based on the cost of producing it and in relation to its mechanism. If charges were made for boilers, etc., the subscribers paying for reading matter space and advertisers for advertising space on an equal basis, the price of subscriptions would be many times what it is.

Most readers will concede that the local newspaper is a worthy asset to to a community, vendering service that is secondary perhaps only to that given by church and school. The average individual considers his ob-

Sorta back on the leader and the choir, and they all deserve it.

Without a weak number on the programme it is natural there were some numbers which in our mind were outstanding, those were the choruses, ladies' quartette, male chorus, Portuguese Canadian, duet by Miss Jacqueline and Signor Juan Ortega Romagosa, and the oration of Louis Jaques Brutus over the body of Lucretia.

In view of the time and effort expended by the choir in attaining such heights of perfection and of the trouble and expenditure necessary to obtain such rich apparel, it seems a pity that it should be for one performance only. If a second performance could be arranged without any risk of loss we would advise anyone who was absent this evening to seize the next opportunity, if any, and our private opinion of anyone missing it would be small he-men can do "when good fellows get together."

Songs, instrumental music and stories rapidly following one upon the other kept the evening alive with incident. Comrade Melville and Mr. Hall were generous with their popular selections and the latter's old banjo comedian was a headliner, his contributions creating uproarious applause.

Spartan refreshments, cigars and cigarettes were served during the evening, and a most delightful time was brought to a close at the decorous hour of 11:45, to the regret of many. They cannot last forever, however, and this popular event will be repeated at some reasonably early date.

ALL CANADA SUPPLEMENT WILL TELL THE WORLD ABOUT CANADA'S PROGRESS

An All Canada Supplement is being prepared by The Christian-Science Monitor. This will be issued on April 18. At the present time, when much thought is being devoted by Canadians to the fostering of a true national and international spirit, this edition of the Monitor will be of real aid in this direction, besides telling to the world the story of Canada's progress and possibilities. The progress of the Province of Alberta in its relation to the Dominion as a whole will receive due attention in this supplement. Alberta's contribution to the cultural life of Canada, as well as its achievements in relation to agriculture and other industrial lines, being duly set forth.

MISS REITH'S ADDRESS IN-TERESTS WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Women's Institute of Fort Saskatchewan met in the Memorial hall at three o'clock Thursday afternoon, with a goodly number in the attendance. Miss Reith is a very pleasing speaker and of many years' service, in the native, and pictures to illustrate her stories of these far off lands.

After the meeting tea, sandwiches and cake were served in the buffet room.

ligation to the church on behalf of their local paper. Family at $60 to $100 a year at least; the school will cost him more than that. Then if a newspaper can perform any small service at all it surely can not be regarded as overpaid at $2.00 a year.

The remarks herein are not intended to be in any way a solicitation for charity; newspapers have been above that for a long time; if a paper does not give value for money it does not deserve its existence is not justified. The foregoing is merely a presentation in outline of the publisher's case, commended to the intelligence of fair-minded readers. If there is a case anywhere for charity, it is the individual who cannot afford to take a paper, and bless us if we'll refuse anyone a year's free subscription who will tell us now that we are overcharging him at $2.00 a year.

Messrs. Gillison, Robt. Gordon, Wilmot Alton, and Mesdames C. H. Flintoff and C. Gillison still represent the U.F.A. locals at the monthly convention of the Victoria provincial political association in aLmont, Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamon have as their guest their daughter, Mrs. I. Terhaisen, of Duchess, Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillison entertained at a jolly nine-table "500" last Thursday evening. Their lovely new home was thrown open to about fifty guests. Prizes went to Miss E. Kulak and Mr. Ed. Pearson. Refreshments were served by Mr. A. Osbaldeston and Mrs. Wilmot Alton. Mrs. Larson won first prize in ouchre which followed. Also on Saturday Mr. Gillison entertained the kiddies of the district to a "splendiferous" party where they had races, games, cake, jolly, h'everything' that goes to make a perfect day.

A meeting of the U.F.A. and U.F. W.A. was held at the home of Mr. J. Gillison, April 12. Owing to the fact that there was a large crowd present. The chief business was the selection of a candidate whom the local could support. After some discussion Mr. Hennig appeared to have the support of the majority of those present, but another matter taken up was the matter of binder twine to be purchased. It was finally decided that as the U. G.G. twine had given such satisfaction during the past few years an order should b placed for a similar quantity as was used last year.

The next matter was a debate: Resolved—that the tobacco habit is a greater evil than devotion to Bacchus. For the affirmative: Mrs. H. Rye, Mrs. J. Osbaldeston, Mrs. C. H. Flintoff. For the negative: Mr. Pomeroy, Mr. Gillison, Mr. Pearson.

The debate was on a subject which effected all more or less, and was unanimously decided on a split vote. The speakers were not given very long to elaborate their arguments and a little more time might have been given with advantage. The affirmative side was well prepared, and the judges decision was that Bacchus was in favor with a score of 6 to 3. The men were apparently exhausted by a long discussion on binder twine, and did not give of their best. We have never that at some future time they will demonstrate their ability to debate the ladies. The judges were Miss Carmichael, Good Hope, Mr. C. C. Porter, Partridge Hill, Mr. Smith, Tyson Valley.

Lunch was served in the early morning and everyone dispersed resolved that they would never stay up so late again—until the next time.

The sudden sight of the fine-looking girl had not afforded Joanna the chance to think. Before she had time to think, she had turned and was standing in the doorway of the office, looking at the girl who had come in. Joanna's first impression was that the girl was very pretty. Her hair was bobbed, and she was dressed in the extreme of fashion. Joanna noticed that her shoes were of the finest leather, and that her stockings were of the sheerest silk. Her coat was of the finest velvet, and her hat was a small affair of velvet and feathers. Her face was beautifully made up, and her eyes were large and dark. Joanna noticed that the girl was very much at her ease, and that she was looking at her with a frank curiosity.

The secretary had been standing at her desk, and had been looking at the girl with a look of surprise. Joanna noticed that the secretary's hands were trembling. Both waited until the girl in the chair quieted, her leather dress was still rising and falling with her breathing.

Then the girl spoke. "I'm looking for Mr. Graydon," she said. "Is this his office?"

The secretary moved toward her, then, and held out her hand.

Automatically Joanna drew the cloak around her slender body. Then she fixed her hat. Suddenly she turned, took a step or two again and stood out to him.

"But what am I to do—with the money?"

The man answered in the most curt and totally convincing manner that so completely baffled her: "That is one of the questions I may not answer. You must answer for yourself. Good-day."

The secretary would have comforted the girl, would have taken her arm and led her out into the store and to the street, but Graydon stayed her with a motion of his hand. As if that ever Joanna was to face, she must face it alone. Joanna groped her way across the office and the reception room. The secretary held open for her the door. For a moment she leaned against it. Before her eyes the crowds passed and hurried through the passage-way between the partitions of the cubbyholes on the right. Others moved to the swimmers in a whirlpool. She felt that Graydon had followed her and was standing behind her. Something she asked, her voice rising harsh above a whisper:

"Which way do I go?"

A long time it would seem Joanna at the shirts too short and Rupton red and tongue-tied and bashful. Even a little around when Graydon's hands ranged, she remembered him. Graydon's reply to her was not a question.

"I know that I intended that you should have the money. I have it. You will have it. Go to the bank. Tell them that I have sent you. Tell them that I have told you to draw a check for the amount. Do you understand?"

Joanna nodded. She had not understood a word that he had said.

"Then you will go to the bank. Never before, it seemed to Joanna had a carriage so long to go wherever it was headed for. Yet, really the chauffeur threaded traffic skillfully. Joanna's excitement turned suddenly to panic when she realized that her driver was holding his arm to ease her to the pavement, with the arched stone portals of the bank looming in front of her. A doorman respectfully to a sign from the driver. There was a brief word between them. The door man touched his cap.

"I am to take you to Mr. Eggleston's rooms, Miss," he said, with a deference which Joanna recognized at once. Eggleston, she understood was the man she was to see. The utterance of all spelled the name of Eggleston. She looked into the chauffeur's face and caught, there, a gleam of understanding that, after all, she was just a girl of the shops whose tinselled glory whose ornaments, airs and fashions were only gaudy imitations of the tasteful vogues of smart debutantes. She grasped at him as a friend.

"Tell me," she pleaded startling the stiff formalities of the driver of her employer's private car. What is it they're doing to me?"

The "Old Man's" chauffeur dropped his fingers from his cap and in the Motor Run On Charcoal

Fuel Cost Only $2.50 For Trip of 450 Miles
A Swedish built motor truck equipped with a charcoal-burning generator and carrying a load of two and a half tons, has completed a trial trip between Malmoe and Stockholm a distance of 450 miles. The total cost of fuel amounted to only 12 kroner, or $2.50.
Experiments with charcoal generators have been going on in Sweden for some time, and are still in progress, but it is claimed that the new truck is the first motor vehicle to be driven entirely by charcoal. Sweden has no coal of its own.

SIXTEEN YEARS USE OF BABY'S OWN TABLETS
Has Shown One Mother There is Nothing to Equal Them
A constant use of Baby's Own Tablets by their children has proven to thousands of mothers that they are without an equal for babyhood and childhood ailments. Among these is Mrs. (W. Jackson, R.R. 1, Gilford, Ont., who writes:—"We have used Baby's Own Tablets ever since our first son was born sixteen years ago. We find they relieve colds and the Tablets is the only medicine they recommend. Our baby is now over half a year old, is walking and talking and weighs 20 pounds. Baby's Own Tablets is the only medicine he has ever had."
Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely safe for even the newborn babe. They are free from opiates and narcotics and as a safe laxative or an effective relief for colds and thus relieve constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make baby healthy and strong.
You can get Baby's Own Tablets from your druggist or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

Little Helps For This Week
I will help thee, saith the Lord Isa xli. 14
There ran a whisper through the list of the congregation:
"Look up and fear not, do thy work and be busy"
Train nerve and sinew in the glad employ
Of simple souls that neither strive nor cry;
Drink happy draughts of love that will not clay;
Life shall not fail thee, for thy Lord is nigh."
When do we lift each other up? Must we gain a height first, or can we reach up our feebleness together in the hands that do offer us a mighty help from on high? Near-doing and near-living, and near-loving, these life particles make the great heaven, as the little polarized atoms of light, all magnetized one way, make the great blue in which the stars burn forever.

Nurse's Advice
Rid Her Of Pimples
Brooklyn Mrs. Minnie Frostem writes: "My pimples and black heads are so bad I cannot keep screens. I confided in a nurse friend of mine. I had been troubled with constipation and indigestion for some time. She advised me to try Carter's Little Liver Pills. You can see by my picture that the treatment has done wonders, and I am now free from constipation. Chronic constipation many times causes pimples. Carter's Little Liver Pills encourage the bowels to waste, are the poisons. Ingredients in 25 cent packages.

Hemorrhoids
That Shockingly Painful Affliction
There are few of us who have not suffered from Hemorrhoids, but little do we realize that in most cases it is due to our own neglect.
Medical authorities agree that Hemorrhoids (piles) could be largely avoided were one to assist nature by observing nature's laws.
Hemorrhoids are most frequently brought about as a result of constipation. Therefore, assist nature by assuring an easy passage of the waste matter, and this can best be done by the use of Nujol.
Nujol simply softens the waste matter, and thus causes regular, easy elimination, without any overtaxing of the internal muscles.
Nujol, the scientific internal lubricant, protects the delicate tissues by lubricant, and obviates the possibility of constipation.
Ask your druggist for Nujol today and remember—look for the name "Nujol" as and on both bottle, label and package.

Buy with Care!

Three Things Determine Whether the Price You Pay for Your Automobile is High or Low—

CHECK VALUE FOR VALUE

Check the value in the car you buy on the basis of the advertised f.o.b. price. Chevrolet quality, power, appearance, easy riding, dependability and economy provide the reasons why over 2,000,000 people bought Chevrolet cars.

INVESTIGATE THE CASH DELIVERED PRICE

The purchaser of any automobile pays for freight, tax and handling charges. Chevrolet's low delivered price includes these charges—there is no padding.

CHECK TIME FINANCING CHARGES

The financing charges when buying a Chevrolet on time are the lowest in the world. And these minimum charges include financing and fire and theft insurance. No other charges—no side notes to be signed.

Because of Chevrolet's low cash delivered price and the lowest of financing charges, you obtain the greatest value at the lowest cost, whether you pay cash or buy your CHEVROLET on the GMAC Time Payment Plan.

FIRST FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

Issued by Department of Agriculture, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, April 19, 1926.

The opening of the 1926 crop season in Alberta finds the moisture conditions in the soil average to good. A fairly good supply of moisture remained in the ground from the heavy snows and rains last autumn, but this has not been augmented during the winter because of the extremely light snow fall. Nevertheless, the seed bed is in satisfactory condition, and the outlook for the coming season may be said to be encouraging.

The unusually mild winter experienced in Alberta was characterized by the arrival of a period of spring-like weather in the middle of March. This enabled farmers in several districts in south-western Alberta, and in one or two districts in the Peace River country to get onto the land, and some plowing and other work was done. This was later suspended owing to cold weather with snow.

Spring operations have now been resumed, however, and are well advanced throughout the province. Seeding will become general this week. In the south-western districts, with the exception of the work done during March, the general date for commencement of operations was April 6, and work has so far proceeded now that it was possible to start seeding as early as April 15. Seeding has now become general in the south-western districts. In the south-eastern districts work on the land started April 12, and is now general. Seeding is just commencing.

In the more central and northern districts, spring work is now general, but practically no seeding has been done, save in the Grande Prairie district, where seeding was started as early as April 10. This is most unusual for the far northern district, but is evidence of the extremely open winter experienced there. In the central districts work on the land commenced about April 15, and is now general.

The prospects are for a slight increase in the area in spring wheat and oats, with a considerable increase in the southern districts of fodder corn and sweet clover. The percentages of fall plowing done was negligible, and the area planted to winter wheat and rye is small, although in one or two districts some large fields of both crops have been seeded.

Stock has wintered well, and have been able to feed in the open practically throughout the winter.

Labor for the farms is fairly adequate, considerable farm labor having been brought in this spring from abroad.

Canada's Mineral Wealth

Canada appears to be on the eve of a very marked development of the natural resources in minerals which it is well known the Dominion has in abundance but the development of which have, for a variety of reasons, been neglected. In this new era of activity in making these resources available for use, every section of the Dominion will, apparently, have a part, although the most noticeable activity will proceed in Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba.

In Quebec, one of the largest schemes of hydro-electrical development in the world is to be carried out on the Saguenay River by United States capitalists. It is predicted that ultimately this development will rival the huge undertakings of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission at Niagara, creating additional hundreds of thousands of horsepower. A huge aluminum manufacturing plant is to be erected, with the result that an entirely new city will arise in the ancient province.

During the past year or two Ontario has been steadily forging to the front as one of the world's greatest gold producers, and 1925 proved to be a record year in this respect. Now with the rush into the newly discovered Red Lake district, and a great awakening of interest in the mineral resources of the province, and increased prospecting, the probabilities of a further substantial increase in production and of the ascertained mineral wealth of the province are exceedingly bright.

Some of the most encouraging features of the situation are, however, in Manitoba. At least last, a large sum of money is available for development of the famous Flin Flon area. There is in immediate prospect a $12,000,000 investment of a mining property with nearly $200,000,000 of gold, zinc and copper in sight including the establishment of a smelter; thus making available the exports of other mines in the same district, many of which are said to outrival the Flin Flon in richness of ore. The Government and Legislature of Manitoba are co-operating in the matter of providing necessary rail way facilities through the construction of a new line from Sherridon on the Hudson Bay Railway to the Flin Flon mine. A Bill to incorporate the railway has already passed second reading in the Legislature.

In both Alberta and Saskatchewan increased interest is being taken in the discovery and development of promising oil-bearing properties, and while many of these are still of unknown value, geologists are convinced that oil will ultimately be found in both provinces in large and paying quantities. Furthermore, it is absolutely certain that to a greater or lesser extent over before the huge coal deposits in those two provinces will be utilized to meet Canadian demands and make the Dominion less dependent than formerly on foreign fuel supplies

These developments are all highly gratifying from a national standpoint. As has been urged repeatedly in this column, it is only through the development of its natural resources that Canada can prosper, secure a steady growth of population, provide increased traffic for its large railway mileage, and until recently pay off its heavy war debt. Every sound scheme of development is to be welcomed and encouraged.

At the same time a note of warning to the general public is in order. Gold and other mineral discoveries have in them an element of romance, they capture the imagination of people, and arouse great enthusiasms. Men with out any scruples take advantage of the resulting excitement to unload worthless paper by glowing statements and prospectus, promising to make all who invest rich overnight. They never tell of the many who have invested and lost, but recite the stories of the few who have made fortunes out of a paltry sum.

This is a time, therefore, for people to be on their guard against the smooth tongued salesmen of mining stocks and options. Unquestionably there are good and sound investments to be made, but before risking any money people should make the most careful inquiry into the merits of the proposition submitted to them and investigate it fully. There are avenues open through which responsible reports can be obtained, and advantage should be taken of these before any money is paid over, or any undertakings signed As a rule, any proved mineral property can obtain the capital desired for its development; it is the wild-catter who through ignorance and enthusiasm goes out to catch the money and gullible, offering one dollar stock for five and ten cents. If it was worth a dollar, that is the price that would be demanded. The strong probability is that it is not worth five cents, or anything.

Canadians should wholeheartedly welcome and encourage all legitimate prospecting and development of the Dominion's mineral wealth, but, not only for their own sake as individuals, but for the good name and sound progress of Canada itself, should frown down upon and have absolutely nothing whatever to do with the professional mine wild-catter who knows little about mining or minerals, and whose operations serve to "under mine" confidence in Canada and retard its development and progress.

Oppose Attempt To Scale Mount Everest

Priests of Tibet Have Closed Road to All Expeditions

According to a recent dispatch from London, the Dalai Lama of Tibet has finally closed Mount Everest against further attempts to gain its peak, the highest point on the world's surface. This means that Tibetan ruling authorities have reverted to their older policy of exclusion. It had been temporarily abandoned when sanction was given for the previous British expeditions, permission being granted after friendly pressure had been brought to bear by the Indian Government, and that recourse would no doubt have been again made had it been desired. But Captain J. B. L. Noel, the British army officer, who acted as official photographer to the expedition of 1924, is frankly skeptical on the point. In his report he states:

The priests who govern that part of Tibet are now entirely opposed to expeditions up the mountain. They don't like the loss of life that ensues, of course, and I don't understand why we want to reach the top. Neither the sporting spirit nor the civilizing spirit of geographical knowledge is comprehensible to them. They think that we have some mysterious object in view. We have none. A hunt for treasure, for example

MUCH SUFFERING FOLLOWS INFLUENZA

Health Can Only Be Restored Through Rich Blood-Making Tonic

An epidemic of influenza, such as visited many parts of Canada years ago, always leaves widespread suffering in its wake. The disease itself is dangerous, but the danger is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms of trouble have passed. There is left behind depression of spirits, weakness, and anaemia; the blood, impaired digestion and over wrought nerves. Men and women who were robust before stricken with influenza find their health and vitality with pain previously unknown in them. This is due to an abnormal thinning of the blood and leaves the system an easy prey to other serious trouble. It is at the time when the convalescent from influenza should build up the blood with a reliable blood making tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When the blood regains its rich red quality the nerves recover their strength and the cause of the trouble disappears. Proof of the wonderful value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood-builder and nerve tonic is shown by the case of Mrs. H. D. Stromberg, Tyndall, Ont., who says: "I had a very severe attack of grippe, or influenza, which confined me to my bed for a week. On getting up again I did not recover my usual strength. I was very weak, had a severe pain in my head, and a constant headache. I had no appetite, could not sleep, and for me as I had neither the strength nor the energy to do anything. At this stage, remembering the great benefit I had through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in girlhood, I began taking this medicine, and soon my strength began to return. I can now also to do all my own work again, and take care of my baby. I am very grateful for what the pills have done for me, and hope my experience will be of benefit to some other sufferer."

If you need a blood-building tonic begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to-day. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50c a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Coal Production Increased

Total coal production for 1925 in Alberta was 4,923,894 tons, an increase of 679,000 tons over 1924, according to the report of the provincial mines branch. The report also shows that 1,143 tons of tar sands were taken from the McMurray field.

Asthma Cannot Last when the great Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy nasally deserves this praise! It has done this for thousands of cases of which other preparations had failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the sufferer the blessing of blessed, healthful sleep. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

We want you to make this test

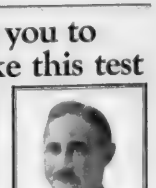
We want every weak, puny, fagged-out man and woman in America to make this test before one bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's, take it according to directions for one week and see how quickly you get started back to full strength and vigor.

We know what we are talking about. Tanlac has helped millions. In our files are more than 100,000 letters of praise from grateful users.

Don't confuse Tanlac with ordinary patent nostrums. It is Nature's own tonic and builder, compounded from roots, barks, and herbs that we gather at great expense from the four corners of the earth

Tanlac goes straight to the seat of your trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood stream, puts your digestion in proper shape. Tells us you know you have an appetite like a starved child. Then rest at night and your whole body begins to feel the stir of strength and energy.

Don't you be discouraged. Don't put off taking Tanlac an other day. Get a bottle now and in a week you should notice signs of real improvement. Then you will feel like your old self again. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.



Thanks Tanlac for Renewed Health

"My stomach is in Tanlac is unbounded. Suffering, headaches, nervous indigestion and insomnia shortened my health. I feel the ability to eat quickly, day or night," Tanlac has done for me, and I enjoy life as of old."

Frenchman Will Try Trans-Atlantic Flight

$25,000 Prize Offered

It is reported that Captain Fonck, the famous French ace intends to compete in the $25,000 prize for a direct New York-Paris flight. He will make the attempt during the month of May, using an American plane with three engines of 400 horsepower. The airman will take off from Central Park, and land in the Bois de Boulogne in Paris.

Captain Fonck said it might be a bit premature to make any too definite statements concerning the details of the flight, which might well be modified before the attempt finally is made. "It is a big job to undertake by a distance of 4,000 miles," he said.

"It cannot be carried out without the most careful preparation in every [illegible]." But the famous airman expressed confidence the project would succeed or later become an established fact and the two capitals linked together by air

Mrs. Robert Vyse

—The Shaw Studio

Hamilton, Ont.—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest help to women of any medicine there is. It is especially beneficial to the expectant mother, as it keeps her physically fit at all times. My mother was a great believer in this medicine, and during my first expected period she had me take it and I got along splendidly—kept well and strong and was able to do my work right up to the last. I had practically no suffering and had a very healthy baby. I took a few bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' afterwards, which helped to bring back my strength."—Mrs. Robert Vyse, 139 West Ave. North.

Hawaiian Mermaid Sets New Swimming Mark

Miss Marjchen Wehalau, famous Hawaiian swimmer, of Honolulu, photographed at the Crystal Gardens, Victoria, where she recently wrecked Canadian swimming honors from Miss Hazel Kesler, of Winnipeg, in the 220-yard indoor swimming competition, making the distance in 2.33 3-5, the previous record for Canada being 2.15 3-5 made by Miss Kesler, of Winnipeg, in 1923. Since the opening of the Crystal Gardens by the Canadian Pacific Railway last season, this is the second time that swimming records have been broken in its 150-foot tank. Just a few months ago the famous Johnny Weissmuller and Conrad Hiss, of the Illinois Athletic Club of Chicago, made new world's records there, bringing the attention of swimmers everywhere to this already well-known sea-water tank on the British Columbia coast.

Farm Land Values In Western Canada Advancing With Agricultural Prosperity

Increasing prosperity in the agricultural industry, with greater and more satisfactory farm revenue all over the Dominion, and a continual ever-abiding of interest in the acquisition of Canadian farm lands on the part of those with means, has compounded another rise in the value of Canadian farm property of which there is every likelihood of a consistent continuance. According to the last return of the Dominion bureau of statistics, the average value of occupied farm land for Canada as a whole, including both improved and unimproved land, as well as dwelling houses, barns, stables and other farm buildings, was $38.60 per acre in 1925 as compared with $37.09 in 1924 and the same figure in 1923.

According to reliable authorities farm land prices in Canada are as much as low as they will ever be There is already rise in the average value of Canadian farm land up to 1926, when it reached the peak of $40.00 over the Dominion. In 1921 and 1922 it stood at $40.00 and in 1923 and 1924 at $37.09 Now a new rise has commenced. British Columbia values are low as they have been since 1914. Ontario values stand about where they did in 1919, and Quebec's in 1917. Prince Edward Island values are where they were in 1919 and those of Nova Scotia in 1918, whilst the value of New Brunswick land has risen steadily above 1920 values. On the peninsular values in Manitoba are where they were in 1900 and 1910; in Alberta are the same as in 1911, and in Saskatchewan, the same as 1915 and 1916.

The great inducement Canada holds out to farmers elsewhere to come to pursue their calling in her domain is that her farm lands may be secured cheaper than farm lands nearly anywhere else, and yet by reason of their high fertility enjoyed higher priced land.

Thus, there are few sections on the American continent where land may be purchased at a lower price than in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, and yet these account for consistently higher yields and consequently a greater revenue. Lands in the three provinces, recorded as having average respective values of $23.00, $24.00 and $26.00 in 1925, returned in that year from the acreage area devoted to wheat $18.84, $19.20 and $24.05, in each case an acre of land seeded to wheat practically returned its value in a single year.

The values quoted throughout are for occupied farms to some extent cultivated and having an increased value by reason of various buildings upon them They do not take into account lands in every part of the Dominion as yet unsettled and totally unproductive, which are naturally of still lower value These are similarly affected by the circumstances of agricultural prosperity and greater demand. There is every indication that procrastination in settlement at the present time will mean that in each succeeding year land purchasers will have to pay a little more.

Horse Has Its Place

Services More Seriously Appreciated Now and Prices Are Steadily Advancing

A news item published in The Globe a few days ago carried the information that, after ten years of unnecessary, the horse was again coming into his own, but it is hardly probable that the revival will be sufficient to bring back the village blacksmith. There is undoubtedly, however, a new alignment which recognizes Dobbin as having a permanent place in the economy of things; that he is an economic factor as well as an animal of intelligence and beauty whose services are more seriously appreciated today than for a long time. If his reputation for slowness in this speedy age has caused his numbers to decline, he has had compensation in the fact that those who want his services must pay for past indifference, for his price has gone up -Toronto Globe.

Trying To Discover Mystery Of Sleep

Two Distinctly Different Kinds Says Dr. Curt Richter

A definite step in unravelling the mystery of sleep, which has baffled scientists from earliest times has been made by Dr. Curt Richter of Johns Hopkins University With a string galvanometer and specially constructed electrodes he has been able to tell how soundly a person is sleeping without awakening him

His experiments not only have shown that sleep is of two distinctly different kinds, but that there is a great difference between good sleep and condition in which certain types of mentally ill people appear to be asleep

His research showed that the resistance to an imperceptible electrical current sent from hand to hand during deep restful sleep increased extremely in the skin. The resistance increased in one instance from 10,000 ohms to 1,000,000 ohms, or to a total of 1,000,000 ohms when asleep.

The current was applied by two wire gauze electrodes, one held in each hand as pasto mixed with saturated wire sulphate solution. These were attached to the hands and connected by wires to a galvanometer designed to measure the small current.

The experiments showed that the increased resistance of deep sleep, as with the intensity of sleep. It was discovered, however, that when sleep is light, thinking or mental activity of adults on the backs of the hands usually decreased. In these cases the subject was not refreshed by sleep

Dr. Richter said that the suffering from catatonic stupors, which so closely resemble sleep that it is impossible to tell the one from the other, and that he is not asleep, a very different condition was found. In these cases it was discovered that the resistance of the [illegible] of the hand was less than normal, indicating an intense restlessness while the subject lay apparently in bed. Dr. Richter said that the hands usually remained at the level of the body, indicating complete muscular relaxation and lack of mental activity.

From these studies it is hoped that new light will be thrown upon nervous disorders, especially of mentally ill patients, but of relatively normal people suffering from nervous strain

Port Of Vancouver Is Busy

Export Shipments in Two Months Show Remarkable Increase

Export shipments of various commodities from Vancouver port for the two months of this year show a remarkable increase over the same months of 1925. Lumber shipments for the five months amounted to 72,858,000 feet, as against 31,516,000 feet in the same period of 1925. Flour exports totalled 258,661 barrels, compared to 59,070 barrels. Lead and copper for shipments were 443,876 pigs and slags, against 321,738 for the corresponding five months of last year. Apple shipments totalled 47,364 boxes this year, as against shipments last year of 1,000 boxes of 2,708 boxes. Only in the figure for canned salmon do shipments show a decrease, and this is accounted for by steamers proceeding direct to calling ports with full cargoes or completing cargo at other points after clearing from Vancouver.

Plenty of Farm Work in Alberta

Over 1,000 farm labourers from Central Europe were placed on farms in the Edmonton district in two days, at the end of March. In every case the men are reliable, and will be well taken care of in Alberta and there is little or no difficulty in finding work for those who are unable to take up farms of their own at the outset, either through lack of money or lack of experience.

West Growers Have Successful Year

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Co-operative West Growers, Limited, it was shown that in the past year the association had sold well over three and a half million pounds of wool for well over a million dollars. This was an increase of 1,225,000 lbs. over the previous year and indicated that 1925 was one of the most successful years in the association's history.

World's Poultry Congress To Be Held In Ottawa July 27 to Aug 6, 1927

The selection of Canada as the country in which the third world's poultry congress will be held is a marked tribute to the prominence which this Dominion is attaining among the nations of the world. Only two previous congresses have been held, one at The Hague, and one at Barcelona, Spain The showing of Canadian poultry at the Barcelona congress was outstanding that the Imperial exhibit sent by the Canadian Government to both the next congress in Canada was no exception, and established a reputation for the honour in other countries The preliminary announcement of the third world's poultry congress has just been issued from headquarters at Ottawa. It is a very attractively prepared and illustrated booklet which will carry into all civilized countries not only the congress announcement, but a better conception of Canada and things Canadian The information contained is concise but complete, and the illustrations reflect the various aspects of Canada's agriculture, and naturally this country pays a large part in the assembling of the congress and exhibition of poultry products. More Homesteaders

Increase is Shown in Number of Entries For February

Homestead entries in the western provinces in the month of February totalled 556, as compared with 297 in February last year, a net increase of 143, according to a report issued by the Dominion lands patent branch. The division of entries by provinces during the month was as follows: Manitoba, 36; Saskatchewan, 172; Alberta, 190; and British Columbia, 14. For the first two months of the current year entries totalled 636, as compared with 449 during the corresponding period of 1925.

California's Potato King Dead

Little Jap Took Up Waste Dot of Land and Made Millions

Death has claimed George Shima, the millionaire potato king of California, most affluent Japanese outside the Empire of Nippon, a little man of an alien race who had made history in California since his arrival as an immigrant boy 26 years ago

Shima came to America with his bride of a few weeks and got employment in the berry patches of interior California With his first year's earnings he purchased previously scorned delta lands along the Sacramento River, near Stockton. People said he was "crazy with the heat."

But the little Oriental had seed dense in the waste terrain of the San Joaquin and today he is credited with the reclamation of many thousands of acres of California land, and with gifts last to the state millions in new wealth.

At the time of his death he was reputedly worth $15,000,000 He owned 30,000 acres of California delta land His entire fortune was founded upon the raising of potatoes, which he first tried out on the "waste lands" of interior California

Robson's Canadian reports give Canadians some interesting and splendid evidence that the country is making progress in a business way, and as a rule not to be sneered about, according to a recent editorial in the Edmonton Journal Here are some of the signs of improvement noted

"Immigration during December last was forty five per cent greater than in the corresponding month a year before

"Exports for January show an increase of thirteen per cent. over the figures for January of 1925

"Twenty Canadian industrial stocks in January, reached the highest points ever attained by them

"Last year's wheat crop was the second largest in the history of the Dominion. Barley produced was forty per cent greater than in the previous year

"The shipments of newsprint during December were larger than in any previous month

"Up from production during January was a total of 90 per cent greater than during January of last year

"Steel production for January showed an increase of one hundred and fifty per cent. over the figure for January, 1925

"Five income in January were forty per cent. larger than in the corresponding month last year."

These facts and figures do not represent a condition of riotous boom one of only slow and slight improvement They are the unmistakable signs of a substantial growth in population, production and trade Canada has evidently passed out of the depression which followed the boom period of Reconstruction days. There is every reason to expect that the time will improve continuously and in all parts of the country.

Children Looking For Work

100,000 In England Have Been Released From School

More than 100,000 British children who had attained the age of 14 were released from school and placed on a labor market which has little place for them.

In the past children were permitted to leave school on attaining the age of 14 This released them throughout the year, and it was possible for them to be absorbed in industry and commerce gradually.

Under the new system children who become 14 during a school term may not leave school until the end of that term. This makes so many applicants for positions the same time that employers say many of the children must necessarily remain idle for a considerable time before they can be absorbed into the industries

Restored Strength and Former Good Health

Quebec Lady Was Weak, Excessively Nervous, Depressed and Weighed Down With Lumbago

Mrs. E. Boyd Took Three Weeks' Treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Amazed Health Returned

Dunany, P.Q. —(Special)— That Dodd's Kidney Pills bring back health and strength is proved by the following statement from Mrs. E. Boyd, who resides at Dunany.

"For years I took your Dodd's Kidney Pills because I was weak and nervous. Sometimes I was so depressed to work without feeling depressed, was also weighed down with lumbago and had no appetite. It has only taken a few weeks' treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills to restore my strength and courage and former good health.

This statement speaks for itself. Ninety per cent of the ills from which women suffer come from weak or diseased kidneys They are the organs that strain out the impurities out of the blood If they fail to do this, the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 25

THE STORY OF CAIN AND ABEL

Golden Text: Am I my brother's keeper? Genesis 4:3

Lesson Genesis 4:1-26.

Devotional Reading: 1 John 4:16-21

Explanations and Comments

I. The Occupations of Cain and Abel, verses 1, 2—To Adam and Eve two sons were born, Cain and Abel. The Hebrew word for "I have gotten," Kaineh wherein our word Cain. Cain became a tiller of the ground a husbandman, and Abel a keeper of sheep, a shepherd.

II. The Two Sacrificial Offerings, verses 3-5—The two brothers brought each an offering to Jehovah. Cain's offering was the fruit of the ground; Abel's, the first born of his flock, the greasy priced fat pieces of which were offered in sacrifice. Compare Lev. 1:3; 3:3. "The origin of sacrifices is not explained, nor is an altar mentioned. Man is assumed to be by nature endowed with religious attacts, and capable of holding converse with God. Worship was man's mode of approach to the Deity; and sacrifice was its outward expression" (Dr. Herbert E. Ryle). "From the time of Abel onwards, sacrifices are uniformly, and with increasing clearness, set before us as the appointed way of approaching and holding fellowship with God, till we have the sacrifice of our Savior Jesus Christ."

German Doctor Proved Statement By Experimenting On Himself

Cancer is not contagious when brought in contact with a healthy human body, in the opinion of Dr. Hans Hartmann, of the surgical clinic of Koenigsberg University. Dr. Hartmann astonished a convention of German surgeons in Berlin by reporting that he had experimented on himself, transferring a patch of cancerous growth from a patient's pectoral gland to his own thigh. The cancer cells, he reported, died shortly, being unable to live in a healthy body.

Gov.-General's New Limousine

The Finest Car Ever Produced in the Dominion

The fact that the governor-general's new limousine, presented by Canadian war veterans, is the finest car ever produced in Canada is said to be largely due to the fact that war restrictions employed in the plant at Oshawa where the car was built, made a special drive on the job.

Everything for "Byng's car" got extra service and the men put the extra work into it as their contribution to Byng's gift. The presentation of the car was not the complete story, for the veterans have also provided for its insurance and even its transportation to London when his excellency returns to the motherland.

The Oil of Power.—It is not claimed by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it will remedy every ill, but in many more as various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. RUST RESEARCH WORK CONTINUES TO BEAR FRUIT

Winnipeg —Rust research workers continue their experiments to obtain rust resistance which usually results in loss of dollars to the agriculturists of Western Canada, and at a conference here reports of steady progress were made. Interesting details were contained in reports submitted

"It is now assumed that a variety of wheat will be obtained that will be entirely resistant to all the biological forms of stem rust and de-Hills from every standpoint," declared Dr C. H. Goulden, a member of the research laboratory plant here

Dr Goulden, however, was confident "strains will be obtained which combine partial resistance in the most virulent forms of rust, together with earliness and good milling quality."

The finding of such varieties said Dr Goulden would endure the keen from rust throughout Western Canada by 75 per cent

Says Technique Of Peace Is Ended

Military Training in Canadian Schools A Mistake Opinion of Woman Member

Montreal —Mrs. Parker developed the technique of war but we have never developed the technique of peace. Increase the purchasing power of a people and you create prosperity, happiness and end unemployment War brings good times, but a terrible depression afterwards," said Mrs. Agnes Mac Phail, M.P., for Southeast Grey, who addressed a meeting here.

"We have cleared up a grinding monster in place of patriotism" she said. War is made out to be the great saviour We all cater to the military muscle All want to do the knightly and heroic thing Real patriotism is the contribution to our upward climb. It is a mistake to have military training in all the great schools of Canada We are each personally responsible for the threatening of a military machine onto the youth and children of the country There is a general feeling that it has gone long enough, that we must get the military machine out of Canada" she said.

New Pretender To Throne Of France

Officer in Dutch Army Lays Claims to Mythical Crown

Paris —Given posters upon walls of Paris buildings announce a new pretender to the throne of France, in the person of Henry of France, Duke of Normandy, who was an officer in the Dutch army, who contests the claims laid to the mythical throne by the Duke of Guise.

The family from which both the Duke of Normandy and the Duke of Guise are descendants dates its royalist connections to 1814. It is claimed that time it has furnished 29 kings of France, four emperors to Oriental countries, seven kings to Spain and 20 kings to Portugal

The posters just put up violently attack the present head of the house of France, charging that the immediate family of the Duke of Guise paid for the execution of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette.

WANT BLUE SKY LEGISLATION FOR WESTERN CANADA

Edmonton Another effort is to be made by the Alberta Government in connection with Saskatchewan and Manitoba to secure action by the Dominion Government in matters in the way of uniform legislation affecting share companies

Premier Brownlee will take the matter up as one of the items of his conference with the premiers of the other provinces and the Dominion Government at the Federal government

This effort will be a follow up of the resolution passed by the Alberta legislature at Hon. Mackenzie King's calling attention to the new activities in oil speculation and the danger of losses to the public as a result, and urging again the necessity of effective controlling provincial companies

Another matter which Premier Brownlee is to bring to the attention of the premiers at the same time is the road question and the need for uniformity of legislation and uniform

Motion For National Banking Before House

Winnipeg Labor Member Asks For Approval Of Resolution

Ottawa —Mr. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg, asked the government whether it intended to introduce legislation providing for a national system of banking.

Four years ago he said there were equal kinds of money in use in Canada The first was gold, the second bank notes and the third cheques

More than 90 per cent. of the business of the country was carried on by cheques.

Mr Woodsworth said banking was one of the largest organizations were operating in Canada without the proper banking system was the last word in efficiency.

The Labor member mentioned one large farmers' organization in the west which had endorsed the resolution moved last year, which was along the same lines as the one which he had just introduced for the consideration of the members.

Alberta Legislature Adjourns

Announcement Made That Provincial Elections Will Be Held Prior To July 18

Edmonton The Alberta Legislative Assembly has adjourned after having been in session since February 11 But for the bill transferring the natural resources from the Dominion to the province, it would have been possible to prorogue This bill cannot be passed by the province until it has reached third reading in the Dominion house A short session is dead with the bill will be held on or about May

Premier Brownlee announced on Thursday that the general election would be held prior to July 18 It is thought possible that it will be about the first week in July.

The polishing for change adopted by the British House of Commons, Alberta cabinet members will no longer have to seek re-election on appointment.

A bill was given unanimous third reading empowering the government to borrow $12,500 for capital expenditure and reconditioning of the E.D. & B.C. Railway, and $1,200,000 to pay for rails, stocks and bonds of the railway

The telephone system of the province is the object of an inquiry at the present time While the system is being efficiently conducted, the rates are too low to give an adequate return on the capital investment Many of the rural part of the system was built as part of a colonization system and there is a question as to whether the full cost of this should not be charged to general revenue

On the recommendation of the agricultural committee the house decided that the $112,000 surplus of the 1919 Canada Wheat Board should be investigated and interest used for the promotion of agricultural research and development of co-operative marketing

The House unanimously passed a resolution congratulating the Edmonton Grads, world's champion girls' basketball team, on their successful tour of the United States, and wishing them every success. The motion was introduced by J. C. Brown, leader of the opposition, and seconded by Premier Brownlee. It was stated that the Grads were the only Alberta one of the best advertisements it had ever had

If the majority of the people were in favor of prohibition no one had the right to gainsay them he said to delegates who opposed the prohibition platform

Lengthy and detailed criticism of the politics and administration of Premier G. Howard Ferguson was made by Mr Irvin He declared that the redistribution scheme was a gerrymander by which smaller ridings in the north were created and that the Toronto ridings might be enlarged and that Toronto was cut up into electoral districts in such a way as to give the vast foreign element in each district preponderance over the dry.

Must Make Wireless Tests Via New York

British Post Office Refuses to Let Canada Make Experiments Direct

London —The British post office has definitely told us that if Canada wants to carry out wireless telephone tests it must operate via New York, in connection with the transatlantic cable awaiting signature the post office and therefore has refused an extension to the possibility of Canada carrying out any such experiments direct between Canada and Great Britain under the new Marconi beam system

This is the statement of Mr F M Sheer, manager of Canadian Marconi, in reply to the decision published by the British post office in the effect that the reason for confining the telephonic tests to New York was that only the companies there had the adequate facilities

At the conclusion of a pamphlet entitled "Forest Facts," issued by the government, the following appears, and we think it worth a few moments of your consideration:

"It is truer to-day than ever before that 'man cannot live by bread alone.' The spiritual side of human nature responds to the enchanting influence of nature beauties which abound in forest glades and shady dells."

"The kindest thing God ever made, His band of very healing laid Upon a fevered world, is shade!"

Here's a story published in an exchange which shows how greatly the people of a community in Kansas appreciated their editor: "In appreciation of the worth of a Kansas editor for the community a bunch of citizens recently presented him with a bouquet On the same occasion a quartette from a local church sang a few sweet songs and a minister made a little talk. After the minister's talk, six husky men carried the popular editor from the house and placed him in a model 1926 licensed sedan, and the whole town for miles in parade behind the editor's expensive car. After the parade the appreciative crowd returned to their homes serene in the thought of having provided one bright day in the life of their local newspaperman even if they did wait until he was dead to do it.

Here and There

Lord and Lady Allenby have left Canada, on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland.

The distinguished general was received enthusiastically in every city throughout his tour of the Dominion. He delivered addresses showing the importance of the capture of Palestine to the Allies in the Great War.

V. C. Vickers, managing director of Messrs. Vickers, Ltd., London, England, who arrived on Canada recently on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Canada," reported that the shipbuilding industry both in China and Japan was in a healthier condition than for many years past, with shipbuilders favoring the motor ship.

Travelling right across the Dominion, exclusively on Canadian Pacific lines and in the palatial special car "Loch Lomond," Her Grace the Duchess of Atholl, whose family seat is at Banff, Scotland, will make representations for the first time in her life with the world famous resort in the Canadian Rockies, which took its name from her Scottish home.

A. Hatton, general superintendent of transportation for the Canadian Pacific Railway, has announced the intention of the company to raise the embargo against the loading of grain to Fort William and Port Arthur and the milling companies and elevators at Winnipeg. This is due to the anticipation of the opening of navigation on the Great Lakes about April 20.

The total yield of wheat in Canada for 1925, as now estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is 416,849,700 bushels, the second largest on record, having been exceeded only by the 1923 crop. The value of this crop is estimated at $405,116,200, or over $53 per capita of Canadian population. The average wheat yield was 18.3 bushels per acre.

A general survey of reports by the Canadian Pacific Railway on agricultural conditions throughout the West shows that farmers are pleased with present conditions and speak optimistically on the season's outlook. Sufficient moisture for spring crops seems to be assured. Livestock wintered well. Adequate supplies of feed are available and no shortage of labor is expected.

A special C. P. R. train carrying 426 settlers from the S.S. "Montcalm" reached Winnipeg recently. Among the passengers were thirty-one British families who came under the 3,000 family settlement scheme. There was one party of 16 Germans including Catholics and the Salvation Army, under Captain Sharp, brought out a party of twenty young lads going to British Columbia.

It has been announced by the passenger department of the C. P. R. at Winnipeg that negotiations have been complete with the Central Canada Air Lines Limited, to take up service between Kenora and the new gold fields at Long Lake and Red Lake. A regular service is to be inaugurated about May 24 in connection with the C.P.R. from Kenora and during summer services will run between Kenora and Dubuth.

The recent fire at the Banff Springs Hotel, which resulted in the destruction of the north wing with about seventy rooms, will have little effect on the coming tourist season. During the past winter the company has built an annex with 100 rooms with baths and, with the central stone tower and the south wing of the old building that were saved, there will be a total of 310 rooms available by July 1, or more than were in use last year.

FIRE THEATENS OUR NATIONAL HERITAGE

Carelessness Destroys 3,000,000 acres annually of Canadian Forest

Loss of standing timber by fire continues to be appalling. On the average over 3,500 million board feet are destroyed annually. The forests of Canada are being depleted at a rate they cannot possibly withstand; more than half of this depletion is due to fire, insects and decay. The future of the forest industry is just as dependent on the seedling trees and young growth as the pulp and paper and lumber mills, and industry generally, are dependent on mature timber--Both must be saved from the ravages of fire.

In addition to the shelter afforded by the forest to the farmer and his stock, settlers in the forested regions are vitally dependent on the woods for winter employment. Care with fire in land-clearing operations is all-essential—burned timber pays no wages.

Canada has the finest inland fishing in the world, but these splendid food and game fish require clean, cold water in the streams to ensure prolific reproduction. Forest fires are inimical to fish life.

Game animals attract foreign tourists and induce Canadians to seek pleasure, health and adventure in the great outdoors. These animals are distinctly a forest resource—utterly dependent on it for protection and food. Forest fires are most destructive of such wild life.

Ninety per cent of the forest fires are caused by carelessness. Are you doing your part to prevent this wanton waste and destruction?

For a brief five minutes in Mr Graydonk office and when she entered the car she had stood aside from herself and looked at "Miss Twenty seven" as Joanna Man attendant, by the sleeve and force him to give hr an accounting of his obequaintances to her. But panic was not for her nerveless. Her breath began to come in tremulous gasps when the panelled door married with the name of the great man she had been told would receive her, swung inward. She heard her guide announce her.

"The lady you are expecting, sir!"

She was conscious of someone sitting at a great black table; someone who got and glared at her without speaking; someone who was very forbidding, and, to the eyes of youth, very old, and a strange bundle of understanding any thoughts or emotions such as she might experience. In such a presence Joanna didn't know what to do. The man spoke her name. Surprisingly, just as it had been with Graydon, there seemed important old men had spoken that name.

"Will you sit here?"

He pointed to a chair opposite him. Joanna's wholly helpless again, slid into the chair. After a while she realized that the man of whom she had heard so much as one of those mysterious financial kings, still looked at her; that he had leaned back in his own chair and was just looking at her with queer lights playing in his eyes and something about his lips were quivering! It struck Joanna as being extraordinary. Not even the warning hand of doom could have prevented her, just then, from laughing. Andrew Bigelston smiled, too. But it was a friendly smile. He was infinitely grave and forbidding. And Joanna was frightened again. She felt uncomfortable. The back of her neck burned, as if someone were looking at it, or at her. She wanted to turn around, but merely moved in her chair.

The young man who still stood in the window embrasure at the other end of the room prepared to come forward. When he saw that the girl had not detected his presence he fell again to his silent inspection of the figure in the chair whose back was turned to him. The unpleasant, rather episodic smile played again about his mouth. Occasionally his glance took in the other figure, the old man

RASH COVERED FACE AND NECK

Caused a Lot of Pain. Itched Badly. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble began with a rash of pimples that covered my face and neck. The pimples grew larger and started to fester, causing a lot of pain. They itched badly and I was very restless at night. The trouble lasted four months.

"A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Matilda Martens, R. R. 2, Crediton, Ont., Nov. 3, 1925.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment now and then, keeps the skin fresh, smooth and clear. Cuticura Talcum also is ideal for the skin.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Ointment (25 and 50c.) sold throughout the world. Canadian depot: Lymans, Ltd., St. Henri, Montreal. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

that expression, and it is very apt though a little old-fashioned perhaps, you may draw your first check for whatever amount you like. I will have the money brought you."

Joanna looked at the automatic check book, at the fountain pen which she had taken inconspicuously, and then at the banker.

"I am sure Mr. Graydon explained to you, or didn't he? That you are not to know the answer to either of those two questions—or. Someone who wants you to have it, somewhere in the bank, and I know very well and in whom we have complete trust as to his motives, has put the fortune at our disposal. He has seen direct of the bank to replenish the fund if you meet requirements beyond the limit of deposit until such a time as he may give further directions"

"And I may draw out a while he will give me directions?"

Not at all." And in the tone of the banker's promise, more than in his words Joanna knew that whatever might be the outcome of this fantastic conversation, she would not limit ever in ask that question again.

Chicago Doctor's Discovery Lowers Menace of Scarlet Fever

Dr William H Park director of the vaccine laboratory, of the City of New York, told physicians attending a joint meeting of bacteriologists and pathologists at Albany that discovery of the germ of scarlet fever and development of a cure by George Hich of Chicago, assisted by his wife, Dr Gladys Dick, had virtually conquered the disease in the last two years Dr Park said in his city of about seven million people he expected only about 350 deaths from scarlet fever to be recorded this year One of the physicians during the serum estimated in one year in New York it saved more lives than most physicians do in a lifetime In the opinion of the eminent physicians attending the local meetings, the Nobel Prize in Medicine, if it had been awarded this year, would probably have gone to Dr. Dick

Waves Measured By Camera

Length of Largest Said to be Nine Hundred Feet

Ocean waves have at last been measured by a specially constructed camera. Ordinary waves are from 6 to 15 feet high. In a high sea they may rise to 27 feet, or in a violent gale to 36 feet. The length of the largest waves, from crest to crest, is said to be 900 feet, and it takes twenty seconds for one wave to replace another. The tidal wave that followed the Lisbon earthquake of 1755 was 60 feet high, and a tidal wave off Peru once lifted a ship clean over a church and left it a mile inland.

Was A Jury Case

A prisoner who had served prison sentences for a score of offences appeared before a police magistrate on a charge of burglary. He was asked the usual question. "Guilty or Not Guilty" "Yes," was his monosyllabic reply. "What's that?" the judge asked shortly. "I was asked if I was guilty or not guilty, and of course I am," the prisoner exclaimed. "But, when are you?" the judge inquired. "That," said the hardened one with out a smile, "is for the jury to decide."

Germans Make Alcohol From Glass

We are told the Germans are now making alcohol from glass and in this line as well as iron and steel trade, German competition is making itself felt as far as India. They can produce synthetic methyl alcohol at a considerably lower cost than wood alcohol and are strongly competing with the United States.

THE ONLY MEDICINE BABY HAS HAD

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets

Once a mother has used Baby's own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Experience teaches her that they are without an equal for relieving baby of any of the many minor ailments which afflict little ones and older ones or another The Tablets never fail to be of benefit—they cannot possibly do harm as they are guaranteed to be free from all injurious drugs.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. Russel Hill, Bon Good, Ont., says "I shall always have a good word to say for Baby's Own Tablets I have given them to my baby girl. In fact they are the only medicine she has had and I am free to say that she also took second prize at our baby show. She is over months old and weighs 22 pounds No mother whose child is peevish or ailing will make a mistake in giving it Baby's Own Tablets."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

church intimating that the courts were available for rental for the coming season but stating no rent. The meeting was informed that no rent had been fixed by the Board of Managers save for the use of the courts and the progress of business was considerably delayed on account of the uncertainty of the rent which would be charged. As it is the intention of the club to expend money on the improvement of these courts the secretary was instructed to write the Board of Managers to ascertain definitely the rent which would be charged for the use of these courts.

The meeting also unanimously agreed that the club should maintain its membership with the Alberta Lawn Tennis Association and to request the association to have the club affiliated with District No. 12. (Edmonton.)

The fees remain the same as last year, namely: gentlemen, $5.00; ladies, $4.00, and juniors at one half of the above fees.

The system of booking the courts for play was abolished entirely and the rule amended to meet the new conditions.

After discussion of other minor items the meeting adjourned.

OBITUARY

The funeral of the late Asa Robert Rogers was conducted on Monday, April 26, at the home of his parents. Rev. M. S. Kerr, of Vermilion, a former pastor and an intimate friend of the deceased, took charge of the service. Scoutmaster Lamoureux and his patrol formed a guard of honor and the casket was borne from the house between the Scout flag and the Union Jack.

The deceased lad was the first victim of the tragic accident which occurred on the Fort Saskatchewan traffic bridge on Friday, April 23. He was the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rogers of Fort Saskatchewan and would have observed his fourteenth birthday had he lived till May. The unhappy circumstances of his sudden death will long be remembered by those who knew and associated with him.

To life, the deceased lad brought a splendid earnestness and zeal. Those who came most closely in touch with him were aware of his fine sense of honor and his wholesome way of living his life. To his scout work he was passionately devoted and the tribute paid by his last guard of honor on earth was beautiful and touching. In school, he was in the second grade of High school, he was always studious and zealous. It is no exaggeration to say that he showed unusual ability. Probably no lad had better prospects. Coming as he did from such a home, and endowed with rare capabilities, there seemed every possibility that he would go very far indeed. To say he will be missed by his fellow pupils and teachers is not to express at all their inmost feelings. Asa's musical talent was developing wonderfully. It was only a few weeks ago that he played before his fellows in a delightful and skilful manner. For one to sum up the young life which has so suddenly been ended in a few words, or to express adequately the sympathy of the bereaved family in an impossible task. The boy lived a fine life in a fine manner. The parents may be always proud and grateful.

Amongst those present at the ceremony were the deceased's uncle, Mr. G. Rogers, of Winnipeg, Hon. Perrey Baker, Minister of Education; Mr. J. T. Ross, Deputy Minister of Education; Mr. G. Fred McNally, Superintendent of Schools; Mr. W. Solway, executive organizer Boy Scouts; Scoutmaster Barnett, Edmonton.

Pallbearers were: Roy Stuckey, Val Berg, Fred Berg, Gordon Magee, Tom Lowe and Fred Tercier.

Floral tributes were received from: Mother, Daddy and Jack; Aunt Jennie; Agnes, Fred and Harry; Bill, Kate and Ellie; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McFarlane; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gibson; Dr. and Mrs. Henry and Twe; Mrs. Bates, Karyl and Hans; Nan and Connie; Mr. and Mrs. Shera; Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and Muriel; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. CORONER'S INQUEST HELD AT COURT HOUSE

At an inquest held by Coroner Dr. Henry at the court house on Tuesday, to ascertain the cause of death of the two victims of the bridge tragedy, the verdict was reached that Asa Rogers came to his death on April 23 by drowning, and Glen Adams on Monday, April 26, by septicemia, both results of being struck on the Fort Saskatchewan bridge by a truck belonging to the Alberta Rednorim Co. Limited.

John Wrather, the driver, was exonerated from any blame.

The jury recommended that the attention of the department of Public Works be called to what is considered a dangerous condition of the bridge, having in view this and previous accidents.

The conditions referred to were:

The traffic arch consists of a raised portion in the centre with a gutter on each side, which is dangerous to traffic.

The two rails at the sides are insufficient for proper protection of

BOULEVARDING STARTED ON MEMORIAL AVENUE

A meeting of the Horticultural and Forestry association was held Monday and the information was given that the town council had granted a sum of $75.00 to assist in the work of boulevarding.

It was decided to make a start on the Memorial avenue, and work of boulevarding was commenced on Tuesday from the Memorial hall to the Anglican church corner. Similar work will be done for a short distance on Dennis avenue.

Those wishing to contribute a tree to be planted on the Memorial avenue are at liberty to do so and should get in touch with the association for any information they require. Elm, ash, Russian poplar and laurel willow are suggested as being most suitable.

Canada To The Fore

The great capital position of Canada and the United States naturally suggests comparisons and invites comparisons, and, as a rule, both at home and abroad to the disadvantage of the Dominion. Careful examination will, however, establish the fact that Canada really presents the greater opportunities for progressive and stable population.

Nominal considerably, people are Canada with a greater area than the United States, but with less than a fourth of its population. In fact there is one within an area of a few hundred square miles around and including New York City, a population equal to that of Canada stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Superficially they are the gigantic industries of the United States, the enormous accumulations of wealth, the rush and bustle of its many large cities, and the beautiful assurance of its people who believe, and do not hesitate to vehemently declare, that they are the greatest nation in the world.

But what of they see Canada with, comparatively speaking, only a fringe of population, with only a few cities of the first rank, not very many multi millionaires, and the people as a whole, instead of being boastful, rather inclined to belittle themselves and their country.

This is the superficial picture seen by the average person who merely glances at the surface of things and fails to take note of what is much more significant.

Are Canadians slow? Is the Dominion backward in development compared with even the United States? The answer is decidedly in the negative, as a more thorough examination of the growth and development of those two neighbouring countries will reveal.

Canada today, with its nine or ten millions of people, is conducting its large overseas trade as the United States did when it had a population of 76,000,000. Its per capita basis the "slow" Canadians are doing a very much larger foreign business today than the "aggressive" people to the south.

Canada today is producing more wealth from its mines than the United States did with a population of 25,000,000 and the value of Canadian bank clearings at the present time is equal to the output of the United States farms, which that country had 50,000,000 people. The export trade alone of Canada today is equal to $124 per capita, while in the United States at the present time it is only $27 per capita.

In worth-while education, in medical research work, in the observance of law and order, in the maintenance of proper social conditions in life; in a word, in the development of character which alone can make a nation strong and great, Canada compares more than favorably with its neighbor.

As a result, there is no other country in the world today, regardless of wealth or population, which is so successfully grappling with and solving many problems, whether financial, economic or political, or which is making quite such rapid progress in the shortest space of time, and the World's centuries.

The position of Canada is sound. It is strong and growing stronger. It stood the shock of the Great War, and in that titanic struggle discovered it self and its people possessed of amazing virility and andreasm of powers and resources. It took second place in no other country in its contribution to victory. Equally, it sustained and successfully surmounted the many after-the-war problems, notwithstanding that the burden assumed by the United States was a mere bagatelle in that shouldered by the Dominion.

Why, then, decry the Dominion and make invidious comparisons with the United States based on a superficial glance at size of populations, number and size of cities, or industries, or wealth accumulations? Canada may not at present boast of many huge fortunes, but it can boast of something infinitely better, namely, that of all the go ahead nations of today, none present a more even distribution of wealth among its people

Further, there is it doubtful if any other country today is so steadily and permanently improving its position, and where the people as a whole are making progress in all things which make life worth while as is true in the case of Canada which is experiencing a real revival following the aftermath of the war.

Canadians need not be boastful, but they can and should be confident and self-reliant. They have every reason and justification for such an attitude towards life and the world.

South Africa's Public Debt

Is Growing Rapidly and Citizens Are Becoming Alarmed

The public debt of the Union of South Africa is growing so rapidly as to cause alarm among the thoughtful citizens. Since 1911 the debt has been increased by £10,000,000, while the amount of debt extinguished has been only £12,500,000. Taking an average for the 15 years since the establishment of the Union, the average amount has been increased by £667,000 per annum, but actually decreased by only £166,666 a year. The total indebtedness of the Union is now £114,332,082.

C.P.R. Awarding Trophy in Three Western Provinces

Again this summer the Canadian Pacific Railway is awarding a trophy to the three clubs showing the best in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta winning the boys' and girls' swine competitions. In addition, the winning teams will be taken to the 1926 Royal Agricultural Winter Fair at Toronto next November as guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway. These boys' and girls' swine clubs have been co-operatively organized throughout the three western provinces by Provincial and Dominion Governments, and the scheme taken by the railway is for the purpose of assisting and encouraging the production of the approved type of hog and so maintaining and add a position as a top producer in the markets of the world

A BLEMISHED SKIN

Cannot be Relieved by Salves and Ointments

Irritating sores, pimples, eczemas, salt rheum and other skin disorders are due to impure blood. Dig it out of your blood is weak or impure. You cannot get rid of eczema and other skin troubles with ointments and outward applications, because the trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banish these troubles because they purify and build up the nerve-rich blood. This has been proved over and over again. Among those who have this testified is Mrs. (Rev.) Emanuel, Cadar, Alta., who says:—"For a long time I suffered from eczema and although I tried many remedies I did not find permanent relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I did a little work my hands got sore and me greatly, especially my fingers and joints which were swollen and cracked, so that I could scarcely use them. Finally as the result of a statement I read, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them very long when I found they were helping me. I then got a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone my troubles and the troubles had disappeared. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I might have been spared the suffering I endured, and saved the money spent for other treatments that did not help me. I hope many more sufferer will benefit by my experience."

If your blood is out of order bathe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and note their speedy beneficial results. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Great Distinction For Canada

Senator DanDonald of Montreal is President of League of Nations

The president of the League of Nations is the Hon. Senator Raoul Dandurand, of Montreal. "The world has no higher pedestal on which to place a man," said he (mention a position of very great distinction not only for the occupant but for the country represented. Senator Dandurand presided at the assembly of 1926 and attended the special session in March of 1926 as one of Canadian delegation.

THREE HAPPY FAMILIES

Among the recent newcomers to the Canadian West are three large British families who arrived at Halifax on February 25th, on board the Cunarder Alaunia from Liverpool.

All are bound for Vancouver, and travelled under the special reduced rate arranged for by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Some indication of what they think of the adventure of the voyage, and their delight in coming to Canada, may be gathered from their happy intervieued faces.

Mrs. Newport, Bloomsbury, sent wires and gives evidence. The other family is from Doncaster, also bound for British Columbia. The photograph shows them on the dock of the Alaunia.

The Right Answer.—"Should wives be paid wages?" asked a writer in a recent article in a magazine.

"Certainly!" says a married man of our acquaintance. "What do you think I send my wife out to work for?"

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking at the nose, extreme nervousness, dizziness, convulsions. Under these conditions one of the best remedies that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and they pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

Remarkable Man Who Was Friend And Confidant Of Princes And Paupers Alike

Colonel George Henry Ham, familiarly referred to by most people as "George Ham," was not only one of the best known and most popular men in Canada. He also enjoyed the distinction of having probably been called more names than any other citizen of the Dominion. Let us hasten to add the names were friendly and complimentary to the highest degree. They included "A large body of superbly humanity entirely surrounded by the Canadian Pacific Railway (Sir Thomas MacTavish); "A great national asset" (Sir Thomas White); "The greatest unpaid press agent in Canada." (Editor's Weekly); "Ambassador in Chief of the C.P.R."; "The Mark Twain of Canada," and "Canada's Laughing Philosopher" opinion is unanimous that an deserved them all.

George Henry Ham came most into the public eye through his connection with the Canadian Pacific. But his career embraced far more than his service with that railway, long as it was. He made his mark in a great many of fields other than that of entertaining visitors and handling publicity for the railway. The records show, his biography bore him a more than one name to have been soldier, editor, reporter, lieutenant-governor, clerk, editor, printer, alderman, school trustee, lecturer, commissioner and newspaper editor things All of which goes to prove that he was nothing if not versatile.

The career of this remarkable man who was first feted and rechristened a princes, statesmen, generals, pulitmeteorians, and women, famous in every sphere, and yet who was also big enough at the same time to be the friend and confidant of newsboys, began on August 23, 1847, when he was born in Truscan, Ontario. He was the son of a country doctor of United Loyalist stock. His father later took up the more congenial occupation of lawyer and he was formed a business associate of Sir John A. Macdonald. His parents moved to Whitby while he was still a few years on age he "decided." His biography records, "to go with them." He was educated at the Henry Street public school and Whitby Grammar School.

His first experience as a soldier was in 1861 when he entered the Canadian militia for service at the time of the trouble over the Trent affair. In 1866 and 1870 he again served with a view to abetting in the defence of Canada against the Fenians. Sir Sandlaughs made him honorary lieutenant-colonel in the Canadian militia in May, 1914. The first firmapper he worked for was the the Whitby Chronicle. Guelph, Uxbridge and Toronto in turn knew him as a member of the staff of papers published within their limits. Then, in 1875, hearing the call of the west which then attracted so many thousands of young Canadians, he went to Winnipeg, which he was destined to brighten with his sunny presence for many years. Within a week he had secured a position as printer on the Free Press, and in less than four years became city editor. Next he branched out as publisher of a paper of his own, The Tribune, later amalgamated with the Times. From this work he had to retire owing to ill-health, and for some years he held various civic offices in Winnipeg and the neighborhood.

When the North West Rebellion broke out in 1885, George Ham acted as correspondent at the front for the Toronto Mail. He had many exciting experiences, not the least of which was a share in the running of a block ade at Battleford by the steamer Northcote. Next he was appointed to the position of immigration agent, with headquarters at Winnipeg, a post he held for nine years. During this period he was responsible for bringing to the Canadian West, and participated in the scenes of the white prisoners released by the Canadian Pacific Railway in the rebellion of 1885. In 1894 the big opportunity of his life came, Sir William Van Horne met him at Winnipeg and offered him a position with the title of Travelling Passenger Agent, but with duties similar to those he always carried out for the remainder He accepted and he never parted with that one. The break remained on the payroll to the Canadian Pacific Railway to his death. He advanced steadily in the company, occasionally changing the name of his work widened until at last he took charge of the whole of the publicity and exploitation work of the railway.

THE LATE COL. GEO. HENRY HAM

Colonel Ham was a prolific writer, and his books and pamphlets on Canada and Canadian affairs were legion in number. Among the best known were "Peeps at Many Lands," "Canada," "Dawn in the Dominion," "Reminiscences of the Northwest Rebellion," "Western Canada and the Western People," "Memories of a Montreal Police Court Reporter," "Sir John Thompson," "Sir Mackenzie Bowell," "Sir Charles Tupper," "Sir Wilfrid Laurier," "Sir Robert Borden," "Sir Arthur Currie," "Sir Sam Hughes," "Sir Thomas White," "Sir Henry Thornton," "Lord Shaughnessy," "Lord Atholstan," "Lord Beaverbrook," "Lord Byng," "Lord Willingdon," "Lord Bessborough," "Lord Jellicoe," "Lord Beatty," "Lord Haig," "Lord Cavan," "Lord Plumer," "Lord Allenby

A MEDICINE THAT ALL MOTHERS PRAISE

Baby's Own Tablets Banish Babyhood and Childhood Ailments

Mrs. H. Oshiw, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets in my home for the past fifteen years and I believe the good health my children enjoy is due entirely to this medicine. The Tablets are helpful at teething time, relieve colds and are always beneficial in the minor ailments of little ones. I have recommended Baby's Own Tablets to other mothers whose experience with them has been as satisfactory as my own." Baby's Own Tablets do one thing only, but they do it well. They act as a gentle laxative which thoroughly regulates the bowels and sweetens the stomach, thus banishing constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fever, and turn the cross, sickly baby into a well, happy, laughing child.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Wil liams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Orient Likes Canadian Wheat

Remarkable increases in Oriental demand for Canadian wheat is revealed in the regular statistical report of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. To the end of February the total shipments for the crops of the British Empire and the rest of the world were 16,601,754 bushels, as against 3,913,- 1503 bushels in 1924-25 and 8,501,200 bushels in 1923-24. This increase is due to growing favor of Canadian hard wheat, and to the fact that prices were right this season.

GOD'S COVENANT WITH NOAH

Golden Text: I do set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth Genesis 9:13

Lesson: Genesis 6:5-7; 9:8-17.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 103:8-16

Explanations and Comments

I. Antediluvian Wickedness and Its Consequences. Read the account of stories of the Flood, under the title "Light from Archaeology," and then in the Teacher-Training Textbook, pp. 168.

The story explains an unusual flood as caused by God's wrath at the wickedness of the human race and the consequent desire to destroy all mankind. Noah and his family alone excepted. The conception of an angry God who repented having made man was natural to men when first groping after a knowledge of the true God

II. Building and Entering the Ark, 6.13 to 7.16. Amidst all the wickedness, Noah lived a blameless life. "God in a special manner pleased with those that are good in bad times and places. Noah was therefore illustriously righteous, because he was so in that wicked and adulterous generation," (Matthew Henry). By faith, Noah, being warned of God concerning things not seen as yet, moved with godly fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house, (Hebrews 11:7). The ark was built of cypress and coated with pitch; in shape it was like a chest with flat bottom, four hundred and fifty feet long, seventy-five feet broad, and forty-five feet in depth. All around just under the roof a space was left open for light and air, the roof being supported by posts. Its three decks were divided into compartments.

Strangled with Asthma is the only expression that seems to convey what is endured from an attack of this trouble. The relief from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is beyond expression. Where all was suffering there comes comfort and rest. Breathing becomes normal and the bronchial tubes completely cleared. This unequalled remedy is worth many times its price to all who use it.

British Families Coming

Twelve hundred British families are expected this year under the 3,000 family migration scheme, now in operation between Canada and Great Britain. The original agreement extends over three years, and if the anticipated 4,200 families arrive in 1926, one-half of the three thousand will be in the Dominion and the agreement will have one more year to run.

CHARACTER TELLS THE STORY!

Doctors throughout this country are giving more thought to hygiene and to the purity of remedies on the market, but no one doubts the purity of Doctor Pierce's vegetable medicines, for they have been so favorably known for many years that everyone knows they are just what they are claimed to be. These medicines are the result of long research by a well-known physician, R. V. Pierce, M. D., who compounded them from valuable herbs giving herbs and roots long used in old-time by the Indians. Dr. Pierce's reputation as a leading and honored citizen of Buffalo, is a business guarantee for the purity of that splendid tonic and blood purifier, the Golden Medical Discovery, and the equally fine nerve tonic and system builder for women's ailments, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. OPPOSITE VIEWS ARE AIRED IN BUDGET DEBATE

Ottawa.—Continuing the budget debate, Mr Marcil stated that the year's financial statement was noted for its announcement of a reduction in taxation and increase in trade and an improvement in the Canadian National Railways.

Another feature of the budget which will be popular, said Mr Marcil, was the return to penny postage. Canada was a pioneer in the experiment of penny postage, back in the days when Sir William Mulock was postmaster general. The experiment had proved very profitable then, and Mr Marcil thought it very fitting that Canada should go back to the two-cent stamp

In spite of all the smuggling which was said to be going on, Mr Marcil drew attention to the fact that there had been a considerable increase in the net sum collected on customs duties. There would be a certain amount of smuggling in any case, he thought and the returns of the customs department showed a very satisfactory increase.

Mr. Bureau supported the reduction in the tariff on motor cars. The motor Canadian price was made to those in the United States, the purchaser would be the people in all the provinces in the country in this country. This was done in the case of fast motor boats exempted in the 1926 amending tariffs, the limit of cars might be as far out as 30 or 35 miles."

MAY NOW EXTEND SEARCH LIMIT FOR RUM RUNNERS

Ottawa—Extension of the limit of search to 30 or 35 miles from the United States shore is mentioned as a possibility in the correspondence between the British ambassador at Washington and the department of state at Ottawa. This correspondence was tabled in the House of Commons in reply to a question concerning reports of the Canadian rejection of the offer of Long Island, in October, 1924.

Under date of October 15 1924, concerning the seizure of the liquor laden schooner One Paragraph of his letter reads:

"It was pointed out by the assistant United States Attorney that the Provinces was expected if it came from the shore on evidence that also was reached by the house boat K 14622 less than one hour's run, and the most United States attorney stated he believed that in the case of fast motor boats engaged in the liquor smuggling traffic, the limit of cars might be as far out as 30 or 35 miles."

Favors Limitation Of Armaments

U. S. Would Welcome Completion of Work of 1921 Conference Says Kellogg

New York.—United States policies on outstanding international issues were hailed by Frank B Kellogg secretary of state, in an address at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press.

On the question of armament limitation, the secretary said the United States Government would welcome an agreement which would complete the work begun in Washington" at the 1921 conference.

Secretary Kellogg pledged in this connection that the Coolidge administration would use parliamentary armament conference in Geneva would "use their influence in favor of projects which may be practical in their application and realizable in their development."

He reminded the audience, parties to the hundred battle, American journalists present as guests of the Associated Press, that the time politics of this country compelled "no delay for imperialism, acquisition of territory, political or economical dominations."

This was the information given to delegates who were present at the meeting in the city council chamber to form a provincial U.F.A. association for the return of the deputation, which was headed by D F Kellner, Federated Progressive candidate for Athabasca, who stated that many of the witnesses will be out of the country if the probe is not held before September.

He has intimated steps will be taken in the matter before the Ottawa authorities.

British Alarmed By German-Soviet Pact

Believe Berlin is Being Fooled By Soviet Minister

London—The British, who had viewed the conclusion of the Russian-German pact with complacency, now are becoming alarmed, not because they distrust the Germans, but become information has come to them which indicates that while the Germans are "playing" they possibly are being fooled by Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, who is regarded as the cleverest diplomat in Europe.

British diplomats are confident that Russia is meditating an attack on Rumania, both to obtain the return of Bessarabia, generally is admitted to be more Russian than Rumanian, and to damp down the dis content of the Ukrainians. The Kremlin politicians hope will be a victorious foreign war. The Red army is reported to be getting restless and untrustworthy and the Soviet leaders feel that they must give it an occupation in order to render it innocuous.

Suggests Amendment Of Naturalization Act

Miss MacPhail Would Have Canadian Girls Marrying Aliens Retain British Citizenship

Ottawa.—Miss Agnes MacPhail proposes to move in the House of Commons that the Canadian girl who marries an alien in Canada or elsewhere in Canada shall not lose her British citizenship by the mere act of marriage. Miss MacPhail's proposal is that the "Naturalization Act be amended to provide that a woman of British nationality residing in Canada shall not lose or be deemed to have lost by her act of marriage with an alien, her right it should be open to her to retain the status of a British subject she should so desire." Miss MacPhail's resolution, although not immediately before, will, on account of their number, give particular reference to marriages between Canadian girls and Americans.

Under date of October 15 1924, concerning the seizure of the liquor laden schooner One Paragraph of his letter reads:

"It was pointed out by the assistant United States Attorney that the Provinces was expected if it came from the shore on evidence that also was reached by the house boat K 14622 less than one hour's run, and the most United States attorney stated he believed that in the case of fast motor boats engaged in the liquor smuggling traffic, the limit of cars might be as far out as 30 or 35 miles."

The Tyle deals with the ownership of the Dominion rather than with how the shore on evidence that also was reached by the house boat K 14622 less than one hour's run, and the most United States attorney stated he believed that in the case of fast motor boats engaged in the liquor smuggling traffic, the limit of cars might be as far out as 30 or 35 miles."

Will Lead Liberals

Joseph T Shaw of Calgary Chosen Chief of Party in Alberta

Edmonton Practically unanimous in refusing a resolution made on the floor of the convention by Ed F Ryan, Calgary lawyer, that nomination for a provincial Liberal leader be not made until after the provincial general election, Alberta Liberals in executive meeting gave enthusiastic endorsation to the only name placed in nomination, that of Joseph T Shaw of Calgary.

The choice was made by executive after casting every provincial constituency, and as explained by Hon W G Dunbaum, who took the chair at the opening of the convention, this form of nomination had been adopted because

RESUME WORK OF CONSTRUCTION ON H. B. ROAD

Ottawa.—The first that parliament has already appropriated one-twelfth of the total expenditure of $25,000,000 to ward the completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway, has led to a start being made, already, upon the operations time-twelfth of the estimate amounts to $250,000, and as Le Pas operations are now under way for pushing the existing line to shape and installation of additional construction will be necessary. When Hon C A Dunning became minister of railways he spoke at Regina and declared that one of his main objectives was the completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway. An appropriation of three million dollars appears in the estimates this year, and with what has been voted already the minister is in a position to go ahead with fairly adequate opera tion in anticipation that the line will be ready for completion by 1927. Last year it was finished by parliament. The Pas is placing the existing line in shape and of continuing the construction will be carried forward under the direction of the Canadian National Railways. There is now no doubt that the whole of the railway will be completed ready for completion and not in any letters in number but with all speed possible.

Refuse To Legalize Betting

Bill Introduced in British House of Commons is Defeated

London—The House of Commons rejected the bill intended to legalize betting and license bookmakers, 128 to 55. The measure was introduced by Edwin Scrymgeour prohibition member for Dundee.

The question of legalizing betting and permitting it on a race-track under consideration for a long time, and recently it was reported that Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, cruising around for some new source of revenue to aid the budget, had lighted upon betting as the most fruitful possibility for a new tax.

The church people have been strongly opposed to such a measure as well as several members of the cabinet some of whom, Mr Churchill was said to have won over to his side.

Cost Of Completing Hudson Bay Railway

Figures Given to House by Sir Henry Thornton

Ottawa The Hudson Bay Railway will cost $7,000,000 to complete and a further $4,750,000 to put into operation. This is the opinion of Sir Henry Thornton of the National Railways, transmitted through Sir Henry Thornton's office in reply to a question in the House of Commons, and tabled in that chamber.

Grading was completed some years ago, but by now it requires considerable repairs, was one of the occasions on the 5th.

Will Enter Politics

A MEMORIAL AVENUE

It is an excellent idea, which has originated with the Edmonton branch of the horticultural and forestry association, that of planting a memorial avenue from the city by some main artery to a neighboring town. The people of Fort Saskatchewan have taken it up and believe very long there should be a continuous line of trees between the two communities, which will add greatly to the attractiveness of the well-travelled highway. The work will commence simultaneously from both ends. The first tree will be planted by the lieutenant governor on May day and each person who contributed a loan in the great war will be invited to plant a tree, which will be tagged with a small memorial plate until he is large enough for one of a more permanent character. The association has agreed to maintain the trees for three years. The way in which the project has been taken up indicates that there can be little doubt of its being carried through successfully. It should in course of time be followed by the establishment of similar avenues to other nearby places.

Social and Personal

Mrs. H. Bugden is a patient in the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Thomas, of Josephburg, left Saturday for Stony Plain, where Mr. Thomas has secured the agency for "Pep" gasoline.

Mrs. E. D. LaRiche returned home last Saturday from the Lamont hospital, where she had undergone an operation the past three months. While there Mrs. LaRiche underwent two serious operations. At First Trees Presbyterian at Reatters, are what kinds are most suitable and where may they be obtained. Of trees the Russian poplar and cottonwood are the most rapid growers but are short lived and the Russian poplar is subject to a canker which has done much damage the tree very much. The Manitoba maple is not hardy in many parts, is also not as silver of growth but are hardy and long lived and white spruce, jack pine and lodgepole are difficult to transplant are also slow of growth for the first three years after transplanting but are hardy, long lived and effective in both winter and summer. Of the shrubs, caragana, common lilac, Tartarian honeysuckle, native Manitoba plum, Siberian crabapple and dogwood are satisfactory either as individual shrubs or as hedges and they are all hardy.

These may be had from reliable nurseries but the most satisfactory method is to grow them yourself from cuttings or seeds. Elm seed is easily gathered in Winnipeg and almost any orchardist will be glad to give a few pounds in May or early June at a very low cost. Ash seed may be similarly obtained in most of the Western cities. Apple, plum and honeysuckle seeds may be obtained from some of the early settlers of the districts of Morden, Man., and Rathern, Sask., and caragana seed can be had almost anywhere. Elm seed must be sown shortly after it is gathered but ash and caragana will retain their vitality for at least a year and are better sown in the spring. The poplars and dogwood are easily started from cuttings. Evergreens and lilacs are more difficult to start and more satisfactory results would seem by buying young plants from the forestry station or from the nurseries.

Strange, Romantic Love Adventures of the Flapper you know!

Joanna

by H. L. GATES

Copyright 1925 by H.L. GATES

Published by arrangement with First National Pictures, Inc.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Joanna, pretty, modern, a shop girl, making her way through the world is summoned into the presence of Gregory Gordon, her employer, to learn that an unknown man has given her a commission to spend as she wishes. Joanna, accordingly, goes to the theatre in the matinee of this deluge of money. She is told that the man who knows her is the same who is giving the money. There are no "strings" to the gift. You will not be asked to flirt—anything," said Gregory, in reply to her questions. Still unable to understand this over-whelming interest, she is sent to a banker Eccleston where the money is on deposit.

"If your benefactor has three millions," the banker's manner of monotonous drawling upon the third of a financial fortune, they will be given the bank, and will have to do with additions to your funds at the rate of one a day. At any rate, the present deposit seems enough for you to live on for a time, and you should not require the cash to last your lifetime, so that it may still be withdrawn from him. It could not be in any event as long as this fund is properly transferred to your account. You must accept it, to do with it as you will. You will not be asked for an accounting."

"And it's really true that I don't have to go back to the silks? To my job at the store?"

Eccleston's smile was quizzical. "I should be rather astonished to know that a young woman with a million dollars in the bank wanted to be concerned as much with the selling of silks as the buying of them."

Joanna nodded. "If I had a million dollars you can bet the last shot on your hip—I mean you can bet I'd do a lot of fool things, all right!"

"I wonder!" Eccleston commented, shortly. Joanna looked up at him quickly, detecting the harshness in his voice. "Oh," she sobered again gravely as if to defend herself against his implied disapproval; "I don't mean I'd sit into dancing pumps, you know!"

The girl floundered. She'd never thought much beyond dancing pumps and their kindred things.

"What else, then?"—Eccleston repeated.

There was nothing for Joanna to do but fall back upon her subterfuge. She had many subterfuges. They covered a multitude of a girl's needs nowadays.

"Wait until something like what you're kidding me about really happens," she said at last, bright-eyed.

"Perhaps that will be the better logic," the banker agreed, his voice still hard in the unpleasant manner, and laughter that it compounded after the famous Taylor formula from roots, barks and herbs.

If hops are not used they are from fermentation. Lane Pharmacal Company, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind.

The girl's wits swam again. She picked up the hoop of long, shaded leaves, and swallowed it curious. Here, at her finger tips, would be the fortune that she had dreamed of. Those torn old roses her mother—

It was a terrible temptation—

The banker watched her.

CHAPTER IV.

The First Triumph and Defeat

With the ruby notes in her hand as solid dollars pressed on the table by the teller with Eccleston, the grave impenetrable banker, and Frazer, their dour chauffeur, easy manner—the touch of the new world into which she was being ushered, silently watching her, Joanna ceased her eyes in quiet contemplation with herself.

It was real! The fantasy had become a display of life—with Miss Twenty-seven of the Silks! lifted from the valley to the heights where there possibly couldn't be any shadows.

Weekly, she made new battle for order pending, and again lost. Then four men, one of which, she was sure, knew the whole story of her discovery would tell her nothing. Brandon produced in know no more than she; he declared that the banker had told him nothing of the motive or the source of her sudden bonanza of gold.

"But," said Brandon, "you will not shut me out, I hope, from the rest of the wonders. You will let me walk with you, now and then, along your new paths?"

In addition to being drunk, he had spoken disrespectfully of Mussolini. People have to speak softly in Italy these days.—Hamilton Herald.

DRAGGING-DOWN PAINS RELIEVED

Woman Suffered Nearly a Year. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Her Health.

Moose Jaw, Sask.—"I am going to try to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very badly with dragging-down pains and inflammation, also pains in my right side over my hip and down my whole side into my leg. I had it nearly a year when I went to a doctor and he said I would have to have an operation. But my mother said to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it saved her life years before. I took five bottles and I found I was better. So I kept on taking it and also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I have had two more children since then and am perfectly well. I used to have to be down two or three times a day, and now I do all my housework without trouble. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house and I find a dose now and then helps me. I am willing for you to use this letter any way you see fit and I will answer letters, if I can help another woman I'd be only too glad to try."—Mrs. Ernest Hougstun, 712 Athabasca W., Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

Failure Of One-Crop System

Attention Now Being Given to the Growing of Legumes

By Jas. D. McGregor, Glenlea-sock Farms, Brandon, Manitoba.

Western Canada in the past has been a small grain growing country. The climate, soil and all other conditions have combined here to instill the great grain fields to the exclusion of other lines of farming. However, now that has been farmed from 10 to 25 years the production has decreased from various causes and the production is certainly getting alarmingly serious.

All one-crop or grain farmers real ize sooner or later that the fundamental principle of farming is being neglected, that the decrease in yields and unsatisfactory cash results, plant diseases and other pests is due to the one-crop system which deplores the fundamental principle of farming, namely, that a balanced ration must be supplied for animals as well as humans if they would be healthy. Hence, the great interest being taken in live stock at this and other points is not for those here alone but because they will be benefited by which the profitable feeding and production of small grains may be maintained.

The one-crop system is not peculiar to Western Canada as all new countries have partaken in the crop most readily grown and which gave the best cash return. When this crop has ceased to be profitable usually due to depletion of soil fertility attention has been given to the growing of other crops, the raising of livestock and perhaps to the use of some common kind of fertilizer.

"Legume" is the name of a class of plants of which alfalfa, sweet clover and other closely related, peas, vetches, beans, etc. The seed is borne in one form of pod. This class of plants differ from all others in that they provide a means of obtaining nitrogen from the air. Nitrogen is one of the essential elements of plant food. No plant can make any growth whatever without it, and it is the most expensive element when bought in commercial fertilizer. It is also the most abundant element in nature, as more than half the air is nitrogen. Hence clovers, alfalfa, etc., legumes are utilized for the purpose of restoring this element of soil fertility to our animals, and particularly main roots, must have nitrogen in their food, for no growth or milk can be made without nitrogen.

All plants use nitrogen, but the grains, grasses, corn, etc., must rely on the small available store in the soil while the legumes may draw on the unlimited stores in the air. For this reason the hay and seed from legumes are much richer in nitrogen than that from the grains and grasses. Legumes obtain this atmospheric nitrogen by the aid of bacteria which live in tubercles on their roots. In less these bacteria are present, the legume would be no more able to utilize the atmospheric nitrogen than any other plant. When the bacteria are not present, or for any reason will not grow on the roots the legume will not produce satisfactorily because it is natural for these plants to obtain a part of their nitrogen from the air. Artificial inoculation, liming the soil etc., may be employed to advantage especially on poorer soils.

Farmers of the old farming regions resort to every known means of manure plant food and returning it to the soil. Here in the new country, where land is worked out, we have moved on west or north, to new land, or cleared the timber from new land.

The greatest asset of the farmer is his soil fertility. Like fortunes, this fertility may either be spent over and over again, or it can be dissipated and wasted in a few years. When yields are below the cost of production, we know what they formerly were, it is evident that there is need for studying this situation. Rotation of crops aids in controlling weeds, plant diseases and insect pests, and also enables the farmer to feed livestock and return a part of the fertility to the soil in the shape of barnyard manure.

The time is here when these things must receive attention, and prudent is the farmer who adopts a system of farming that will save soil fertility, and keep his land free of weeds and plant diseases, while he is yet able to do so.

Between radio and television a person may have a hard time soon minding his own business.

GREAT WAR PICTURES SHOWN IN MEMORIAL HALL

Lantern slides and moving pictures of the Great War were shown to a small audience at the Memorial hall Tuesday night. They were shown by C. G. McNeill, a gentleman well and favorably known to all members of the G.W.V.A. Mr. McNeill also gave a short address concerning the efforts to amalgamate all veteran bodies with the British Empire Service League. With this object in view a convention of all veteran organizations will be held at the Palliar hotel, Calgary, on June 3, when it is anticipated an Alberta provincial command of the proposed Canadian Legion of Canada under the British Empire Service League will be organized. We are not positive that this will be the correct title of the new organization, as our informant was a Scotchman whose brogue was working at full capacity at the time, but move will be learned after the convention.

About fifteen members of the Edmonton branch of the G.W.V.A. accompanied Mr. McNeill and we have occasion to believe they had a good time.

NO CHANGE AT PRESENT IN SANITATION SYSTEM

A well-attended meeting of rate payers was held at the town hall last Friday to discuss a new privy system suggested by the provincial sanitary inspector. In view of difficulties with regard to securing the services of a person to act as town scavenger, the council looked to concrete cess pits for each household, as suggested by the sanitary inspector, as a way out of the difficulty.

Despite the fact, or it may have been on account of the fact that the meeting was advertised to take place by means of about six small type written notices around the town, there was a large attendance. The real reason for the interest shown was the rumor that was current to the effect that the council was going to "put something over" and the tax-

OBITUARY

The funeral service of Glen Adams, aged fifteen, who died Monday morning, April 26, following an auto accident in which his chum Asa Rogers was killed, was held Thursday after noon from the Union church, Rev. C. E. A. Pocock officiating, assisted by Rev. M. L. Wright.

He is grieved for by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Adams, brothers Lyle, Arthur, Aubrey and Edward, and sisters Helen and Anita, of Fort Saskatchewan, brothers Douglas, of Spokane, Wash., and Vernon, of Newport, Wash.

The First Troop Boy Scouts of Fort Saskatchewan, acted as pallbearers, and color guard, Oscar Lamoureux, scoutmaster, in charge. The funeral procession was preceded by the First Troop Boy Scouts, of which the deceased was a member, followed by the pupils of the local school.

A great many floral tributes were received, an expression of sympathy from friends and neighbors.

Interment was made in the local cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of W. J. Foster, Fort Saskatchewan.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CLOVER BAR, NO. 517

The council of the Municipal District of Clover Bar, No. 517, held their regular monthly meeting on Saturday, May 1, with all members in attendance.

Messrs. A. M. Sutherland and J. D McLean were in attendance at the meeting to discuss the matter of the proposed road, along the east side of the gaol farm, to the Fort cemetery. After the adjournment for lunch, the council, in company with Mr McLean and Mr. Hunter, viewed the site of the proposed roadway in order to secure first hand information regarding the cost of constructing the same. Before making any definite commitment regarding same it was decided to delegate Councillor Peters and the secretary to attend the next meeting of the town council in order to ascertain more definitely their views regarding the suggestion of acquiring another site for a cemetery.

Two offers for the purchase of the lots in Capilano sub-division owned by the District were received. It was

GOOD START MADE ON MEMORIAL AVENUE

A number of our foremost citizens were on hand bright and early Monday morning digging holes and making preparations for the planting of trees. At eleven o'clock Rev. C. E. A. Pocock asked God's blessing on the undertaking and the mayor thereupon planted the first tree on the Fort Saskatchewan end of Memorial avenue. This was at the Memorial hall corner. The work was continued throughout the greater part of the day and the avenue completed to the Anglican church corner.

The Dominion Budget

While naturally there will be differences of opinion in regard to details of the Budget presented to Parliament by Hon. J. A Robb, it will, taken as a whole, be acceptable to the people of Canada as constituting the first substantial measure of relief from the burden of taxation imposed upon them by the war, something which a few years ago it seemed would not be enjoyed by the present generation.

The chief reduction in taxation is that resulting from the changes in the Income Tax. Those changes are so arranged as to bring the greatest measure of relief to those in receipt of the smaller incomes. It is estimated that almost one-third of all people formerly paying income taxes on annual incomes will now be entirely exempt, while declared reductions are made in the case of those who will still have something to pay. The reduction in the case of these whose incomes are largely derived from investments and dividends will not be so material.

The celebration of next Dominion Day by a return to the old two-cent postage rate means a saving to each individual Canadian. It may not mean much to the casual letter writer, but it is an important contribution to the more economical conduct of business. Furthermore, it is doubtful if it will mean any considerable reduction in postal revenues inasmuch as many business houses will again revert to the postal letter as a two-cent circular instead of relying so largely on unsealed circular letters at the one-cent postage rate, but who found the three-cent rate prohibitive where large numbers of letters were involved. Nevertheless it must the post office department just as much be handle the unsealed circular as it did to handle the sealed one.

Public discussion of the tariff changes centres almost exclusively on the lowering of the duties on automobiles of the cheaper types. The immediate effect has been a reduction in automobile prices, welcomed by the public generally, but which some automobile manufacturers insist means the closing of Canadian factories because they cannot compete with those in the United States. This remains to be seen, because no less an authority than Henry Ford states that his firm can manufacture just as cheaply in Canada as in the United States, and that they he been getting higher prices in Canada simply because it was possible to get them by reason of tariff protection." The tariff reductions may mean a smaller profit per car to the manufacturer, but, according to Mr. Ford, cheaper cars means more cars sold, and the more cars sold, the larger the manufacturers' profits. Further, up to a certain point, the more cars manufactured, the lower the cost of manufacture per car.

People are interested in learning what additional developments have taken place to make these reductions possible. Apparently there are two main factors

In the first place, there had been a notable improvement in business conditions throughout the Dominion, with a large increase in the trade of the country, increased industrial activity, and a lessening in unemployment. The bountiful crops of last year were largely instrumental in effecting this improvement. As a result, government revenues have been substantially increased, thus assisting to make tax reductions possible.

The second main factor is the decided betterment in the finances of the Canadian National Railways. A few years ago this system was notional in name only. It consisted of a list of separate railways, several of them more or less at loose ends, and the services being provided were a subject of sharp criticism and even ridicule. Now, under Sir Henry Thornton's management, the various lines have been co-ordinated and consolidated in a truly national system, and the services provided compare favorably with the best on the continent. The confidence and patronage of the public has been gained, the result being that whereas a few years ago the railways did not even cover its operating expenses, and the Dominion treasury was called upon for sixty to seventy million dollars a year to meet deficits and interest charges, last year there was a large surplus an operation, making it necessary for the Government to advance only a tenth of the sum previously required to meet foreign charges.

The removal of this enormous drain on the treasury enabled the Government to reduce the burdens of taxation on the people as a whole. A continuation and further expansion of business means larger direct revenues to the Government, but it also means increased traffic for the railways and a still greater betterment in C.N.R. finances. The figures for last March show that not only is the betterment being maintained, but increased, not one month during that month showing an increase over a year ago of over two and a half million dollars, or 164 per cent.

The sum and substance of the whole matter is that the people of Canada are working out their own salvation, and by hard work, the solution of their problems, and real determination are putting Canada on its feet.

States Of Canadian Children

Have Very Best Chance Of A Square Deal

A square deal for every child according to a contributor, would help the world to go around.

But there was never a time in the world's history when, and there never was a country where, the child had a better chance of a square deal than the present time and our own country. The very fact that individual cases of the abuse of children attract so much attention is in itself evidence. That prevent states of the child under our law is an evidence that there is such a thing as progress in civilization.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review

RHEUMATIC PAIN AND THIN BLOOD

Liniments of No Avail — The Trouble Must be Treated Through the Blood

The most a rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing something on the outside, aching joints is a little relief and all the while the trouble is getting worse from weeks to months. It is now known that rheumatism is rooted in the blood, and that as the trouble goes on the blood becomes still further thin and watery. To get rid of rheumatism, therefore, you must get to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved so beneficial when taken for this trouble. They make new, rich blood which expels the poisonous uric acid and other impurities from the system, and relieves the pain. Mrs. Joseph Lavergne, Ste. Agathe, Que., suffered for years with rheumatism and strong, who thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that they are now free from the aches and pains of this dreaded trouble. One of those is Mr. Robt. A. Smith, Mercer Point, N.B., who says:—"Some years ago I was attacked with rheumatism, which grew so bad that I could not walk and had to get around under the doctor's care. It is needless to say that I suffered a great deal of suffering The doctor's medicine did not seem to reach the trouble, so when I was told to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I did so, and after taking them for some weeks I was able to get out of bed. I continued using the pills and was then able to work, and I have not been troubled with rheumatism since. My further prospects also I received a great deal of benefit from these pills and I think them a wonderful medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sleepless Race Possible

People Could Gradually Eliminate Sleep Says Physician

We are told that too much sleep may be harmful, deadening the activities of the mind and body. A physician who has been studying the mysteries of sleep, has gone so far as to advance the theory that it may be possible to develop a sleepless race. He declares that eventually we may eliminate sleep by making it down gradually and getting accustomed to going without it. A way to do this, he suggests, is to reduce our sleep five minutes every two months. At the end of sixteen years, provided we start at eight hours a night, "the danger of sleep would be banished if it could be."

First Woman Decorated With Legion Of Honor

Won Stripes of Second Lieutenant in Early Revolutionary War

Recent bestowals on a goodly number of women of the coveted cross of the Legion of Honor have served to bring to light the first case of its kind.

The first woman to be so decorated was Marie Schrijter, who might be well described at the Molly Pitcher of France.

She volunteered in the armies of the Republic in the "year II" of the Revolutionary era, was wounded at the battle of Jemmapes, promoted sergeant and cited in dispatches before Arnaud, under army at Austerlitz and at Jena. When, in 1806, she came up for decoration, she had conquered the stripes of a second lieutenant.

Packing biscuits totalling 32,400 in 9½ hours, an English girl of 19, employed by the Shredded Wheat Company of Great Britain established a world's record. She had only been on the job a few weeks. The Marquis of Salisbury, who recently formally opened the company's new factory, congratulated the girl very warmly on her achievement.

Not a Sign of Backache Since

Saskatchewan Lady Took Dodd's Kidney Pills and Her Trouble of Three Years Standing Disappeared

Mrs. R. Kelsey Was Unsuccessful with all Other Remedies

Willow Brook, Sask. —(Special)— "I have been troubled with backache for almost three years. I have tried all kinds of medicines but they didn't help me at all.

"I sent for some Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me much good. I have not had a sign of backache since."

This statement comes from Mrs. R. Kelsey, who resides in this district and whose name is well known throughout the country.

Weak kidneys are not confined to grown people only. They are too often found in children, sowing the seeds of future ills unless the kidneys be strengthened and put in condition to do their full work.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been tried and found to be an excellent kidney remedy. They will do you good at once, and, better still, time will prove that the good they do is lasting.

Canadian Seed Grain Growers Now Reaping The Reward Of Applying Scientific Methods

Canadian seed grain growers are now reaping the reward that attends the application of scientific methods to industries of all kinds. Careful selection of parent stock and careful cultivation to high initiates have resulted in the production of many grains that is winning its way throughout the world because of its intrinsic merit and the results obtained when tested to the best of all schools, that of actual experiment. Fraud of the cultivating market for their wares has entirely and practically ousted the home grower who earlier in the year filled a record order from the Argentine. The steamship Manitoba, that sailed from New York for Buenos Aires on February 20 last, carried 2,000 bushels of pedigree oats, 2,000 wheat and 2,000 bushels of pedigreed Scanner oats shipped from the Canadian Government experimental plant at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, consigned to the Argentine Department of Agriculture. The seed was grown in Canada and selected by Canadian farmers. The wheat in this consignment brought $2.60 a bushel, the oats $1 a bushel, following the New York rate.

For two years the seed growers' association has been sending expert orders. It has also been busy carrying on demonstration in twenty-five countries to prove the superiority of Canadian seed grain in its efforts have been backed up by the Canadian trade commissioners, and the Argentine order was the result of this intelligent cooperation. Holders of pedigreed seed in South America, the association sent a ton of registered alfalfa seed to Sweden, and another ton to ship a trade load of seed oats to Australia.

The Canadian farmers have been quick to recognize the greater profits to be won from high quality products. Their seed is used in increasing quantities in the United States. They have shown enterprise and progressive qualities that make for success in farming as well as in other businesses.

Dominion Seed Branch is Inspecting All Seed Houses to Maintain Standards

A general inspection of all the pioneers of the seed trade is in progress over Western Canada, according to a statement made by the Dominion seed branch. The seed and feed inspectors are inspecting all seed houses, local dealers, merchants and farmers' supplies with the object of maintaining as well as possible the various grades and standards. This is particularly necessary with seed potatoes, who are not as familiar with the grades of rivers and grasses as they ought to be and may be induced by low and somewhat unfamiliar and weedy seed. Canadian Land Company Founded In Germany

May Option On 20,000 Acres in Saskatchewan is Reported

The United States commerce department has been advised that the Canadian Land Company, capitalized at 50,000 reichmarks, has been formed in Berlin for the purchase, sale and handling of land in Canada.

Its founders, it was reported, will be given an option on 20,000 acres of land in Saskatchewan, acquired from the Canadian Pacific Railway. This will be divided into farms and sold chiefly to German immigrants.

The steamship Manitoba, that sailed from New York for Buenos Aires on February 20 last, carried 2,000 bushels of pedigree oats, 2,000 wheat and 2,000 bushels of pedigreed Scanner oats shipped from the Canadian Government experimental plant at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, consigned to the Argentine Department of Agriculture. Potato Cultivation In Alberta

Results of Tests Made in Planting of Value to Dry Grower

Early Northern, has proven the best yielder in variety tests of potatoes at the Lacombe Alberta Institution at experimental station, but being a pink variety is commercially not in best demand. Alaska seed, recently received from the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa, is also a heavy cropper, but is badly Curtilled and neglected most of these varieties in commercial quantities are not planted in Alberta.

The assistant in charge of the experimental station, Mr. Hamilton, says that potatoes should be planted in the middle of May, and not until the ground is warm. Seed should be cut in small pieces, two eyes to each piece, and planted in drills three feet apart and one foot apart in the drill. The seed pieces should be planted deep—from six to seven inches. Cultivation should be given as often as necessary to keep the weeds down. Potatoes should be dug as soon as the tops are dead. The tubers should be left in the ground for a few days after digging to allow the skins to harden. They should be stored in a cool, dry place.

Canadian Land Company Founded In Germany

May Option On 20,000 Acres in Saskatchewan is Reported

The United States commerce department has been advised that the Canadian Land Company, capitalized at 50,000 reichmarks, has been formed in Berlin for the purchase, sale and handling of land in Canada.

Its founders, it was reported, will be given an option on 20,000 acres of land in Saskatchewan, acquired from the Canadian Pacific Railway. This will be divided into farms and sold chiefly to German immigrants.

May Import Deer Meat

New Zealand Anxious To Establish Trade With Britain

Frozen deer meat may be shipped from New Zealand to Great Britain, and the United States, if the offer can be successfully established. This is the outcome of a campaign engaged in to reduce the hundreds of thousands of deer which are roaming such a menace to New Zealand pasture lands, and doing so much damage to forests. The opponents of the scheme complain that the export will lead to deer being farmed in the same way as rabbits

Opportunities In Canada

No Country Better For Young Man Says Roger Babson

Roger Babson, well known statistical bureau, gives it as his opinion that "there is no country which offers better opportunities to young men" than Canada. It has, he declares, emerged from a four year cycle of depression which followed the advances and inflation of the war and post-war years. All trend is unmistakably upward. All the basic business barometers—crops, industries, etc.—are favorable.

Birds Travel At Night

Birds which make long migrations travel for the most part by night, for several reasons, and one of them is that the air is then usually at seasons then. On the other hand they encounter many sea mews during the day, which is the favorite lights from automobiles and lighthouses that first attract and then blind them so that they lose their speed and become of their speed are killed by the impact.

Foreign Banker Comes to Prairies

Learning of the attractive opportunities in Canada for agriculturists, Count Jean Palocsiai, a wealthy banker and landowner of Czecho-Slovakia, is now in the Dominion seeking a suitable location to take up farming. He will probably purchase a large tract of land in Saskatchewan or Alberta, and states that many of his countrymen are coming to Western Canada to settle on farms.

Burbank the Wizard

The World Will Owe Much to Him Painless and Kindly

Luther Burbank belonged to the select company of great wizards of science, but he had not the commercial sense which brought fortunes to Edison, Ford and Marconi. Three years ago, at the age of 74, Burbank had to sell his experimental farm because people had not appreciated his work.

Future generations will reap where Burbank sowed. He did not see the wealth of a nation increased by hundreds of millions, as Canadians have seen through the perfection of Marquis wheat by Dr. Charles E. Saunders. Burbank's experiments, considered by many years, did not attain their end with great standard products like wheat. His splendors cactus, brought to a marvelous speed of the desert, and useful forage plant, which should mean something to the hot southwest The Burbank plum revolutionized plum growing in California, while the thornless blackberry deserves success as all horticulturists know to their cost.—Herbert

A giant verbena with a pleasant odor, a petunia nearly his inches in diameter, a certain rhubarb with its stalk increased from the size of a lead pencil to that of a man's wrist—these were some of his achievements. Burbank imparted delightful odors to illsmelling flowers: he developed a gladiolus with a flame-colored flower of enormous size; he originated the beautiful Shasta daisy, and he was on the way to a walnut with shell that could be broken with the fingers, when pitiful death overtook him. Burbank's inexhaustible patience and skill. He was in a class by himself. He is a splendid witness to the dependence of horticulture for its New World.—Toronto Globe.

Mrs. Alec Tweedie

Mrs. Alec Tweedie, a great traveller and impartial observer, has published the record of her journey to Ukhavina Russia, on official manner to the Soviet-inspired report of the Anglo-Trade Union delegation, which recently visited Russia.

This latter gives a detailed account from Bolshevik sources, which are always good—and more recent—of the ghastly conditions of that unhappy country, showing the real results of communism. The authors of the arguments are those of the highest reputation, experts in trade various departments, with M. Purcell, a former Russian minister, at the head.

Mrs. Tweedie gives her impressions of Russia as she saw it in May of last year, which is the time of the delegates' visit, and certainly it would be impossible to put a more terrible indictment. "The is empty," she says, "of persons sent of the two millions in Moscow are in rags, starving, homeless, with terror in the eyes—a beggar Children beggar at the theatre doors for food, long into the night—little homeless hungry children.

"Russia today is the most poverty; stricken, miserable, uncivilized country in the world. The people are weary foes and the result of hundred palpable four peaceful British survey is richer by much more than his so called 'comrade' in Russia

Mrs. Alec Tweedie says that Russia is "a country of no hope." It is more—it is hell let loose; a mad house, a place where the vilest criminals are in power and where murders could be broken with the knees, when vile birds discovered the dainty morsels on the tree and destroyed his crops.

The world will owe much to Lenine Burbank's inexhaustible patience and skill. He was in a class by himself. He is a splendid witness to the dependence of horticulture for its New World.—Toronto Globe.

Self-Poisoning Takes Huge Toll!

Many Fall in Life Through Sheer Neglect of Fundamental Rule of Health

Thousands of men and women are daily victims of their own neglect. Gradually, insidious auto-poisoning from bodies and brains, they spend enormous sums in medicines which avail. They would give much to regain their old vitality.

Can it be done? Yes! How? Simply by recognizing the importance of one fundamental rule of health: the proper elimination of the bowel contents. Poisons that are allowed to remain in the system quickly lower the stamina, weaken the nerves and thus pave the way to disease. Stop this self-poisoning by taking Nujol—the scientific lubricant that completes the work of Nature's lubricant when, through modern living conditions, the natural supply fails.

Nujol can be taken indefinitely without injury to the system. Try Nujol to-day. Ask for it at your nearest drug store, but remember there is only one Nujol. Watch for the name "Nujol" in red on the label and package.

ABRAM AND THE KINGS

Golden Text: In all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. Romans 8.37

Lesson: Genesis 14:1-24

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 41:1-6

Explanations and Comments

Four Kings War With Five in the Vale of Siddim, verses 1-12.—Read the Historical Background. For twelve years five kings, or chieftains, in the region around the Dead Sea (Vale of Siddim) had been vassals of Chedorlaomer, King of Elam. In the thirteenth year they rebelled and in the year following Chedorlaomer undertook a punitive expedition which included the region from Syria to the Gulf of Akaba. With him were associated three other kings, Amraphel, King of Shinar or Babylonia (is frequently identified with Hammurabi, see the Historical Background), Arioch, King of Lasas (on the left bank of the Euphrates in Southern Babylonia), and Tidal, King of Goiim (thought to describe the Gutii, a strong nation north of Babylonia).

The invaders attacked and conquered many tribes on their way to the Dead Sea, where they were withstood by the five Canaanite kings of that section, the kings of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, Zeboiim and Bela. A fierce battle was fought, and the invaders were victorious. The region described in Mamres (Alonz) (thirteen still dents on the surface of the Dead Sea), and in Gath, the armies of the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah were engulfed. The text says that the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fell there, but it seems legitimate to understand that it was their armies, not they, for the King of Sodom appears again in verses seventeen and twenty-one. However, it may have been the new king who welcomed Abram, verse seventeen.

AMENDMENT TO GRAIN ACT MAY BE PUT THROUGH

Ottawa After considerable negotiations, a tentative agreement has been reached between the government and the Progressive group on the proposed amendment to the Canada Grain Act.

The government will not make these amendments a government measure, but will undertake to provide facilities for them being considered by the House of Commons. Furthermore, the government will give the amendment its general support and among Progressives there is no doubt but that the amendments will be approved in the lower house.

The most controversial provision in the amendments is one that would compel country elevators to guarantee to farmers grading and weight on grain no matter to what terminal elevator it is shipped. Heretofore country elevators have only given this guarantee when the farmer permitted shipment to the terminal elevators selected by the country elevator. However, the growth of the pool has placed hundreds of farmers in a position where they must ship to the pool's terminal elevator. Under these circumstances country elevators decline to guarantee grade and weight.

This amendment will be supplemented vigorously by the grain trade.

As for insurance in the house on handamendments will not be taken up until after the budget debate is concluded, which will be a week or two at least.

Shortage Of Farm Help

Demand in Alberta For Men Experienced In Farm Work

Edmonton.—More vacant farm jobs waiting for men to fill them than there were a year ago, is the report from the government employment service. At the moment, says Commissioner Walter Smiles, there is no means in sight for supplying this demand.

The shortage is in experienced men who know how western farming is done, and newly-arrived immigrants lacking in experience are not in demand. Particularly in the south country, the call is for men westerntrained and ready to go to work without being shown.

Premier Howard Pettapiece, of Ontario and Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, have unanimously adopted a resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee to make

"We have an inexhaustible supply of coal and sufficient to supply the whole Dominion of Canada for centuries to come" declared Premier Brownlee. "We have an application before the Dominion railway board for a special out of pocket rate which would not be fair if we had it all to ourselves, but establish it to bring coal when the grain is not moving and there is nothing much available it will be a great help to the eastern provinces."

Provinces Can Fix Minimum Wage

Parliament Only Legislative Jurisdiction Over Salaries Paid to Government Employees

Ottawa —W. Ernest Edwards, deputy minister of justice, when appearing before a committee on industrial and international relations of the House of Commons, declared that, generally speaking, the various provinces of the Dominion had the exclusive jurisdiction to legislate in respect to the question of minimum wages.

The Parliament of Canada," Mr. Edwards, however continued, "has the exclusive legislative jurisdiction to regulate and fix the rate of wages to be paid to the servants or employees of the Dominion Government, wherever they are employed."

Mosul Question May Soon Be Settled

Concessions Offered By Britain More Important Than Territory

Unquestionably people diminished opinion among the people generally Islands official circles continue confidence he Mosul question will soon end in an amicable settlement with Britain.

All hope that Mosul will be included in Turkish territory has been abandoned, but the British have promised other concessions which the Turkish negotiators consider even more important from a practical, if a less sentimental, viewpoint.

These include a boundary of great strategic importance than provided for in the Geneva award and the necessary part in which the Irak Government, backed by Great Britain, undertakes to guarantee Turkey freedom from further menace of Kurdish revolutionary bands and other efforts on the part of the inhabitants of Mesopotamia to create trouble for the Turks across the frontier.

Rumor Is Denied

Britain Was Not Asked to Conduct Wireless Telephone Experiments With Canada

London —In reply to a question in the House of Commons, Sir William Mitchell Thomson, postmaster-general, denied that Australia and Canada had asked the post office to conduct experiments in wireless telephone communication and that the post office had refused. He said it was impossible that the request could have been made as there were no stations in Australia or Canada suitable for conducting the experiments.

LIVELY DEFENCE OF GOVERNMENT AND THE BUDGET

Ottawa Hon Ir King minister of public works, entered the budget debate with a speech in which he set forth by defended the government against charges of having injured Canadian industry He cited the increase in post agricultural implements [illegible] last five years, said he knew aspects of agricultural implements and declared, while reports of Canadian agricultural implements were favorable. Dr. King did not think duplication here need be much disturbed because certain automobile manufacturers had made arrangements to close their plants the day the budget was brought down The real purpose of the closing down Ir King proceeded—was to make a demonstration and in that fair demonstration against the government

Col. James Arthurs, Conservative of Parry Sound compared the government to an automobile with a slipping clutch. It was geared to politics controlling it was not allot trade to Canada

Debate was continued by H. H. Tobin, Liberal, of Westathbin, and by Hon Dr Edwards, Conservative, of Frontenac Addington Dr Edwards defended the memory of Sir Wilfrid as a brave man to enter a cabinet of desrobite" He spoke to United Grain Growers, insisted on a free commercial policy could blended profits existing institutions he compared

Women Honored For Bravery

Two Rewarded by National Lifeboat Institution of England

London —Two women, representing all women in the realm, have been honored the terrors of a wild winter night, have been honored by the Royal National Lifeboat Institution

Grace Darling, daughter of the coxswain of the lifeboat at Bamborough, Northumberland, and Mrs. B Thomas, wife of the lifeboat's coxswain, received from Lord Foster the thanks of the committee of the institution described in the "Wreck" The tribute was for their gallantry on the night of December 20, when they with other members of the crew of the lifeboat rowed a mile and a quarter in the face of a blizzard and then stood by to launch boy

In March, 1926, the women alone distinguished themselves, on that occasion being up to their waists in water in rescuing a shipwrecked crew

Another Gold Shipment

Further Two Million Received in Canada From U S

New York The current gold movement to Canada has been further increased with a shipment of $2 millions by the Canadian Bank of Commerce a total of nearly $15,000,000 since the rise in the rate of discount to exchange to 11 64 of one per cent premium

Continuance of the premium rate is expected in Wall Street to impel to Canada much of the $86 millions in gold that came to the United States early this year

Revolt During Peace Parley

Riffians Fire on French Soldiers and Several Killed

Oudjda, French Morocco While French and Spanish delegates are discussing disarmament and other terms with the Riffians to bring peace to Morocco the tribe led by Abd El Krim who has been accepting French rule suddenly revolted and attacked the officials on the frontier

Several French soldiers were killed and wounded and quiet was restored after the French had opened fire with artillery

Trade With the Orient

Vancouver That the recent improvement in Oriental trade is on no way imaginary is proved by the heavy cargoes carried by the last few liners sailing for Japan and China from the port of Vancouver. In fact the recent partial recovery in the volume of business being done with China is viewed by local merchants as a sure sign that the country is coming back to normal.

Here are Twenty-Nine Reasons Why Japanese Was Voted Most Beautiful Lady

-During a contest held on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland, making the world cruise, to decide on the most beautiful trees, mountains, views, harbors, countries, streets and human beings, the virtually unanimous verdict on the final question was that the Japanese lady was the most beautiful and the most charming

Here are twenty-nine arguments in support of the opinion of the Empress of Scotland's passengers. They are the points girls, dainty singing and dancing entertainers of Japan, who performed at the Shoto-kwai Theatre, Deppe, for the travellers during their visit to that port on the 1926-26 World Cruise.

Here and There

Charles Riddick, businessman of Calgary, Alta., has undertaken what seemed to be an impossible task of moving sixty houses over mountain roads from Banff to Lake Louise, a distance of [illegible] miles. The project of the [illegible] and a half m...

It costs from Canada for the month of February was $4,331,147 while imports were recorded at $16,-[illegible]. In the same period of the previous month, ending February 28 last, exports reached a value of $[illegible], while imports were fixed at $911,107,865.

One of the largest sales in town notions recorded in the West took place here on March 11th last when the Canadian Importers Wholesale Producers mailed approximately thirteen cheques amounting to a total of $57,000,000, to members of the wheat pool.

The rapid development of the fish oil and fish products industry on the Pacific coast this year may necessitate the fitting up of three combined vessels as tenders to carry oil from the reduction plants. Last year one vessel handled this method successful. Fish reduction plants, it is estimated, will produce 10,000 tons of fish oil and fertilizer this year.

President E. W. Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway has stated in a report to the shareholders for the construction of two new passenger vessels of the type of "Empress," "Montcalm," and "Montrose," to be available for service in May, 1927, and five freight vessels of 8,500 tons, with a gun speed of about 14 knots, also to be ready for 1927.

During the past season 1,245 moose and 3,569 deer were killed in New Brunswick. Of the former 597 were to the credit of non-residents of the latter and 617 of the latter. In the same year animals killed for fur included 1,887 racoons, 1,017 skunk; 18,314 muskrat; 5,410 foxes; 9,470 ermine; 137 mustin; 1,833 mink; 166 otter; 67 fisher and 193 bear.

The Canadian champion two year old Ayrshire heifer, "Primrose Bonnie," owned and bred by the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, has another record in supply of milk to her credit. From January 12 to March 15 she produced 4,910 pounds of milk, an average of 70 pounds per day. Her total was 7290 pounds for the same period, equal to 278 pounds of butter.

Reputation and character are both helpful allies of good advertising. The three make a combination that is hard to beat.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Flintoff and family left Monday for "somewhere in B.C."

Mrs. Bullock entertained the ladies of St. George's Guild at her home last Wednesday evening. Five tables for court whist were placed. Winners of the prizes were Mrs. Hunter Boyd and Mrs. O. Flintoff. Mrs. Flintoff was also the recipient of a charming gold cross and chain, the gift of the ladies members of the W.A. to her on her departure for B.C.

The April meeting of the Fort Saskatchewan U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Peters. After the business session a social hour followed. Miss Fay Stetson, in behalf of the Society, presented Mrs. Ernest Galloway, who is leaving shortly for the coast, with a tray.

Mrs. Galloway replied very feelingly and all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne" after which refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Harry Dickson's on Wednesday, May 15, at 2 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Adams and family sincerely wish to thank all their friends for the kind assistance and expressions of sympathy received during their recent sad bereavement. It is also their desire to express the comfort they received from the many beautiful floral offerings given by their friends as a tribute to their beloved son and brother.

papers would have to feet the bill of expense. The proletariat was therefore out in full force to see what it was all about and to protect their interests.

After the meeting had been in progress for some time it was made apparent by the mayor that their fears were unfounded, as it was evident the majority were not in favor of an changing being made and the services of a scavenger had been secured shortly before the meeting was held, thereby eliminating all necessity for drastic action to relieve a sooner or later intolerable situation.

A great deal of discussion took place during the evening and from it materialized a motion by R. H. Ray —F. H. Walton, an amendment by L. D. von Hiland D. Harper, and an amendment to the amendment by A. S. O'Brien—R. Hunter. On being put to the meeting the latter carried by a small majority and is roughly to the effect that the present system be continued, that enquiries be made as to the efficacy of the concrete cess pit system from other towns using it under conditions similar to our own, that meaning chiefly having wells scattered over the whole town as we are fortunately circumstanced, and if reports received from those places be favorable, the council to make two and keep under observation, these selection, reporting after sufficient time has elapsed upon whether or not they consider it advisable to make a change.

After the mayor had thanked the ratepayers for their interest and attendance, Mr. Hunter stated to the meeting that something would shortly have to be done with regard to the cemetery site, mentioning that the site is almost filled, that it is necessary to trespass on private property to extend same by, and that the soil of the present site is unsuited for burial purposes.

decided, however, to have the secretary interview the Public Utilities Commission for data information as to the approximate cost of cancelling the sub-division in order that it may report to acreage, and report at the next meeting.

The secretary was instructed to advertise for applications for the position of weed inspector.

Mr. D. Avery, having sold his farm, tendered his resignation as councillor for Division No. 5. In accepting Mr. Avery's resignation, the Reeve voiced the sentiments of the other members of the council in regretting his severance from their midst.

Nomination meeting to fill the vacancy will be held in Castle School House on Saturday, May 18, and nominations will be received between the hours of three and four o'clock in the afternoon.

With the passing of payments and accounts, the council adjourned at seven o'clock.

MARTIN ORCHESTRA MAKE GOOD IMPRESSION

The Martin orchestra of Edmonton held a dance in the Memorial hall last Friday and a fairly good crowd was in attendance. A number of Edmonton people were disappointed as not being able to be present, no less than eleven cars containing intending dancers from the city turned back on account of the storm, which was much more severe west than locally. Those in attendance, however, enjoyed themselves thoroughly and the general opinion with regard to the orchestra was entire satisfaction.

Being unacquainted with the local custom of having a lunch provided in the buffet room, no provision was made in that respect, but an arrangement of some kind will be made at the next dance put on by the Martin orchestra, which will likely be some time in July.

WALKER SUPPORTERS ORGANIZE CAMPAIGN

An organization meeting of the supporters of the candidacy of F. A. Walker in the coming provincial election, was held in Swan's hall, Lamont, with a good and most enthusiastic gathering present

Officers were elected in the persons of Andy Andersen as president, Dr. Love, vice-president, C. C. Howard, secretary. F. R. Walker was made Hon. President. An executive committee of twelve was chosen, the personnel of which be: L. A. Hanson, R. P. Harrison, Wm. Scraba, S. W. Bailey, Wm. McCartney, B. D. Harrold, J. H. Macpherson Jos. Coulson, Jos. Dobbin, N. Campbell and two others to be chosen by the president at an early date

The president then called on Mr Walker for a few words. In reviewing the Liberal policy he delved into the past accomplishments of his party, particularly the road building program they had maintained from the time they went into power twenty-one years ago. He stated he did not wish to go into the issues of the coming election just yet; time enough for that when the campaign was warmed up. On one point, however, he was persistent and emphatic; speaking of his party's consistent efforts to maintain good roads between towns and roads that benefitted the farmer-resident. In the past five years these most important roads had been allowed to get into deplorable disrepair and instead the present government was putting the money on roads that benefitted only a few and he was bitterly opposed to the proposed highway south of Lamont and Bruderheim which benefitted the average resident hardly at all.

Mr. O Nesek, president of the Liberal association of Victoria, was present and spoke briefly. Reciting some of his experiences on the Victoria Residences committee, he read one portraying Democracy, the great fundamental principle of Liberalism, showing where he believed the U.F.A. party fell down in this respect. Their ideas of economy in regard to schools, educational and public nursing staff's he scored heavily.

In closing, both Mr. Walker and Mr. Nesek promised their wholehearted support in furthering the Liberal cause in this district.—Lamont Tribune.

Josephburg

The Josephburg school boys are playing pretty fair baseball this year. A week or so ago they took the long end from Pleasant View school (35-8); and last Friday they visited Good Hope, winning by 16-6. Next Friday Partridge Hill boys will be over to take the starch out of them.

Dear Sir:

At the Annual Meeting of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, held in Calgary on March 9th, delegates present requested that the thanks of the Division be conveyed to you for the support and co-operation rendered by you to the Red Cross during the past year. All present were unanimous in their expression of appreciation and thanks for the co-operation and assistance given.

Yours faithfully,
MARY E. WAAGEN,
1st. Vice-President & Hon. Secretary, Alberta Division.

The resolve to have more faith in your fellows peters out when you notice how a picked chicken looks.

Partridge Hill

The Partridge Hill girls have organized a baseball team and Howard Anderson is their manager. A game was played with the Partridge Hill boys on May 7, in which the boys were successful. The girls team is as follows: Mabel Moody, captain, Clara Sander, Verna Gordon, Inez McEachern, Annie McEachern, Agnes Moody, Dolly Rossum, Mary Erlen and Rose Rump. Practice every Wednesday at 7 p.m. The girls would like to play any ladies team in the neighborhood.

On May 14, the Partridge Hill boys are due at Josephburg at 4 p.m. Both teams have a good line up and a good game is expected.

The U.F.W.A. met at Mrs. C. Allan's Tuesday, May 11th.

Partridge Hill men practiced on Tuesday, May 11, at the school.

All of the wheat is now in the ground and most of it is up and looking well.

The British Strike

The outstanding event of the week in which this article is written is the great strike of great Britain affecting nearly five million workers and crippling all the public services of the country. This great national strike also serves to once again demonstrate how closely the interests and welfare of one country are bound up with other countries. The day the strike went into effect the price of wheat in Canada and the United States made a considerable drop, while copies of many stocks fell on the New York and other markets. No longer does one nation live unto itself alone, and even its purely domestic troubles have an international and world effect.

The lamentable condition of the mining industry in Great Britain lies at the bottom of the strike, just as it has been the cause of many or less trouble for many years past, and until a permanent and satisfactory solution of the coal industry problem has been found it would appear that trouble must be expected. In the case of the present strike, precipitated by the miners' refusal to accept a reduction in wages and a lengthening in the hours of labor, which the mine owners insisted is necessary if the industry itself is to survive, railway employees, printers, dock and transport workers, the building trades, iron and steel workers and others organized under the Trades Union Congress, ceased work in sympathy with and to enforce the miners' demands.

It is difficult for the people in this country to fully grasp and understand the underlying causes of the discontent and financial difficulties existing in the British coal mining industry. Undoubtedly the war has had something to do with it, because there is not the same world wide demand for British coal as existed prior to 1914, and furthermore, the depression in British industry owing to lack of orders from foreign markets following the war has likewise had its effect.

Competent observers from other countries find another cause for the trouble—a basic one. They insist that the whole system of coal mining in the British Isles requires to be modernized, and that until this is done the business cannot be profitable to the mine owners, and consequently satisfactory wages and working conditions cannot be provided the miners. To effect the changes necessary will call for the expenditure of enormous capital sums, and for a time, at least, a decrease in the number of men for whom employment can be found. This latter is undoubtedly the chief difficulty.

In other words, it is held that the present method of pick and shovel mining must be replaced by the utilization of machinery in the various processes of cutting the coal. This would mean fewer men employed, but as large or larger output of coal at a considerably less cost per ton, thereby assisting all British industry and enabling British coal to again compete over-seas with the product of the machine-driven mines of other countries. It appears that the British coal industry and British miners must pass through the same experience as did the cotton industry following the advent of machinery, which caused a terrible upheaval at the time and much distress, but ultimately gave that industry its great supremacy.

Evidently is not lacking that the same process of modernization is necessary in other lines of British activity, the building trades for example. A group of United States experts connected with the real estate business recently visited London, and they report that it takes about 100 per cent. longer to put up a structure in London than it would in New York, and, despite the much higher wages paid artisans in New York, the cost of the building is just as great in London as in New York. The reason is found in slow-moving workmen and out-of-date appliances. Two examples of the latter may be mentioned.

A huge modern steel structure is being erected in London on the site of the Devonshire House in Regent Street. The building of the big steel beams was being carried on by a group of men carrying handles on an old-fashioned derrick, with the result that the beams moved upwards slowly by inches. On this side of the water a donkey engine would do the hoisting in a fraction of the time. On the site of another structure close by, a steam shovel was at work excavating for a foundation. In Canada and the United States a steam shovel would be on the job, and do it in short order and at much less cost.

British workmen and their trade leaders have yet especially to learn the lesson that the introduction of the most modern methods are essential to their own progress and welfare. Lowered costs of output and production is necessary if British industry is to compete with the world, and such a reduction in costs would enormously increase the volume of production, thus permitting, not less employment because of the use of machinery, but more employment. Better wages and shorter hours become of the greater demand created through lowered costs and greater expedition in the completion of work.

Farm Lands in Demand

A Revival of Buying of Farm Lands Has Set In

With farm land values just at the opium and conditions improving, this season has brought a revival of buying in farm lands equal to that of 1918, said F. H. Harman, president of the Winnipeg Real Estate Exchange, recently.

"One company alone has been a very large seller of 30,000 acres of farm lands a month since last October," Mr. Harman said. "In each case the land, mostly wild land for pasturage and stock raising purposes, has been sold to farmers who have already made a success with adjoining farms. Substantial initial payments have been made and the balance will be paid in annual instalments promptly. The biggest demand for land recently is in Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta."

The Hudson Bay Route

Dominion of Canada Pledged to Carry Forth to Completion

The fact is, of course, that every government in Canada, for many years past, has advocated the completion of the Hudson Bay route, and successive prime ministers, two of them Liberals and two of them Conservatives, have, while in office, spent great sums expended on the enterprise.

The railway has, at great expenditure by successive governments, been carried to within seventy or more miles of Hudson Bay and in bona fide business and not to speculators or investors. Substantial initial payments have been made and the balance will be paid in annual instalments promptly. The biggest demand for land recently is in Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta."

Plucked By Youngest Aviator

Indianapolis Woman 104 Years Old Established New Record

Mrs. Mary Huffman, 104 years old, Indianapolis, not what was believed by local flying officials, the oldest record for the age of persons riding in an aeroplane when she made a 15 minutes flight. She was piloted by Parnum Parker, of Anderson, 15 years old, the world's youngest aviator. In the plane with Mrs. Huffman was her five-year-old great great grandson, Carrel Davies.

Miller's Worm Powders can do no injury in the most delicate child. Aegis For Plunder

The Chinese thief uses a hook and line fastened to the end of a long bamboo pole, through upper windows for anything he can get hold of. It is not unusual for the occupant of a hotel bedroom to find, on waking, that all his clothes have gone and with them, of course, anything he chanced to have left in his pockets overnight.

Worms cause restlessness and rob the infant of sleep, the great nourishment Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will clear the stomach and intestines and restore healthfulness.

Has Patented Steam Engine

Idea May Develop Into Most Dramatic Achievement of Century

A Dutchman has recently received a patent for running an engine on power obtained from the atom. He has discovered that if mineral metals containing titanium are heated to a temperature of 1,700 degrees centigrade the atoms disintegrate, and an enormous amount of heat is generated. The steel is heated in a small electric furnace, and the heat caused by the sudden breaking-up of the atom is forced by a pump through tubes that heat the water in a boiler, and supply the power to drive an engine or turbine. The patent has passed through the patent office almost unnoticed, but it is actually the most stupendous step in the realization of the power from the atom which all the world is waiting for. It may easily develop into the most dramatic achievement of the century.

Miners's Liniment King of Pain

Sick bodies made strong

"I was quite run-down, tired and nervous and was unable to do the household duties. I took Zam-Buk and in a short time I was strong and well again." Mrs. Geo. Bell, 111 Grey St., London, Ont.
